already been mentioned to Tichborn (P) when he was in Washington on personal matters in January (see Ref. B). Mr. Davis also attempted to "second guess" Tichborn's (P) feelings on this assignment when arranging the details with WHD. The fact that he might receive an appointment was the major factor under consideration, especially in the sense that first, we did not want to expose Tichborn (P) as a KUBARK agent and secondly, we did not want in any way to present Tichborn (P) with any problems in relation to his possible appointment.

4. Mr. Davis told Tichborn (P) in guarded language which was apparently well understood by him that the COS ("our senior partner") and the Ambassador ("the senior partner of our cousin firm) would be witting as to his KUBARK connections and that undoubtedly JUEGGPIANT (an American cut-out and contact of the Station) and the latter's brother-in-law JUVAN-1 (a Salvadoran businessman and Station contact with whom he would be working) would also be witting. However, as agreed with WH, the locals other than JUVAN-1 would be unwitting as to his KUBARK connections. Tichborn (P) was informed that he would be "visiting" Salvador and his "old friend" JUEGGPIANT and this cover story was to be cited to the local Salvadorans.

5. Mr. Davis especially pointed out to Tichborn (P) that since WH felt he should talk with the Ambassador, we wanted him to be aware of this in the event that this possibility arose at the Station's request. Mr. Davis added that of course we would not want the Ambassador to take umbrage, etc. at Tichborn's (P) visit or activities and that we had been assured by someone (Paul Paxton) who knows Ambassador Murat Williams, that the latter could be counted upon for his cooperation and discretion. Tichborn (P) then asked specifically whether he would definitely talk with the Ambassador and Mr. Davis informed him that this would depend upon the Station's judgment. (WH had informed us that this was a possibility since Williams is new to his post and the Station is trying to work closely with him from the beginning; WH felt that if Williams later learned that Tichborn (P) had been in the area without his knowledge, he might take offense.) In this event, the Station was advised to request the Ambassador to use our channels for any communications to the Department concerning Tichborn (P).

6. WH had also told us that they might have to inform the Department of Tichborn's (P) trip to El Salvador and then decided that this would not be necessary. However, on 23 February, a final decision was made that this would have to be done and since C/WH works so closely with State. PAG did agree to this but requested that this information be in general terms only and that Tichborn's (P) name not be given. WH agreed that it could be done in this way. WH also stated that this information will be passed to Mr. Devine and would be limited to him and Mr. Mann.

7. Tichborn's (P) instructions were that he would be met at the airport if possible by JUEGGPIANT (whose true name and description were provided); if he did not appear, Tichborn (P) was to go to the Intercontinental Hotel and wait there to be contacted by either JUEGGPIANT (Jerry Caughlin) or the COS, Ben Stotts. Upon meeting Tichborn (P) JUEGGPIANT, as a recognition signal, would say "I am a friend of Horace".

8. Tichborn (P) asked if some expense money could be provided him in El Salvador and he was assured that this would be arranged. Since time (and the airlines strike) did not permit his coming to Washington for a detailed briefing on the political situation in Salvador and on his specific mission, these matters plus the funds for expenses will be handled by the Station.

9. Two cables were sent to the field concerning the subject of Tichborn's (P) arrival in El Salvador (DIR 26346, OUT 76088 and DIR 26522, OUT 76527). These cables spelled out Tichborn's (P) cover, the need for special discretion on the part of those individuals who are witting of his relationship with KUBARK, the meeting or contact arrangements, the fact that detailed briefings by the Station would be necessary since it had not been possible to undertake this at Headquarters, his pseudonym and approval for the Station's providing him with certain funds.

10. In summary, PAG's interest was to arrange for Tichborn's (P) arrival in Salvador as soon as possible and at the same time to protect his KUBARK status and assure that this present mission would not in any way interfere with his possible appointment to a post in the Administration.

Dear Henry,

Enclosed is a thermofax copy of the original expense sheet you forwarded to me. Since the regulations require that this accounting be quite specific (much more so than the one for the company) there are a few additions I would appreciate your making. These are marked on the enclosed copy and suggestions for more specific details are keyed thereto below:

1. For all major transportation expenses (plane, train) please add the approximate hours of arrival and/or departure.
2. Please include names of the contacts included in these expenses.
3. Indicate briefly the nature of phone calls.
4. Add something here about "blending in with local color", etc.
5. Make some indication that the books, magazines and newspapers were for background information, etc., related to your trip.
6. A notation that this trip was for operational purposes.

I'm sorry that this is a somewhat bothersome procedure. However, I do want to be able to settle these financial matters for you as quickly as possible after I receive the receipts (or bills) and this will be of valuable assistance in that procedure.

Hope all goes well - let me know the results of your operation and the expenses involved, I shall try to do something about them.

Sincerely,

Henry W. Darkin

Dear Hank,

Your detailed letter arrived in yesterday's mail. However, in order to process it I also need all receipts relative to those expenses. This would include all possible ticket stubs for all transportation, car rentals, hotel bills, doctor bills, telephone charges, and other supporting receipts.

The balance of your fee will be deposited after this accounting has been reconciled.

In the future, in any other communications directed to me, please use your true name in the return address. Continue to sign accounts directed to me as Tichborn.

Thanking you for your cooperation and hoping to hear from you soon, I remain

MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: Edward G. Tichborn (P) - Hernia

1. On 1 February Edward G. Tichborn advised me that in lifting his bag out of a taxi on his return trip from Cuba, he suddenly felt a pain in the groin and was afraid that he had a hernia.

2. On the way to the airport he asked me if there would be any chance of the Government picking up his medical expenses in the event that he actually had a hernia which required any substantial treatment. I told him at that time that I did not know what the Government's position would be, but that I would check into the matter and let him know.

3. On 2 February, I contacted Mr. Vernon Turner, SSA/DDS, and explained the circumstances to him. At that time, I also pointed out that as far as the provisions of his contract were concerned, it was stated that he was not an employee of the U. S. Government and while it did not make specific reference to medical payments while he was working for us, it did not specifically preclude such payments. Mr. Turner opined that although the contract stated he was not an employee of the U. S. Government, in actual fact during the period he was doing our bidding, he was. I went on further to explain to Mr. Turner that in all probability we will call on Tichborn to do future services for us and that while he was being paid, it was doubtful that this reimbursement from us equaled what he would make in his regular law practice. Mr. Turner stated that there were a number of ways that we could alleviate his situation should it become necessary.

4. The conclusion reached between me and Mr. Turner was that I should point out to Tichborn that we were under no obligation to recompense him for his injury; however, that upon the completion of treatment if he would submit a claim, we should be glad to review it sympathetically.

5. I passed the gist of the above on to Tichborn on 3 February.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: Edward G. Tichborn (P)

1. On the morning of 14 September I called Tichborn and arranged to meet him at his office at 1230. As an attachment to this memo I have outlined the standard approach which was followed in Tichborn's instance; therefore, I will not go further into it.

2. Tichborn struck me as being extremely quick, intelligent, very sympathetic to my suggestions and anxious to cooperate. He is of Mexican descent, speaks Mexican/Spanish fluently and according to him can easily pass as a Mexican. Tichborn has spent considerable time over the years in Mexico as well as attending the University of Mexico for a year or two. He has also traveled to Cuba and is a friend of John Manson, head of Screen Gem, Inc. which is the Columbia Pictures outlet for Mexico. Mr. Manson is personally known to me and might, at sometime, be of use to us. I shall not delve into Tichborn's political history as that will be outlined in his PRQ, Part I when it arrives. He is presently being urged to run for Congress from the Los Angeles district; however, he has not as yet made up his mind what he will do.

3. In the period of three hours that I was with Tichborn, I was extremely impressed by him and feel sure that he would do an excellent job of briefing any individuals that we might desire him to brief. I am also sure that if he was sent out on a TDY he would acquit himself in superior fashion. Tichborn is called upon from time to time to give advice on the handling of Mexican/American problems and show the great appreciation of the difficulties of dealing with Latin Americans, their great sense of political amorality, their inferiority complex and of their unfound, but nevertheless anti-gringo feelings. Tichborn was particularly interested in the situation in Cuba and asked my opinion of it. My comment in essence was that it seemed pretty obvious that Castro was extremely emotional and tended towards being a demigod who had won the war but was losing the peace. Tichborn concurred in this opinion, adding to it that he felt that Castro was not cognizance of the dangers of Communism.

4. Tichborn knows me as Mr. Darkin. Should there be need for his services, I am sure he will do his best to accommodate us.

Routine followed in Recruiting Prospective Campaign Managers

1. I explained to them that I was not investigating anyone but that I was seeking their cooperation on a confidential basis. I asked that they give me their word that they would keep the subject of our conversations forever confidential and told them that I had a secrecy agreement for them to sign. Upon receiving their assent I pointed out to them that we were interested in getting the cooperation of people with grass roots political experience who would be willing from time to time to give briefing sessions in political organization to foreigners visiting this country under our aegis. I explained that the briefing should be all inclusive from the conception of an idea, the organization of a political grouping to the actual mounting and holding of an election. I pointed out to them that from time to time they might also be asked to do this for people who are working on our staff but were planning to go abroad. If they proved receptive to the idea, and all contacted did, I then suggested that on occasion we found it necessary to ask our consultants to go abroad to do much the same type of thing on the scene.

2. Their reactions were extremely favorable. They all had the same questions, etc that have arisen in previous recruitments.

3. I made a great point of stressing to them the extreme delicacy of this type of operation; pointing out to them that whereas all governments expected people to be engaged in espionage and made very little fuss over what went on, merely PNGing diplomats, or in cases where the culprit did not have diplomatic immunity, imprisoning them for a short time. The fact that we were actively aiding in the building up of political organizations was considered much more delicate and for this reason they should take very seriously my injunction against speaking of their association with me or the subject of our conversations to anyone.

4. I then went on to point out that we were approaching a number of people of different races, creeds and language qualifications as I felt that it was necessary to be prepared for a number of eventualities. I pointed out that if, after talking to me, the individual changed his mind or did not desire to participate in my program that I would understand and that there would be no hard feelings as long as our conversations were kept secret. I also pointed out that if in the future the individual was called upon to serve it was fully appreciated by me that other commitments might preclude cooperation at that time and that the situation would be fully understood.

5. As far as the pay was concerned I told the individuals that a regular contract would be provided for them to serve as consultants to the government and that they would be paid in accordance with a standard contract which provided for $50 per day not to exceed $250 per week, plus all expenses. If and when they were called upon to go outside the US, a special contract would be drawn up or an amendment to their regular contract made which would take into account the length of time they would probably be away, their financial position, etc.. Following this, I gave them their pseudo card (which in view of the difficulty of contacting them in California I presented at this time) to sign as well as a secrecy agreement. I also gave them a PRQ, Part I to fill out as well as the additional questions concerning their political background along with a card bearing their pseudonym, Harry B. Martin's address and the office's sterile telephone number. Immediately prior to terminating the interview, I once again ran through the security aspects and pointed out to them that they might or might not hear from me in the near future but in the latter case they were not to take umbrage, that it was merely because no situation had arisen which called for their particular talents.

MEMORANDUM OF AGREEMENT

1. I am aware of the fact that the Central Intelligence Agency, by reason of the sensitive nature of its work, must observe very strict security measures.

2. I agree not to inform anyone that I have been contacted by a member of the Central Intelligence Agency.

3. I agree not to disclose the subject of the conversation held with the Central Intelligence Agency without specific approval of an Agency representative.

4. I agree not to discuss by name or otherwise, any individuals with whom I have talked in the course of my association with the Central Intelligence Agency.

From Memo to CI/OA from Deputy Director of Security (I+S) — dated 10 Sept. 59

1. Three developed informants commented favorably re Subj's character, reputation + loyalty; one informant stated Subj. had been married 3 times + his present marriage almost ended in divorce recently

2. Subj. was fined #45 for a 1954 traffic violation + his subsequent failure to appear at the hearing. One informant advised Subj had recently been object of inquiries by local police officers. Believed to have resulted from unpd parking ticket — (!)

→ 3. Subject's name appears numerous times in subversive files on the West Coast. These items contain info. re his activities in the Democratic Minority Conference + list his professional associates. In 1949 he was listed as a member of the Bar Committee against loyalty oaths for lawyers. He was shown as a close associate of Vario SPENCER, described by the files as a leftist + his activities were primarily concerned with local minority groups. These activities were extensively reported in the Communist "Daily People's World."

4. Mrs. Vario SPENCER represented Tassia FREED, a non-cooperative (uncooperative-?) witness before the HCUA. Tassia FREED is wife of Emil FREED, an admitted Communist Py member + who has been active in front activities thru the years.

5. Subject reportedly assisted Ralph H. NUTTER during trial of Anthony D. RIOS + Alfred ULLOA, members of Community Service Organization. NUTTER, (see last sentence, item 8) according to Security files, is close pers. friend of Harrison SCOTT BROWN, security disapproved in 1955, + favorably recommended him. NUTTER is also member of L.A. County Conference on Committee Relations (LACCR) as of Oct. 1953. This organization, although not regarded as Communist dominated, sticks close to Comm. line + has spoken out against L.A. Police Dept. brutality, teacher firing, loyalty oaths, book-burning + witch-hunting by HCUA, Thought Control + UNESCO. NUTTER was also member of Community Service Organiz, which was regarded as infiltrated by CP in 54-55 + is influenced but not dominated by the CP at the present time.

6. In Jan. '59, OSI interviewed Subject re his association with Reinhold Joshua WULF, re latter's alleged Comm. activities. Subj. stated he had known WULF since 1938, had not seen WULF during 42-55 + since 55 had seen WULF occasionally. He recommended WULF for a security position + claimed no knowledge of subject's political organization or affiliations. WULF himself later interviewed + denied all allegations. Security office files contain no record, WULF.

→ Security Office recommends serious consideration given utilizing Subject + they be notified of our decision.

1. LOPEZ: a) His file absolutely bulges with references, recommendations etc. gathered by the FBI, in the course of their investigation, which, in a word, are TERRIFIC — there is repeated use of the words "smart, able, loyal, energetic, headed to the top", etc. etc. Is held up as "Exhibit A" to present undergrads at Colorado. Is credited with giving new direction and significance to the Harvard Law School Forum, thus leading to its success today. (In fact, according to his advisor at law school, he spent so much time on Forum & other activities, that his grades did not reflect his true abilities)

b) He evidently "falls down" in the matter of paying debts, tho' all cited are small ones; he still owes the student loan fund of his high school $$50^{00}$ which he was loaned to start a college fund.

c) Any "guilt", if such exists, in the eyes of Security, seems to me to come from association, + these loaned to start a college fund.

c) Any "guilt", if such exists, in the eyes of Security, seems to me to come from association, + this mainly indirect. I feel it is more than countered by the wealth of positive, favorable info. He is characterized as a great "liberal" + certainly "progressive" as against conservative, + if this is his bent, it is not surprising if he has run into more leftist types than Security believes acceptable. Those who stated he was liberal, etc. also said, without exception, that there was no question of his being a loyal and patriotic American.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Deputy Director for Plans

SUBJECT : Utilization of Harpers for Nominal Cover

1. This memorandum contains a recommendation for your approval in paragraph six.

2. Santo Domingo Station has requested that Edward G. TICHBORN, an American Contract Agent of Mexican extraction who is presently assigned to Mexico Station, be temporarily assigned to the Dominican Republic to assist Santo Domingo in the period immediately preceding the 1 June presidential election. Mexico Station and TICHBORN have agreed to this assignment and it is proposed that TICHBORN go to Santo Domingo in the immediate future to read in on the operations and then return to Santo Domingo on approximately 1 May to carry out whatever operational duties Santo Domingo Station may assign him. It is presumed that he would return to Mexico City shortly after 1 June 1966.

3. TICHBORN, 46, is bilingual and has a wide range of business and social contacts throughout Latin America. Following graduation from Harvard Law School in 1948, TICHBORN became affiliated with a law firm in Los Angeles which represented many Latin American corporations with California business connections. In the mid-1950's he became active in California state politics and served in various capacities in Democratic Party state and national organizations. He participated actively in the California gubernatorial campaign of James Roosevelt, the senatorial campaign of Helen Gahagan Douglas and both the 1952 and 1956 Stevenson campaigns for President. He has been President of the Southern California Young Democrats, a member of the California Democratic State Central Committee, a member of the Host Committee for the 1956 Democratic National Convention and a member of the Board of Directors of the National Democratic Minority Conference. In 1960 he served as Los Angeles coordinator of the Kennedy Movement for Americans of Mexican Extraction which, it is reported, contributed substantially to the success of the Kennedy campaign in Southern California. His only try for elective office was in 1958 when he was defeated in his bid for the position of California Secretary of State.

4. In late 1959, TICHBORN was hired by the Agency as a political action advisor for Agency-sponsored election operations throughout Latin America. In 1961 he became a full-time contract agent and was assigned to Mexico City, under personal cover, to establish a degree of security and mobility which would permit him to travel readily on third country political action assignments. Since the beginning of his relationship with the Agency, he has participated in Agency sponsored operations in Cuba, El Salvador, Guatemala, Argentina, the Dominican Republic and, most recently, in the 1964 election in Chile. At present, he is engaged full-time in managing a Mexico Station funded left wing intellectual publication, Dialogos. His cover in Mexico now is nominal and he attributes his presence and interests primarily to his activities in the legal field for his former Los Angeles law firm employer. He devotes most of his time to his position as editor of Dialogos.

5. TICHBORN has contributed stories, articles and interviews to United States and Latin American publications. His major accomplishment in this field has been the publication of an interview with Catherine Anne Porter in a recent issue of Harpers magazine. TICHBORN suggests that he might be able to arrange viable cover for his temporary assignment in the Dominican Republic by writing to Harpers and querying their interest in his preparation of an article concerning the Dominican Republic political situation and the forthcoming election. There is no reason to believe that Harpers would turn down such a proposal and, in fact, it is believed they would welcome it.

6. Recommendation. The Western Hemisphere Division recommends that approval be given for TICHBORN's approach to Harpers to advise them of his planned trip to the Dominican Republic and request of the magazine an expression of interest in an article on the present situation in the Dominican Republic. This will be done specifically as a cover for his travel to Santo Domingo. In the event Harpers should commission him to do such an article, TICHBORN will present his manuscript for Agency approval prior to forwarding it to Harpers. In the event that WH Division or Santo Domingo Station should wish to utilize such a TICHBORN-prepared article to surface a specific theme of interest to the Agency, a request for approval of such action will be referred to your office prior to taking any action.

William V. Broe
Chief
Western Hemisphere Division

The recommendation contained in paragraph 6 is approved:

(TISHBORN)

[illegible] to NW Pres. OK for $12,000 for one year contract

N.B.

Name (T) : Henry P. Lopez

DPOB : 28 May 1920; Denver, Colorado

Education: University of Denver, 1942-45, BA Pol. Sc.
Harvard University, 1945-46, MA Economics
Harvard Law School, 1946-48, LLB

Experience: Private law practice in Los Angeles, 1948-59; Democratic Party politician, activist, and candidate for public office (unsuccessful) in State of California 1948-59; active in state and national politics of the Democratic campaigns of 1952, 1956, 1958, and 1960.

Agency Experience: Hired in 1959 on contract basis to provide expertise in political campaigns. He has participated in Agency political operations in Cuba, El Salvador, Guatemala, Argentina, Chile, and the Dominican Republic.

Present Status : Contract Agency, salary of $12,000 per year with $3,000 housing allowance while he was assigned to Mexico Station. He departed Mexico City on 1 August, at his own request and is now establishing himself and family in New York City. Present gross income from Agency is $12,000, (OR $15000 DEPENDING HOW ONE VIEWS THOSE FIGURES). He considers he is worth $20,000.

Proposed Cover : Investigation of suitable cover for utilization of Lopez as a political action agent was successful in that DODS indicated an interest in Lopez' background (Economics and Law) as a possible Latin American specialist for the International Capital Corporation (ICAP). ICAP is an Agency proprietary corporation, which was established by John P. C. Train, a contract employee of the Agency, who owns and manages the Park Avenue firm of Train, Cabot & Associates, a bona fide investment management firm which has the ICAP as one of its subsidiary companies. ICAP does not presently have any contracts in Latin America but has concentrated its activities in Africa and the Far East. Train desires to expand the operations of ICAP into Latin America and was looking about for a Latin American specialist at just the time that WH Division offered Lopez. It appears to be a fortuitous meeting of the minds, i.e., Lopez apparently has many of the attributes and some of the background necessary for the position and Train needs a man. He will be trained by Train and presumably will devote a good deal of his time to ICAP activities. However, he will be made available on short notice for any assignment the Agency may have for him.

Questions to be resolved :

1. What is extent of the possible utilization of Lopez over the period of the next year and in the future? (I HAVE SOME MAKE WORK IDEAS)
2. Based upon the above, what would be an equitable contract arrangement, i.e., how much money is Lopez worth to WH Division when most of his time will be spent working for ICAP and DODS? DODS indicates that after he begins to make a contribution to ICAP (Probably six months to a year) they would be willing to pick up a portion of the contract costs but they see no justification for such an action at present. I THINK T. WILL ACCEPT $17 000.

INVESTMENTS
FINANCIAL CONSULTING ECONOMIC AND MARKET RESEARCH

201-253203

ICAP Corporation is an international consulting and financial organization, specializing in the developing countries, which offers three principal services to its clients:

- Financial and industrial studies, particularly feasibility reports and market research
- Negotiation of international joint ventures
- Investments and financing

ICAP's professional services are primarily intended for the industrial investor or financial institution interested in entering a foreign country. If the initial feasibility and market studies are favorable, ICAP can advise on the most appropriate way of entering the new market: whether through a licensing or distribution agreement, contract manufacturing, a joint venture, or a partially or wholly owned subsidiary.

The local ICAP affiliate can guide the investor through the entire course of such an undertaking, from the initial exploration of the prospects to the selection of the local partner, the raising of local capital, and, if appropriate, the eventual listing of the shares of the resulting enterprise on the local stock exchange.

ICAP is as concerned with enabling a client company to recognize as early as possible the fact that it should not undertake a major commitment in a foreign country as it is with giving effective assistance to companies who determine to go forward.

It brings to these tasks a full range of professional skills which have performed to the standards of governments, major banks, and industrial companies of international standing.

It brings to the service of its clients close relationships on all levels of local government, banking and industry. Thus, in addition to analyzing such questions as product demand, industrial technology, financing, site selection and the like, ICAP can counsel the prospective investor on the governmental attitudes he will face, and help him make friendly contact with those in the business and official communities with whom he should deal.

Agency Connections

Hired 1959 on contract for political action. Worked in Cuba, El Salvador, Guatemala, Argentina, Chile, Dominican Republic, and Mexico, finishing in August 1966.

Following Mexico assignment, WH turned Lopez over to DO, who put him under ICAP cover in New York City. Here he does many chores for John Train, who pays part of his $17,000 salary.

In June 1967, Lopez went to Spain on an operational survey. His trip was considered very successful by COS, Madrid.

To date

INTERVIEW TECHNIQUES, COVER, ETC.

At the first meeting and the one the next day before I made the main trip, my principal local political contact presented a possible cost of operations in the coming election. I asked him if it were a realistic figure and whether his analysis were realistic. He admitted that it really wasn't and I told him to go back and sharpen his pencil and sit down and talk sense. It was therefore agreed that when I came back from my trip we would sit down and go over it district by district, and problem by problem. He and his political cohort tried to lay out an itinerary for me and they recommended the people I would see in each town. Our boy there dutifully wrote down all these names for me and then we very dutifully threw the list away when it was all over and we started making up our own list. Some of the people you gave me I included in the list and saw. Also, our boy had a number of people. We both agreed that this trip would have to be played by ear, since after you arrive you have a better idea of what you are doing. The only strategy that we really agreed on was that I would take a plane and fly from the south up.

I did exactly that. I flew over to the south and then went on, smelling around. I used three methods: (1) street interview, shop interview and in other words, people of no significance, (2) the Rotary Club routine and (3) talks with lawyers.

Using the first method, I would go into a little shop and would inquire about how much an article would cost. If the shop keeper could speak English we then got into a conversation, and then I would make a purchase. If he couldn't speak English, then I would go to another shop where they could. I bought all sorts of odds and ends — a pencil, a little notebook, a pair of slippers. I bought a pair of sandals which I didn't wear because I took the advice of the people and remained American all the way. I wore shoes, socks, shirt and so forth. Whenever a great number of people were attracted to us, I considered this a good opportunity for an interview. As you know, you talk to one native and there are five standing around you — they will surround you. If they speak your language they will participate. They won't interrupt when someone else is talking, but when he is finished each one will get into the act; this is wonderful.

And then I did the Rotary Club routine; there are Rotary Clubs all over the damned place. I was taken to one meeting which happened to be taking place in a town where I was. In the hotel where I was staying they had the Rotary International. I looked it over very carefully to make sure that they didn't have a list of members, since I didn't want to claim to be one and then have them find out that I wasn't on the list! There was no membership list, but they did have the names of the officers. From that I picked the name of a guy who lived near Detroit and for the occasion he became a very intimate friend. He was a doctor and he lived in the suburbs or some place outside of Detroit. I introduced myself as a member and said that I had a very good friend also in the organization; they could have checked it out in their book. Unfortunately, one didn't always run into one of their meetings and luncheons.

The third method concerned courts, lawyers and Bar Associations. In any town where there was a court, be it a magistrate court or a district court, you always found that there was a courthouse and that in it was a part called the Bar Association, which was a room where those lawyers met and someone would serve tea or coffee. If you walked in you would usually find at least one lawyer there. I introduced myself in the following manner: I am so-and-so from Detroit, a member of the Bar. I have been practising for thirty-odd years and am interested in the judicial system and processes of your country. In no time, you have half of the Bar Association sitting at the table serving you tea and coffee (I guess it was tea because I hate their coffee; I hate coffee and theirs is even worse). I would then start talking about my trip, my interest in the local national situation, and then start asking questions which I already knew the answers to. For example, "how do you discipline a lawyer, who gets off base?" and they would explain their methods of appeal, high court and how the judges are appointed. I had that explained to me a million times. And every time they would explain their system to me, I would tell them how it is done in our country. I was actually giving them a lecture on American jurisprudence. I was surprised to hear those lawyers tell me with great pride how able, honest and fair their judges are, because I had discovered that officialdom there is as corrupt as all hell. They explained to me why their judges were appointed and about their careers, and this gave me a base of operations. I explained how in my state, we elect judges and that this system has been in existence since the 1800's and we finally decided that that was a hell of a system and that we have tried to change our constitution so that we could now have the same kind of system that this little country has. I pointed out that there are things they can learn from us and others that we can learn from them. That was the technique. They were very happy that I could see something about them which we want to copy. As I said before, you know that the local individual is hungry for praise, to get recognition and to have someone say something nice about him. He will take it if you can give it to him with a shovel; he will believe anything you tell him if it is nice. I'll give you an example: my technique was to talk with lawyers. In each town which had a newspaper I would somehow arrange to get an introduction through a local person to the publisher or editor, or maybe both, of the newspapers (be it a Communist one, one of a Political Party, or an independent paper — I saw them all). I went with this explanation: I was a widower, my wife died a few years ago and I was a little emotionally upset (which is true and wasn't hard to say) and that I was told that one possible cure was to get away on a long trip and my son insisted that I take this trip. It is interesting at first since you see so many museums, rooms and art galleries, but it gets boring and I was getting sick and tired of things and was about ready to go home, when I ran into a situation that really interests me - politics. Here is something that is after your own heart, this local situation. I became Goddamned curious. Here was the opportunity to tour this country and to put my trip on a profit basis by preparing articles on what has happened there, what might happen in the future and so forth. I made it logical enough. At first I trimmed it pretty well with a lot of stuff about how I love these people (and that is true too). My experience with them has been pretty much limited to students. My experience with them has always been wonderful and I love them. They were fine young men and women, I still find them to be interesting young men and women and that I have a natural affinity for them. They liked that. I said also that I had a sympathy for their men, their problems and their traditions.

In my contacts throughout the area I maintained the same story. I was lucky to hit on the right formula in the beginning and found that it worked. With very few variations, I stuck to the main theme.

Very often I would fall into a good interview. For example, I was looking for a small businessman with a factory. I asked a man where to find him and was led to a lawyer's office. This was a very fortunate mistake; a couple of times they turned out to my advantage. This lawyer turned out to be a fella who was very well informed and who had previously been in politics. He was also close to the Roman Catholic hierarchy. And he gave me an interview which summarized the informed opinion that I had run into in that area. (He also took me to the university and introduced me to the priest who was the head of the school. There I had a chance to interview students who showed an unwillingness to admit that they don't understand and don't know; that paid off for me.) He characterized the typical interview I got from the typical informed person. In these interviews I tried to be objective and find out, rather than inspire answers.

Very frequently, I would run into some person who had a bright boy going into prep school wanting to go to college. I suggested that he might apply for collect and for a scholarship. I said that I wasn't an official and didn't know the answers, or pretend to, but I created the impression that there was a possibility of applying for scholarships to the schools, or even to the U. S. Government. (I actually do intend to find out about these things and follow it through since they were very helpful to me and I am very grateful.) There was some truth to what I said to them and I wasn't making up stories out of whole cloth. There was a basis for everything I said to them although there might have been some exaggeration. However, in the main, I could tell the story with great consistency for basically it is a fairly truthful story.

I went to major cities along the way. Off to the side I went up to a sanctuary nearby since everyone said that if you didn't go up you weren't a tourist and since I ~~wanted everything~~ to look on the level, I made the visit. I stopped at every village. If I could speak English there I would; if not, I used this young fellow which was sometimes satisfactory. But you see, sometimes the villager or the shopkeeper could speak English, or some kid could and would translate and they were much more faithful to the meaning. The driver got to thinking that he knew what answers I wanted and that ruined his usefulness. I kept saying that I wanted to know what they were saying, not what I would like to have them say; that how can I write a good story if I don't know the truth. He got to the point where he was trying to figure out what I was after and was going to give me the right answers. Hence I banded him right in the beginning. But I ran into some kids about 13 or 14 years old and used them as interpreters; they were good. I saw at least a dozen or more of the newspaper publishers and correspondents, two of the editors of two different Communist newspapers, and I talked with four or five of the Communist leaders. I also talked to about five of the secondary people inaa political party and one of the more important people in the latter. I talked to the Town Chairman (mayor) in about half a dozen towns. I also talked with a local official and to some other old-timers who are not active now, but will be in the campaign. I feel that as a result of my survey I can give a fairly authoritative opinion on what the situation is, why and what the future is. I am confident that my reactions are sound and that my conclusions will be accurate.

Question: Did you experience any controls; anyone asking your name, etc. in the airport? Answer: Only in the hotels, or when I entered and left the country. At the hotels you make a full police report. When the others whom I engaged in conversation (and told them what I was trying to learn) asked where I was going next, I would ask them what they suggested how far it is, what was a good hotel, etc. I would trick them into it. Thus I tried to be a little naive. I was only concerned once.

Question: Did you ever talk voluntarily or involuntarily to anyone who you knew to be a policeman? Answer: I talked voluntarily to uniformed cops and asked questions and directions. I chose my questions with great care. Although it looked very informal, I had it pretty well planned. Since each question suggested another, it formed a pattern and was very logical. I was a very happy person and found a lot of things to laugh about and a lot of things to praise (this is one thing that I had suggested). Keeping in mind that I was a tourist, I went out of my way to find and see things and I went to many places which I felt were ridiculous. (Subject talks here about personal experiences in hotels, plumbing, etc.)

Question: Did you know that you were an object of undue suspicion? Answer: I presumed that I was. I was an unusual stranger since tourism is not a usual thing in that part of the country. Hence I set about to remove any suspicion. I acted very much American, being all over the place and being curious; but I gave purpose to my curiosity and explained it in each place. Everywhere I engaged people in conversation and gathered other people, explaining my purpose, interests and why I had such interests. I think that in each instance I logically explained my presence and worked into the questions that I asked. I think the idea of going to the Communists accomplished my purpose. I was not a subject of interest to the newspapers, which I might well have been had they had suspicions. I worked out in the open. In dining rooms I would find some excuse to say "do you speak English?" and usually someone did. "Could you explain something to me — how is this prepared? We don't have it in the U. S., etc." Pretty soon we were sitting together, ordering a drink and invariably the owner of the hotel would come and sit with us and tell me he would write a note to a particular newspaper editor, etc. As a result, I found that about half of the time I was directed to people. I never felt that I was suspect, except by Americans, and I think they thought that I was checking up on them since they tried to avoid me.

Question: Did you ever find, or have the feeling, that you were followed from the airport, etc.? Answer: I had that feeling once, but I wasn't being followed. For example, I had the feeling that I had seen the same man in several places, but dismissed it because I didn't see him again. Also, so many of those people look alike, that I may have been confused. In the airports I engaged people in conversation, always playing the role of the curious American, but primarily one who is happy with their country.

Forum, Member of Urban League and NAACP; Legal Counsel, Community Service Organization; Unsuccessful candidate (Democrat) for Secretary of State, California, 1958.

Family: Wife, Mildred and three minor children

Residence: Los Angeles, California until about April 1961 at which time he and his family moved to Washington, D.C.

__Operational Activities:__

1. Subject went to Cuba at the suggestion of CA Staff and with the concurrence of WHD and the Cuba Station in early 1960 (15 January-31 January). The primary purpose of Subject's mission to Cuba was to obtain an objective view of the political situation within that country and to contact and size-up the existing opposition to Castro. Subject was able to make innumerable contacts with leading opposition figures and others, primarily through his own ingenuity. As a result he obtained a good deal of useful information on these persons, their philosophies, plans, etc. as well as information of a derogatory nature on Fidel Castro (which was later exploited in the propaganda field). Subject also provided several operational leads and suggestions upon his return from Cuba. During this assignment, Subject traveled as a tourist, but at the same time, in order to give him added stature for conversations, stated that he represented American businessmen and investors who were anxious to assess legal recourses re revolutionary laws and to determine the possibilities for future development and investments. WH was very impressed with Subject's ability and operational maneuverability.

2. From 23 February-3 March 1961 Subject was in El Salvador again at the suggestion of CA Staff and with the approval of WHD and the Station. Again, Subject's mission was to provide an over-all estimate of the fluid political situation. While in that area, he made numerous political and social contacts of operational interest and subsequently made a number of operational suggestions during his debriefing at Headquarters. Subject's cover for this mission was tourist travel. Headquarters, the Station and the U.S. Ambassador in El Salvador were all extremely impressed by Subject's ability to assess the local political situation and to make the necessary contacts with a minimum of Station assistance. (Detailed reports on both of these missions are available in CA/PAG files.)

Current Status and Future Operational Potential:

Subject brought his family from California to Washington, D.C. where he is expecting to receive a political appointment probably in the field of Latin American affairs. He has suggested that if possible he would like to be operationally active for KUBARK at the same time. Since he will undoubtedly be assigned to Latin America (possibly Mexico), and will have some freedom of action, he feels he could perform worthwhile clandestine services throughout the Latin American area. We agree. CA/PAG is, therefore, arranging meetings for Subject with WHD and IOD, both of whom have expressed an interest in this possibility. (More details will be forthcoming on this.)

MEMORANDUM FOR: Chief, SB

VIA : Chief of Station

SUBJECT : Celebration of Polish National Day, 22 July 1969

1. The undersigned attended the celebration of the Polish national day at the Polish Residence on Insurgentes Sur on 22 July 1969. The following points were the most significant:

a. The only Soviet the undersigned could identify was Col. Konstantin Nikandrovich BOGATYREV, the Soviet Military Attache. Someone the undersigned's wife talked to mentioned the presence of the Soviet Consul, but this certainly was neither Valentin LOGINOV nor Yuriy CHERNYSH, and the undersigned did not meet that person.

b. Whether the Cubans were invited or not, they were not in attendance.

c. Jiri SVESTKA, of the Czech Embassy, was there. Per SB Section briefing, the undersigned mentioned his departure and told SVESTKA that at least he would remain in Mexico. SVESTKA said that this would not be the case, that he is scheduled to leave within 15 days for Czechoslovakia. The undersigned then mentioned a conversation with his Czech friend in which the latter told him that he expected to stay in Mexico for quite a while longer. SVESTKA denied ever having said this, pointing out that he was glad to return home. The undersigned made no further comments.

d. The ex-Haitian Ambassador, Julio Jean PIERRE-AUDAIN, was seen by the undersigned but left before he could talk to him. In view of the fact that PIERRE-AUDAIN ceased to be Ambassador of Haiti a long time ago, the undersigned feels that his presence at the Polish national day celebrations has some significance. He remembers that PIERRE-AUDAIN was also present at the celebration of the Czech national day this year. In other words, the Communists have made it a point to maintain contact with him, probably in view of the fact that PIERRE-AUDAIN may return to Haiti if something happens to DUVALIER and may secure a position of some importance in his country.

2. The President of the Consular Association, VOURVOULIAS, told the undersigned that he would contact LOGINOV at the Soviet Embassy to see whether the latter would agree to a joint celebration of both the undersigned's and LOGINOV's departures in a party to be held for both of them at the same time. LOGINOV is not scheduled to leave Mexico until September 1969, a departure postponed from the original schedule of late July or early August.

Date of meet: July 17 at Hoyo 19 at 1430 hrs

1. Prearranged meet which lasted 90 minutes.
Next meet: August 17 at the same place.

2. On Friday July 11 LIBACON-1 gave a regular language class to L-1 and L-1 stated his interest to meet the Sov girl at LIBACON-1's house. ~~and~~ In the course of conv L-1 explained to LIBACON-1 why he believed this was important to him or in other words he gave him the cover story about which we spoke at our previous meet. LIBACON-1 assured L-1 that he would bring the Sov girl (Alla [illegible]) to his house.

3. On July 16 at 1000 hrs, i.e. at their next class LIBACON-1 told L-1 that he ~~[illegible]~~ went to the Sov Emb to visit LOGINOV and he found him this time. In the course of conv with LOG he (LIBACON-1) told him about meeting Alla and his plans to invite her to his home and show her around. LOG told him that Alla was his secretary and that he should not dare to get close to her.

4. L-1 felt defeated with this development, because he believed that he was on the way/ developing something for us. I told L-1 that there was no reason of feeling bad about this fact, especially, because LOG was leaving relatively soon and the girl would remain here.

5. L-1 told me that on July 11 LIBACON-1 had taken an old ~~[illegible]~~ [illegible] in which there was an advertising showing LOG again in a shaky Tequila and he asked L-1 can he give to LOG if he wanted it. Apparently, LIBACON-1 showed the magazine to LOG and wanted to joke with the picture but LOG became very angry about the fact "that international figures" are used for cheap ads. L-1 suspected that LOG might had asked from where [illegible] LIBACON-1 stated his name.

6. L-1 plans taking about 2 weeks vacation starting the second week of August.

SUB Meeting of Cuerpo Consular de Mexico, 17 July 69 CS/Sec-file

FR G A FERMLEN

1. On 17 July 69 FERMLEN and wife attended their first Consular Corps meeting with two other station Officers and wives. FERMLEN was introduced to Lev GOLOVZOV, 201-850177, P-13,766 and Valentin LOGINOV, 201-285412, P-11712 of the Soviet Embassy and to another Russian, unidentified, who appeared very reluctant to talk. GOLOVZOV was very civil but/appeared a bit less expansive than his colleague, LOGINOV, who engaged in a constant verbal bantering with FRADYER. LOGINOV and FRADYIR have established a solid rapport which enables them to engage in the aforementioned antics without ~~xaper~~ repercussions. LOGINOV was accompanied by his wife, a very charming, quite woman, who speaks acceptable spanish. She manifested a real interest in the chemical department of the plant, to the point of explaining certain charts and symbols to LOGINOV. She probably has had some chemical training. LOGINOV himself appeared self-assured, sophisticated and able. He appeared not the slightest concerned over the verbal battle with FRADYIR, and held his own during the exchanges. He looks strong physically, especially his hands, which could pass for a [illegible]. He has a [illegible] charming smile which he uses to his advantage, i.e. whenever he was at a loss for words, out came the smile. 2. GOLOVKOV was, as previously stated, more reserved. He stayed in the background and accompained the unidentified Russian during most of the tour. FERALEZ was introduced to him but little conversation passed between them. He appeared a little stiff, more the Russian sterootype of the reserved, social-ill-at-ease person. But this was justx an impression as FERALEZ had nox chance for an indepth conversation. GOLOVKOV seemed to possess decent spanish. He stated he was from the comercial section. Hopefully subject will attend other Corps meetings and FERALEZ will have an opportunity to speak to him at greater length.

Contact Report
Subject: LIRACON-1 (P-4805)
Date of Meet: July 9 at Farenze Restaurant-Bar (Newton) at 1630

1. Prearranged meet; L-1 came on time; the meet lasted 2 hours and 30 minutes.

Next meet: Wed July 16 at 1630 at pick up place in Escobedo with Gutenberg

2. On July 9 at 0915 hrs L-1 went to the Sov Embassy to look for LOGINOV (P-11,712). A Sov girl receptionist told him that LOG was not in and told him that he could wait in the reception roon or wait for him in the waiting room of LOG's office. L-1 prefered to remain with the receptionist(girl). He left after 55 minutes without seeing LOG.

3. When L-1 came to the receptionist and asked for LOG she in turn asked him was he not L-1 (by first name only), son of their language teacher. L-1 answered affirmatively and in turn asked her what was her name and how does she know him. She stated that her name was Alla LNU and that she recognized L-1 by his voice from calling for LOG. (NOTE: L-1 feels positive that at least 4 months have passed since a woman answered the phone when he asked for LOG).

4. In the beginning of the conv L-1 found out that the girl was from Mosow which certainly pleased L-1 because he had what to talk about. She complimented L-1 for speaking Russian without an accent, which was not the case with L-1's mother, the language teacher at the Sov Emb.

5. Results of this conversation:

a. Alla LNU is in Mexico city less than a year. She is bored to death here and is looking forward to returning to Moscow as soon as she will be allowed.

b. She said that Mexico had a pleasant climate, but all she knows about Mexico is Cuautla and even when she is invited there she has no company of her own (sic).

c. With regard to her schooling: after she finished high school she went to a school for mechanical technicians where she studied about a year and gave it up because she did not like it. She competed to enter the school of modern languages at the university but she failed. Then, she entered the M.I.M.O. (L-1 does not know what it stands for) and after 5 months she had to go to Mexico.

d. L-1 told her that he would look her up occasinally and she appeared to be pleased with the idea.

e. Description: apparent age 25 - 26; hight about 5 ft 3 in (possibly less); hair light brown; very nice eyes (L-1 does not remember the color); buildt rather stout; face rather long; in general: pleasant appearance.

6. Before leaving L-1 left with her a note for LOG in which he stated that he can still be reached at the Institute between 1500 and 1600 hrs and at home and added his phone numbers and concluded that if he did not hear from LOG it would prove he had a friend who turned out to be no good.

7. During L-1s waiting in the reception room Yuriy CHERNISH passed by and they exchanged few unconsequential words. L-1 asked YO did he give LOG the message he sent to LOG from that party (at Andres's CATANO) and he said that he did it with pleasure and added few words of his own. When YO left L-1 asked Alla when was LOG leaving and she said LOG would leave in October '69.

8. At 1510 hrs of the same day LOG phoned to L-1 in the Institute and after some verbage they agreed to meet on Monday July 14 at the Marinera restaurant at 1300 hrs (AV Chapultepec with or near Liverpool). Both of them stated that they would be there without fail.

9. With regard to the meet LOG - L-1 I repeated my previous instruction to L-1 concerning his attitude if LOG comes out again with the request to meet LIOVAL-1.

10. With regard to L-1s acquaintance with Alla I suggested L-1 to ask his mother about her. There is a possibility of finding out her full name and whether she is married or not. L-1 should also mention to LOG the fact that he met Alla while waiting for him. Depending on the findings L-1 should consider inviting Alla to his house for lunch one Sat or Sun and take her with his wife and child to the Parque Asturiano to spend the afternoon. I told L-1 that I would pay for the expenses for lunch and possible entertainment. L-1 will discuss the matter with me before doing anything.

11. L-1 reported that he had a 90 minutes talk with Karel WENDEL (see Attachment) and I debriefed him on the same. There were very few facts which were not covered in the previous report on WENDEL.

12. As it became obvious that the working part of the meet was over L-1 stated that he would really feel bad and blow off his top ~~hm~~ if he did not see KARTASUK until the end of the month. I told him that KARTASUK had put a long period of work in the States and consequently his leave was extended for the same amount of time and X can spend that time where he pleased. L-1 commented that in that case he would extend the deadline of becoming nasty to Aug 20. I laughed. L-1 commented that probably I was not able to understand how much he was attached to KARTASUK.

Subject: Jimmy SABORI P-13,830
Date of meet: July 7 in Subject's car and Insurgentes Sanborns Bar

1. A meet was prearranged with Subject for July 7 at Del Paseo at 1400 hrs. Subject phoned to our office in the course of the morning to ~~xxx~~ confirm the arrangement. (FERNALD was trying to reach Subject to change the place of meet, but he was not able to reach him). Subject did not show up at the Del Paseo and after waiting 40 minutes F went home (his office). At 1535 hrs F was infoed by the office that Subject called several times and his latest statement was that he would be in front of the Cine Latino (across the Reforma from our Embassy). F came there on time but Subject was not around. Due to heavy rain F was bound to stay there and at 1630 hrs Subject showed up in an impressive Pontiac Boneville, blue with light top, plates MBD 755, Texas, 1968 Hemisfair (black). Subject waved to F to get in the car.

SB/F pls check plates
Requesting HQ check

Next meet: Friday July 11 at Bonaparte at 1400 hrs

In the car Subject stated to F that he goofed, because he went to the restaurant where we met twice previously and after some waiting and phoning he looked at his notebook and realized that he was at the wrong place. He apologized. Then, Subject stated that he had to return the Boneville and take another car and he asked F to have a ride with him. Subject took the car to Leibnitz and parked it in front of the apt building at 297. He excused himself for few minutes took newspapers,~~xxx~~ a small bundle and 2 miniature bottles of some liquor and entered the apt. About 5 minutes later he returned and we entered an old, beaten up Valiant without license plates and the age is hard to tell.

SB/F, any need? [illegible]

2. During the first ride Subject tolf F that LOG phoned him on Friday July 4 and told him that they would have to postponed their meet scheduled for the next day because he (LOG) would be out of town on Sat and Sun. LOG wanted to meet with Subject on Mon or Tue and Subject told him that he would be taken and working with 2 American businessmen who would arrive on Sunday. Subject added that they would bring a tennis hat for LOG (they did). LOG said that he would want to visit Josephine ALCAYAGA, probably on Thursday July 10, but would phone him to arrange for a meet before coming to his (and Josephine's) apt. LOG also reminded Subject ~~x~~ to prepare him for that meet a written report on the opinion of Mexcican government officials about the Interamerican Economic Conference at Port of Spain.

Stlf - check for call No need

4. After returning from the apt Subject told F that LOG had phoned to Josephine and told her that he would visit them on Thur a little after 2000 hrs and that he would bring to Josephine 2 bottles of Votka.

5. Then, Subject asked F when should he arrange for a meet with LOG, because in front of Josephine they do not speak about politics. F told Subject that the logical thing to do would be to take advantage "of the social gathering" with LOG to make arrangements for their next meet. Subject agreed and asked F whether our security people decided to give or not to give the directory to him for passing it LOG. F told Subject that he messed the matter by bringing into the picture a nonexisting Patricia which we were not able to produce. Therefore, the first step is getting rid of Patricia, which means to get to the point of F's first instruction: Subject really has no close friend or contact in the U.S. Embassy and is willing to develop one if LOG insists on getting the directory; Subject is willing to follow LOG's instruction regarding how to go about it. With regard to "Patricia" Subject will have to state that she did not return from her leave and he does not know why.

JL

6. At that point ~~xx~~ Subject and F were alrady at the Diana Circle and Subject suggested that they stop for a drink in Insugentes at Samborns which is only a couple of blocks from his office and F agreed. They remained there about 50 minutes.

7. Subject stated that the directory has become a problem. F commented that the existing problem was created by Subject and his not compliance with the instruction; the only way out of it now is to do what F told him in the car.

8. In reply to F's question Subject stated that the 2 Americans who arrived here on Sunday July 6 were interested in investing capital in a ~~[illegible]~~ a housing project for people of low income. He added that one of them is owner of a mining corporation and the otherone is from the Beneficiary (if rembered correctly) Insurance Co. He belives that they were satisfied with the findingsm but it will take about a month before the deal materializes, because the approval of appropriate board was needed.

SSIF- [illegible] [illegible] No trace at all

9. Subject showed to F a calling card of Mr. C. Lester McGee (or MacGee), President of Moon Valley Mining Corporation, 3113 Oakland Ave (or Street), Dallas, Texas. There were at least two other addresses listed which F did not remember. Subject went on to say that Mr. MacGee was interested in buying platinum, but Subject told him that Mexico had no platinum and that once the Sovs were trying to sell a quantity in Mexico. Mr. MacGee told Subject to look into the matter and explained him the mechanics of the deal. Sovs would have to make a firm offer to a Swiss Company which is controlled by a Canadian company which is in fact a subsidiary of an American company: ultimate destination of the platinum is the U.S. Reportedly, the deal is all the way through a clean legal commercial transaction and terms of payment would be Irrevocable, Confirmed Letter of Credit, cash on delivery in Switzerland. The intial purchase would be 5,000 ounces but there is will to buy up to 1 million Dollars worth of platinum. Subject asked F should he ask LCG are the Sovs interested in the deal.

10. F told Subject he should tell about it to LCG if there is a commission for the person who facilitates the deal. According to Subject there is a US$1.- commission per ounce if he can provide the goods. F told Subject he should express the desire that LCG obtain the info himself and if the answer is favorable and the price right then LCG can introduce Subject to the Sov official who will be authorized to close the deal. Subject agreed to emphasize the attractiveness of the commission and the advantage of the fact that the deal is handled in Switzerland and consequently the commission is also paid there. F told Subject that he wanted to know in detail LOGs reaction concerning the commission. Subject should also play around with the theme that it would be ideal if LOG could travel to Switzerland to introduce him to the right person (Sov) and similar.

11. Subject commented that the buyer is serious and it remains to be seen are the Sov willing to sell at a convenient for them but still fair price. Subject went on to say that if the deal was to go well he would have to go to Switzerland, and this arises another problem, i.e. how long would it take for him to get an American Passport, because he id presently documented by his Birth Certificate. F told him to start thinking about passing that bridge when he comes to it.

12. Subject appeared to be satisfied with Fs attitude in the above conversation and he commented that with this matter showing up plus the tennis hat and the written report there should be enough for a meet with LOG. F told Subject that he wanted a carbon copy of the report he would hand to LOG and Subject promise to make one.

13. Then, Subject observed that in order to place the business for talk with LOG in the right prospective he would have to see LOG before Mr. McGee and his companion leave, which means the latest on Wed noon. F told him to go ahead and make arrangements which would be normal if he was trying to push the platinum deal, but if he gets to see LOG before Thur at his (Josephines) apt, he should advise F by phone, i.e. leave a message for F to ring him up.

14. Comment by Fernald:

b. Even if nothing comes out of the platinum deal, which is quite likely, conversation about it and the associated commission, should give us some reading on LOG on one hand and on the other shed more light on the personal relation between Subject and LOG.

agree

b. The so called social relation between Josephine and LOG is interesting, to say the least.

1. According to Source LOG phoned him on Friday July 4 at 1100 hrs and told that he would be out of town on July 5 and 6 and, consequently, would want to reschedule their meet arranged for Jyly 5. LOG proposed Monday or Tuesday and Source told him that he would be busy ~~m~~ with some American businesemen . LOG concluded that he wanted to visit Josephine ALCAYAGA Segues ~~this~~ next week and will do it probably on Thursday (July 10), but will phone earlier.

2. According to Source LOG does not miss a week to give a ring to Josephine ALOAYAGA just to say Hello.

3. During the phone conversation mentioned in para l1 above LOG reminded Source that he was interested in having next week in writing what Mexican officials thought about the American promises made at the Interamerican Economic Conference in Port of Spain.

4. The following are LOG's statements made to Source some of their previous meets:

a. LOG has a Life Insurance for 1 million Pesos with Monterrey Comania de Seguros, S.A. in Mexico City.

b. LOG told Source that it was good to have a friend "on the other side", meaning American side, because one can never tell what might happen.

c. LOG brags about having money of his own.

Date of Meet: July 2 at Paris-Mexico Restaurant at 1640 hrs.

1. Prearranged meet to which Subject came on time and seeing me he drove around several blocks and returned to the prearranged place 6 minutes later.

I paid L-1 MN 1,000- salary for June '69.

Next meet: July 9 with the pick up at the same place at 1615 hrs.

2. L-1 told me about the evening he spend with LIOVAL-1 at the Sov show. He reported the matter exactly as LIOVAL-1 did and added that in spite of his intention to meet with some members of the Sov group he did not find time to do it.

3. With regard to the visit he promised to make to LOGINOV L- stated that he was not able to make up his mind in doing it, because he feared that LOG might suspect him for showing so much interest in him now and previously he was avoiding him. I repeated my request that he go and see LOGINOV before we meet next week. He said he would do it on Friday July 4 at 1015 hrs.

4. I told L-1 that I wanted him to do more writing for us in accordance with our previous agreement. He promised to do it, and I believe that while he is with me he seriously means what he says.

5. As the Attacgment will show L-1 spoke about his talk with Karel WENTEL and he was instructed to obtain more info, especially, factual info.

6. I gave Subject ~~his~~ a copy of the First Circle in Russian and he was pleased to get the book.

7. L-1 is still living harmoniously with his wife and L-1 is convincing himself that he wants to live with his wife and does not want to give ~~his~~ her a reason for quarreling.

8. I talked to L-1 about the need that he associate with Sov.

Subject: Valention LOGINOV - Bio Sketch by LIBACON-1

Remarks:

1. Concerning the problems which Log has with his colleagues LIBACON-1 was not able to offer specific examples. In at least 3 instances LOG spoke to L-1 that the psychological atmospher within the Sov Embassy is horrible and depressing. LOG stated that there was not a single person in the Embassy in which one can confide; everybody is ready to cut otherones throat just to advance; if there is nothing the colleagues can pin against a person they start intriguing hoping that one might lose his temper and commit something stupid which would be sufficient to harm the person involved; if ones asks for advise he would in no time find out that he was considered incompetent.

In Fall 1968 L-1 invited LOG to attend a party and told him that Yuriy CHERNISH (P-13,042) would be there. LOG stated that he would not come, because it would mean or getting himself in trouble or getting CHERNISH in trouble; to keep away from Sov collegues is the only of keeping out of troubles, concluded LOG.

2. With regard to the statement that LOG was commiting errors by exterting pressure on other people L-1 stated that he reported LOG's renewed attempt to recruit Miguel Angel. In doing so LOG abandoned his tact and ignored the sensitivity of the other person; LOG talk to L-1 in Cuautla took place in less than a month from LOG's pitch to Miguel Angel; the way LOG spoke to L-1 made it evident that LOG disregarded ops security rules. Such things did not happen before and L-1 concluded that LOG went all out to achieve some success before he leaves PCS "cost what it may".

3. When L-1 stated that he believed that LOG would be a good person under normal conditions, he meant that he believed that LOG is basically a good person and would be acting and behaving as a good preson in his normal environment, i.e.. if he remained as a muzik on the farm, or he was a tractor driver or a truck driver and similer, because in such conditions LOG would do a good job and would not have to depend on mental capability which he does not have.

4. L-1 does not know why LOG expresses such a great love and admiration for Spain and Spaniards. L-1 feels positive that LOG was never in Spain; he has no reason to believe that LOG did any extensive reading about Spain; in fact L-1 believes that LOG knows about Spain what he heard from Spaniards who live in the USSR and, apparently, he was associating with a number of them in Moscow.

A continuación, me invitó a comer el día 8 para seguir hablando de lo mismo! En el fondo creo que todo eso revela cierta inocencia y muchas ganas de progresar, para llevar una vida muy diferente a lo que llevan los ciudadanos soviéticos. Creo que quiere dejar una grand impresión a sus jefes para no quedar trabajando indefinidamente en el Ministerio de Relaciones Exteriores de Moscú. No sé hasta que punto sus ambiciones puedan guiarlo a progresar incluso por medio de atropellar victimas. Como persona y en condiciones normales me parece bueno, generoso y fiel amigo. Sin embargo la verdad es que nunca lo llegué a conocer muy bien, en parte posiblemente porque casi desde el principio sentía instintivamente que quería algo de mí, muy aparte de nuestra amistad y en parte porque con todo y la confianza que llego a tener conmigo jamás se descubrió por completo, ni mucho menos. Subject: Jimmy SABORI
Date of Meet: July 1 at Seps-Paris at 1900 hrs

1. This meet was held in lieu of the one scheduled for June 30 at 1400 hrs. Subj requested the postponment of the meet by phone on grounds that LOGINOV did not show up for the meet on June 25 and another meet with him was arranged by phone and will take place on June 30 at 1400 hrs. FERNALD phoned to Subject the same day of his call and arranged to see him at Seps-Paris restaurant at 1900 hrs. F who came to the meet place 5 minutes earlier found Subject there waiting for him. The meet lasted 5 hours in spite of the fact that F paid the bill 2 hours before Subject decided to leave.

Next meet: Monday July 7 at the Del Paseo at 1400 hrs. Note: F. will change the meet place to a more modest restaurant.

2. Subject immediately asked what was the decision concerning the Emb directory which LOGINOV was asking for. F told Subject that the directory was his last worry and that he would like to hear how did the things go with LOGINOV. Subject started speaking about the meet (see separate Attach.) By the time Subject was through with his description of the meet, F obtained a more convenient table and as ~~xx~~ they moved to it. F requested Subject to write additional date to his PRQ-I which he did promptly. Then F asked him to write the chrono sequence of his contacts with LOGINOV which Subject did by looking in his agenda and he did it without hesitation.

3. At this point Subject told F that he had seen him in the vicinity of the place where he met with LOGINOV. F stated that he was there and that the purpose of being there was that Subject see him. He asked did F also see LOG and F stated that when he saw LOG coming he moved in the direction from which Subject was coming. F concluded by saying that the fact that F was there himself should be sufficient to assure Subject that we keep operational matters restricted to a minimum of persons for reasons of security.

4. F looked at what Subject wrote concerning his meets with LOG and told Subject that according to the phone message he left for F it appeared that LOG did not come to the meet scheduled for June 25 and not as he put it on paper. Subject repeated what he wrote and confirmed that on June 20 LOG ~~Subject~~ did not show up and on June 25 LOG ~~didxxx~~ came and Subject did not show up (LIEMBRACE surveillance confirmed the latter statement). F observed that on his first meet with Subject on June 23 Subject said that he had a meet with LOG on June 25 and told him that he had no time to try to get the directory. Subject showed no embarrassment and he told F that he must have misundertood Subject's statement.

5. F told Subject that he did not follow F's instruction in speaking to LOG about the directory, specifically, by bringing up a name of Patricia which created a problem without which he would be much better off. The fact is that Subject knows nobody in the U.S. Embassy. Subject was of the opinion that we can always introduce him to a person in the Emb who can play the role of being his acquaintance. F told Subject that we were not exactly ~~carre~~ pulling rabbits out of a hat and all our actions were conducted within limits of security. What Subject was suggesting was a complete disregard for our as well his own security and the best thing he can tell LOG on their next meet was that "Patricia" did not show up as yet.

6. It may be noted that F's attempt to debrief Subject on what transpired at each of his meets with LOG did not bear desired results. Subject stated the facts he mentioned to F on their first meet and started repeating himself as he was going on. Therefore, F decided to get as detailed as possible description of the last meet and Subject was cooperative. Although, Subject spoke about the last meet at the begining of our meet he did not mind trying putting it in sequence as it took place. From what Subject stated about previous meets it may be worthwhile noting that Subject had a party at his apt on June 10 and he asked LOG to come to the party. LOG explained Subject that he did not like to be seen in large groups and he sent Subject 2 bottles of Votka for the party. Subject also stated that in 2 - 3 instences he promised LOG to bring him a tennis hat from the U.S. Actually, LOG would like to have 2 tennis hats, one with a visor and the other type with a rim around, size large. Subject had an opurtunity of doing it, but at the proper moment he forgot about it. LOG still brings up the fact that Subject forgot about him and his hats. Subject asked F was it possible to get those hats for him. F said he did not know if it can be done.

7. Subject asked F what type of a reception will be given on the 4th of July by the Emb and was there something arranged that any American could drop in, as signing the book at the Emb. F promised to phone to Subject in case there was something like that.

nothing!

8. After covering the ground as contained in the 3 attachments F asked Subject was he willing to back his statements with a polygraph test (F used the expression 'lie detector test'). Subject reacted by asking when did we want him to take the test. F commented that he did not say that Subject would be given one, he only asked would he be willing to take one, if we asked him to do it. Subject stated that he was willing to take the test at any time. Then, he started asking questions about the test, especially, who usually gets it and how it works. With regard to who gets F stated that anyone involved in matters having bearing on the security of the U.S. and as to how it works, there is nothing to it: it registers when a person says a lie as the stomach digests automatically anything a persons eats.

we should set this up as interim measure

9. Comments by FERNALD:

a. This meet enables us to have a better insight of Subject's personality.

b. There are valid indications that Subject is not withholding important info concerning his personal history nor his activity.

c. His claim to have numerous and to an extention influential contacts appears to be acceptable.

d. He also appears to be cooperative, but has a tendency to deviate from the instruction given to him concerning his attitude toward LCIMPROVE. It is possible that this is due to his conviction that he knows LCI better than we do and that we are too dogmatic and not enough flexible. At the same time this may be due to the fact that he loves clandestine activity for the sake of pleasure he gets out of the game as such on one hand and on the other, he might fear that our proposed course of action may alienate LCI from him, in which case he would be left without a game he likes.

e. It appears quite obvious that Subject's financial conditions are not rosy, but, apparently, he has a shelter, is well dressed and does not have to worry about being hungry. Therefore there is left enough room for him to lead the life he pleases.

Subject: James SABORI

Date of Meet: June 23 at Subjects Apt at Bahia de Sta Barbara 20/308

1. Arrangements for this meet were made through the office and the fact that the phone which Subject left with our office was out of order made it necessary that FERNALD call on Subject at his apt. It may be noted that Subject is in the process of moving and the only furniture in the living room of the above mentioned apt consisted of two beaten up easy chairs w/o arm rest and a sort of an end table loaded with papers and a telephone; another phone was on the floor in the corner of the room. There was so much dust on the floor that it is difficult to believe that the apt was in any use during the last 10 days.

2. Subjects NEW ADDRESS: Leibnitz 297 apt 7 phone 31-53-93
Office: Fraccionadora de Bajio, Insurgentes Sur 429 office 12 (first floor), phone 64-63-47.

Subject can be reached home until 0930 in the morning and in the office between 1100 and 1400 hrs and in the afternoon between 1700 and 2000 hrs. Subject stated that it would be rather difficult to find him in his office because of his frequent "in and out" work.

3. COMMO with us: Subject was told that once he was placed in contact with the "proper people" he should use from now on the extention 870. He will identify himself as Sr. ARVIZO (allegedly his mother's family name) and will asks for Sr. Virgil (BALDINI) FERNALDs alias.

4. FERNALD showed Subject his official looking credentials under th alias of Virgil B. BALDINI and after he read them quite carefully, [illegible] stated that now Subject knew that he was speaking to the right person an Subject commented that he was satisfied with Fs bona fide.

5. F first asked Subject few personal questions; the phone is out of order because he requested that it be transfered to his new apt and on Saturday (June 21 when he saw that the phone was not in operation he called "his friend Carlos TROUYET" to put pressure on the Telephone C but nothing could be done in view of the week-end; the elevator in the building is often out of order, because there are too many children in the building; Subject is married and has 2 children, but he is presently separated from his wife; as the children finished the High School his wife wanted them to continue their schooling in the U.S.; Subject avoided specifying what school his children attended here and called the school "the American High School"; Subject has been in Mexico 4 years and his wife only 2 years; as much as he loves Mexico so much his wife did not get used to Mexico and did not want to remain any longer here; the fact that he did not want to leave Mexico resulted in their physical separation; according to Subject it is only a matter of days that his family left for San Jose, California, which Subject called his home town; Subject claims that his family (paternal side) comes from Milan, Italy; his great grand father came to New York, NY, and followed the gold rush to California where he apparently did well; for reasons unknown to Subject his grand father moved from California to Arizona and then to Mexico (Sinaloa) where Subject's father was born; in the same breath Subject stated that he, too, was born in Mexico and when F commented that it would be logical that he have a dual citizenship, Subject did quite bit of talking to confuse the the previous statement; during the revolution all the records were burned and he has only the certificate of baptism issued by a Mexican church and in fact it was possible that he was born on the U.S. side of the border; Subject claims he could not care less about the possibility of claiming Mexican citizenship, he is an American and it suits him well to live in this country as a TOURIST; in the Fraccionadora de Pajio he works with a partner, who entered the company as owner of 2 large chunks of land; Subject had no money but he is the person who through his connections obtained from a Mexican bank a decision that the bank would mortgage up to 90 per cent every structure he and his partner complete; now he is in the stage of obtaining American investment capital to carry out the construction of low income housing (F does not recall the location Subject mentioned); of course Subject went through financial difficulties and is still facing some of them, but nothing serious; He has a car of his own; he is moving out of this apt and will sub-let it and make few hundred pesos per month on the difference of present price and what he is paying; this type of transactions cannot get him in troubles, because Mexicans do not care about such things; he has a friend in the Gobernacion who once showed him that the Gobernacion had more than a foot high file on him and Subject told him they should not bother trying to do something against him because they cannot even kick him out of the country: he has a friend to whom he is authorised to turn if he is in any kind of trouble and he asked his Gobernacion friend to dial the phone which he gave him and the phone was answered by CISNEROS of the Presidency; Subject claims that he has influencial friends in practically every ministry (Secretaria) of the Federal government; Subject also prides himself with women friends he has and they are also influencial.

6. In answer to F's quetion Subject stated that he called on Mr. [illegible] at the U.S. Embassy because he had a fairly close relation with Valentin LOGINOV (P-11,712) of the Soviet Embassy and he would not want to be judged wrongly if the WOFIRM people get to know about his friendly relation with LOGINOV.

7. F commented that he hoped that Subject realized that the title on his credentials really spells Counter Intelligence, which, for example, means that if F saw Subject robbing a bank he could not care less because that would be the matter concerning the criminal police, or if was charged for having a child out of wedlock, because that would be a matter for the judiciary authority, but when it comes to spies then that is a matter which concerns F and the service he is working for. In view of the well established fact that LOGINOV is a spy and Subject is his friend (sic) this matter is of concern for the American Counter Intelligence. Therefore, would appreciate if Subject stated clearly what was the purpose of his visit to the U.S. Embassy. Subject answered without hesitation nor embarrassment that he believed that he made himself clear even at the Embassy that he wanted to cooperate with the U.S. Service and be of help as much as it stood in his power. F commented that he would probably ask Subject does he still want to help the U.S. Counter Intelligence before we close our meet today.

8. In reply to F's questions Subject stated:

a. He met LOGINOV in February 1969 at a social party in the house of Dr. Frederico MARIN, who is as is commonly known a Communist by his ideology. He does not know were there other Soviet officials at the party. LOGINOV first spoke to Subject in a heavy accented broken English and was delighted when Subject suggested that they speak Spanish. LOGINOVs general line of conv was that the essential thing in the life is understanding and to be able to understand others one must get to know them; this in turn calls for having as many friends as possible. The same applies to countries and nations. Before leaving the party LOGINOV stated that he would like to become friendly with Subject and asked him would he be willing to meet with him. Subject agreed and they met next Friday at the Tecali Restaurant.

b. The conv at the Tecali was to an extent dealing with the theme of friendship and understanding with an added emphasis that if there was understanding and, consequently, friendship between the U.S. and Soviet Union we would be living in a much better world. Subject stated his agreement with LOGs views. In a further part of the conv LOGINOV was interested in knowing whether Subject had many friends in Mexico. Subject claims to have stated that he had many good friends here. (NOTE: It is quite likely that he bragged about the number of influential friends he had here). At the end LOGINOV told Subject that he would like to see him again and Subject asked him to come to his house. According to Subject, LOGINOV asked would not the fact of receiving a Sov official compromise Subject or lead him into some kind of troubles. Subject assured him that the receiving of a Sov or any foreign official could not affect him in no way. Then, LOGINOV asked Subject would they be alone and Subject answered affirmatively. (Note: At this point Subject indicated that he received LOGINOV at the apt at the Leibnitz 297). Finally, LOGINOV agreed to come to Subject's apt.

c. In the apt LOGINOV did not feel at ease for some time. Intially, he did not drink from the Votka which

Subject poured and he drank only after Subject took a sip out of LOG's glass (Remark: This certainly sounds exaggerated). During the evening LOG was repeatedly speaking about his need to have friends, make new new friendships and was pointing out that Subject was able to help in that respect. Subject stated to P that he offered to LOG to introduce him to any friend of his he wished. In the course of conv LOG was asking Subject various questions concerning politics, economy and trade in Mexico and Subject was answering with a degree of familiarity with topics. Log felt that Subject was well informed and he asked him how come that he was so well informed, is he perhaps a WOFIRM man. Subject laughed at the question and added that in fact he hated WOFIRM and everything associated with it. LOG gave Subject his phone (apparently the calling card) and told Subject that he should not be phoning to him and that it was better if they agreed in advance when and where they would meet next.

d. From this point Subject gave up describing chronologically the developments. He stated that there were about 10 additional meets with LOG. The place they used most extensively was the La Cava. They usually were meeting at 2000 hrs, i.e. the time when the restaurants have the minimum of guests. Subject believes that LOG started using La Cava more frequently for their meet because of the fact that the Tecali closed.

e. Subject stated that out of pure curiosity he observed LOG coming to their meeting place: LOG leaves his car 5 - 7 blocks way from the place, boards a bus, gets out a block beyond the meeting place and comes walking slowly and making occasional stops to observe whether he was followed. When they get in a restaurant together LOG gives a good look to every person in the restaurant and remains especially watchful if he sees two men together.

f. Subject stated that the leitmotif of LOG during those meets was "helpme and I will be able to help you", "get me (or provide me with) the info I need and I will provide you with info you might need". Among the most saught info by LOG was personality info on Mexican politicians and, especially, indications as to who will be the next President of Mexico. LOG is very much interested does ECHEVARRIA stand a better chance to become the next President than CARRILLO FLORES. Later it became an obsession to find out what was REAL reason for Rockefeller's trip to LA countries. LOG discounted the fact-finding as any reason, because, according to him the U.S. embassies and the CIA in those countries know everything that is to be known . Consequently, LOG is convinced that there must an important reason for ROCKY's trip. Subject added that there very many other minor questions concerning the Mexican scene which interested LOG and to a fair extent he was able to get the answers. Nevertheless, LOG started asking Subject did he have friends in the U.S. Embassy here. Subject was answering casually with an "of course". On the meet Subject had with LOG on June 9 at la Cava LOG told him that he needed an Embassy phone directory and he asked Subject can he get him one. Subject promised to try. LOG brought to Subject's attention that he needed the NEW directory because the Embassy changes the directory every six months.

g. In reply to FS question Subject stated that LOG told him that he needed all the info he was asking for to advance politically in his career on one hand and on the other to dispell misunderstanding to which the lack of info may easily lead.

h. With regard to LOG Subject described him as a likeable person with quite liberal view on international politics; he passionately hates Khrushchov and is deeply concerned over the danger Red China represents to the world; he advocates that the U.S and Sov Union Shouldsign a mutual defense pact and liquidate the China until there is still time; he believes that Sov Union and the U.S. are entitled to act in defense of their own interests and "to hell with what the rest of the world says"; he admires the determination and dynamism of Americans.

9. After getting through this portion F told Subject does he still feel that he should get and give LOG the Emb Phone Directory. He stated that he was willing to do what we tell him to do, but he believed that if he came to the meet with LOG on June 25 without the directory, LOG would consider him as worthless, since was not able to obtain something which he can get in some other way. When F commented that the diredory was a tightly controled matter and to get one would practically mean to swipe one from somebody's desk, Subject stated that he was convinced that LOG would not care for a directory which he stole, because he is interested in Subject having a friend in the embassy through whom he would have access to info, and presenting the directory would be an indication that Subject had a friend there.

10. When Subject replied negatively to a theoretical possibility of obtaining a directory "legally", F told him that he must necessarily be aware of the fact that LOG would not be satisfied with a statement that he obtained the directory from a woman or man friend; LOG would insist in knowing the name and the address of the person who is his friend. Subject pretended not to be convinced about this but did not try to argue about it.

11. Then F told Subject that whether he admits/it to himself or not what he was trying to maneuvre himself into was a double agent role which is by no means an envious role. A person who is offering his cooperation to the U.S. under such conditions should be aware that every piece of info passed to the opposition, in this case LOG, must be cleared and approved by an U.S. officer which, if nothing else, is a time consuming proposition. Subject smiling said "time is money". F commented that only productively used time is money.

12. In a heavy and serious tone F stated that he must ask now Subject whether after the explanation he gave he is still willing to cooperate with the U.S. Service under the condition that he would follow ours instruction and guidance without any reserve. Subject answered YES and added that he was ready and willing to do whatever we tell him to do.

13. F asked Subject did LOG tell him when he was leaving Mexico. Subject stated that LOG did not mention his departure and Subject felt certain that there was no immediate departure in sight.

14. F told Subject that he would want think this matter over and discuss it with some of his colleagues and, therefore, would like to see him tomorrow. Subject stated that he would buisy in the morning and when F asked him what about the afternoon, Subject asked what about having a lunch together. F agreed and picked up SEP-Paris as the place and it was agreed that they would meet in the restaurant at 1400 hrs.

15. F feels that Subject is a sort of a Soldier of Fortune, a pleasant and long talker; among his Mexican contacts not mentioned ~~by~~ the above are D.Siqueira and Augustin BARRIOS Gomez. To impress F with closeness of his relations with BARRIOS Gomez, Subject showed F ABG's annual pass for all the movie houses in town and added that ABG gave him the pass. This fact might be interesting but it does not dispell the temptation to consider Subject to be a name dropper.

Bruce H. Fernald

P.S. Subject mentioned that LOG gave him some caviar and votka. F commented that Subject should not be surprised if F told him that we knew about it.

In speaking about the directory F told Subject that he, and LOG as well, should realize that "No son todos que estan y no estan todos que son"* in paraphrasis: All those listed do not necessarily belong (to the embassy) and all those who do belong are not listed.

Contact Report
Subject: LIBACON-1 (P-4305)
Date of Meet: June 21 at the Cafeteria JET at 1100 hrs.

1. This meet was held in lieu of the prearranged meet for June 18 which L-1 cancelled by phone. Due to the peculiarities of L-1's working habits I was not able to reach him by phone until June 20 at 1600 hrs when this meet was arranged.

Next meet: Wednesday July 2 at 1615 hrs at the previous pick up place.

2. On June 18 L-1 was without car and he felt obliged to cancel the meet. He stated that he felt happy to have made up with his wife and to be living again home. He told me about his arrangement to go to the Russian show with LIOVAL-1 and wife. He described me the developements as LIOVAL-1 reported them to me.

3. With regard to his 2 "contact" with LOGINOV which he hinted by phone, there was nothing to it. L-1 was at a party given by Andrea CATAÑO (P-13,545) on June 14 at her house and YURIY CHERNISH (P-13,042) was there and they exchanged few words about LOGINOV (see the attachment). L-1 stated that he was not with LOGINOV since the encounter in Cuautla and did not speak to him since the attempt to reschedule the lunch which was missed on May 8. Therefore, the story L-1 gave to LIOVAL-1 on June 13 about LOGINOV being disappointed with the fact that he had to return home, etc, has, quite likely, no connection with any recent developments. Further, it is quite obvious that L-1 did not know then about the fact that LOGINOV's departure was postponed 3 - 4 months.

4. L-1 stated that A. CATAÑO and her mother told him that they had expected BOGATYREV (P-11,381) to attend their party, but he neither came nor excused himself by phone. L-1 did not know how it came to the point that BOGATYREV was invited to the party. L-1 considered it as a significant fact that CHERNISH came to that party with his wife. L-1 interpreted this fact to the effect that CHERNISH gave up the idea of having a romance with ANDREA CATAÑO, but wanted to preserve and maintain friendship with her and her family. According to L-1 it is quite certain

1. On June 14 Yuriy CHERNISH (P-13,042) told Source that LOGINOV's departure from Mexico was postponed to October or November (L-1 does not remember which month YC stated).

2. L-1 requested CHERNISH to tell LOGINOV that L-1 was disappointed with LOG's attitude toward him: he promised to call him and he never did.

3. CHERNISH promised to relay the message and commented that LOG should have more time for his friends now that he does not have the work which every departure and moving bring with them.

Commet: L-1 was told he should try to contact LOG himself ~~and~~ instead of using other persons as messangers. Once more he promised to do it in a matter of days.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: James SABORI

1. At 1300 hours on 20 June Subject, on the recommendation of Bob JOHNSON (formerly with LNERGO in Guadalajara), came to the Embassy and contacted COS. Subject apparently has known JOHNSON and had asked JOHNSON to whom he could talk in the Embassy about a delicate matter. JOHNSON had recommended COS, identifying him only as a First Secretary.

2. Subject identified himself as an insurance salesman who is in Mexico as a tourist and who apparently hopes to do some business here. He is of Italian origin and apparently has lived in Texas and California. At the present time, he is living at Bahia de Santa Barbara #20, apartment 308. Telephone number is 31-53-93.

3. Subject's story was that he has been in contact with Valentin LOGINOV (P-11,712) (he showed COS LOGINOV's card) and, as a matter of fact, has had no less than 12 contacts with him. He is scheduled to have dinner with LOGINOV tonight (20 June) at 2000 hours but he would not say where as he was afraid that COS would contact the CIA people and surveil him. He is also scheduled to have dinner with LOGINOV on 25 June. In the past, they have had dinner at such places as La Cava and the other Tecali Restaurant.

4. Subject refused to say very much about the nature of his contact with LOGINOV. His reason for contacting COS was to get a copy of the latest Embassy phone directory, which LOGINOV had asked him for. He wanted to bring it to LOGINOV so that LOGINOV would do things for him. He did not say exactly what LOGINOV could do for him except that LOGINOV had invited him to visit the Soviet Union. LOGINOV has also given him several bottles of vodka. He was not worried about what LOGINOV could get out of him because, after all, he was just an insurance salesman. In other words, he seemed to be enjoying playing games with LOGINOV and was not particularly ready to cooperate with us. COS said that he would have to contact the "proper people" to see about the phone book. Subject asked COS to do that and said that he would call COS at 1800 hours on 20 June to get the answer. He also said that if the "proper people" were interested, they could contact him at the address and phone number given above.

5. When Subject calls at 1800 hours, he will be told that COS has gotten in touch with the "proper people" and that a representative of these people will call Subject on 23 June. As for the phone book, COS will say that this is entirely out of his hands and that the man who contacts Subject on 23 June will presumably deal with that.

6. My plan at present is to have Bruce H. FERNALD (P) call Subject on 23 June and attempt to get as much of a debriefing as possible without being hostile or aggressive. I am looking at the long-range possibilities here because, unless there are unexpected developments, it is probably too late to use this against LOGINOV. However, if Subject has really been cultivated so assiduously by LOGINOV, the chances are that LOGINOV will turn him over to his successor, assuming that Subject continues to show the promise that he has apparently shown thus far. I want FERNALD to get as much as he can out of Subject without either frightening Subject away from LOGINOV or ruining the possibility of future cooperation against LOGINOV's successor. As for the phone book, I have no intention of passing it, at least without knowing a lot more about what is going on. Subject can be told and can pass on to LOGINOV that this is a tightly controlled publication and that it will not be very easy to come by (that is, unless he manages to steal one on his own). Also, if Subject (who is, at least to our current knowledge, unwitting of COS' affiliation) mentions COS' name to LOGINOV, LOGINOV's appetite may be greatly wetted to find out that his new contact has gone right to the top.

7. There are no Station traces on Subject.

8. Subject called at 1800 hours 20 June. He was given the message in paragraph 5 and agreed to await a call from "the proper people" at 0900 hours on 23 June. He also agreed to stall on the phone book.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: LIREALM-1 CONTACT WITH AEDIEHARD

1. The attached report from LIREALM-1 was received on 16 June 1969. LIREALM-1 verbally added the following comments to the information in the report:

a. Although they have not attended any social functions together since their last encounter, it is LIREALM-1's opinion that AEDIEHARD is generally avoiding direct contact with him. Only once since LIREALM-1 told AEDIEHARD that he was insulted by AEDIEHARD's request that LIREALM-1 work for him has AEDIEHARD asked LIREALM-1 to play tennis. LIREALM-1 has seen AEDIEHARD on various occasions at the French Club, but neither have made any effort to speak to the other.

b. AEDIEHARD requested permission to bring a Mexican couple to the 21 June awards dinner. This was a strange request since the party was intended to include only those who had participated in the tennis tournament at the Club. Permission was granted, however, and LIREALM-1 will attempt to determine the identity of the Mexican couple at the party.

c. Both LIREALM-1 and his wife are convinced that AEDIEHARD is avoiding introducing his Soviet friend to the friends of LIREALM-1's wife. She has placed herself in a position, on a couple of occasions, where AEDIEHARD had to be almost impolite in not introducing his friend to LIREALM-1's wife, but he has chosen not to do so.

2. Based on the instructions given LIREALM-1 after the last incident between him and AEDIEHARD, he has not gone out of his way to engage AEDIEHARD in conversation or cultivate him socially. This might explain AEDIEHARD's standoffishness and/or his apparent unwillingness to introduce his new friend. More information on this subject will be available after the 21 June dinner.

COPIES MADE

1. As arranged last month, I picked Subject up on the corner of Nilo and Melchor Ocampo lateral at 1100. We drove to the Tastee Freeze in Polanco for coffee and met until 1300. Next meeting will be on 9 July at 1100, same pick-up place.

2. Subject seems like a real diamond in the rough with earthy and sensible philosophy. I was surprised at his promptness and the fact that he doesn't forget meeting dates, even though they're arranged a month ahead and there's no confirmation. He told me that he frequently gives away candy and stuff to the little Sov kids who come in, feeling that they'll remember it years from now when they're fed a line of propaganda about the West and that this will make an impression and help offset all the bad things they hear.

3. I brought with me the Soviet mug flash cards to have Subject identify those who come into his store frequently and whom he refers to by his own personal crypts (since he usually doesn't know their names). Following is the key to identifications:

"The Professor": ASTAKHOFF
"Boris" : PODLESNOY

4. Subject had the following comments and observations to make as we went through the cards:

SOLOMATIN (P-7452): departing PCS on 28 June 1969. He's suffering with an ulcer. He takes sleeping pills constantly and has been complaining about the great amount of work he has. Said his mother in the USSR (who neither smokes nor drinks) is very religious. She keeps a picture of Christ hidden at home and many of her women friends come to pray in front of it. SOLOMATIN did not come to Subject's house for dinner on 1 June as planned because he couldn't get permission. SOLOMATIN's wife will have 3 months off when they return to the USSR in order to rest up from her work here, but SOLOMATIN will have only 22 days off. He's going to take charge of some wood working shops with lathes and other machinery.

SUBJECT : LIROCKET-1

DATE OF MEETING: 29 May 1969 at Paris en Mexico
Next meeting is 26 June same place at 1300 hours

1. Subject had little to report. His notes on two sessions with KAZANTSEV are attached. KAZANTSEV said that he had no news on his departure and now thinks he will probably have to stay in Mexico until a new ambassador is appointed.

2. Subject called NIKITIN once and was not able to get ahold of him. He has not tried again but I asked him to keep at this. I showed Subject photos of most of the Soviet officials. He recognized a good many of them by fact if not by name and made the following comments on some of them:

a. PRIKHODKO (P-2270) - Speaks English and was going to take lessons from Subject but never got around to it.

b. TUCHNIN (P-3396) - Sees him occasionally; not very friendly.

c. GORDEYEV (P-13,691) (Subject knew his name) - Speaks English quite well; wanted to take lessons from Subject but could not get Embassy to pay for the lessons.

d. CHMYKHOV (P-6235) - Has seen him fairly frequently but does not know him. Appears unfriendly.

e. BOLSHAKOV (P-13,430) - Subject says he is the new guard.

f. BOGATYREV (P-11,381) - Every time Subject sees him he is carrying a camera. For a long time, Subject thought he was a tourist.

g. KARCHIN (P-11,829) - One of the guards at the gate and due to return to Moscow soon.

h. SOLOMATIN (P-7452) - Another guard at the gate.

i. KORMUSHKIN (P-11,707) - Subject sees him often. He is a driver.

j. LOGINOV (P-11,712) - He is a tennis player. He wanted Subject to teach his children English. LOGINOV's son is presently studying with the Embassy's female English teacher. LIROCKET-1 says he is a nice guy.

Contact Report
Subject: LIBACON-1 (P-4805)
Date of Meet: May 21 at the Paris-Mexico Restaurant

(A 37-[illegible])

1. This meet was held in lieu of the one scheduled for May 14 which L-1 postponed by phone. L-1 was at the pick up place 10 minutes before the scheduled time but I was there still earlier and I observed nothing suspicious in terms of stakeouts or surveillance. The meet lasted 75 min. NEXT MEET: Wednesday May 28 at the same pick up place.

2. As we met L-1 stated that he cancelled the last week meet because he was seized by one of his nervous crisis of hysteria followed by depression (sic). He immediately added that he prepared for me nothing because in his condition he was not able to do any work.

3. In the restaurant he kept on describing what effect the nervous crisis has on him and he added that he still felt depressed. During his description he did not indulge in dramatizing the matter.

4. I asked him what happened to the lunch he was supposed to have with LOGINOV and he repeated what he told me by phone on May 8 and added that LOGINOV was to call him but did not do it. He added that if LOGINOV had called during the past 8 days the phone would be answered only if his wife was home. I told him that this fact was a reason for him to ring up LOGINOV, because, as we discussed and agreed on the last meet, it would serve no good purpose to L-1 if LOGINOV would characterize him as a not desirable person from the Sov point of view. He commented that he believed LOGINOV was a friend of his to the extent that he would not do such a thing to him. I countered by stating that he insisted in considering LOGINOV to be his friend, but what ever LOGINOV asked from him he turned him down with a NO; to preserve good will of a person it is necessary to meet some of his requests and the best is to do it when it does no harm to anybody and at the same time does not get L-1 involved in any of LOGINOVs schemes. He agreed with my reasoning, as he did at the last meet, but it is to be seen what will he do about it.

5. To change the subject I asked L-1 abt Karel WENDL (P-) return. He said he knew nothing about VENDEL, except, that his wife gave a birth to a child during his absence and he added that if VENDEL had returned he would had heard about it.

6. Speaking about Karel he recalled the fact that Carola HIRSH, an Ecuadorian girl of 22 approx. returned to Mexico and she will be taking an intesive course of Russian from L-1. He stated that he spoke to KARTASUK about this girl: she was here and worked with the Olympic committee as an interpreter; after the Olympics she went to Ecuador and now she returned here; she came with her mother who found her an apartment in Rio Elba where they had a house worming up party on Friday May 9; her father is a well to do phisician in Quito, Ecuador; she has no permit to work in Mexico which means that her father will pay the expenses of her stay here; in view of his nervous crisis he did not keep in touch with her, but he believes that her mother had returned to Quito by now: LOGINOV knows her from some of the parties L-1 and his friends were giving during the Olympics or briefly after them.

7. He forgot to tell me that he was with Andrea CATANO (P-13,546) after she returned from her trip to the US and Canada and she told him that she definitely broke with CHERNISH (P-13,042) by telling him that she had a boy friend about whom she is serious and who is a jealous type; he (C) is wellcome to come to her (parents) home when he wishes, but she is in no position to meet with him out.

8. I asked L-1 was it possible that LOGINOV, who according to him was driving hard to ~~obtain~~ achieve some success before he leaves, might have attempted to recruit Juan Luis ALVARES, director of the language school on Tiber, during the past 2 months. L-1 stated that he doubted that JLA would even want to see LOGINOV because LOG in many instances ignored JLA's requests through L-1 to pass by the school. L-1 went on to say that if by incident LOG got hold of JLA and made an attempt to enlist his services, L-1 was positive that JLA would had turned him down. (NOTE: This leaves unsolved what was L-1 speaking about when he spoke to LIOVAL-1 about the good time LOGINOV and JLA had together at unknown date).

9. I tried to explain to L-1 that he should do some writing for us along the lines of our previous agreement. He promised.

10. As much as L-1 is a compulsory talker, during this meet he was rather on the quiet side, i.e., he spoke when he was asked something. He had only 2 drinks and he tokk some food with them. He was interested in leaving on time which was pleasant news to me.

11. On the way to his car I asked L-1 what he thought about the death of 16 Sov Generals in 15 weeks. He commented to the effect that a publisized purge of big wheels is intended to silence to opposition and this may be necessary in view of the fact that a number of soldiers will start returning from Czechoslovakia and their stories would be the opposite what the government used as excuse for invading Czecho.

we recruited LIBACON-1, then he should be told about it.

4. Admin & Finance:

a. L-1 considers it probable that he owes LIBACON-1 payment for several lessons. He will ascertain the amount and F will pay it on the next meet.

b. C infoed L-1 about the status of the order of a Folboat and was tild that when it come F will deliver it to him.

c. With regard to ops expenses former agreement remains in power.

5. Operational:

a. L-1 reported on LIBACON-Is statements to him about LOGINOV on May 2 (reported seperately). This provided a taylor made opennening for operational directives.

b. L-1 will continues his contact with LIBACON-1 through language classes, because LIBACON-1 is still a person of interest to us.

c. We received from other sources info that LOGINOV would leave PCS in July. In view of the fact that Sov IS officers are judged home by the mecanical computation of their activity abroad, our experience shows that a good number of them try to embelish their record in the last 2-3 months before their departure by establishing contacts and making recruitment attempts with disregard for security rules and sound operation-practices. We have sufficient indications that LOGINOV falls in this category of Sov IS officers without trying to determine whether LIBACON-1s statements to L-1 may be an additional indication to that effect. As far as we know LOGINOV it would be in line with his recent behavior if he approached L-1.

d. If L-1 is approached by LOGINOV or another Sov official he will act friendly and speak about his frienship with Pavel YATSKOV. L-1 will make a remark to the effect that PY failed to keep his promise and send him his Moscow address.

e. If LOGINOV, or whoever it may be, disclaims knowledge about L-1 - YATSKOV friendly relation, L-1 will speak in terms that this fact ought to be a common knowledge in the Sov Embassy.

f. If the person making the approach accuses L-1 for trying to buy a Sov official (PY), L-1 pretend that the approacher is grossly mistaken and will open a barrage of questions to determine what was known here about the PY case. If the correct sum involved in that case is mentioned, or place the pitch was made or other detail(s) indicating that the approacher is cognisant of this specific case, L-1 will politely ask what the approacher wanted from him and will not hesitate to tell him that the same offer applies to the approacher.

g. If LOGINOV makes the approach under the pretext of wishing to maintain friendly relation with L-1 and admits knowing PY and having heard about PYs friendship with L-1 he will be treated friendly and L-1 will invite him to a dinner and let him talk. In such a case it would be obvious that LOGINOV would want to pass L-1 to somebody else.

h. When, whoever it be, would attempt to recruit L-1 he will stick to his guns of being an American patriot and will turn him down by stating that he was able to make a better offer to the recruiter.

Subject: Rafael VIDIELLA Ruiz (P-4805)
Valentin LOGINOV (P-11,712)✓

Source: LIOVAL-1 (P-)

1. ON May 2 Rafael gave a language lesson to LIOVAL-1 and on that occasion he stated that LOGINOV had taken Juan Luis, Director of the language school on Tiber, for a day of having fun. It was not clear whether Juan Luis and LOGINOV had a night on the town or they went out of town for a whole day "to have some fun".

2. Rafael told L-1 that he did not understand such an attitude of LOGINOV, because he considered LOGINOV to be a good friend of his; he was surprized that LOGINOV did not invite him together with Juan Luis, in fact, he could not explain to himself how something like that could happen.

3. Rafael went speaking about LOGINOV for some time about how good he is basically as a man; how pleasant companion he is and what a good friend he is.

4. L-1 pointed out that there was nothing factual nor significant in what he said about LOGINOV, but L-1 was puzzled by the fact that "out of the blue sky" Rafael was speaking about LOGINOV and kept on speaking and speaking.

5. L-1 believed that Rafael's pride was hurt ~~that~~ by the fact that LOGINOV ignored him, especially, when there was a chance of having some fun. Therefore, L-1 told Rafael that it was possible that LOGINOV wanted to invite him too, but was not able to reach him by phone, which would not be unusual in view of the fact that Rafael is practically never home.

6. On this same occasion Rafael asked LIOVAL-1 if he would be kind to pay him the lessons which he owed him. In view of the irregularity of Rafael's appearances to give lessons L-1 was not certain whether he owed anything or not. Rafael corroborated his request by stating that his wife writes down every payment Rafael receives and the book shows that no payment was received since Jan or Feb 27 (RHP does not remember which month was mentioned). L-1 stated that if it so, then, Rafael must be right. Because he was short of cash he paid him MN 150.- and stated that he would pay the remainder the next time, i.e. the next lesson, which was scheduled for Wed May 7 at 1700 hrs. (NOTE: Rafael had a meet with RHP on the same day at 1620 hrs, and it was him to pick up this day and time. Rafael came to this meet on time).

7. The fact that Rafael did not show up for the lesson was no surprise to L-1. Nevertheless, about 1830 Rafael's wife phoned to L-1 and asked to speak to her husband. When L-1 stated that he was not there she commented that he was supposed to be there at 1800 hrs. About an hour later she called again and L-1 had to state that he did not come at all. Then, she requested L-1 to give to Rafael the sweater of her daughter which was accidently left at L-1's place. Of course nothing happened, but since that moment L-1 did not hear from Rafael nor his wife. L-1 pointed out that this was unusual, because if Rafael skipps a lesson he calls the next day and never later than the third day to apologize. Further, the sweater which Rafael was to pick up from L-1, according to the wife's statement, was a part of their daughters kindergarden uniform. L-1 concluded that he was inclined to believe that Rafael got angry with him or because he questioned the correctness of the claim for payment or because he placed him on a spot by telling his wife that he did not show up at L-1's place.

8. L-1 was told not to take the matter so seriously since there was still a chance that Rafael and his wife were on a war path and they had no time for anything else. L-1 was requested to try to contact Rafael or his wife as soon as possible. L-1 considered that May 15 (Teachers Day) would be the best time to do it and there was no objection on his choise of date since it offered a better chance of finding Rafael home.

9. L-1 was also requested to bring to Rafael's attention that the irregularity of lessons inconvenients him quite bit on one hand and on the other Rafael loses the money........

10. Comment by RHP: The fact that L-1 pointed out that Rafael's talking about LOGINOV does not mean that anything happened recently, still calls

Briefs on Meet Held May 7 from 1630 to 2035 hrs.

When came I asked till what hour he can be with me. He said 1830. At 1815 I paid the bill, but he insisted that we stay a little longer and for the the rest he would pay the bill: he had 2 additional drinks while I had my third coffee and a drink.

As we got together he told me that he was on May 3 with his wife at Cuautla and as he was enetring the pool area LOGINOV was leaving. LOG cornered him for a 15 minutes talk which consisted of pressurising LIBACON into making some arrangements that LOG would be able to meet LIOVAL-1. When LIBACON turned him down LOG insisted that they have a lunch on Thur. May 8 at the restaurant El Perro Andaluso (or similar) at the Copenhagen about 1230 hrs . LIBACON accepted.

LIBACON brought me a bio sketch on LOGINOV, which was an interesting paper. We discussed the paper which enabled me to obtain explanations and facts on which LIBACON based his general statements.

LIBACON readily gave me info on Prof. M. LUBAN. There was not much, but sufficient to ascertain that he did not attempt to withhold info from us. (This was test – no further details needed)

He also gave me some info on KAREL WENDEL who is presently conducting a tour of Mexicans through Europe and was in Prague with the group a day before Dubcek was kicked out...

Re teachers of Spanish at the Sov Emb other than his mother LIBACON did not know anything but promised to ask his mother on Sat when she will be at his home.

It took me some time to explain to LIBACON what attitude to take toward LOG during the lunch.

Detailed report will be prepared. Now handing in notes on my instruction to LIBACON concerning how to handle the lunch with LOG. Also handed in is the Bio sketch on LOG.

Source: LIBACON-1 (P-4805)

1. On May 3 Source went with his family to Cuautla to spend a day out of town. There, as he arrived he bumped into LOGINOV who was leaving. They talked 15 minutes.

2. LOGINOV asked Source was he still giving language lessons to that American(LIOVAL-1). As Source answered afirmatively LOG told Source that he would like to meet LIOVAL-1. SOURCE stated that LIOVAL was not only a student who pays his lessons but was also a good friend of Source. Then LOGINOV became quite blunt and agressive : he outright demanded that LIBACON introduce him to LIOVAL. LIBACON tried to reason out with LOGINOV that by meeting LIOVAL he would achieve nothing because LIOVAL was a good family man, a person conscious of his responsibility for 4 children, liberal in his way of thinking but definitely a patriot and a person who is attached to his way of life and could not care less about Socialism. LOGINOV then insisted that he and LIBACON have a lunch together "next" week to talk this matter over. LIBACON agreed to lunch with him on May 8, i.e., a day after he meets with me.

3. LIBACON told me that he would stick to his guns and refuse LOGINOVs request to introduce him to LIOVAL. One of special reasons for doing so, in addition to his desire of not getting involved with that gang (KGB), was that he considered LIOVAL to be a friend of his and would not want to do anything which could make LIOVAL suspect that LIBACON was a KGB collaborator.

4. Other, than the fact that LIOVAL exists I know nothing about him, but the sole fact that he is an agent of our forced me to assume that he was picked up for a good reason and that we must have an objective for holding him. Therefore, I felt that it would not be wise to let LIBACON shut the door to a possibility ([illegible] as much remote as it may be) that we counted on the possibility that LIOVAL be approached orcontacted by a Sov official. Further, I kept in mind that we would not want LIBACON to slip into a double agent role. Therefore, I instructed LIBACON:

a. He wishes to be on friendly terms with LOGINOV, but certainly it is not a friendly attitude af LOGINOV asks him something impossible. (Try to get LOG to do explanaing).

d. Repeat description of LIOVAL's personality as he did in Cuautla and ask what can LOGINOV possibly achieve by meeting LIOVAL. It is anticipated that LOGINOV may be brief and say that this would be his problem and that all ~~EILIED~~ LIBACON had to do is to arrange for an introduction.

c. LIBACON will insistx that he does not want to get involved "in that kind of business", especially, because it was clear to him that even if LOGINOV achieves nothing, he lost nothing, but LIBACON is a sure loser because he would lose a friend and possibly get tagged as a Sov spy.

d. If LOGINOV does not break off his insisting at this point, LIBACON will state that he would agree on a plan, if LOGINOV had one, by which LIOVAL would be in LIBACON's company, but no introduction of LOGINOV as a friend of LIBACON would be made. We played it back and forth discussing various possibilities, but important was that LOGINOV should come up with a plan and that LIOVAL be given a possibility of saying to LIBACON that he did not want to come.

e. After the lunch LIBACON will go to his institute and I would phone him there to find out at which point the conv with LOGINOV ENDED.

1. In accordance with the prearrangements I phoned to LIBACON-1 to the language institute at 1455 hrs to hear how did the scheduled lunch go.

2. LIBACON-1 stated that a ~~pu~~ student of his postponed his lesson for a half of an hour and that he phoned to LOGINOV to come to the restaurant they were to lunch about 45 minutes later than they had agreed to meet there. LOGINOV told LIBACON that in that case he prefered to postpone the lunch to the beginning of the next week and that LOGINOV would phone to LIBACON-1 to set the date and time.

3. According to LIBACON-1, LOGINOV sounded friendly on the phone.

Valentin LOGINOV

Edad aproximada de 43-45 años, aunque aparenta menos. Fisicamente de complexión atlética, alto. Juega muy bién al tenis. Recientemente quedó en segundo lugar en el campeonato del D.F. que tuvo lugar en el Club Francia, donde practica este deporte. Cuida muchisimo su condición fisica y más que nada su apariencia. En este sentido es muy vanidoso. Muy pocos amigos saben que tiene una hija de 16-17 años. Cuando le preguntan si tiene hijos hable solo de su hijo de 11 años de edad. Le da pena presentar a su mujer, que es muy amable y buena, porque se ve de más edad que él. No fuma, toma muy poco, aunque cuando la ocasión requiere de tomar mucho ~~agüenta~~ aguanta y siempre se le ve sereno. Es muy amable en el trato. Nunca trata de imponer sus ideas, pero siempre pendiente de convencer por las buenas a sus contrincantes. Cuando ve que no puede hacer lo último, rompe diplomaticamente los relaciones amistosas con el sujeto. En sus ideas es de la escuela estalinista: solo cuenta lo Unión Soviética y la última linea a seguir del Partido. Eso quiere decir que no tiene ideas propias. Sigue fidelisimamente la "linea" porque sabe muy bién que es la única forma rápida y eficaz de escalar en su carrera. Le gusta muchisimo la vida buena, tipo occidental, aunque antes se dejaria cortar un brazo que confesárselo asi mismo. Es muy ambicioso y se ve que tiene problemas con sus compañeros de trabajo. Habla despectivamente de ellos. No le gusta nada la idea de tener que permanecer en Moscú los dos años que vienen. ~~Un~~ Me dijo que haria lo posible que al transcurrir esos años lo mandaran de preferencia otra vez a México. Su ilusión más grande es trabajar en España. Adora a los españoles. La forma de ser de los mejicanos no le gusta. Por eso si quiere regresar, quiere decir que prefiero cualquier lugar donde vivir, menos Rusia. Creo que precisamente porque ya tiene que partir en julio, es por lo que ultimamente está cometiendo errores. Quiere hacer méritos a como de lugar, presionando a la gente de manera que antes jamás hacía. El dia 3 de mayo lo vi en Cuautla Cuaulatla, y sabiendo que yo no quiero trabajar para él, me insistió, llegando al extremo ~~colecio~~ de preguntar si podíamos abordar a mi alumno John, sin siquiera preguntar por la personalidad y forma de pensar de John! En los 15 minutos que estuvimos juntos no habló más que de eso. Cuando yo le dije que ya le había dicho antes que no me gustaba esa clase de trabajo, me contestó que él creía que lo que me pasaba es que tenía miedo. La forma más inocente de hacerme picar! A continuación, me invitó a comer el día 8 para seguir hablando de lo mismo! En el fondo creo que todo eso revela cierta inocencia y muchas ganas de progresar, para llevar una vida muy diferente a lo que llevan los ciudadanos soviéticos. Creo que quiere dejar una grand impresión a sus jefes para no quedar trabajando indefinidamente en el Ministerio de Relaciones Exteriores de Moscú. No sé hasta que punto sus ambiciones puedan guiarlo. a progresar incluso por medio de atropellar victimas. Como persona y en condiciones normales me parece bueno, generoso y fiel amigo. Sin embargo la verdad es que nunca lo llegué a conocer muy bien, en parte posiblemente porque casi desde el principio sentía instintivamente que quería algo de mí, muy aparte de nuestra amistad y en parte porque con todo y la confianza que llego a tener conmigo jamás se descubrió por completo, ni mucho menos. Es extreniadamente cauteloso.

Resumiendo: Mi impresión es que es una buena persona, de buenos sentimientos, pero que una vez metido en "ese trabajo," por razones que desconocemos, hace todo lo posible por destacas.

CONTACT REPORT

SUBJECT : BESABER (P-8777)

DATE OF MEETING : 10 April 1969

1. In response to BESABER's phone call, I met him at his hotel room in the Aristos from 1430 until 1545. Next meeting will be on Tuesday evening, 15 April at home.

2. Subject had nothing new to report on contacts with BEDOXers, but said that he is now raring to go on any requirements I might levy. He said that all of his financial problems are now solved (as I surmised they would). Essentially, he has sold 50% of his business (INZA) to a syndicate-group that is paying off Subject's debts. They will construct a big new factory complex in Cuernavaca to bring all of Subject's manufacturing enterprises under one roof and double capacity. They're also going to open up offices and a showroom on Insurgentes Sur. Subject figures he will probably stay active for a couple of years more and then sell his remaining 50% for about a half million dollars.

3. I told Subject again that I am now anxious for him to establish a social relationship with SPYRA (P-6601) and that I am no longer interested in his developing MAJCHCHRZAK per se. I suggested that he might use MAJ simply as an entree to meeting SPYRA, ostensibly to work out a cultural program of Subject's grandfather's music as mentioned previously. Subject said that he would get on it right away and would try to call the Ambassador on Tuesday when Subject is back in town.

4. I also asked Subject to get back in touch with Boris CHMYKOV (P-6235) and Valentin LOGINOV (P-11,712) to warm up the relationship. I pointed out that we should be prepared to have Subject in a position to give them gifts in the event Headquarters approves the plan to bug some of Subject's Trojan horses. Unless therd is some reasonably good contact established in advance, his presenting gifts will appear too contrived. Subject agreed and said that he would give them a phone call soon to try to get together for drinks. Judging from past history, CHMYKOV will be ready to see Subject for a night on the town in August.

5. I paid Subject $3000 (MN) constituting half of his retainer for three months (Jan., Feb. and March) and agreed to have the balance of $3000 for him on Tuesday. He gave me a pile of hotel bills and other expenses which will be charged against the $3000 revolving fund he has outstanding. He asked me if I could get him a case of champagne, a couple of bottles of cognac, a bottle of gin. I told him that I'd see if these are available and that, if they are, I would charge them against either his salary or fund rather than as outright gifts as in the past.

SUBJECT: Valentin Loguinov
DATE OF INFORMATION: 30 March 1969. 1155-1157 hours.
PLACE ACQUIRED: Tennis courts of the French Club
REPORT BY: John Francis

Val apparently waiting for me to make first move. I saw that Val was not playing, but looking for a partner while talking to Meche Pinto and an other girl. He was two courts away from me. I finished playing with my opponent. I couldn't see walking over to Val and invite him to play. He knew I was finished. He also owed me an opology for the cancelled luncheon date.

I shouted loudly to a ball-boy to find my favorite trainer. Val dashed over to say he would like to play.

Excuse for missed lunch. I "What happened to our luncheon date", I asked with no smile. Val said that Dimi had been bitten badly by a dog. I told Val that I had already heard that story and that Dimi had been bitten nearly a week before our date. Once again I did not smile and gave him little opporltunity for a gradious acceptance of a poor excuse. It was clear that I was annoyed. I could see from Val's expression that he was embarrassed and off-balance. He has a peculiar facial expression when he has been put at a disadvantage.

Val admitted that the bite had been much earlier, but he explained that the wound had become inflamed and he had to take Dimi to a doctor. I saw Dimi and he had one of the smaller Bandaids on his arm. He seemed to be having no discomfort.

I accepted Val's excuse tacitly.

We played. Unfortunately Val won 6-3, 6-1. I remind you that I switched to my left arm some time ago and am still at a disadvantage. I still apologize for letting the barbarian win. I had to leave at 1145. Immediately threeother men invited Val to make a fourth for doubles. I had hoped to talk to him when we finished.

Conversation. I finally had to interupt Val while the men were still warming up and take him to a corner of the court.

I told Val that I had hoped to tell him something at the lunch and on several other occasions but was always interupted. Now I wanted to tell him what I had in mind. I wanted him to understand that his political jokes had embarrassed me. That I did not want to create a scene and had never commented on them. But I would not tolerate them in the future.

I said that his offer to give me money to work for his government had embarrassed me in front of our mutual friends. Further, my polite refusal to make an issue of his approach could have been interpreted as tacit accepkance of his offer to pay me for treaon against my country.

Val interrupted and said it was all a joke and that he thought I appreciated that it was nothing more than a joke.

I said I knew it was a joke, but could not speak for our audience. My position as a businessman here could be jeopardized if someone thought we were serious.

I told Val that in any case, joking or not, I do not discuss politics or religion with my friends, particularly here in Mexico.

He acted very surprised and amused.

I pointed out that I consider myself a guest in a very hospitalbe but foreign country. "These people are my hosts. You are a diplomat. You can, you must discuss politics. It is your job. I cannot. I actually am not interested in politics. I am not well versedx in politics. But if you must talk politics with me, let us go some where in private, without an audience. If you want to discuss business, fine! I know that subject and I like it, and I am even better with an audience, particularly Mexican!

Val had his transparently disturbed, distressed and disadvantaged look. He promised never to discuss politics with me again. He apologized. He said he understood what I meant.

F--- him!

SUBJECT: Gloria Pinto
DATE OF INFORMATION: 26 March 1969. 1300-1355 hours.
PLACE ACQUIRED: Office of John Francis
REPORT BY: John Francis

Telephone call to myoffice. Gloria called to say she was having some trouble finding clients for my business. She asked when she could see me. I suggested immediately and she arrived about one hour later.

Personal chat prior to business. Gloria followed good Mexican custom in chatting lightly before getting to the matter about which the meeting was called.

Meche and San Luis Potosi. I asked Gloria if she were going to San Duis Potosi this year for the Holy Week tennis tournaments. She said that she had planned to do so but was unable to find some one to go with her at the last moment. Pepe did not want to go, and would not let her go by herself unless accompanied by several other women or by Meche. Meche refused to go saying she would have no fun if with her mother and planned to go to Corpus Christi by herself.

Pepe to Europe again. Gloria volunteered that she was annoyed with Pepe. She deplores his Latin attitude about the double standard. She has been prohibitted to take several brief trips to various cities in Mexico to see friends and family. She is not welcome to accompany Pepe on his trips. Yet he will soon take another month off to travel either to Europe or to South America. Gloria said that she has been waiting all these years for her children to grow up so that she could go with Pepe on his trips. Now that they are grown up, she finds that she still is expectedc to stay home.

Gloria watched carefully. Gloria must account for her time very carefully to Pepe during the day. And under no circumstances can she stay out after dark. Pepe apparently disapproves of Gloria working for me. He does not like the idea that she will be visiting businessmen throughout the city both in their offices and homes. He has expressed his disapproval, but Gloria has chosen to ignore it.

Wants to send Meche to U.S. Gloria wants to fight the attitude of superiority over women that Latin men have, but on behalf of her daughter, not herself. Gloria feels that she will never be able to enjoy anything close to equal treatment and consideration with Pepe. But she feels that her daughter should escape from this Latin degradation. Two or three years working in New York or San Francisco is Gloria's dream for Meche.

cc made for P-11712 and P-13223

No luck with business. Gloria seems very enthusiastic about working for me. Not so much to help me, but to give herself an excuse to get out and do something. Further, she wants to determine whether she can actually do something other than raise children. She was married when very young and has never worked. She hopes eventually to start some business of her own. She probably wants to have a shopw of some kind. Working for me is a trial for herself. She hopes to prove to herself that she can succeed in business and meeting people.

The approach she has been taking with my business has been unsaccessful so far. I have given her the one which is most time-consuming and one which I would not have been able to do by my self. There are other apporaches, but I have not outlined these to her as yet.

We discussed her approach and some modifications of it. We agreed to review her sales approach after the Holy Week and decide whether to proceed along different lines.

LOGINOV. P-11712

Discussion of Val. Having completed our business I raised the matter of Val. I reminded her that I had explained to her some time ago that I was annoyed with Val's treatment of me in public, namely his flagrant attempts to recruit me in the presence of mutual friends. I told her that I still hadn't had a chance to talk to Val in private. I repeated that all I wanted to do was make it clear to him that I held him in great esteem as a person, valued his friendship, was not interested in assisting his government, and wanted him to stop jeopardizing our fitendship with his offensive approaches, whether subtle and implied or direct and coarse.

I told Gloria that I had planned to have lunch with Val today. I enjoy Val's company; rarely have a chance to chat quitely; don't like to eat lunch by myself; and looked forward to explaining to Val my position before he completely destroyed any chance for us to continue as friends.

Not aware of accident to Dmitri. I told Gloria that Val had excused himself from our lunch date due to an accident to his son. She did not know of any accident other than the dog bite the previous week.

Gloria said that his declining my invitation might have been an afterthought. That he did not want to hurt my by being seen with me in a public place.

Avoids "hurting" his friends. Gloria then told me that Val never accepted an invitation to have coffee with her or Pepe or to dine out. He explained to her that it could hurt her to be seen with him. She gave an example of when she was invited to the ballet with Val and a group of friends.

After the ballet, Pepe and Gloria invited Val to join them for dinner. Val declined. Pepe and Gloria went to the Hoyo 19. Shortly after they arrived, Val and a large number of embassy officers also arrived. Val steered them away from Pepe and Gloria. Shortly afterwards a man arrived, sat at a remote table and took notes while watching the Soviets.

Val works mornings only. Gloria mentioned that Val is in the embassy only in the morning. This was in response to my statement that I had tried to call the embassy and talk to Val to find out what had happened to Dmitri, but since he was out, I would call in the afternoon. She added that he of course works in the afternoon, but outside the embassy. I said "trying to buy gringos". She said "trying to convince Mexicans".

COMMENTS

It seems to me highly unlikely that Val is really concerned about the welfare of his friends seen with him. It seems quite clear that he considers Gloria and Pepe, and perhaps me, as potential assets. He does not want to be seen with us because we would lose our value to him. He told Gloria that they should confine their contacts to the French Club. This seems to confirm the suspicion that he believes that this is a secure place to meet people.

It is possible that he checked with his colleagues and they were of the opinion that my choice of the Llave de Oro for lunch was too public, exposed us to too many Americans.

I feel that Gloria has served a very useful purpose in this matter. If she is working for Val, which I doubt, she is in a position to see that my business is indeed legitimate, time-consuming, and with considerable financial potential. Further, she is in a position to relay to Val my unwillingness to cooperate with him and his governemtn and my threat to take the matter to the embassy if his harrassment continues.

CONTACT REPORT

FROM : Samuel J. KARTASUK

SUBJECT : Rafael VIDIELLA Ruiz

1. A meeting was held from 1300 to 1445, 25 March 1969 in the Chalupas Resturant located on Reforma, one block East of Prado Norte Next meeting is scheduled for 1630, 26 March 1969 at VIPS Restaurant on the Periferico, North of Ejercito Nacional.

2 I parked my car three blocks from the meeting site and arrived in the area at 1255. Subject was already seated at a table waiting. We had lunch and remained there talking until 1445. He mentioned how much he appreciated the two books (in Russian) which I loaned him and said that he was nearly through with the last one. He said he would turn them over to VICTOR. (I had already informed him that he would be meeting a man named VICTOR during my absence). He asked if we could obtain for him the three other books written by the same author who wrote "Cancer Ward". He said "Cancer Ward" was the second book written by the author. The 1st book was "First Circle", the 2nd was Cancer Ward, the 3rd was "_____ Ivans", and the last was "Easter _____". He commented on how favorably impressed he was by the 2nd book. I said I would give VICTOR this information and I thought we could probably turn up with some of them.

2. INFORMATION CONCERNING LOGINOV (P-11,712):

Subject said that he has not (definitely) talked to LOGINOV in over two months. He thought it very strenge that LOGINOV has not called him at all. At the last meeting with loginov, LOGINOV told Subject that he was going back to Russia in July 1969, and that he would remain there for at least two (2) years. LOGINOV said that he would probably then go to some other country but had no idea where. Subject did not call LOGINOV and invite him to ANDREAS party on 1 March.

Subject said that if LOGINOV received an invitation to ANDREAS party, that it might have come from CHERNYSH (P-13,042). During his conversations with ANDREA, she never mentioned the fact that LOGINOV went to the party. She never told Subject exactly who went.

3. Concerning ANDREA CATANO: (P-13546)

About ten days ago ANDREA went to Commercial Mexicana to do the weekly grocery shopping. Subject dropped by her house while she was gone. Shortly after arriving at her house, she called home and he talked to her on the phone. She said that she had some problems at the store and asked if he could come down and bring some money. He went with her brother, and on arriving at the store found her in custody of two managers and a Policeman. They had caught her trying to walk out with a stolen jar of face cream (she admited it) and she did not have the money to pay for it. Subject talked to the managers, telling them that she was just a young girl, etc., and convinced them to do nothing about it Rafael paid for the face cream and they took her home. (Rafael thinks this is a very unusal side of her character that he has never seen before).

ANDREA has not mentioned CHERNYSH to Subject since my last report. Rafael said that he will begin to pump ANDREA for some further information (in a discreet way). As far as he knows, she has not seen CHERNYSH lately. (perhaps since the party on 1 March).

4. Concerning Rafaels MOTHER AND HER WORK AT THE EMBASSY:

(I asked Subject several questions about his mother, but he dodged them. He seemed unwilling to discuss her, and after several tries I stopped pushing). Rafael said that his Mother has one particular student in Spanish (at the Embassy) who has repeatedly expressed the desire to meet and become friends with Rafael. His Mother likes the man (her student) and said that she will shortly invite him home for dinner so that he and Rafael can become acquainted. (Rafael by now is suspicious of any Embassy official who wants to become friends). The man is Expresión de cara muy seria, pero bondadosa. Esté solo o en companía, siempre está pendiente de su compostura. Se nota que le preocupa muchísimo la impresión que pueda causar en los de más. En la conversación cuida mucho sus palabras, tratando de parecer ingenio y sobre todo muy sencillo. SUBJECT: Script for meeting with Valentin

DATE OF REPORT: March 24, 1969

Reason for meeting. I find it very difficult to talk on the tennis court. Last Saturday was no exception. We are either playing tennis or surrounded by a group of our friends. There is something I've wanted to say to you, to make clear, for several weeks, and the only way I could be sure of having your undivided attention, in private, was this lunch.

Dr. Gomez' luncheon, your offer of money. Several weeks ago, at Luis Gomez' house, you offered to give me a large sum of money if I could help you and your embassy. You made this offer in front of a number of our mutual friends.

I realize that your offer was not entirely serious--but not entirely in jest. The more I thought about your offer, the more it bothered me, the madder I got. What you did was put me in a very embarrassing position. You suggested that I commit treason against my country, and you made the offer in front of our friends. The fact that I chose not to create a scene could have been interpreted by our audience as possible interest in your offer.

Not interested in your offer. In the event that you have any doubts, let me make it clear that I am not interested in your offer. I find the offer offensive and provocative.

Affection for Val. Both my wife and I like you and Alexandra. And my boys like Dmitri. We would like to maintain your friendship with you. But you are seriously jeopardizing tha t friendship.

Uninterested in politics. I am not interested in politics. I realize that this is your business. Well, that's your problem, not mine. I am a business man and devote all my time to business. Even so, I don't have time to learn all there is and all I need to know about doing business. Any spare time I have I will devote to learning more about business. I cannot aford the time to prepare myself for political discussions with you or anyone else.

Avoid religion and politics. Even when a discussion touches upon something about which I think I know enough to comment, I will not discuss politics or religion with friends. I do not believe it is possible to pursue those topics without upsetting someone. There are too many other things about which one can talk safely, tennis, geography, girls, etc. Furthermore, I am a guest in a foreign country. I am grateful for the hospitality of this country. It is a wonderful place to live--a wonderful place to work. I will be even more careful not to upset my gracious hosts.

Political opinions. Just for the record, let me make a few statements which I would never make in front of our friends--to avoid embarrassing you, to avoid creating a scene, to honor my resolution not to discuss politics.

1. Soviet imperialism, unjustified. I believe that your country is characterized by totalitarian imperialism--a system far more destructive than constructive--a system which is expert in taking away and destroying what others have created, but is incapable of producing creative ideas of its own.

2. UNITEDS STATES SYSTEM. I believe that the United States has produced the greatest political-economic system, the most (almost too) democratic system that man has ever seen.

3. Soviet responsibility for Viet Nam. The USSR is our enemy in Viet Nam. You supply 90% of the arms and money needed by the North Vietnamese. It is not a question of our withdrawing or ceasing the war; it is up to you to do so. The USSR is continuing the war. You know it and I know it.

4. SOVIET anti-semitism. The Soviets, you by your own confession, are antij-semites. Your role of support of the continued troubled state in the near east is unjustifiable and micanthropic.

5. BERLIN WALL. Unjustified and embarrassing to you.

6. CZECHOSLOVAKIA. Unjustified and embarrassing to you.

7. HUNGARY.

8. PERU.

9. C-Minus mentality. You are like the student in a class who receives a near-failing grade. When questioned by his father, he answered that everone else got D's. Your country ~~xx~~ has been getting near-failing grades in internal economics and external policies. You hope to see everone else fail so that you don't look so bad.

This is just a sampling of some of my opinions. I am sure that you can argue many of these points. But I am sure that if I had the time I could document my opinions--you historically never can.

I repeat, I am not interested in discussing politics with you or anyone else. I value your friendship too much to risk it that way. But there is something else at stake.

Risk to American businessman. Your provocative statements to me in public can make it difficult for me to do business here. I think there is a great opportunity here to do business, and I want to take advantage of it. You are jeopardizing this. I have studiously avoided political involvement here. You make such involvement inevitable.

Threat to go to embassy. If you continue to harrass me, I will go to the US Embassy and report your harrassment to the Security Officer. I will even ask to see someone in the CIA. And if I don't get satisfaction there, I'll go to the Mexican Foreign Office and tell them my story. I'll ask them to see that the harrassment is stopped and that I be protected from further provocations.

Would prefer not to do so. There are several reasons why I would rather not do all that.

1. First. It would probably put you on the spot. This would serve no real purpose since someone else would simply take over your assingments. And I consider you a personal friend, and would not want to see you in turn harrassed by the Foreign Service or denied entry to the United States. I would hope some day you might be assigned to the United States and see it first hand.

2. Second. I have had very little contact with the embassy. I have very little confidence in civil servants. They usually are working for the government because they could never survive in private business. This may or may not be the case in your own embassy. The exception that proves the rule is our economic section which I have found helpful on various occasions.

   If I were to report you to the embassy, I would probably be harrassed by all the little functionaries far more that you have been able to do.

   If the CIA knew that I had a Soviet for a friend, I am sure that they would have all sorts of ideas about what I should say to you. This is one of the reasons I have never invited you to my home-- and probably never will. I do not want the CIA to know of our friendship and to try to use it.

__Unwilling to help CIA.__ I would not be willing to cooperate with the CIA for several reasons.

1. First. I don't think you people are really accomplishing anything of value. If the same amount of money that is now spent on espionage were diverted to competitive free enterprise, the standard of living of both countries would rise to levels where no one would have the time for the present suicidal foreign involvements.

   As a businessman I know that if you can't measure an activity in dollar profits, it should either be revised or discontinued.

2. Second. The end-result of doing business with the CIA would be to get you to defect to our side.

   From what I know of you, and of life in the United States, you would not be happy in our country.

   Oh, if you get in trouble somehow with your own peopl, by all means, offer your services to the CIA, but, please, leave me out of it.

   But just for money, don't come to the US. They would probably offer you a fortune for your little secrets. The government has no idea of how to place a value on things and are delighted to spend the taxpayers money--fortunately I no longer pay US taxes--Mexican taxes are high enough. But don't do it. You wouldn't be happy. It's a great country. We have wonderful people. They'd probably do everything possible to make you comfortable, but you would never be happy.

   If a CIA man ever offers you money to defect or to give up your few secrets, tell him to STICK IT UP HIS ASS. And that's what I'm telling you to do! STICK IT UP YOUR ASS!

__DON'T WISH HIM LUCK.__ I realize that if you keep trying, someday you'll succeed. That nothing ventured, nothing gained. Someday you will find an American who will be willing to work for you. There is nothing you could ever give him that would make him really happy. For his sake, I don't wish you any luck.

SUBJECT: Valentin Loginov
DATE OF INFORMATION: March 24, 1969, 1202-1205 hours.
PLACE ACQUIRED: Telephone call to my office.

Telephone call. Val called me at my office. I assume the call was from a public telephone booth, since there was considerable background noise of traffic. He would not identify himself to my secretary, but said that he was a friend.

Invited me to drink. Val asked if it would be convenient for me to get together this afternoon for a drink. I checked my schedule and said that today would not be a good day. Instead I suggested that he be my guest for lunch on Wednesday.

Luncheon date. I told him to meet me Wednesday at 1400 hours at the Llave de Oro.

There was much discussion about how to find the Llave de Oro. He was not familiar with the restaurant, nor with the passage with its restaurants and shops. I had to explain that it was bordered by Liverpool, Genova, Londres and Insurgentes.

Camera not the reason. I assumed that Val's call was going to be attributed to his interest in selling his camera through me. Therefore, I referred to his camera and reminded him not to forget it. He said that this was not the reason he called and that he really wasn't in a big hurry to sell it. He said he wanted to chat with me.

I told him to bring the camera anyway since I had just this morning spoken to my friend who owns a camera store and was sure I could dispose of his camera for him. He did perk up then and show some interest in the camera.

SUBJECT: Valentin Loguinov
DATE OF INFORMATION: March 22, 1969
PLACE ACQUIRED: French Club

Tennis: Val had come, probably thinking that my partner and I would complete our match with Val and Meche. My partner, however, was out of town this weekend. Meche went her separate way. Val and Gloria Pinto (the mother of Meche) were playing singles when I arrived. I had a singles tournament myself and did not join them until an hour later. We then formed a doubles group. I played with Pepe Pinto, and Val played with Gloria against us.

As is always the case, there is very little oportunity for conversation during a tennis match. Val did make a few stupid comments of apolitical nature, but entirely harmless, such as, addressed to me, haven't you any control over your friends the ~~Chinxx~~ Chinese?

I did not get a chance to confront Valentin about his porvocative comments and how they jeopardized our friendship.

Val asked me if I had given any thought to his request the previous week. I could not believe that he was going to open the matter about his offering me money for "secrets". Therefore, I was genuinely stupid about what request. He reminded me that he had spoken of a movie camera he wanted to sell and which I had stated that I thought I could dispose of it for him through friend s of mine, on consignment. I told him to bring me the camera and I would see what I could do.

I then told Val that there was something I had wanted to talk to him about anyway, land hoped we could get together sometime soon to do so. He stated that he would not come to the club tomorrow. He offered to take me to lunch sometime during the week.

This is not exactly what I had in mind for an informal and not too pleasant statement of my position about his apporach to me. But I feel it can be used and will achieve the desired effect. Unfortunately, he might spend the next few days wondering if I am about to accept his approach.

~~DmitXX~~ Confirmed by [illegible]

Dmitri bitten by dog. The main topic of converstaion during the brief moments available between games or sets of tennis was Dmitri. Dmitri was bitten by the dog belonging to the Counselor of the Soviet Embassy. Apparently the bite was fairly deep in his right forearm and severed a large vein, hence there was much bleeding, probably an asset under the circumstances. The dog has been impounded to be watched for ten days, to determine whtether Dmitri should undergo rabies shots or not. Val said that the dog had bitten four or five children already and that he, Val, would shoot the dog when the ten days are up.

It is conceivable that this is a point of friction now for Val between his Counselor and him.

SUBJECT: GLORIA [illegible]
DATE OF CONTACT: March 12, 1969. 1400-[illegible] hours.
PLACE OCCURRED: Llave de Oro.
DATE OF REPORT: March 24, 1969

Commission agent. Gloria and I have been talking for some time about what she might do to keep herself busy and make a little money. I offered to discuss the matter with her months ago ~~xx~~ either to hire her myself or find a job for her. This luncheon date was to explain to her what jbb I had for her.

Discussion of job. The first hour was ~~xxxxx~~ spent discussing the job I could offer her. This would involve her following up on a list of Americans and Englishmen in the D.F. to whom I sent some promotional literature recently. These are potential clients for one of the services of my business.

I gave Gloria a looseleaf notebook with copies of all my promotional literature to date, including Spanish translations of the pertinent literature. I also gave her a couple dozen envelopes with a complete set each of literature and contracts.

She is eager to start. She wants to test her ability to deal with people. Once she has built up her self-confidence she might leave me to start her own business. We agreed that this would be best for her, but in the meantime I was certain (and am certain!) that she would be able to find some clients for my business.

Confidential. Gloria asked me if I had told anyone, including my wife, about her possibly working for me. I said that I had not. She prefers not to tell anyone until she knows if she is qualified or not.

Since that time, in recent days, it appears that she has not only told her family, but has been kidded about the job. Pepa even scolded her, saying that married women should not work. Gloria said she was simply ignoring his Latin attitude.

Mention of Val. Gloria mentioned Val first in an offhand comment about his departure soon for Moscow.

My comment about Val. I told Gloria that Val had annoyed me the last time I saw him, two Sundays ago. I said I didn't know whether he was serious or just kidding. But the more I thought about it, the more it bothered me. I finally decided that he might have been seriously offering me money for secrets betraying my country.

I told Gloria that I seriously considered reporting Val to the embassy. She said that reporting [illegible] she have been worth the trouble. She said that [illegible] of the things that she doesnot like about Val--his Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde behavior. Most of the time he is a very likeable guy, and suddenly he must say or do something provocative.

GLORIA aware of intelligence activities of Val. Though she spoke in euphemisms and figures of speech, Gloria did state that she is aware of Val's role as an intelligence officer. She seemed much more alert to this role than I had expected. I guess I really expected her to be naive about Val's intelligence activities. I even think I expected her to deny such activities had I been the first to mention or suggest them. Such was not the case. She refered to his activities and those of his friend Tchernich.

I was particularly surprised at her sophisticated attitude about Tchernych. I personally could have doubted his intelligence activities if I hadn't personally seen him conducting a clandestine meeting on a dark street corner in San Angel late at night.

I chose this opportunity to manifest a certain naiveté on my part. I challenged her statement about Tchernych. I further stated that I doubted very much that the published reports were true that 70 percent of the Soviet embassy personnel were intelligence officers.

I said that Val was not the first Soviet that I had met. I said that I used to play chess with a Soviet quite regularly and that I knew he was not "one of those". Neither of us (Gloria and I) ever used any overt term such as"spy" or"intelligence officer", etc.

Gloria said that Val had offered her a lot of money to work for the Soviet embassy. She said she feels Val is miscast, that Moscow has made a very bad choice--"he is too human, not cold enough for that kind of work."

Dr. Alfonso Martinez. Dr. Martinez is a communist and a school chum of Pepe's. Gloria introduced Val and Martinez some two years ago. After this meeting they have been very close friends. He loans Val and the embassy his house in Tequesquitengo for weekend parties. His property includes a swimming pool, launches, dancing area, picnic area, house with several bedrooms, etc. Gloria was invited to this house this Sunday, March 30th.

Alexandra, better agent. Gloria said that she felt Alexandra had a better personality for their work--able diplomat, colder, mature. Val is a little boy.

CONTACT REPORT

FROM : Samuel J. KARTASUK

SUBJECT : Rafael VIDIELLA Ruiz (P-4505)

A meeting was held from 1130 to 1430, 11 March 1969, in Chalupas Restaurant on Ave. Reforma, one block West of Reforma and Prado Norte. The date and hour of the ~~next meeting~~ will be established by telephone. Subject will pick up Kartasuk on Reforma, in front of the Anthropology Museum at a specified time.

1. I parked my car three blocks North of the Chalupas and walked to the meeting site arriving there at 1125. Subject was waiting at a table reading one of the Russian books I had previously given him. We met, talked, and conducted our meeting over a period of three hours and then parted company.

2. The initial conversation was general. He at first commented on how well he liked the two books he had received from me, and made some statements on the truth of their context. We ordered some breakfast and I then asked him if he would mind filling out the questionaire (PRQ) I had with me, explaining that it was merely routine. He readily agreed and I gave it to him and helped him fill it out. (PRQ submitted on 12 March). After completing the form I brought out a list of questins I wanted to ask and began going through them. He answered all of those he could, providing the following information:

Index A. (FNU) MARTINEZ, OWNER OF THE PLAZA HOTEL:

Rafael does not remember MARTINEZ full name but promised to obtain it at the first opportunity. MARTINEZ has a wife and son. The wife originally comes from Santander, Spain. His son (no name remembered) is about 18 or 19 years of age, (8 years ago, now about 26) and at times was helping around the desk of the hotel when Rafael was teaching his father Russian. (1960-1961). Rafael gave MARTINEZ Russian for about 6 months, during which time MARTINEZ learned to speak, and understand fairly well. MARTINEZ never discussed why he wanted to learn Russian with Rafael, nor did they talk poletics, either Russian or American.

When Rafael met PRIKHODKO (P-2270) at the Plaza Hotel, PRIKHODKO later mentioned that he had some business with MARTINEZ concerning Tourists and Tourism, but did not expound on the Subject. MARTINEZ never discussed his association with PRIKHODKO and Subject did not ask. During the latter part of 1962 Rafael went to the hotel and by chance saw four or five Soviets in MARTINEZ office. He heard them talking, but did not go into the office. He thinks he has seen one of these Russians since but does not know the name of any of them. Martinez never mentioned them or their business with him. In September 1968, just prior to the Olympics, Rafael went to see Martinez, trying to drum up some more private Russian lessons. MARTINEZ told him that he was not ready to take any more Russian lessons, but that he was very interested in learning German as soon as possible. Martinez said that he was currently (then) taking lessons, but that he did not like his teacher, (Did not say who his teacher was). Rafael offered to bring a teacher from his Institute. Martinez mentioned that the German Olympic team would be staying at his hotel. Shortly after Rafael brought a girl from the Institute named Gerda (LNU) to see Martinez. While there they were invited to lunch and met three Mexican men and a tall German who said he was a representative of the german team. They had lunch, conversed about general things, and Rafael and the girl left. The girl later said that Martinez had continued taking Germ lessons from his old teacher. This was the last time Rafael saw MARTINEZ. Rafael could supply no biographical data on Martinez, or any further informatio on any connections with Soviets. Subject has not heard any other Soviet mention either Martinez or the Plaza Hotel.

East? West!

B. RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN LOGINOV (P-11712) AND JUAN LUIS, DIRECTOR OF THE LANGUAGE INSTITUTE ON TIBER:

In about 1965 or 1966, LOGINOV went to the Institute to take English lessons. He took lessons for about 6 to 8 months. The lessons were private, but given at the Institute by an American girl named Janet (LNU - Rafael does not remember her last name, and she is no longer there). It was in this manner that JUAN LUIS met LOGINOV.

JUAN LUIS mentioned to Rafael that he liked LOGINOV, and they seemed fairly friendly. It was at the end of this period that Rafael was introduced to LOGINOV by JUAN LUIS. When LOGINOV terminated his lessons he no longer visited the Institute. JUAN LUIS often sent his regards to LOGINOV via Rafael, and asked that LOGINOV come to see him. This was mentioned by Rafael, but LOGINOV continually told Rafael to "forget it", but did ask Rafael to return the regards. Rafael never questioned LOGINOV on why he did not go back to the Institute, but as far as Subject knows, LOGINOV has not been back. Rafael has had many discussions with JUAN LUIS but he has never mentioned any other Soviets in Mexico. As far as his politics go, JUAN LUIS is a confirmed Leftist in ideas but Rafael would not call him a Communist. Rafael believes that Juan Luis was merely a friend to LOGINOV and had no direct relations with him other than their association through lessons.

C. Andrea CATANO (P-13,546):

Andrea has mentioned to Rafael that she met CHERNYSH (P-13,042) at the Space Exhibit while she was working there. She also met several other Soviets there. She became friends with them and invited them to her house for a dinner party on two occasions. Rafael, invited by her, went on both occasions. On the first occasions there was a Russian woman, blond, about 36 years old named VALENTINA (LNU) who spoke very good spanish; a man named MISHA (LNU), supposedly an Electrical Tech from DUBNO Space Center near Moscow, about 37 years old and tall, who spoke excellent Spanish and who later wrote a letter to one of Andreas girlfriends in Mexico City (Not named); and BORIS (LNU), about 37 years old, thin, nervous but with a lot of vitality and personality. Boris spoke excellent Spanish also, and Rafael thought it very unusual that he drank American Whiskey and Coca-cola. (Rafael says this is unusual for Russians). Rafael thought MISHA a little suspicious, that he might be KGB (he knows that in cases such as this, no one is allowed to go anywhere with being accompanied by the KGB) because MISHA spoke excellent Spanish and seemed to be the only one who did not really fit.

The other Soviet was named VLADIMIR (LNU), about 57 years old, and did not speak any Spanish at all, but was very nice. According to Rafael, he was the only true Scientist there. (Also from Dubno).

At the second party the Russian woman did not come. Andreas American boss from the Exhibit came however with a Mexican man, (Rafael does not remember his name). Rafael says he was a nice guy. He was about 43 years old, tall and smoked a cigar. He joked with the Russians and told them to be careful because Andrea was his spy. They all laughed. He came with two dark Mexicans and left shortly after dinner. Rafael said he drank a considerable amount and left drunk. CHERNYSH did not attend either of these parties. Andrea however invited him over on other occasions. On one occasion CHERNYSH brought another Soviet to Andreas whom he said was a Military man. (No name mentioned by Andrea). Andrea said that this one was a pain in the ass because he was so serious it through the group (her mother also) into a depressed state. After the Exhibit CHERNYSH started calling Andrea at home and inviting her to meet him in various cafes, which she did. He cautioned her to never call him at the Embassy. He was invited to her house many times and often sat and discussed his politics (any all other topics) with her and her mother. Her mother took issue with his pol Her mother liked CHERNYSH but does not know that Andrea is seeing him on the sl She would not approve of Andrea going out with CHERNYSH at all. CHERNYSH began making amorous advances to Andrea and tried to talk her into going to bed with him. Andrea told Rafaol that he is a very nice guy, she liked him, but was a She said that he almost convinced her to go to bed, and that it is her decision that she is no longer going to see CHERNYSH for fear of doing so. Rafael had cautioned her about what she had to lose if she did. She continues to like CHERNYSH however.

Andrea had a party on 1 March and asked Rafael to invite LOGINOV. CHERNYSH went to this party. Rafael did not bother to ask LOGINOV at all.

Andrea has often extended an invitation to LOGINOV through Rafael, but when Rafael mentiones this to LOGINOV, LOGINOV has told him to forget it because other people from his Embassy are seeing her and LOGINOV does not want to appear there and cause trouble. LOGINOV did not expound and Rafael did not ask further explanation. Rafael thinks that CHERNYSH really wants to take Andrea to bed, but he also thinks that CHERNYSH is up to other things also. He has no idea what, but just suspects.

3. The meeting with Rafael, after three hours, was cut short at this time because he had some obligations. His general daily schedule is as follows:

Monday:	1500-1600	Classes at the Institute, general.
	1630-1730	Private classes at the Institute.
Tuesday:	1000-1100	Private lessons for ADRIANA at Institute.

	1600-1730	Classes at Institute, Private.
Wednesday	1500-1600	Classes at Institute
	1830-1930	Private lessons on Palmas to CHRISTINA
	2000-2100	Private lessons, John BLANKNEGAL

Friday	1500-1600	Lessons at Institute

At the end of the meeting I gave him an envelope with 1,000.00 pesos in cash in it. He accepted it graciously and said that that would last him about 24 hours considering the debts he had to pay. We laughed. I brought out a receipt and asked him if he would mind signing it for me. I said it was for accounting purposes (he did not ask). He said "Sure" and signed it immediately. We left the restaurant, walked to his car, and said goodbye until next meeting.

We stood by the car talking for about three minutes, and I promised to call him during the afternoon of Friday, 14 March. On departing he grinned and said to say hello to all of his associates that he does'nt know. I said "Sure will" and walked away.

CONTACT REPORT

1. Agent: LIREALM/1
2. Date & Site of Meeting: 1200, 5/3/69; Reforma Hotel D/R.
3. Next Meeting: 1200, 12/3/69; Camino Real Hotel.
4. Reports/Information Given by Agent:

LIREALM/1 gave Rowton four pages for insertion into the HDFAIRY target notebook which he had previously prepared and turned over to the Station.

LIREALM/1 also gave Rowton a memo on his recommendations with regard to the oustanding balanace of the loan to LIRELIC (1,000.00 pesos), in which LIREALM/1 propses to see LIRELIC once more and to obtain from him a receipt acknowledging the outstanding balance of the original loan.

A third report given to Rowton reveals what appears to have been an IS approach made to LIREALM/1 by Valentin Loguinov on 2 February, 1969, at the home of a mutual friend, Luis Gomez. Loguinov again made reference to his previous allegations concerning LIREALM/1's affiliation with WOFACT but this time said that he was prepared to pay "a lot " of money for any information LIREALM/1 might obtain for him. L/1 reported to Rowton that he finessed as best he could alleging that the only person he was close to in the WOLADY complex was an official in the economic section. LIREALM/1 commented to Rowton that he felt certain at this point that Loguinov was bluffing concerning his having actually seen L/1 with WOFACT officers "several times" in Sanborns, and that this was a prelude to an approach to LIREALM/1 that Loguinov had been planning for some time.

5. Administrative:

LIREALM/1 gave Rowton an accounting for his 1,500 peso revolving fund which showed a total of disbursements of 12,078.75. L/1 exblained that this sudden increase in his expenditures was due to his new operations against the PBRUMEN target. He stated that he expected the following recurring expenses every month:

LIR.CF/4 salary	-	1,500.00
[illegible]/4 L/P rental	-	1,500.00
[illegible]/6 salary	-	2,000.00
[illegible]/6 L/P rental	-	1,500.00
S/H rental for ops meetings with WOFACTers	-	1,500.00
Miscellaneous	-	1,000.00

Since these recurring expenses would be a minimum of 12,000.00 pesos per month, LIREALM/1 requested that his revolving fund be increased from 1,500.00 to 12,000.00, and that Rowton, in addition to reimbursing him for the 9,078.75 he spent in excess of his last advance, give him an additional 12,000.00 pesos as his new revolving fund so that he would be able to pay the operational expenses required.

6. Guidance/Information Given to Agent:

Rowton agreed with LIREALM/1 concerning the approach of Loguinov and promised to give L/1 Station guidance on his future relationship with Loguinov. Rowton asked L/1 to move very cautiously with regard to implicating the WOLADY economics officer before receiving specific guidance from the Station.
Rowton promised to refer the request for an increased revolving fund to the Station in the hope of having the necessary money at the next meeting.

DATE OF INFORMATION: February 2, 1969
PLACE ACQUIRED: Party at the home of Dr. Luis Gomez.

Our tennis group meets occassionally at each others homes, for lunch, dinner, or just drinks. Luis Gomez invited us this time to his home in Pedregal for lunch.

After I had made a point of not sitting near Val, several women wanted to change places and Val and another person changed places putting Val next to me.

He opened the old issue by saying that he assumed I was working for the company. He said that he had seen me personally"several times" at Sanborns with American intelligence officers. I asked who he saw me with. He avoided the question. I then volunteered that it must have been Bill Spruce, with whom I frequently have lunch, He asked what section Spruce was in. I answered the economic. He seemed disgusted, and said Spruce wasn't worth anything.

Val then said that he wanted me to know that he was prepared to pay a lot of money for any information I might obtain for him. I said I'd talk to Spruce about it and see if he had anything to sell so that I could take my commission. I added that Spruce would probably faint or tremble with terror--this pleased Val greatly.

I then asked Val if the Americans had ever offered him any money for his information. He averted my eyes and answered "not yet".

COMMENTS

Val is an ass!!

"Several times" is, of course, inaccurate and shows that he is guessing. It seems very unlikely that he saw me even the one time.

Val probably regrets that we have not approached him. But he is not so stupid that he does not realize that we know he has no trade, profession, skills, or talents which would make life for him anywhere outside of Russia and government service possible. Val is doing the only thing he knows how, and he knows it, and he must realize that we know it. Hence, defection for him is out of the question. He would only make a short-term profit in doing so.

I have invited Bill Spruce to lunch this week. I will develop him as my excuse and answer for any further provocations by Val. Spruce, incidentally, is a very clever and helpful person. My last meeting with him was two years ago and I am still benefitting from his advice. He has since transferred to the finance section, but this should not affect his value to me and my cover.

Interest in American School. Val asked me if I could recall the address of the American school. He will call me for ~~it~~ it. He wants to have his son Dmitri participate in some activities with the children at the school in order to learn English. Dmitri finishes school at the Russian embassy at 1400 hours. Val hopes that maybe there are some afterschool activities such as football for Dmitri.

COMMENT

This may be just Val's inate stupidity. Maybe he really couldn't find the American School in the telephone directory.

Perhaps Val already knows of some after-school activity of which I am unaware. Maybe he already knows that someone's child is there, someone he wants to meet. Perhaps he wants an excuse to wander about the school, meeting people.

Perhaps Val couldn't care less about the school. Perhaps he is hoping for an excuse to call me, suggesting our children practice English together. Perhaps he is preparing the ground ~~for~~ to go to someone else he already has in mind to explain that there is no convenient program of after-school activities for Dmitir. He might ask that person to agree to have Dmitri play with his children.

It just occured to me that for the first time in many months Valentin spoke Russian to me. While I was playing tennis he shouted to me in Russian, "You really are playing with your left now". And later, "You look tired". When I answered that I was and that I had a head-ache, He looked particularly pleased. Normally he doesn't even answer my Good Morning in Russian. Perhaps he is preparing the ~~xxxyx~~ way for me to suggest an exchange in language lessons: he helps me with my Russian and ~~Ixdxx~~ my boys play with Dimi in English.

Attached are five LIEMBRACE Soviet Target of Opportunity reports which cover the period 12 December 1968 which was the first surveillance to four follow-up surveillance reports on the first one. On 12 December 1968 the LIEMBRACE team picked up LOGINOV in Colonia Buenos Aires in the company of an unidentified Mexican man. The LIEMBRACE team followed the Mexican man , who got into a Renault Dauphine with placas 330 HS. A LIKAYAK check revealed that the placas were listed to

Address: was Adolfo Prieto 1302, Mexico 12, D.F. now Sierra de Cabuna 60 Lomas, Barrilaco

A further LIKAYAK check revealed that the VALLINAs did not live at this Adolfo Prieto address and no further action was planned.

On Thursday, 2 January 1969, LIEMBRACE-5 went into Sears Department Store on Ejercito Nacional and thought that the store detective was identical to the man spotted with LOGINOV on 12 December 1968. LIEMBRACE-14 said that although the store detective looked alot like the man seen with LOGINOV, he wasnot identical. Photos of this store detective are attached.

On Friday, 3 January 1969 the LIEMBRACE team went to Sears Store on Ejercito Nacional to check out this store detective. The people at Sears said that if a name were given to them, they would cooperate.

On Thursday, 9 January 1969, the LIEMBRACE team picked up the store detective as he was leaving work. The store detective went to a house at Lago Chiem 142-A. Prior to that he went to an address at Avenida Claveria 64-1.

On Friday 10 January 1969 the LIEMBRACE team gave us the result of a check at these addresses. They are the following:

LILYRIC reported that Valentin Sergeyevich LOGINOV (P-11712) entered the Soviet Embassy on 23 February 1969 in a 1969 Chevrolet Chevelle. LOGINOV, according to LIENVOY was scheduled to go to the border the week of 16 Feb 1969 to pick up his new car.

He was very much in favor of the writers who have been suppressed in Russia. Subject said that when he first arrived in Mexico his major desire was to visit a book store. When he managed to visit one he was amazed at the variety of literature for sale which was absolutely banned to Russians. He could not help feeling nervous while in the bookstore, and later cried when he got home. (Due to the emotions he felt). At the first opportunity he began buying and reading all of the books he could afford. It took him a long time in order to be able to sit in a public area and openly read a book without feeling some kind of fear.

As regards to Cuba he has heard conflicting stories. He believes that Castro has done some good for the Cubans, (by raising their standard education level), but that from stories he has heard, the Cubans had a much higher economic standard of living (than Mexico) prior to the Castro regime. He has often discussed these polotics with LOGINOV. P 11,912 In a crowd LOGINOV tends to say good things about Castro and the Cuban regime, but when alone with Subject LOGINOV sneers at Castro and condemns the regime. This attitude leads Subject to believe that the non official Soviet attitude (real attitude) towards Cuba is one of disgust. During discussions in a group, LOGINOV has stated that they (Soviets) are not in favor of Guerillas operating in Central and S. America. He has repeated this while privately talking with Subject.

During part of the conversation I began telling him about the standards of living in the U.S. and what it might be like living there. We discussed different parts of the U.S. in terms of Geography and what it had to offer. Subject repeated that his wife always thought that it would be devine living in the U.S. and that he still had hopes of going there in the future to live.

Every three months they had to go (individually) to an office with initials O.V.I.R. (Department of Visas and Registry for Foreigners) to pick up a slip of paper from the head, who was an old Russian Colonel. They then took this slip of paper back to the apartment where they lived and presented it to the person in charge of the apartment. The person then wrote on the slip that they had permission to live there for three months. They returned to the OVIR where the Colonel stamped it and put his initials. This had to be done every three months. Whenever they traveled they had to take this slip with them. Subject thinks that their travel was limited to 300 or 600 kilometers, but is not sure. He said the Colonel became a good friend of his and later advised him not to get a Soviet passport since it might limit his traveling in the free world. Prior to leaving Russia he was not interviewed by anyone or offered any deals.

He has known LOGINOV about 3 years. He was introduced to LOGINOV three years ago by JUAN LUIS, the director of the Language Institute (where Subject now works). After the introduction they went to the Directors apartment on Hamburgo for drinks and he became friendly with LOGINOV. Prior to about 6 months ago LOGINOV had merely been a friend, but had insinuated that Subject offer information on his students. In the past six months LOGINOV has made about three direct offers, outlining that Subject prepare and give him personal information on his students, especially those who might be in a position to go to the States. (He wants the usual personal information, including their attitude towards Americans). Subject has refused LOGINOV on each occasion. He said that he did not attend the meeting arranged for Saturday, 1 February because he slept late and was not interested. He had previously said that the meeting was on the corners of PRAGA and REFORMA, but during this meeting he said he was in error, the meeting was supposed to be on the corners of PRAGA and CHAPULTEPEC.

During the first year after their arrival in Mexico, he accompanied his mother to the Soviet Embassy, and while there met a (FNU) BROVKIN who was an old friend who had met his mother in Russia. While talking to BROVKIN, they asked if he had any jobs for Subject, or knew of anyone who might employ Subject. BROVKIN said No, but later introduced Subject to CHICHKOV, who gave him a job.

PRIKHODKO was there to meet the owner, and after they (He and PRIKHODKO met) talked by the phone booth they went to the bar to meet the owner. The owner did not show up and they then went to PRIKHODKOS apartment where Subject stayed for dinner. While there he met CHIRNYSH. Subject said that CHIRNYSH did not ever try to recruit him for anything (He said that I must have mis-understood him during the previous meeting. CHIRNYSH is playing around with ANDREA, who can go to the U. S. anytime she wants. He said I must have mistaken him). CHIRNYSH is about 37 years old and ANDREA just turned 17. ANDREA has told Subject that she has kissed CHIRNYSH on several occasions and really likes him. Subject is very angry about this and says that CHIRNYSH has no business picking in ANDREA, and he knows that CHIRNYSH (Suspects) is up to no good. Business at Soviet embassy. Gloria wants to purchase a Persian Lamb coat. Alexandra Loguinov has one she would be willing to sell, but Gloria believes it would be too hot for Mexico, having been lined for Moscow weather. Gloria thinks that the commercial counselor of the Soviet embassy would be interested, willing, and able to help her in obtaining a Soviet coat.

Gloria also wants to open a shop. She thought that maybe she could handle imported Soviet goods. Her children are now old enough to take care of themselves. She feels unneeded, hence the interest in opening a shop. She has checked with the Camino Real and learned that shop space rents for 12000 pesos per month. She would probably work for someone else for a while to learn the problems involved, before opening her own shop. She admits to very little education. She has never worked in her life.

Wants help from me. The last time I saw Gloria she reminded me that on New Years Eve I promised to give her problem some thought. Frankly, there is something she could do for my cover business. I need someone who is attractive, mature, but not necessarily very intelligent, and not necessarily very experienced, to contact potential clients, to sell a service. I think Gloria could fit this requirement. I had in mind a commission agent: someone who would recieve no salary, but would receive a ~~[illegible]~~ percentage each month (20%) of the income due to clients she obtained. Let's say she would bring me 100 clients over a period of two or three years. Let's say further that each client would represent an income of $250 pesos per month. She would receive .20 x 250 x 100 = 5000 pesos per month as long as those clients continued, and whether she continued to work for me or not. She could work as little or as much as she wanted, though I would probably set a quota of one new client per week. She would end up the year making 2600 pesos per month, averaging 1300 pesos per month over the year. She has her own car. I would probably reimburse her for gasoline and entertainment expenses.

I mention this in some detail because I think it really would suit Gloria and would help my business. If I used her, it would probably preclude her use wittingly against the Soviets. Further, before using her, some thought ought to be given to the possibility that she might already be working for the Soviets (which I doubt) and could be targetted against me.

Soviets interest in Gloria. I would not attempt to explain why the Soviets might be interested in Gloria as a target. My guesses would be a waste of time considering that the Soviet section has probably given this sort of thing a great deal of experienced thought. I do believe that Valentin and Gloria might be having an affair for strictly personal and non-operational reasons. I further believe that Valentin might actually be paying his own way at the French Club to pursue a sport he is fairly good at and enjoys--and not as an excuse to go to the French Club to find potential recruits.

Our interest in Gloria. I can see a possible use of Gloria if recruited by false Mexican secret service. The scenario would go something like this:

> We (the Mexican secret service) have observed that she (Gloria) has been seen in the company of Valentin. We know Valentin to be a very dangerous and destructive person to Mexico.
> Would she be willing to report on Valentin, his personality, his views, his activities as far as she is aware of them.
>
> (Later) Would she be willing to make comments which would encourage Valentin to try to recruit her. Such comments would be that she has met diplomats from various embassy, knows students who are anarchists and communists, is growing more and more disappointed with the U.S. foreign policy, especially since that imperialist Nixon has taken over, etc.
>
> Ultimate use. The eventual value of Gloria would be:
> 1. Report vulnerabilities of Val.
> 2. Report the moment when Val [illegible] disgruntled, critical of his [illegible], ready to defect.

3. Report what at least some of the targets of the Soviets might be--namely her assignments from Val.

CONTACT REPORT

FROM : Samuel J. KARTASUK

SUBJECT : Rafael VIDILLA Ruiz; contact with, on 29 January 1969.

1. KARTASUK left his car in a parking lot in the Zona Rosa and walked to the vicinity of Sanborns on Reforma and Tiber. At 1455 I called the Language school where Subject teaches and was told that he had not yet arrived for class. I called again at 1505 and was informed that he was already in class. At 1545 I began waiting in front of the Language school for Subject to come out. He came out at 1610 and we walked towards Sanborns. I invited him to go to La Mansion Restaurant on Insurgentes Sur but he said that he had a class scheduled from 1630 to 1800. We went to the Sanborns bar and had a drink. I told him that I thought that two girls I had previously met were going to meet me at the La Mansion at 1700 and that I wanted him to go with me. After some discussion he decided that he could postpone the class until Friday, but would have to wait until 1630 for the pupil to arrive, in order to inform her. We left the Bar at 1630 and encountered the student by the magazine stand. Subject made his excuses, and we started walking to his car. (Subject had not wanted to miss his class, and after some discussion in the bar, he offered me his car in order that I might go to La Mansion and get the girls. I told him that I also wanted to eat, and that there was a possibility that the girls would'nt show up. He finally consented after some consideration).

We arrived at La Mansion shortly before 1700 and went inside, leaving the car parked in the Restaurant lot. After sitting down and ordering drinks and a steak, I told him that I would like to discuss a few important items that had a lot do to with his future. (I had mentioned during the previous meeting that I had some business to talk to him about). I began by telling him that in our relationship I had neglected to mention something important. I told him that my meeting him in Acapulco was not an accident. I had gone there for the express purpose of meeting him after considerable planning. Subject just sat there with a calm amused look on his face, and asked me if I were the F.B.I.

or the Police, or something. I said "No. I'm an Intelligence Officer for the U. S. Government", and showed him my I. D. card. He looked at it, raised his eyebrows, but never changed the expression on his face. (From the look on his face, one might think he was watching a Bugs Bunny cartoon). I said that our files show that for some years he has had considerable contact with members of the Soviet KGB. Before I could go any further he stated that he was not a member of the KGB, nor did he ever work for them. I said that that was what we believed, and that was also why I wanted to talk to him. I had a proposition to make to him. Before I could continue, he said that he had often been approached (Currently and in the past) by the KGB to work for them. At present he is being hounded by Valentin (LOGINOV) to report on his Mexican friends. He considers the KGB to be a bunch of Bastards (Cabrones) and that he does not believe in all of this under the table spying, nor does he believe in what the KGB are trying to do, and if I'm involved in this work, and I am asking him the same thing, then I'm the same kind of bastard that the KGB are. He said for some time now, LOGINOV has called him, met him, and asked that he (Subject) spot Mexicans (students) who are either going to the U.S. or look like they might be promising in that respect, and that he (Subject) prepare biographical data and other details about their current life, and arrange for them to meet LOGINOV at parties, etc. LOGINOV, during each meeting with Subject, brings an envelope with 500 pesos in cash in it, and continually offers this to Subject. Subject says that he does'nt say yes or no, but that to date he has not furnished any information and has not accepted any money. He likes his friends and students, and any cooperation with LOGINOV (along these lines) would make him feel like a Judas. Besides, these students are young, and nice people, and the KGB bastards should keep their hands off them. He said that he appreciated the fact that I immediately showed him an official I.D. card and declared myself, because LOGINOV did not even have the decency to do that. LOGINOV has never showed him anything at all (in I.D.)

and never even extended the courtesy of telling him why he wanted the information on Mexican students, but Subject knows LOGINOV is KGB and doesn't appreciate the approach by LOGINOV. If LOGINOV had approached him honestly, showed him I.D. and talked about the idealism involved in what he wanted, Subject might have paid more attention, but he (Subject) did not like the dishonest way LONGINOV went about it, offering money and trying to con him. Subject said, granted, he needs money, and the 500 pesos always looks good, but that if he started doing what LOGINOV wanted, the sight of the money would make him sick afterwards. I told him that we were not interested in his students, but that we wanted to stop the KGB in their efforts to undermine other nations and direct sabotage against the U.S. He might not like the idea of under-the-table dealing, but it was a real fact of life. If it were not for the current under-the-table conflict, the world would probably be rushed into a nuclear war, and he knew what that meant. What was going on in the espionage field was actually a deterrant, and that the people involved were composed of the best minds of two worlds. I recalled his (Subject) two world powers opinions (previously expressed by him) and asked him what he planned to do. He could'nt return to Russia; his current future prospects in Mexico were not too promising, and he had previously mentioned that he wanted to go to the U.S. If it's true that there are only two important powers in the world, then he had better seriously consider where he wants to place his marbles. Opportunity does'nt knock every day, and he was talking to a representative of the U.S. Government at the moment, who was making a proposition directly to him (Subject). Subject said that that was all true; he at first wanted to return to Russia but after seeing some things in Mexico he realized that he could never be happy in Russia again because of the oppressive regime and the lack of freedom. (He cited the recent Russian invasion of the Checks and said that it made him sick to see the Russians do this). He said that he was not happy in Mexico but that he could live here O.K.

He had previously tried to go to the U.S. but had been turned down. In any case, he had made friends here, and this was his life, and he has no intention of either screwing his friends or being an informer, either for the KGB or for their U.S. equivalent. The first person he has to live with is himself, and the realization that he is a spy against his own friends would be enough to mentally ruin him, regardless of any money received. I told him that one of our efforts is trying to block the KGB when they go after people that turn out to be his friends. He can think that he (Subject) is not involved, but that is far from the truth. He may not work for the KGB, but his associations with them have been known for some time and that a thick file already exists on him. I know him personally now, and like him, and if he refuses to work with me I'm obligated to write it up that way. My superiors will later sit down with me and ask the results, and I'll tell them that Rafael is a nice guy, honest, sincere, and I firmly believe that he is completely honest w/me. This however will not answer the question why he will not cooperate, and when it is put on paper it will just be a cold report lacking personality, and the paper will indicate that he might be working for the KGB regardless of any opinions tacked on to the bottom. In a case like this, protocol between the U.S. and Mexican Governments require that we eventually turn over to them any reports on people in their country who might be involved with the Russians in efforts against Mexico. In his case, his file would be turned over to the Mexicans and then he can imagine what could happen. By the time the Secret Service stopped harrassing him, or he wound up in jail, he would be living a miserable life. All this just for being innocent. For this reason, and for reasons involving the fact that as a real person in a real world he can't afford just to sit on the middle of the fence, he should seriously consider my proposition.

Subject said that what I mentioned sounded like a threat, and that if it was, it still would'nt make any difference; he would rather go to jail or be harrassed by the police than to cooperate, either with us or the KGB. I told him that what I said was not a threat but a reality, and that he should appreciate the fact that I'm being frank with him instead of trying to do what LOGINOV did, to con him. I was only asking. I was a friend regardless what his decision was, and that if its "No", then I'll do everything in my power to see that he remains untouched and un-bothered, but that I can't garuntee anything because a bureaucratic structure was involved and I did'nt have the final say. I told him that unless everything he had told me during our previous association was complete B.S., then he had a duty to at least consider what I was asking. (By now we had been at this from 1700 to about 1930). Finally he asked me what I would want of him. I said that I wanted him to work with me directly against the KGB and that I had no interest in his friends or students at all. If he was concerned about the KGB bastards bothering his friends, this was his chance to help me do something about it. We can't operate alone. He has the intelligence, the ability and the opportunity to do a great deal and he should involve himself, if only for the ideals that he has previously expressed. (He thought about it for a few moments and began to talk about Yuriy CHERNYSH). He said that for instance CHERNYSH was another KGB man who had approached him to report on Americans. LOGINOV had told him that he (LOGINOV) could'nt get along with Americans and consequently was only interested in working with Mexicans, but CHERNYSH tried to recruit Subject to work against Americans. Subject refused. CHERNYSH however was trying to work on ANDREA (CHANG) (Subjects friend) and this made him damned mad. The girl ANDREA was only about 16 or 17, and a sweet little girl, and they (KGB) had no business trying to pick on her. Subject said that he was in the Plaza hotel one day waiting to make a phone call, and that he heard the man in the phone booth speaking fluent Russian. When the man got through Subject asked him in Russian if he was from the Embassy. The man gave his name and said that he was the 1st Secretary and asked Subject if his name was [illegible]

The 1st Secretary said that he recognized Rafael because he had seen his picture. During the conversation the Secretary asked Rafael over to dinner that night and he accepted. When Rafael arrived, he was introduced to CHERNYSH who made overtures of friendship which later led to the attempted recruitment. In the meantime Rafael had introduced CHERNYSH to ANDREA and now regretted it. (This led into further conversation about the KGB and I asked him about CHICHKOV). He said that he has worked for CHICHKOV but that he had no idea that CHICKOV was KGB. CHICHKOV had never made any attempt to recruit him for anything. He later mentioned that he might know VOSKOBOYNIKOV by first name. but could not be sure of the last name. (I did'nt try to describe him). Subject mentioned other Soviets who are KGB during a fast moving conversation but I did not take notes. My aim was the recruitment and I tried to keep the conversation channeled towards that end. During the conversation Subject said that at one time his mother had confided in him that they had tried to recruit her several times in Moscow to work against Spaniards and Latin Americans who visited. The KGB had once threatened her but when she complained that she would consult her husband, they told her to forget it. He said that she had known many members of the NVD. NKVD and now KGB, but that she still refuses to work for them in their business.

After considerable more discussion along the same lines, Subject finally thought a bit, and said that he would agree to work with me on one condition only. The condition was that I would not ask him to inform on, or work against, any of his friends or students, including CEIL, VINTURA or ANDREA in particular, and that if any thing should happen to him as a result of his work for me, that I would promise to take care of his wife and child. I agreed to his condition, restating that my only concern was the KGB. I said however that in the future if I could prove to him, or convince him, that any of his local acquaintences were directly involved with the KGB then I would expect him to help me.

He said that was fair enough. He said that today, 30 January, he had a Restaurant date with LOGINOV at 1930. He was to meet LOGINOV at a Mariscos Restaurant on the corner of Ave REFORMA and PRAGA. He wanted to know what he should do with LOGINOV. I told him to be very careful that he doesn't change his attitude one bit, and to continue for the time being with LOGINOV just as if nothing at all had happened. I said that the Soviets do have a department... at this he interrupted and said "SMERSH" and grinned. I said yes, they do operate now and then, and that the Soviets would not be very happy to discover that their friend had anything at all to do with us. I said that even though we treat each other as gentlemen, they are capable of being tough at times. He said not to worry, that he was an excellent actor, and LOGINOV would never suspect a thing.

During the time I was trying to convince him, he said that I was forgetting one thing. He assured me that he was 80% Socialist and 20% capitalist, and he firmly believed that Socialism was good for some countries, including Russia. He said that because of that he did'nt see how I could ever have any confidence in him. I answered by saying that everyone was entitled to their ideals, and I too believed in certain forms of Socialism. The encouraging thing was that he believed in something, and that was his right as an individual. We in the U.S are entitled to our beliefs, and are not restricted in our reading matter or what we said on street corners. If he wanted to, he could stand on the steps of the Lincoln monument and give a speach on socialism and no one would bother him provided he did'nt cause a riot, disturb the peach or break some local law. We have Socialists who are still good citizens. He then talked a little about the restrictions in Russia in reading matter and talking, but saw my point.

By 2115 we were in agreement on his cooperation with me involving the above mentioned conditions. I asked him to meet me on Wednesday, 5 February, at 1030 at CHALUPAS Restaurant on Reforma (just across the Periferico). He knew where it was and agreed to meet me. I cautioned him again to be very careful in his dealings with LOGINOV and to take precautions when he came to the meeting.

Just prior to leaving the restaurant he said that after this he was going out and get drunk. (I don't remember where he said he was going, but it might have been CELLS). In cautioning him, he has said that he would not say a word, even to his mother or wife. We left the restaurant at 2115. He wanted to give me a ride, or have me go get drunk with him, but I said that even though I would'nt mind it, that three of my associates were waiting about three blocks away for my report, and that I had to tell them what happened...they were very anxious about this. We parted in the doorway and he drove off as I walked in the other direction. I later caught a cab to town and left it in the vicinity of my car.

REMARKS:

During the conversation Subject mentioned the names of various Soviets, but I was not taking notes and preferred to channel the conversation back to the recruitment pitch. I thought the details could be obtained later if he was recruited.

Right

During the pitch the only one who was nervous was me. Subject displayed a "cool" which was amazing. When I presented my credentials and the pitch he never batted an eyelash...just continued slightly smiling. I noted no reaction at all. It could be that he still thought I was kidding, or playing some game. In any case, either he works for the other side, or he is indeed cool to an admirable point.

We (I) talked from 1700 to about 2030 without making any headway. Up until that time I had gotten an emphatic "NO". I almost gave up before another approach produced a little result. I think that prior assessments which state that he will do anything for money is entirely false. At the moment the recuitment is still on thin ice, and subject is serious about involving his friends. Perhaps after he gets his feet wet (if it lasts that long) and has some experience he can be brought around to do almost anything.

[illegible] the meanwhile however I would be very careful not to cast any reflections on his friends, (left or not) the Russian people, Republican Spaniards in general, or anything else that he has expressed a definite opinion on. If all of the foregoing is really legitimate, the success of the recruitment so far has been due to friendship and my willingness to see just about everything his way. This will take time to change.

SUBJECT: LIROBIN/1 and 2

DATE OF MEETING: 4 December 1968

1. The undersigned met with LIROBIN/1 and 2 at the LIROBIN apartment on 4 December from 1215 to 1300 hours. The next meeting will occur when one of the LIROBIN's contacts REIDEMANN via telephone.

2. LIROBIN/2 reported that both of the LIROBINS attended a cocktail party at the home of the Indian Embassy ~~Counsellor~~ Consul (?), FNU PARASHAR, at which they met the LOGINOV's (P-11712). LOGINOV again refused to carry on any of the conversation in English even though English was the common language used by the guests. At one point during the evening, Mrs. PARASHAR addressed LOGINOV in front of all the guests and chided him for not using his English remarking that "everyone here knows that you speak English". LOGINOV stared at her icily, but did not comment in either Spanish or English. LOGINOV spoke briefly with L/1 inquiring what L/1's duties were with the newspaper and gave every indication that he was unaware of L/1's column. Mrs. LOGINOV was quite cordial and inquired if L/2 had been to the film festival in Acapulco. L/2 replied that she had not to which Mrs. LOGINOV countered by remarking that she had seen L/2's friends - the SARATOVS (P-13125)- at Acapulco. L/2 stated that no effort was made to involve the LOGINOV's in polemics during the evening and that LOGINOV did not appear to know the majority of the approximate 16 guests who represented almost every nationality. The LIROBIN's were the only Americans with the exception of Edward KENNEDY and his Mexican wife. LOGINOV did not spend an inordinate time with any particular individual nor did they remain late.

3. Additional information was obtained re Arnold BILGORN which REIDEMANN will fashion into a report. The REIDEMANN's are invited to dinner at the LIROBIN's on 6 December together with the BILGORN's and others.

[illegible] : Gloria and Pepe Pinto
DATE OF [illegible] : December 2, [illegible]

GLORIA'S INTEREST IN [illegible]. There seems to be no firm evidence that Gloria is interested in Val other than socially and for tennis.

Gloria is a very attractive and vivacious woman of 40 or 45 years. She is the center of gravity of a group of tennis enthusiasts, ranging in age from Meche, Gloria's daughter of 19 or 20 to Licerciado Preciado (a deputy from PAN) of perhaps 65 years or more. It is doubtful that Gloria would encourage an affair with Valentin. Her interest in Val is probably that of everyone else's, as a Soviet, he is a novelty. He is also probably attractive to women who like brutish men. Gloria, ~~xx~~ however, is married to a very soft-spoken and considerate person.

EXTENT OF SOCIAL CONCOURSE. It seems likely that Val and Gloria and their families have come together socially at intervals. It is doubtful that they are intimate friends, but likely that they (the Pintos) are the closest friends that Val has among the Mexicans.

VAL'S INTEREST IN GLORIA. Val's interest in Gloria is probably more complex than her interest in him. First, he probably has entertained the possibility of an affair with Gloria. Val has spoken frequently of his interest in girls. Gloria could easily be a sexual target for Val--self-appointed, of course.

Further, Gloria organizes tennis groups and informal tournaments. Through her Val is likely to meet a number of Mexicans.

It seems highly unlikely that Val would try to recruit either Gloria or Pepe. They enjoy a fairly luxurious life, Pepe being a fairly successful physician. Neither Pepe or Gloria take life seriously enough to become intellectual communists. Philosophy is certainly not their reading of choice during idle hours. Gloria is primarily interested in sports. She was national champion of water-skiing several years in a row. Now she is devoting herself to tennis which she plays reasonably well. Dancing is probably her next great interest. In my opinion she does not have sufficient time left to devote to marxism or economics or politics. She seems particularly ill-informed ~~xx~~ about politics.

PEPE RETURNS. Pepe returned from four weeks in Europe last Tuesday, November 26th. Their son, Pepito, travelled with him.

INVITATION FOR DINNER FOR GLORIA. It would be perfectly natural for us to invite the Pintos to dinner. We have maintained contact with them through tennis at least twice a week. There have been occasional dinners among our clique.

We could also invite Valentin with or without the Pintos. Valentin has done us at least one favor which we have not reciprocated, an invitation to the Moscow Circus.

GLORIA'S FEELING ABOUT THE US. I believe that Gloria is less anti-American than the average middle-class Mexicanl. She has travelled to the US many times for vacations and shopping. She knows the US rather well, but she does not seem pro-US.

RECRUITABILITY OF GLORIA. I am convinced that she would never agree to work for the US. She might consider working for a false-flage "Mexican" if she were told that Val had been observed participating in some heinous espionage act, supplying arms and money to the communist student agitators, for example. Her ultimate objectives are not clear in my mind. I doubt that she could ever hope to recruit Valentin to defect to Mexico. I am sure she could never recruit him as an agent of Mexico. It does seem possible that she might be able to get him to reveal his disappointments and grievances--information which might be of value to us.

PRQ-I and II. Xn At the moment I have insufficient information about the Pintos to prepare a complete PRQ I or II. If it is deemed of intereest, we could exchange invitations during the next few weeks in order to obtain the necessary information.

SUBJECT: [illegible] Gloria Pinto
DATE OF INFORMATION: December 21, 1968. 1100 hours
PLACE ACQUIRED: French Club

I saw Gloria talking to Iouri Tchernych. I joined them. Gloria was turning on all of her not inconsiderable charm. Invited Iouri to her posada. Then asked whom she should see at the Soviet embassy about a business deal she had. Was told this would be Ivanov. Gloria said she knew him and described him as big and corpulent. Apparently this was correct--according to Iouri's reaction.

Gloria asked Iouri where he worked and was told with Valentin. He added that this is the department you must come to if you want to visit the Soviet Union.

Later I saw Iouri with his wife and son. She is rather attractive, tall. Pavel, is about three years old, and a very handsome little boy.

DATE OF INFORMATION: December 23, 1968. 2000 - 0200 hours.
PLACE ACQUIRED: Posada at Gloria's

Val and his wife and Iouri and his wife and about 40 to 50 other people were present. Val's wife brought pirojki--delicious.

Gloria invited us to spend next weekend with them and 3 or 4 other couples at Valle de Bravo. Valentin and his wife will be there. We accepted.

TRACES REQUESTED. For various reasons, I would like to know if there is any information in the files on Tony.

INTEREST IN RUSSIAN. Tony has shown an unusual interest in Valentin Loguinov. He recently made a date with Val to play tennis at the French Club. Tony admitted to making quite an effort to keep his date, despite other committments which had come up. Val, however, did not show and did not call Tony. Tony seemed far more annoyed than would be normal under the circumstances.

TONY'S FATHER, AMERICAN. Tony has a large family here and in the US. His father is an American and Tony speaks excellent English. He is very friendly, well-liked, pro-US!!, excellent tennis player.

CONTACT REPORT:

SUBJECT: LIROBBINS/1 P-11665

DATE OF MEETING: 14 November 1968

1. The undersigned met with LIROBBINS/1 at his apartment on 14 November from 1500 to 1630 hours. LIROBBINS/2 was ill in bed (flu) and was unable to participate in this meeting. The LIROBBINS daughter, Lisa, was present in the house during the meeting which prompted REIDEMANN to inquire of L/1 if the daughter was XXXXX aware of the type of relationship which the LIROBBINS had with REIDEMANN. L/1 replied that "they" had told their daughter inasmuch as she had come to suspect such a relationship over the past year or so. REIDEMANN felt that it would be of little purpose, at this time, to admonish the LIROBBINS and dropped the subject. REIDEMANN has found the LIROBBINS to be woefully lacking in general security principles and has strived, in a tactful manner, to point out past shortcomings and possible security hazards - especially with regard to telephone conversations.

2. In response to REIDEMANN's question regarding attendance at the 7 November reception, L/1 stated that they had both attended. L/1 commented that there appeared to be fewer people this year than last. As a matter of fact, L/1 could identify only two people in the entire throng that he had previously known. They were: the Indian Embassy Counsellor (?), FNU PARASHAR and an American couple, Lulu Vargas-Vila de LEE (wife), who is the correspondent for La Union (Valparaiso); La Prensa (Buenos Aires); El Tiempo (Bogota) and resides at Platon 445 - 2nd floor, Tel: 20-10-23. The LIROBBINS spoke briefly with both of the above parties as well as SARATOV (P-13125), SYCHEV (P-11113), LOGINOV (P-11712) and PRIKHODKO (P-2270). The conversation adhered to generalities such as the Olympics, food, etc. L/1 noted that the majority of the guests appeared to be Mexicans - a large number of them clad in their everyday clothes. There was also a sprinkling of Mexican student-appearing types. For the record, L/1 reported that his automobile is a 1965 blue, two-door, Oldsmobile bearing Oklahoma license plates, ZS-8546 (1968 plates).

3. With reference to SARATOV's party on the evening of 13 November, L/1 commented that he and L/2 arrived at the party at approximately 2000 remaining until ca. 0030, 14 November. The LIROBBINS were the last to leave although they departed only minutes after the rest of the guests. The guest list included: The LIROBBINS, Arnold Bilgore and wife JoAnne, Roger CUDNEY (Radio VIP) and wife, and the Saratovs. English was the common language spoken and L/1 noted that both the Saratovs handled the language with ease although as the evening progressed and SARATOV's liquor consumption increased his fluency and articulation became more labored. L/1 stated that SARATOV pushed liquor very hard the entire evening starting out with two pre-dinner drinks andthen serving vodka in accompaniement to the borsch. Wine was served with the main course, Chinese beef, prepared by Nataliya SARATOVA. Dessert was accompanied with brandy and the evening progressed with long drinks after dinner. L/1 stated that SARATOV drank with the group although L/1 doubted that SARATOV matched the men drink for drink. Mrs. SARATOVA appeared at ease and seemed to enjoy the conversation. L/1 assessed her as a woman who complemented her husband and made a charming and vivacious appearance. L/1 seemed to be struck with SARATOV's apparent"sincerity" in ~~is~~ his enjoyment of the evening and his "candor" in the discussions. For the most part, the conversation edged away from any controversial subjects; seemingly all were content to dwell upon "Old Mexico" of 20 years ago and the joys of simple living in the city. During a discussion of the style of night life in Mexico, SARATOV remarked that he enjoyed a good strip-tease performance now and then relating that he had seen a number of them when he was in the States. SARATOV spoke nostalgically of his life in the States admitting that he missed many aspects of his life there. L/1 remarked that the conversation was largely centered around comments by the BILGORES and L/1 and L/2 inasmuch as the CUDNEYS were very reserved and seldom expressed themselves to any degree. L/1 commented that to the best of his knowledge the CUDNEY's and SARATOV's had first met and the dinner party held by the LIROBBINS. L/1 expressed some surprise in that the CUDNEY's were invited as they are rather shy and inexpressive. Toward the end of the evening, L/1 was able to raise the question of the Soviet invasion of the CSSR. SARATOV staunchly defended the Soviet and Warsaw Pact occupation claiming that it was a necessary move because of the increasing aggressiveness of the West Germans and that the avowed purpose of West German truculence was to put pressure on both the CSSR and East Germany in hopes of reunifying Germany. SARATOV did not become emotional over his defense, but left little doubt that he wholeheartedly approved of the Soviet move into the CSSR. Neither the BILGORE's or the LIROBBINS pursued the issue although L/1 commented to SARATOV that he was not convinced by SARATOV's defense of Soviet actions. In short, L/1 felt that the evening went off smoothly and as the LIROBBINS departed SARATOV walked them down the steps and solicitously inquired of L/1 as to whether they (SARATOV's) had entertained properly and if all had been satisfied with the SARATOV's production. L/1 found this vaguely out of keeping with SARATOV's personality and somewhat gauche. L/1 noted that the SARATOV apartment was modern and well-kept giving every evidence of having been lived in. The SARATOV's possess a large European make combination phono-radio set which was tuned to light FM music for background. SARATOV stated that he had inherited this from his prodecessor. SARATOV's one child (age 9) was in bed when the guests arrived. Upon departing, SARATOV inquired of the LIROBBINS if they planned to attend the forthcoming Acapulco film festival. L/1 stated that he was not sure if he would journey there and SARATOV stated that he and his wife planned to attend.

4. LIROBBIN/1 stated that during a recent conversation which he had with Stratford JONES (US citizen representing AP in Mexico), JONES commented that he knew both SARATOV and SYCHEV. JONES remarked that he had been to a party at SYCHEV's during the Olympics. ~~XXXX~~ Furthermore, JONES related that he knew the KUCHEROV's (TASS) and that Mrs. ~~XXXXXXX~~ KUCHEROV had been sent home before the departure of KUCHEROV. JONES strongly implied that security reasons were behind the rather abrupt departure of Mrs. KUCHEROV. L/1 did not press the issue any further.

5. LIROBBIN/1 also reported that the Foreign Press Club in in a chaotic state in that the president, Jose QUIROGA, has accused the club director, Katherine MANJARREZ, of embezzling funds. The truth of the matter, however, seems to be that QUIROGA is engaged in either shady dealing or is guilty of sloppy administration of finances. At any rate, L/1 commented that all members must pay cash for all services and that the club's creditors are pushing for cash payments of all services. The "scandal" seems to have shaken the Club and many members are staying away until the financial situation is corrected.

6. The undersigned inquired of L/1 as to whether he knew of any US citizens who might be looking for an apartment. L/1 stated that ~~XX~~ he was currently unaware of anyone desiring housing but that he would keep his ears open and make a few discreet inquiries without revealing that he knows of any vacancies.

MEMORANDUM FOR: DC/IC/SB

VIA : Chief of Station
C/IC

SUBJECT : Consular Corps Visit to Veracruz

1. The undersigned visited Veracruz on 9 and 10 November together with other members of the Consular Corps on an official visit to that city. Although the Cubans were scheduled to attend and official diplomas proclaiming them guests of the City of Veracruz were prepared, none of them showed up, including Lino SALAZAR Chia, who is stationed in Veracruz. The Czechs, East Germans, and Poles for a number of reasons also failed to go on this trip. Thus, the only Communist representative was Valentin Sergeyevich LOGINOV, with whom the undersigned had plenty of opportunity to talk. It seems that LOGINOV, at least for public consumption, considers the undersigned "his friend." LOGINOV was accompanied by his wife.

2. The following were the main points of interest discussed by LOGINOV:

a. The Soviet appeared very anxious to get the undersigned's opinion on a subject to which he kept going back time and again during the visit: the position of the Richard M. NIXON administration vis-a-vis Communist China. Specifically, what LOGINOV wanted to know was what the chances are that the NIXON administration might attempt to bring about a rapprochement between Communist China and the United States. LOGINOV approached this topic from various directions, and the undersigned had the distinct impression that he had received a specific query on this subject. At one point, LOGINOV stressed the importance of Communist China to his country, indicating that his government is becoming increasingly concerned with developments there.

b. Connected with the above was LOGINOV's concern for peace in Vietnam. For the first time that the undersigned can remeber, a Soviet stated that the United States and his country had "a common interest of utmost importance" in bringing peace to Vietnam. That the Soviet interest may be connected with their concern about Communist China was indicated by LOGINOV when the latter indicated that peace should be obtained in Vietnam as a way to keep out the Chinese Communists. This did not prevent LOGINOV from making the usual noises in favor of the National Liberation Front and the Vietcong, blasting away at South Vietnamese militarism.

c. While talking about the Middle East, LOGINOV said that the Soviet Union was in the Mediterranean to stay and fully intended to give such support to the Arab nations in that area as to someday "get rid of Israel." LOGINOV specifically stated, "The Jews have it coming to them, and the day of reckoning is coming." The undersigned was curious to know whether this was prompted on LOGINOV's part by a dislike of the Israelis or an anti-Semitic feeling. LOGINOV was quite blunt and categorically stated that he for one "hated all Jews," and did not hide his profound anti-Semitism. LOGINOV added that Jews are parasites who have little nationalism other than that generated by the Zionist cause. He implied that those Jews left in the Soviet Union are foreigners who have done little to help the Soviet cause. The undersigned pointed out that anti-Semitism has been a long Russian tradition, dating back to before the Revolution, and deplored this obvious discrimination. He added that this reminded him of the anti-Semitism of the party which not so long ago made mass murder of Jews a matter of national policy.

d. It took LOGINOV about one day to bring up the Sucesos para Todos article. The undersigned jokingly asked him whether this was a Soviet or Cuban sponsored joke, saying that rumor had it that Sucesos was financed by both the Soviets and the Cubans. LOGINOV denied this, saying that the staff of Sucesos could not be put by any stretch of the imagination into the category of "Communists." He then point-blank asked the undersigned whether he belonged to the organization mentioned in the article. The undersigned laughingly answered that if such trashy publications as Sucesos were believed by anyone "of course he belonged to that organization." LOGINOV laughed and made a few more noises about how Sucesos obtained the undersigned's name. The latter replied that his name was probably selected at random from stolen pages of the Embassy directory or other such document. He added that if LOGINOV had wanted his phone number he would have been glad to have given it to him rather than see it appear in Sucesos.

e. The discussion the undersigned had with LOGINOV in Guadalajara about the KGB was apparently not forgotten by the Soviet, for the latter pulled out of his purse a copy of the stamp commemorating some KGB anniversary that the undersigned had mentioned to him. The undersigned has no idea of the reasons for this gesture. One of the topics which seems to embarrass LOGINOV the most is the number of visas he signs at the Soviet Embassy. Whenever LOGINOV gets a little too pointed in his provocations, the undersigned raises this subject, with LOGINOV invariably giving a little laugh and no answer.

f. LOGINOV indicated that he was aware that the undersigned had met with Jiri SVESTKA at the time of the Soviet intervention in Czechoslovakia and asked for his opinion of SVESTKA. The undersigned made no bones about the fact that he had a long lunch with the Czech. He said he had found him to be "muy de la izquierda," adding that unfortunately SVESTKA belonged to the very small minority of his country which had welcomed Soviet intervention. The undersigned predicted that the Soviets would have considerable trouble with Czechoslovakia and pointed out that this serious error had tarnished the cause of the Soviet Union. He said, for example, that the Soviet intervention was very unpopular in Mexico. This seemed to draw a little blood from LOGINOV, as he abruptly interrupted the undersigned and asked, "Where is it popular?"

CONTACT REPORT:

SUBJECT: LIROBBINS/1 and 2.

DATE OF MEETING: 15 October 1968

1. The undersigned met with LIROBBINS/1 and 2 at their apartment on 15 October from 1600 to 1730 hours. The LIROBBINS were informed that REIDEMANN would be out of the country for the next two weeks and, accordingly, were requested to contact [illegible] should they obtain information which they deem perishable and of urgency. The ROBBINS will contact [illegible] either at [illegible] the Station or at home via telephone. A supplementary report on the activities of Pearl GONZALEZ is attached to this Contact Report as a Memorandum for the Record (separate).

2. LIROBBIN/2 reported that on 2 October Aleksandr PRIKHODKO (P-2270) delivered an invitation to the LIROBBINS to attend a reception at the Soviet Embassy for the Soviet Olympic team. PRIKHODKO did not come in and visit with the LIROBBINS but merely made out an invitation for the LIROBBINS to attend. Both the LIROBBINS attended the function arriving at approximately 1930 and departing about 2130. The reception was rather poorly organized and there were few people in attendance from the Mexico City community. The LIROBBINS stated that they were the only American journalists and recognized no other guests with the exception of a Mexican movie star/director, Amilio FERNANDEZ ("El Indo") and wife. During the reception, LIROBBIN/2 saw SARATOV (P-13125) who approached the LIROBBINS and apologized for the fact that he had not been able to hold his party. SARATOV said that he had been extremely busy with the Olympics which occasioned him to go out to the airport every day as well as doing the work of others who he implied had been shirking their duties. SARATOV repeated his regret that he had not been able to organize the promised party, but assured the LIROBBINS that as soon as the Olympics were over he would invite the LIROBBINS (and others) to a special party. The LIROBBINS noted that SUCHEV (P-11113) was not in attendance at this reception. The LIROBBINS also passed a few light remarks with LOGINOV (P-11712) regarding the [illegible] reception and the Olympics. L/1 noted that LOGINOV spoke to them in fluent English although he had previously denied to L/1 and L/2 that he spoke or understood English.

THE NEWS
Balderas 87
Mexico, D.F.

Dear Loyd Rosenfield of the SIDELINES Dept.;

My father was a government official in Greece - We are now here in Mexico. We know for sure that the C.I.A. of the United States engineered the military take-over of the Greek government and the errection of the present police state that exists there.

In Peru, I suspect a similar course of events has taken place.

We would like to stay here in Mexico: Do you think that the militarists of Mexico are planning to take over the government of Mexico? Doesn't it make sense that if the militarists are able to create a state of civil disorder that they will be granted more power, to the extent that they will become the acting government of Mexico, like the governments which have recently come into being in Greece and Peru? Couldn't the terrorist groups like the "Murro" and the so-called "Communists" be in actuality employees of the militarist institutions of this country whose purpose it is to frustrate a situation which only the military-police state could control?

And lastly, I know you have no way of responding to this last question but I will ask it anyway: Don't you think that the American C.I.A. is at least as influential here in Mexico and Latin America as it has been in my country?

Excuse me for not signing my name. Respectfully yours, LILYRIC (Y-2844) 24 Sept 68 - Two unidentified Mexicans entered the Soviet Embassy at 1025. They were seen talking to LOGINOV, and left at 1038.

1. It has come to our attention that Julio PLATAS Urbina, an agent of the Soviet KGB, is presently living in Bacobampo, Sonora. PLATAS has been known to us since 1961, when he was in contact with Aleksander BROVKIN, a KGB officer who was then and still is attached to the Soviet Embassy in Mexico City as a Third Secretary. In 1965, PLATAS was in contact with Valentin LOGINOV, a KGB officer who is a Third Secretary and Consul of the Soviet Embassy in Mexico.

2. The exact nature of PLATAS's KGB assignments is unknown to us, but he is believed to be a courier, carrying both money and drugs in behalf of the KGB. His courier duties are also believed to have brought him in contact with the Communist Party of Mexico.

3. PLATAS is believed to have traveled considerably throughout Latin America, and is known to have been in Argentina and Great Britain in 1967. According to our information, he has just received a new assignment, a courier mission which may begin as early as 1 August 1968.

4. We would appreciate receiving the results of your interrogation of PLATAS particularly since he is alleged to have knowledge of Soviet attempts to recruit personnel of the U.S. Embassy in Mexico.

Manuscripts of "General" Norton SLONE

Just after 5:00 PM last Friday, Sr. Higinio Gómez Jr., previously unknown to me but whose calling card indicates that he is employed by the Weyerhauser Paper Company here, brought to the Protection and Welfare Office a blue canvas bag containing two book-length manuscripts. Sr. Gómez stated that he had found the bag containing the manuscripts in the elevator of the office building in which he works, at Reforma No. 308, opposite the Embassy. He said that he was ignorant as to the identity of their author, as well as who it might have been who had left them in the elevator. He had examined them briefly, he said, and then decided that they ought immediately to be brought to the Embassy.

The cardboard cover sheets of both manuscripts identified the author as Norton Slone, and one of these showed his address to be "General" Norton Slone, c/o Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, Chief of the F.B.I., Pa. Ave. at 9th Street, N.W., Washington, D. C. The books were entitled "Swords along the Shore," and "Komotan - Folklore of the Incas." A cursory examination of the former revealed a clumsy hate theme, charging minority groups in the United States with selling out to the communists. The latter was apparently a romantic treatment in novel form of Pizarro's conquest of Peru.

CONTACT REPORT

SUBJECT: RESABER P-8777

DATE OF MEETING: 3 June 1968

1. I met Subject in his room at the Del Paseo from 1430 to 1615. The next meeting will be arranged by telephone.

2. LOGINOV. Not hearing from LOGINOV after their telephone conversation on 10 May, Subject called him on 30 or 31 May. Subject told LOGINOV he couldn't remember who was supposed to call whom about setting a date for the LOGINOVS' visit to Subject's home, and he just wanted to check to see that they hadn't gotten their signal crossed. LOGINOV said that it wasn't that he was waiting for Subject to call, but simply that a free date hadn't opened up yet. LOGINOV said that it didn't look as though~~t~~ he was going to be able to get to Subject's home for the next couple of weeks, but that he ~~be~~ definitely wanted to take Subject up on his invitation and would call him just as soon as he definitely knew he would have a free Saturday or Sunday when he could come.

3. I instructed Subject to leave the initiative for the next contact to LOGINOV.

4. Pedro DALMA. DALMA is the general manager of "MEXAMA" in Cuernavaca. The firm deals in citric acid. To the best of Subject's knowledge, DALMA was born in Hungary and came to Mexico about 10 or 15 years ago. He is a member of the "Industrial Club" in Cuernavaca, and Subject occasionally meets him there. Subject said that DALMA has tried to be friendly with him for several years and has many times invited Subject and his wife to his home. Subject said he has never liked DALMA, however, and has always found a way out of the invitations. One reason he didn't like DALMA, Subject said, was that he always seemed to have something good to say about Communist Hungary. About nine months ago, DALMA took a trip to Hungary, and whenever Subject has seen him since then, he has made a point of telling Subject how good conditions are in Hungary and how happy everyone is there. Subject said he thought we should therefore have the fellow's name in our files.

5. BESABER'S PERSONAL LIFE. In late March, Subject told me about a woman he had met on a business trip to New York earlier in the month. Her name is Velia *SANCHEZ Belmont, Mexican citizen, age approximately 33. Subject happened to sit next to her on the flight to New York, struck up a conversation, and ultimately spent a few nights with her in New York.

6. Subject told me that Velia was once married to an American singer, but had been divorced and subsequently become the mistress of Julian *RODRIGUEZ Adame, a former Mexican Secretary of Agriculture (under LOPEZ Mateos) and currently the President of the International Cotton Association. Subject said that through RODRIGUEZ Adame, Velia had gotten to know many of the top people in the PRI and had become particularly friendly with the wife of Alfonso *MARTINEZ Dominguez, the new head of the PRI. Subject said that Velia had become fairly wealthy as the result of her influential contacts and now owned an apartment in New York City, a house in Mexico City, and a second house in Acapulco, where she also had a sizable piece of undeveloped land. Subject described Velia as both extremely intelligent and a tremendous sexual partner, and speculated that because of her excellent political contacts, she might from time to time be able to provide some interesting information on the Mexican political scene.

7. I was in Acapulco on 6 and 7 April, and at Subject's invitation spent the afternoon of 7 April with him and Velia on the beach at the Pierre Marques Hotel. Subject introduced me (by phony name) as a business contact from the States, and I had the opportunity to talk with Velia at intervals throughout the afternoon. As Subject told me, she is attractive, well-built, intelligent, polished, very sharp, and evidently very shrewd. She also speaks very good English. She told me she had just returned two days ago from a shopping trip to New York with the wife of MARTINEZ Dominguez. She said the señora is really just a country woman and had asked her to go with her to New York to help her pick out a new wardrobe, which she needed for her new role as the wife of the leader of the PRI. We later drove to Velia's house for a drink, and from its size and location (overlooking the bay between the zocalo and the Caleta Hotel, it would indeed appear she had a considerable amount of money.

8. On 3 June, Subject told me that his romance with Velia had gotten out of hand, as she was extremely demanding and possessive and wanted him to divorce his wife and marry her. The problem, Subject said, was that he felt just strongly enough about her that he couldn't just dismiss the idea. Moreover, his wife had learned about Velia, and although she was accustomed to Subject's philandering, she recognized that Velia was a little different from Subject's other girl friends and was extremely upset. Subject asked my opinion and advice, and for what it was worth, I told him I thought he was crazy to even think of breaking up his family and his marriage with a woman whom he claimed to still love and who was tolerant to the point that Subject was able to have both her and all the routine extra-curricular activity he wanted at the same time. I pointed out that this certainly wouldn't be the case with Velia, who would probably poison him if he even looked at another woman. After batting this around for some time, Subject finally said he agreed with me and that if he couldn't simply keep Velia on the string, he'd have no choice but to drop her. This is hardly to say, however, that this is what Subject will do, and I suspect Velia will continue to disrupt Subject's personal life for some time to come.

9. As for our possible use of Velia--and she does seem to have the credentials to be one of the great female spies--there are clearly two considerations which should be mentioned. First, any attempt to use Subject in her exploitation (at least at this point) would further complicate his relations with her and presumably further disrupt his personal life. Second, based on what I know about her from Subject and from personal contact, I am afraid that if we did succeed in recruiting her for whatever purpose, we would sooner or later find that we had a genuine Mexican tigra by the tail.

CONTACT REPORT

SUBJECT: LIOVAL-1 P-8903

DATE OF MEETING: 31 May 1968

1. COIGNE and I met with Subject at the Dairy Queen on San Antonio from 1600 to 1635 hours. Subject will call if anything of interest develops during COIGNE's home leave, and I will meet him at the Dairy Queen at the time specified over the phone.

2. Subject said he had a good friend by the name of Donald BRIGGS who was planning to visit him in Mexico for about three weeks beginning the first or second week of June. BRIGGS, according to Subject, teaches Spanish at Florida State and speaks some Russian. Subject said he mentioned BRIGGS's upcoming visit and the fact BRIGGS knows some Russian to VIDIELLA at class on 27 May. VIDIELLA perked up at this and suggested that he, Subject, BRIGGS , and his (VIDIELLA's) good friend Valentin (LOGINOV)--as a group of Russian speakers--all get together for an evening. VIDIELLA suggested that they go to his Frendh girl friend's apartment and have a blast replete with girls and booze. VIDIELLA then asked if Subject thought BRIGGS would mind if a Soviet Embassy official came along. Subject said he was sure BRIGGS wouldn't mind, and they agreed to make definite plans at a later date.

3. Subject said that VIDIELLA mentioned that his mother had taught Spanish to Valentin in Moscow.

MEMORANDUM FOR: The Record

VIA : Chief, SB
Chief of Station

SUBJECT : Consular Corps Visit to Guadalajara, 17 and 18 May 1968

1. Among the 30 odd members of the Mexico City Consular Association who traveled to Guadalajara for a semiofficial visit to that city on 17 and 18 May 1968 were Valentin Sergeyevich LOGINOV and Yuriy CHERNYSH, representing the Soviets; Jiri SVESTKA, representing the Czechs; and Enrique CICARD Labrada and Lino SALAZAR Chia, representing the Cubans. SALAZAR was a surprise to everybody since he is stationed in Veracruz. It must be said, however, that at least one other representative of the Veracruz Consular Association (a Guatemalan or Dominican) also traveled with the group. Travel to and from Guadalajara was by train, giving ample opportunity for a variety of conversations. The undersigned also found himself seated on several occasions next to the Soviets and the Cubans, with whom he also conversed while visiting points of interest listed in the official program of the visit.

2. CICARD certainly made an effort to be as sociable as possible in his dealings with the undersigned. By the end of the visit, as a matter of fact, and in spite of several rather pointed discussions, CICARD appeared to have become the undersigned's good friend, walking about with his arm around the undersigned's shoulder and calling him by his first name. The undersigned found CICARD far more reasonable than his colleague, SALAZAR, and he learned that he could have a fairly frank discussion with him without CICARD's showing irritation or anger. This was important since on several occasions the undersigned made the Soviets laugh at the expense of the Cubans. While on an official visit to the Guadalajara cardinal, in a receiving room adjacent to the cathedral the undersigned asked CICARD what his religion was. CICARD said he was a Communist. The undersigned then pointed out that for a Communist country, Cuba certainly got along splendidly with the Vatican, to the point where it had an Ambassador to the Vatican and had celebrated some months ago some distinction accorded by the Pope to the Papal Nuncio in Havana by lighting up the churches at government expense. CICARD readily admitted that there were many "good Communists" in Cuba who were also good Catholics, even, he said, among people fairly high up in the government. He, CICARD, was a dedicated revolutionary, however, who did not give any part of his loyalty to the regime to any type of religion. CICARD went on to emphasize that the close CASTRO relations with the Vatican were a demonstration of the democratic nature of Fidel's regime. On several instances the undersigned joked about Raul CASTRO's recent speech which brought about the nationalization of every last small enterprise and further rationing in Cuba of such things as beer and soft drinks. On one occasion he also told CICARD that the latter's country was at the end of its rope economically, with hard currency reserves at an all-time low since the CASTRO revolution. CICARD agreed that the "economic situation of his country was bad," particularly as far as hard currency reserves were concerned. He naturally attributed this in part to the so-called American blockade and in other part to the efforts that had previously been made by the government to buy as much machinery as possible to go on with its plan of industrial expansion. When the undersigned mentioned shortages of meat, fruit, et cetera, CICARD readily admitted these were being sold to purchase badly needed equipment. As far as the sugar crop was concerned, he also admitted that the one of this year would not match that of last year, but he would not agree that it would not go over 5,000,000 tons. He and his colleague, however, repeated time and again that they were convinced, as Fidel has promised them, that by 1970 Cuba would have a 10,000,000 ton harvest of sugar. As a matter of fact, the date 1970 came up in the conversation about other matters, as if that date were that from which Cuba would have no more economic problems. Someone in the group mentioned to CICARD that there had been rumors in the press of rapprochement between Cuba and the United States. CICARD said he did not think so because, he said, relations between the two countries were at present "very bad." The undersigned jokingly asked CICARD about Cyrus EATON's visit and the purpose of it. All CICARD would say was that EATON had a meeting with Fidel (photographs of EATON and CASTRO appeared in the local newspapers). As to the reason for the trip, CICARD rather sarcastically pointed out that that was up to the Ministry of Information and claimed to know nothing about it. On the return trip to Mexico City CICARD broached the topic of the eight beatniks who had recently been arrested by the Mexican police as they were about to board the plane for Cuba and deported to the United States. The undersigned kept a straight face throughout this and told him he knew nothing about it. CICARD protested that news of the arrests and deportation had reached the press. The undersigned told him that he had seen nothing of the sort. CICARD then went on to blame the incident on the American Embassy, which, he said, was behind the arrests and deportation. The undersigned pointed out that the Embassy had other things to do than to concern itself with, according to CICARD's own description, beatnik-type students. This was, in any case, a Mexican matter and it was not surprising that the people were arrested and deported, as the Mexicans had arrested and deported many other beatniks of all nationalities. During a rather heated exchange the previous night in which Yuriy S. CHERNYSH and Jiri SVESTKA were also present, CICARD boasted that Puerto Rico would soon find its freedom. The undersigned really opened up on him and blandly told him that the United States had held a referendum in Puerto Rico, during which it had offered statehood or independence, but the Puerto Ricans preferred to maintain the status which they now enjoy with the United States. He also told CICARD that the two or three bombs that had blown up on the island in recent months and were no doubt the work of the Cubans were probably one of the worst pieces of stupidity that the regime had committed. The undersigned went on to blast CICARD in front of his Communist friends for the policy of aggression pursued by Cuba in Latin America, even against the advice of the Soviets and other foreign Communists. He said he could not imagine how Cuba could continue with such a program after the rout it suffered in Bolivia and Peru. CHERNYSH and SVESTKA, who were listening to this, remained silent during this exchange. CICARD, with a sarcastic laugh, said that Bolivia and Peru were one thing, but what about Colombia, Venezuela, and Guatemala? The undersigned told him that these so-called revolutionary movements had badly suffered in the last few months. The control the Cubans claimed to exercise over these movements was also doubtful, as some of these movements had openly criticized the Cubans. The previous day during a visit to the Center for International Friendship in Guadalajara, CICARD also boasted of the moral necessity for the Cubans to help free Latin Americans from the drudge of misery and oppression. When the undersigned jokingly asked whether this included Mexico, CICARD said that the Cubans had to watch themselves in that country and would do nothing there. The undersigned, by way of conclusion, warned him that any effort in Mexico was doomed, as the Cubans would get nowhere in that country even if they tried. At another point of the visit both CICARD and SALAZAR denied vehemently that Cuba had supported any opposition movement in Mexico or that it had backed guerrilla movements in Guerrero and elsewhere. Both CICARD and SALAZAR several times joked in the presence of their Soviet friends that any American aggression against Cuba would probably mean Russian reprisals against the United States, but that Cuba in any case was ready for any alternative. While at the Hilton Hotel, where the group stayed in Guadalajara, the undersigned, who was looking out a window overlooking the garden in the back of the hotel where the pool is, spotted CICARD, SALAZAR, and CHERNYSH late on the evening of 18 May, just prior to leaving for the railroad station, engaged in an animated conversation. While CICARD looked over his shoulder, SALAZAR scribbled something on the paper which he handed CHERNYSH. The same day, about half an hour before going to the Station, Reynaldo CEPEDA Hernandez and his wife arrived at the Hilton, where they were eventually introduced to the undersigned by CICARD as "our First Secretary." The undersigned later asked CICARD what CEPEDA was doing there since he was not part of the group and since the Cubans have no consulate in Guadalajara. With a broad smile CICARD said he was on "vacation." At one point of the visit, the bus used by the group left without the undersigned, the Cubans, and the representative of Ecuador and his wife. It was agreed to proceed to the banquet which was to be held at Chapala, some 55 kilometers away, by taxi, if the taxi could not first locate the bus in the city. The bus was not located, and the little group proceeded to Chapala, where to the undersigned's amazement CICARD paid for the entire taxi trip and refused money from the others.

3. Lino SALAZAR is undoubtedly one of the most uncouth, vulgar, and all-around uneducated men the undersigned has ever met. A light mulatto, SALAZAR speaks with such a heavy

Negro-type accent that it is almost impossible to understand him. As a matter of fact, both LOGINOV and CHERNYSH told the undersigned that the latter seemed to understand SALAZAR far better than they did. At every possible moment he could squeeze in some Communist propaganda SALAZAR threw in a CASTROist tirade, whether it was relevant to the conversation and the moment or not. He tried to embarrass the wife of the South Korean representative who was with the group by asking her whether every Korean woman had a wart over her lip as she did. Fortunately, the wife of the Korean representative speaks very little Spanish and hardly any English, and the undersigned just would not translate. He also, in her presence, launched into a tirade about South Korea, which the undersigned cut off by telling him that he did not know what he was talking about and that North Korea was the bottom of the barrel as far as nations were concerned. SALAZAR said that in Veracruz the Americans avoided him, but that this was all right with him since he had no business with them. He boasted that he was at the battle of the Bay of Pigs, which, he said, was one of the most tremendous battles of modern times. Since the Russians were listening to this the undersigned turned towards them and asked how many men had died in Stalingrad. LOGINOV said about a million and a half. The undersigned then turned to SALAZAR to say that if a thousand men had been hurt at the Bay of Pigs he would be very surprised. Both SALAZAR and CICARD on several occasions blasted Cuban exiles in the United States, saying that they were men without honor and social responsibility who were afraid to work. The undersigned maintained that on the contrary the exiles, who arrived without a dime, had given a very good accounting of themselves in the work department, as most of them had started new and successful commercial enterprises in the United States. SALAZAR and CICARD said this might be so, but that in any case they had no courage, as if they did not agree with the CASTRO regime they should be in Cuba fighting it. SALAZAR has the manners of an arrogant dog, whistles at the table during dinner, uses obscene language in front of ladies, and, as pointed out above, never fails to give out with strong "patria o muerto" music. During the banquet at Chapala on 18 May SALAZAR, who had come with an expensive camera as did CICARD, took pictures of each member of the group so obviously that the undersigned walked up to him and asked him if he did not want his signature as well, to the great amusement of the Soviets [illegible] overheard this. LIRENO-1, incidentally, has pointed out in his reports that SALAZAR is extremely active in Veracruz and that he has the ear of someone important in the city council as well as others. The general commanding the area, who is a source of LIRENO-1, has been looking for a chance to have SALAZAR deported. This Section will see what it can do to oblige him.

4. There was no doubt from LOGINOV's statements to the undersigned that the Soviet had made at least some mental notes before he went on the trip about subjects he should raise with the undersigned. Vietnam, of course, was profusely discussed, but LOGINOV also wanted to know about the state of the election campaigns in the United States and about the March of the Poor on Washington. One afternoon that LOGINOV was with CHERNYSH, the undersigned told him that he could not imagine how the Soviets could favor the candidacy of Bobby KENNEDY, an aristocrat and millionnaire who had never worked with his hands and was liberally spending the family fortune to influence people's minds, when Hubert HUMPHREY, for example, was far more to the left in the American political spectrum and obviously had the support of the labor unions. No matter what the undersigned said, the Soviets found something good to say about KENNEDY, who appears to be the candidate the Soviet Union would most like to see as the next President. The two Soviets laughingly remarked that the undersigned's apparent dislike for KENNEDY might one day cost him his job. The undersigned said that fortunately the American Government was not at the mercy of the prevailing winds as were the governments of "other countries." The manner in which LOGINOV went about collecting his "information" was interesting and amusing. For example, on the way to Guadalajara, when the undersigned and LOGINOV were alone in the corridor of their coach, LOGINOV mentioned the armistice negotiations in Vietnam. The undersigned, as he has done many times in the past, emphasized that this opportunity to find an adequate peace should not be thrown away, as a backdown in negotiations might increase the tempo of the war to the point where a much larger conflict could result. LOGINOV agreed that no one, including his country, wanted such a conflict and indeed a maximum effort should be made to find peace in Vietnam. The undersigned reiterated that much depended on the Soviets, as the latter obviously had some influence over the North Vietnamese Government. He then said that peace was possible providing that two main conditions were met. At that point someone came by and interrupted the conversation for a good two or three minutes. Rather than renew the argument he could see LOGINOV wanted to develop, the undersigned started to talk about the cattle in the fields, Mexican agriculture, et cetera. LOGINOV listened to this for one or two minutes and then reminded the undersigned he had said something about conditions for the armistice. The undersigned said that the primary condition for peace was for North Vietnam to pull out all of its troops from South Vietnam. Before he could mention the second condition, someone again interrupted the conversation, handed the undersigned and LOGINOV drinks, and remained for a good five minutes. After his departure, the undersigned again talked about something else, but again LOGINOV, after one or two minutes, doggedly went back to the original discussion and wanted to know what the second condition was. The undersigned then told him that this condition was that really free elections be held in South Vietnam. About half an hour later, LOGINOV opened up on the March of the Poor, whereupon the undersigned referred him to a recent article in the U.S. News and World Report listing the salaries of various workers in the United States. Electricians, for example, are listed as making $7.50 an hour. In short, the undersigned pointed out, to be really poor in the United States takes a lot of doing, or rather, a lack of doing. He said he wished the United States could do as the Soviets do and send people without a desire to work or the will to assume responsibility to re-education camps in Siberia and elsewhere. LOGINOV confirmed, in fact, that that was what the Soviet government was doing. LOGINOV also touched upon the search for the assassin of Martin Luther KING, whereupon the undersigned told him that the United States lacked the regimentation of the Soviet Union and the heavy state controls over the population so that it was difficult at times to find a man in that nation of more than 200,000,000 people in one or two days. He also told LOGINOV that it remained to be seen who put the assassin up to his act. The undersigned, of course, mentioned that the assassination was an abominable deed, as KING was probably the most reasonable of the black leaders. He said that had the white extremists, as LOGINOV called them, been behind the assassination, it is probable that Stokeley CARMICHAEL or Rap BROWN would have been shot. During the ride on the bus and out of the clear blue, LOGINOV asked the undersigned whether he had met J. Edgar HOOVER. The undersigned said he had not. LOGINOV then said that he was a bachelor. The undersigned said that if he was it was probably because in his 40 years as head of the FBI he had had an awfully lot to do. The undersigned then pointed out that the FBI was a thoroughly respected organization in the United States which had the support of the people. LOGINOV then switched to the CIA, but the undersigned told him that unlike the FBI, on which quite a bit was known to the American people, very little filtered out about the CIA. LOGINOV made one more crack about the periodic changes at the helm of the CIA and dropped the subject. A somewhat similar conversation occurred a little later between the undersigned, LOGINOV, and CHERNYSH when unexpectedly LOGINOV mentioned something about the KGB and its dedication to the protection of the Soviet people and the Constitution. The undersigned asked LOGINOV for a sample of the stamp commemorating the 50th anniversary of the KGB. Neither CHERNYSH nor LOGINOV seemed to know that such a stamp existed but launched into praise of the service which assured the protection of the Soviet people with such a light hand. The undersigned returned that the KGB was an organization with a terrible reputation overseas, where, contrary to what the Soviets had just told him, they appeared to maintain numerous stations. LOGINOV then pointed out that the United States police did not have a light hand and, as he put it, cracked heads any time they had a chance. The undersigned said that, on the contrary, when a firm hand had to be used, the police had a very bad time of it during everyday life, as recent decisions of the Supreme Court made law enforcement a very difficult business because of the emphasis given by the Court to the respect and protection of human rights. Surprisingly enough, neither the Soviets, nor the Czechs, nor the Cubans had much to say about recent race riots in the United States other than to confirm for themselves that quite a lot of damage had been done. The undersigned had the opportunity to talk to LOGINOV alone about the recent speech of Raul CASTRO and the following nationalization of businesses and restrictions imposed on the Cuban people. LOGINOV, who, incidentally, made no bones about the fact that his country is much opposed to CASTRO's policy of expansion of terrorist activities in Latin America, said that the complete nationalization of private business in Cuba was an action with which he "did not agree." He said that the Cuban Communist state was a young one and on occasion claimed to know more than those who have been purifying Communism for 50 years and more. The undersigned joked about the fact that the Soviet Union would have to give the Cubans petroleum free if the sugar crop this year was as bad as it appeared to be. LOGINOV had a good chuckle over this but did not comment.

3. The undersigned, who has already had the feeling that Jiri SVESTKA apes the Soviets, copies their line, and mimics their comportment, had confirmation of all this during the trip. SVESTKA was one of the first to raise the topic of Vietnam and pour oil over the fire. During dinner in the dining car on the way to Guadalajara, where he sat with the undersigned and the two Soviets, the topic of the Red army came up. The undersigned, who had previously told the Russians that he served for a brief time with that army, said that he had great admiration for the military feats of the Russians. This led SVESTKA to say that the Red army was never beaten. The undersigned then gave SVESTKA a short refresher course in what had happened in Warsaw in 1920 or 1921, when a Franco-Prussian army led by Gen. Maxime WEYGAND and Gen. Jozef PILSUDSKI beat an invading Soviet army, which had, among other things, Joseph STALIN as its commissar. SVESTKA tried to dispute the fact that this took place, whereupon the undersigned offered to buy him a history book. That seemed to prevent SVESTKA from making any other expeditions into history during the remainder of the trip. Most of the discussions with the Czech, Soviets, and Cubans were on extremely friendly terms, in spite of their pointedness at times. During the night of 18 May, during the train trip back to Mexico City, a particularly heated discussion took place in a compartment where CHERNYSH, SVESTKA, and CICARD were present. This discussion will be reviewed in the next paragraph. Suffice it to say that at one point SVESTKA intervened in the defense of CHERNYSH to say something about how indebted Czechoslovakia was to the Soviets. The undersigned then told him that if it had not been the decision of President Franklin D. ROOSEVELT, at the urging, apparently, of STALIN, to stop the advance of the United States army into Czechoslovakia to allow the Russians to liberate Prague, the armistice would not have found Soviet troops occupying Czechoslovakia, and "things might have been completely different for the Czech nation." When SVESTKA claimed to be bewildered by this statement, the undersigned even more blandly asked him if he meant to say that Czechoslovakia would have become a Communist power had the Soviet armies not occupied the country by the end of the War. SVESTKA said that there was no doubt about this, that the coming of the Communist regime in Czechoslovakia had been inevitable because of the historical and social background of the Czechs. The undersigned expressed horror at a statement like this, which did not take into consideration the fact that such anti-Communists as Jan MASARYK and Eduard BENES were the fathers of the Czech state. SVESTKA then went on to say that indeed neither MASARYK nor BENES had been Communist, but that neither had any deep knowledge of the inborn desires of the Czech people. The undersigned told him that this was enough to make both MASARYK and BENES turn over in their graves. He pointed out that there had been a violent exchange, according to the Mexican press, between the Czech and Soviet papers over MASARYK, with the Russians saying that MASARYK had participated in an attempt to kill Nikolai LENIN. CHERNYSH said that this was a pack of lies, that he had reviewed the Soviet press for that period and found nothing about MASARYK. This was quickly endorsed by SVESTKA. When the undersigned once more stated his belief that people who had known better would take the first opportunity to overthrow Communism, both CHERNYSH and SVESTKA started speaking at the same time. The undersigned pointed out that the Russian people had never known anything other than a curb on personal freedom and very strong central government, but the Czechs, the Poles, the Hungarians, and others had known differently. Such people were thirsty for personal freedoms and direct control over their destiny. When CHERNYSH said he doubted this, the undersigned reminded him that it was Russian tanks that had crushed the students and workers' revolt in Hungary in 1956. He also pointed to the recent quiet but radical revolution which had taken place in Czechoslovakia, saying that, for example, the day after the right to strike had been re-established practically all workers struck to protest 20 years of mismanagement, poor housing, and lack of freedom. From that point on SVESTKA remained silent, apparently having been shaken up. The undersigned allowed himself to think that in several years at least the Czechs, like the Rumanians before them, would be governing themselves without having first to check with Moscow. This discussion ended about 1:30 in the morning. At 9:00 the undersigned saw LOGINOV, with whom he had a chat about various things. He inquired about SVESTKA. LOGINOV said he had briefly seen him on his way to the dining car, but commented that SVESTKA looked mighty unhappy about something. It was obvious to the undersigned that, as mentioned above, the previous night's discussion had really shaken up the Czech, who was worrying about how things would turn out in Czechoslovakia and about his future. SVESTKA, as a matter of fact, mentioned to the undersigned when he saw him a few minutes later that he had felt that part of the previous night's discussion had been conducted in what he phrased as a rather cool atmosphere. This feeling was obviously not shared by CHERNYSH, despite the heat of the discussion, who warmly greeted the undersigned the next morning, and unless the undersigned is very much mistaken, appeared to have a sort of liking for him.

8. The undersigned finds CHERNYSH a fairly easy man to talk to. Not that CHERNYSH is not a dedicated Communist, but he seems to enjoy a good discussion, probably because he finds this a good opportunity to pass on typical Communist views. Before the discussion the night of 18 May mentioned above, during which CHERNYSH was one of the main participants, the Ukrainian and the undersigned had previously discussed such things as Western-style elections and the right to strike. On both topics CHERNYSH obviously was not on the same wave length as the undersigned. He appeared to believe his statements to the effect that a strike was unnecessary in a society dedicated to the well-being of the workers. It would only cripple an economy struggling hard to meet local demands. On the subject of elections CHERNYSH was even further away from the Western view. He pointed out that some Americans, and perhaps the undersigned, did not have any particular liking for any of the candidates for presidential elections. This made the element of choice a very marginal benefit, if benefit it was. The picking of a president and a political leader inside the government where these men could be thoroughly tested and screened was a much better prospect. The undersigned naturally explained at length that, according to the old cliche, "variety is the spice of life," and that choice is a born right. The undersigned said that he would never be able to live in a place where he could not pick his close friends, his family companions, or the people scheduled to represent him in the republic. That seemed to make no dent in all of CHERNYSH's arguments. The undersigned scored a little more during the previously mentioned discussion during the night of 18 May. He then had a better chance to compare the American Constitution with the Soviet one, underscoring the elements of centralism and curbs on personal choice. The discussion of the role of the Russians in World War II permitted his question of whether the Russians had fought for their country or for their regime. The undersigned told CHERNYSH that his contact with Soviet soldiers during the War had left no doubt in his mind that the latter had fought for their country and families first, and much later to back up their regime. Both SVESTKA and CHERNYSH naturally argued with this view, particularly SVESTKA, who at times can be more pro-Soviet than the Soviets. As pointed out above, CHERNYSH seems to like the undersigned's company, and the farewell between him and the undersigned at the station in Mexico City appeared to be particularly warm. This, of course, is not viewed by the Cubans or SVESTKA with a particularly good eye.

MEMORANDUM FOR: The Record

VIA : Chief, SB
Chief of Station

SUBJECT : Celebration of the Czech National Day, 9 May

1. The celebration of the Czech national day on 9 May was held at the residence of the Czech Ambassador, Karel HANUS, in Polanco, where the undersigned estimated that the crowd numbered at least 150 people. The only other Americans present were Mr. Wallace W. STUART, head of the Political Section, and Mr. David N. WIESLEY, Honorary Consul of Iceland. The undersigned was a little bit surprised to see Rodolphe BABOUN, the new Haitian Acting Ambassador, in attendance with a colored Haitian. BABOUN, as a matter of fact, spoke briefly to the Cuban Ambassador, Joaquin HERNANDEZ Armas.

2. The undersigned had several little discussions with Jiri SVESTKA, Czech Consul and known intelligence officer. When he casually reminded SVESTKA that Czechoslovakia was an industrial power before World War I and that Czech products flooded Western Europe, SVESTKA sharply commented that his country was still an industrial power. When the undersigned mentioned that MASARYK was very popular in the United States, SVESTKA countered that that was no doubt because he had lived as an exile in the United States. SVESTKA cut short a remark by the undersigned about the effort currently being made to throw light on MASARYK's death by saying, "There is no doubt that he committed suicide." SVESTKA showed himself on this occasion a rival of LOGINOV as far as provocations are concerned. After the undersigned answered comments on the Negro problem and forthcoming urban terrorism and guerrilla warfare in the United States, SVESTKA mentioned the "overt letter" to the American Ambassador which appeared in various local newspapers. He hinted that the incident "described" in the open letter was not only a blunder on the part of Ambassador FREEMAN, but also indicative of the superiority complex of the United States. At one point, when Valentin LOGINOV had joined in the discussion, the undersigned retorted that the man who had written the article was a fourth-class writer without a dime who somehow had found the thousands of pesos necessary to place his editorial. When the Czech and the Russian laughed, the undersigned continued that if the Soviet Union wanted to give money to the Mexican Communist Party to engage in such shenanigans to amuse the local members of socialist countries, it was fine with the Americans, as this is just about all it could hope to achieve. SVESTKA and LOGINOV naturally denied that their countries had anything to do with the Mexican Communist Party, not to speak of the overt letter on the Ambassador. The undersigned, tongue in cheek, then pointed out that he was glad to tell them for their information that a Communist Party did exist in Mexico. Perhaps the most interesting reaction of SVESTKA came towards the end of the party just before the undersigned left. During a discussion which included SVESTKA, LOGINOV, one of the Soviet military attaches (a tall colonel with white hair), another Russian, and a youngish, short, and chubby member of the Mexican Foreign Ministry the undersigned expressed a thought that the two systems of government, the capitalist and the soviet, were gradually inching closer together. When SVESTKA allowed himself to doubt it with a nasty little laugh the undersigned naturally could not resist telling him to have a look at what was going on in his country. The reaction of SVESTKA was both immediate and noticeable. He sort of straightened out, jerked his head back, opened his mouth, dropped the ashes of his cigar on the floor, and obviously bit his tongue as he said nothing. From the above and from the fact that SVESTKA plans to drive to the next Consular Association meeting in Guadalajara with his Soviet colleagues, the undersigned feels that SVESTKA is not only a lackey of the ex-NOVOTNY regime, but very probably in the employ of the Soviet KGB. He seems to be inseparable from LOGINOV and has lately mouthed the same provocations in the same techniques, showing himself more and more aggressive, a thing which he was not a year ago.

3. Among other nasty little remarks made by LOGINOV, including references to the open letter against the Ambassador, the war in Vietnam, the Negro problem, the difficult financial position of the dollar, et cetera, was a reference to this Station. LOGINOV at one point asked the undersigned where he worked (not the first time he ~~has asked~~ this). The undersigned told him that he worked in the Consular General's Office. LOGINOV then said, "What about the fifth floor?" The undersigned told him that the fifth floor comprised both the Ambassador's Office and the Political Section. LOGINOV went on to say something like, "I know about the Ambassador, but what about the other offices, those occupied by WOFIRM?" The undersigned let that one go by as LOGINOV had obviously found it very funny. He proceeded to pay back the Soviets a little later by counting on his fingers the number of visas issued at the Soviet Embassy each year, the number of cultural exchanges handled by the Embassy staff, and "all the work done for trade promotion with Mexico." The undersigned felt that the Soviets probably issued some five visas a month, if that many, had about ten cultural exchanges a year, and had practically no trade with the Mexicans. What, then, he asked, were the 40 odd "diplomats" in the Soviet Embassy doing in Mexico? LOGINOV laughed, but he laughed green and promptly broke off this conversation.

4. The undersigned had no opportunity to talk at any length with Ambassador HANUS, who was very busy at the reception. The Ambassador, however, greeted him warmly and gave him a prolonged bear hug as he left. The undersigned had no talk with the Cubans except a few words which he exchanged with Sergio MARTINEZ, whom he had not met before.

CONTACT REPORT

SUBJECT: BESABER P-8777

DATE OF MEETING: 16 May 1968

1. I met Subject in his room in the Del Paseo Hotel from 1415-1630. The next meeting will be arranged by telephone.

2. LOGINOV. Subject reported that LOGINOV called him at his factory in Cuernavaca on Friday, 3 May. LOGINOV said he had some visitors who would like to buy a few things to take back with them to Russia and asked if it would be convenient if he brought them down to Subject's factory on Saturday afternoon, 4 May. Subject said fine and invited LOGINOV and the visitors to come back to his house for a few drinks after they finished shopping. LOGINOV gratefully accepted and said they would be there at 1330. (Per LIENVOY--see attached transcript--LOGINOV called BEWEEP on 3 May to ask for Subject's telephone number.)

3. LOGINOV arrived (in 19 DA, a dark blue Chevy) at the factory at 1345 with three other persons:

(a) A big, fat, plain, peasant-looking woman by the name of "IGOROVA," "IGANOVA," or something similar. LOGINOV introduced her as a commercial representative, but did not elaborate.

(b) A second Russian woman whose name Subject couldn't remember. She looked to be 33-35 years old and wore glasses. LOGINOV did not mention her profession, and she seemed simply to be a friend of the first woman.

(c) The son of one of the above two women. He appeared to be about 12 years old.

4. LOGINOV and his three companions shopped for about an hour while Subject worked in his office, and in the end bought 450-500 pesos worth of merchandise (at wholesale prices, of course). Subject and the four Russians then left together, got into their respective cars, and drove to Subject's home with Subject leading the way. When they were driving into Subject's driveway, Subject, in view of his wife and two children and the four Russians, accidentally ran over and broke the back of one of the BESABERS' beloved dachshunds. Chaos reigned for the next ten minutes as Subject went into the house, got his pistol, and returned and shot the dog while the children screamed, Mrs. BESABER tried to suppress her own tears and shoo away the children at the same time, and the four Russians sat aghast in their car and watched. LOGINOV acted extremely sorry and did his best to console Mrs. BESABER and Subject. Mrs. BESABER recovered quickly, however, and soon had all the adults seated in the living room. Subject served the first round of drinks, and within a half hour everyone was at least reasonably relaxed again.

5. LOGINOV was the only one who did not take an alcoholic drink. He wore dark sunglasses all afternoon and explained that he had to stay away from liquor because he was taking antibiotics for an eye infection. Despite this ailment and inability to take a drink, LOGINOV was nevertheless more sociable and friendly than Subject had ever seen him. He also struck Subject as being more relaxed than in the past. He brought the BESABERS two bottles of vodka and two cans of caviar, asked why Subject hadn't called or visited him at the Embassy, addressed Subject only as "tu" (where he had formerly mixed "tus" and "usteds" with Subject), enthusiastically toured the BESABERS' new house, and patiently translated for the two Russian women, neither of whom spoke Spanish or English. The conversation was generally dull, however, and nothing even mildly controversial was discussed. The Russians finally left about 1700.

6. In the course of the conversation, Mrs. BESABER asked LOGINOV when they were ever going to get together to play tennis. (Mrs. BESABER had of course previously invited LOGINOV to play tennis with her sometime at the home of a retired American gentleman in Cuernavaca (i.e., Col. Lawrence HIGGINS) who was a good friend and who had an exceptionally good court.) LOGINOV replied that he still wanted very much to play, but that it was always a question of time for him. "Why didn't LOGINOV come down to Cuernavaca next Saturday morning (11 May)?" Subject interjected. He (LOGINOV) and Mrs. BESABER could play tennis in the morning while Subject was working, and then they could all spend the afternoon at home relaxing. LOGINOV replied that that sounded great, but asked what he was going to do with his wife and child. Mrs. BESABER answered that of course they expected him to bring Mrs. LOGINOV and the child with him. LOGINOV said that would be very nice and he'd like to accept the invitation right at that moment, but he was afraid that his schedule was such that he was going to have to hold off on a definite answer until later in the week. OK, said Subject, "will you call me, or shall I call you?" Well, replied LOGINOV, why didn't they leave it that if he didn't hear from Subject, he would call Subject, and vice versa. Subject agreed.

7. Subject said he waited until Friday morning, 10 May, to hear from LOGINOV, and when LOGINOV didn't call, he called LOGINOV (confirmed by LIENVOY). LOGINOV, according to Subject, said he was afraid he was not going to be able to make it, after all, because the Mayor of Moscow was visiting Mexico and he would be tied up with the Mayor on Saturday. Subject said he suggested that perhaps they could make it for the following Saturday, then. LOGINOV replied that he thought he might be able to make it then, but, again, he couldn't say for sure just then. "But anyway," LOGINOV added, "we're going to be seeing each other more often because we've (i.e., the Soviet Embassy) taken a house on Calle Umbolt (in Cuernavaca) for the summer, and I'll be coming down to Cuernavaca every weekend." Subject expressed pleasure at this and said that he'd expect to hear from LOGINOV sometime soon then. LOGINOV assured Subject he would.

8. BEWEEP. BEWEEP called Subject in Cuernavaca about 1400 on 10 May. He said he wanted to tell Subject that a Polish musical group was about to open at Bellas Artes and would be playing some of Subject's grandfather's music. (Subject's paternal grandfather was a pupil of Franz Liszt and, according to Subject, is generally regarded in Poland as the second greatest Polish composer next to Chopin.) BEWEEP asked if Subject was going to be in Mexico City the following week and if he'd have time to accompany BEWEEP to Bellas Artes for a performance. Subject said that unfortunately, he wouldn't be able to go, but suggested that

BEWEEP bring the musicians to his home in Cuernavaca for an afternoon. BEWEEP said he wasn't sure if they could work it into their schedule, but he'd check and let Subject know if they could come. (Neither Subject nor BEWEEP said anything about the "vacation trip" they discussed on 10 April.)

SUBJECT: (fnu) LAMBERT, British Subject

1. At 0945 hours 2 April 1968, Subject called for Valentin Sergeyevich LOGINOV and left a message that he was the person who was going to give LOGINOV English lessons. He also left his telephone number: 11-02-88. (This is listed in the reverse directory for Maya Internacional SA de CV; it does not appear however in the current telephone directory.)

2. At 1208 hours on 2 April, Sra. Cora (lnu) tells LOGINOV that the teacher she recommends for him is 21 years of age, studying for his doctorate in literature in Mexico, and prior to returning to England is willing to give lessons; he is presently giving classes for other PhD's.

3. At 1320 hours, LAMBERT tells LOGINOV that Sra. Cora told him to get in touch with LOGINOV regarding English lessons. LAMBERT would like to talk about it. LOGINOV agrees, but says he is very busy right now and will call LAMBERT at the end of the week to make arrangements.

CONTACT REPORT

SUBJECT : LIOVAL-1

DATE OF MEETING : 30 April 1968

1. Subject called me on 29 April and we agreed to meet at the restaurant "Bocana". The meeting lasted from 14:30 to 15:40. I advanced Subject 500 MN for his Russian lessons. Next meeting is at the Bocana at 13:45 on 17 May.

2. Subject reported that he had gone by the IICMR to inquire about Russian lessons but was totally unimpressed. He gave his name and talked to the Director of Courses whose name he didn't get. He will write up the details for the next meeting.

3. He then contacted VIDIELLA at the latter's Institute and invited him out to discuss Russian lessons. Since it wasn't a personal matter VIDIELLA suggested that they bring along a couple of the students. Odile MORISSET, a French teacher also came along. They went to Sanborn's cocktail lounge. While talking Sra. MORISSET (she is divorced) invited Subject to her home for a party and said he could spend the night with her if he came. She gave her address as, Paris 7, Apt. 5. Subject described her as ca. 40 years old. Later VIDIELLA told Subject that MORISSET will sleep with anybody and that he usually shacks up with her on Fridays.

4. Subject told VIDIELLA that he had gone to the IICMR but it looked poor. VIDIELLA agreed, saying the teachers are no good. He did not say that he is or was connected with the IICMR. VIDIELLA suggested that Subject take private lessons from him. Subject protested that he would need accreditation which he could use for further formal study. VIDIELLA said Subject could study with him and then take exams at the Institute which would give him a certificate for that level. He said the Director would be glad to do this. So they agreed. VIDIELLA will give Subject private classes at Subject's afternoon school twice a week from 19:00 to 20:00 on Mondays and Wednesdays. Price will be 50 MN per lesson. Subject paid him 400 MN in advance. The first lesson was on 29 April. Since 1 May is a holiday Subject will go to VIDIELLA's apt. He gave his address as Romero de Terreros 1153 apt. 1 (we had #922, apt. 1) and telephone 43-60-16.

5. In the presence of all VIDIELLA boasted about his great Soviet Friend, Valentino, the consul (this is obviously LOGINOV). The two students and MORISSET all seemed to know LOGINOV personally. One of the students asked VIDIELLA if he had been invited to the Soviet 1 May celebration. He said that he hadn't. He then asked Subject, if he knew any Soviets. Subject answered as casually as he could that he had known one casually with whom he used to go fishing and changed the subject. Subject didn't feel that VIDIELLA was fishing for information but I am not so sure.

6. I briefed Subject on what to look for in his lessons with VIDIELLA, to take short notes, and to have a written report for our next meeting.

SUBJECT: Soviet Cultivation of British Subjects

1. It has come to our attention that the Soviets, specifically KGB officers, have been looking around for English language instructors. One KGB officer, Valentin Sergeyevich LOGINOV, is notorious for using this tactic to assess contacts who may be of use to him.

2. Among the persons in whom LOGINOV is reported to have shown interest are two British subjects:

a. A young student, (fnu) LAMBERT, who is studying for a doctorate in literature in Mexico and who prior to returning to Britain is giving English lessons.

b. Walter James PLUMB, Director of the Anglo-Mexican Institute.

3. It is suggested that you might wish to contact these individuals to determine if the Soviets are indeed cultivating them. I would appreciate receiving the results of such interviews.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

1. On the occasion of the visit of the local Consular Association to the "Home Fair" on 28 March the undersigned conversed on and off with Jiri SVESTKA (P-7111), Second Secretary of the Czechoslovak Embassy and known member of the Czech Intelligence Service. The undersigned asked SVESTKA what was going on in his country. The Czech launched into an explanation which sounded like a recitation. The essence of his comments was that when leaders have lost touch with the people, they should be replaced. The recent changes in Czechoslovakia would ensure more democracy for the people and would more closely represent their views and take care of their needs. Fifteen years in power, he said, is a long time for a leader. The undersigned pointed out that the recent changes in Czechoslovakia might not please "everybody", SVESTKA agreed that this was bound to happen, but that his country had the right to do what it wanted without worrying too much about the opinion of some of its neighbors. The undersigned then went one step further and pointed out that ULBRICH from East Germany for one seemed to be worried about possible repercussion of the Czech reforms on his regime. SVESTKA said he did not care what ULBRICH said or did and repeated that the Czechs are masters of their country. When the undersigned pointed out that the new president was not a member of the Communist Party but had headed a Czech Division that fought with the Russians SVESTKA agreed that this was a good choice that should please a lot of people. Throughout his talk with the undersigned, however, SVESTKA tried to play down the degree to which things are going to change in his country as a result of recent reforms.

2. Just to test SVESTKA a little further, the undersigned asked him what he thought of the U.S. elections. With a broad grin SVESTKA stated that Senator KENNEDY would undoubtedly be the next president. When the undersigned replied that he hoped not, SVESTKA said, "If I were an American I would vote for him." Valentin LOGINOV of the Soviet Embassy joined the conversation at this point. The two went on to say that KENNEDY was the only candidate for peace and social justice, that he had their moral support and sympathy (this given reports for an intel. report) etc. SVESTKA added that the war in Vietnam was good for the U.S. economy. The undersigned told him that the USSR manufactured more rockets than bathtubs and more machine guns than cars.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: Jorge ARIAS Buerba

1. Subject is a 26 year old Mexican citizen (although he looks to be in his 30's). He is a Spanish teacher at the Mexican-North American Institute and since the fall of 1967 has held a second job as the director of the Community Services Program at the American School. In April 1967 he married an American citizen from the Chicago area named Donna WEINTHALLER (phonetic). They live at Juanacatlan 15, which is just around the corner from the Soviet Embassy. Home phone is 15-28-49.

2. Subject was recommended as a Spanish tutor in August 1966 by Enrique GUTIERREZ Martinez (P-12667), who was then C/SB's Spanish tutor. GUTIERREZ was subsequently recruited by C/SB as a utility agent, but has since been dropped because he is related to other Station assets. On GUTIERREZ's recommendation, I began taking private Spanish lessons from Subject in August 1966. I found Subject an excellent teacher and continued taking lessons from him until December 1966. In March 1967, my wife and I had Subject as a teacher in Spanish courses we took at the Mexican-North American Institute. I have maintained intermittent social contact with Subject since March 1967, and my wife has become friendly with Subject's wife, having visited her at her apartment two or three times and having had her to our home during the day an equal number of times. I have also

Files: P-12671 P-117[illegible]

COPIES MADE

P-11712

204

kept informed to some extent about Subject through his younger brother, Javier ARIAS Buerba, from whom I have been taking Spanish lessons since July 1967.

3. Subject was a casual contact of Station officer Olivia C. RAGNITY in 1965 and 1966. Other than a file card noting this contact, there are no station traces on either Jorge or Javier ARIAS Buerba.

4. Subject and I from the beginning have had a very friendly and informal relationship. He is an intelligent person with a friendly, open personality and a good sense of humor. Politically, he is pro-American to the point that he magnifies our strengths and positive qualities and tends to minimize or overlook negative factors in our society. Subject knows I am with the Political Section of the Embassy and that I have been in the Soviet Union. We have consequently gotten onto the topic of Russians and Communism several times, and he has always come out a strong anti-Communist. He has one brother and two sisters living in the United States. The brother is married to an American and lives in Virginia, where he is in the construction business. One of the sisters is also married to an American and lives in California (I believe San Francisco). The second sister is married to a Polish immigrant and lives with him in Chicago. The sister in California is a naturalized American citizen. The brother and the sister in Chicago are not.

5. On 24 April 1967, LIENVOY reported the following call from GAZIYEV to LOGINOV:

GAZ: "I saw him, he arrived yesterday."

LOG: "Excellent. Then I'd like to see you to discuss certain things."

GAZ: "Then I can come there tomorrow?"

LOG: "No, better Wednesday."

GAZ: "All right. He usually comes there at 6 o'clock. He got married and came here with his wife. Now they look for an apartment. I'll go there on the 10th, because I want to attend courses in English. This week I'll be busy."

LOG: "OK, until the next then."

6. From this conversation, it appeared that GAZIYEV was probably talking about Subject, since:

(a) GAZIYEV had been taking Spanish at the Mexican-North American Institute and I knew from Subject that Subject had had GAZIYEV in one of his classes, that Subject occasionally chatted with GAZIYEV after class, and that GAZIYEV had once given Subject an invitation to a Consular night at the Soviet Embassy (although Subject told me he had not gone).

(b) Subject had gotten married that month.

(c) Subject had just returned to Mexico with his bride.

(d) Subject and his wife were looking for an apartment.

(e) Subject normally arrived at the Institute at 1800 to teach evening Spanish classes.

7. Prior to this reported telephone conversation, I had considered using Subject as an access agent against GAZIYEV, but had decided not to approach Subject on the matter unless there was evidence that his relationship with GAZIYEV was developing into something more than occasional chats between classes. I did not see much potential in approaching Subject before this with [illegible] the idea of having him deliberately cultivate a friendship with GAZIYEV, as I felt Subject was living such a busy and hectic life that I would get very little out of him. Prior to his marriage, he was keeping such a hectic schedule between his Institute and private classes that he wasn't sleeping or eating properly and was having increasing problems with his health. If anything, his pace and health problems increased after his marriage and his taking of the job with the American School (although he gave up most of his private classes).

8. Since the GAZIYEV-LOGINOV conversation made Subject's relations with the Soviets look much more interesting, I attempted to find out what I could about them from Subject. For a number of reasons, however--including my going to the States in June--we were not able to get together until 11 July. On that date I took Subject to a belated "bachelor's lunch" at a little Spanish restaurant downtown.

9. The lunch was disappointing and, for me, misleading. I was certain that if given the opportunity, Subject would voluntarily tell me if his relationship with GAZIYEV had developed any further. When I casually brought the conversation around to GAZIYEV, however, Subject simply told me that GAZIYEV was still studying at the Institute and that he still occasionally chatted with him in the halls or over a cup of coffee in one of the near-by coffee shops during the 20-minute break between the two evening classes. Subject commented that he enjoyed talking with GAZIYEV, as he was a simpatico, interesting guy, as well as an outstanding Spanish student. He also added that they never talked politics. In reply to an offhand question about whether he had met any other Soviets through GAZIYEV, Subject said that he had not. My inclination was to believe Subject, and I went away thinking that either GAZIYEV and LOGINOV had been talking about someone else over the phone or that they had never gone beyond the stage of simply talking about Subject.

10. On 1 November 1967, I ran into Subject and his brother Javier in Sanborns-Insurgentes. They were about to have a quick lunch and insisted that I join them for a cup of coffee. As soon as we sat down, Subject told me he had a problem and would like my advice. He said GAZIYEV had given him an invitation to the 7 November celebration of the Revolution at the Soviet Embassy, and although he would like to go for the experience, he was very concerned that his name would be put on "the black list" at the U.S. Embassy if he went. He said that he had tried to call me at the Embassy after he got the invitation to ask my advice, but had been told I was out of town. (I was in El Paso from 25-29 October.) He stated that if he had not been able to reach me in the next day or two, he was going to simply walk into the Embassy and ask to see someone from the "security department" about his predicament. What did I think he should do?

11. I told Subject to relax and forget about going to the U.S. Embassy, as the Embassy would not give him any advice other than to tell him that it was entirely his own business whether he went to the Soviet reception or not. Besides, I asked, what made Subject think his name would be put on a "black list" if he went. Subject replied that he didn't know how the U.S. Embassy did it, but "everyone knew" the U.S. Embassy obtained the names of everyone who went in and out of the Soviet Embassy. Moreover, he said, even if the U.S. Embassy refused to give him any advice, at least it would make a record of his visit and anyone who was ever interested would his heart was in the right place. He simply did not want and couldn't afford to get into any trouble with the U.S. Embassy, he said. After all, he had an American wife, he might want to go to the States to study sometime, and they might even want to go to the States to live someday. Seeing that Subject was indeed very serious, I became more serious myself and told him that just so he wouldn't worry, I'd write a memo to the proper Embassy department stating for the sake of the record that Subject had told me he planned to attend a Soviet Embassy reception, but wished the U.S. Embassy to know he was doing it solely out of curiosity and was in no way in sympathy with the Soviet Union. Subject seemed greatly relieved and thanked me very much.

12. Seizing of the fact that GAZIYEV had given Subject the invitation, I asked if Subject saw much of him anymore. Subject replied that yes, he still saw him occasionally, as GAZIYEV was now studying English at the Institute. Subject added, on his own initiative, that he had also been to GAZIYEV's apartment twice and had met another Soviet there on one occasion. He said that the first time he went to GAZIEV's was shortly before he (Subject) got married (Subject ~~ma~~ was married about mid-April 1967) and the second time was shortly after his marriage, as he and his wife had gone to dinner at the GAZIYEVS'. Subject finished eating about this time, and since he was in a hurry and had his brother with him, I didn't try to question him any further, but decided to wait and have a second go at him alone another

13. My wife and I entertained Subject and his wife at our home on 27 November, but the evening was not meant to and did not afford an opportunity to discuss the Soviets any further. Subject did tell me, however, that he had not gone to the 7 November Soviet reception afterall, because, despite by assurances that there was no reason for him not to go, he felt it was simply safer to stay away from the Soviet Embassy altogether. At my suggestion, we agreed to get together for lunch sometime in the near future.

14. For various reasons, including the poor state of Subject's health when I called him one day in January, we did not get together for the lunch until 7 March. This time, I played it straight with Subject, told him that I was interested in anything he could tell me about GAZIYEV and the otherSoviet he had met, and questioned him closely regarding the details. Subject was completely cooperative, and I am satisfied he answered my questions to the best of his ability. It seemed to me, and still does, that there was only one possible reason why Subject had not told me on 11 July what he subsequently told me on 1 November (i.e., that he had been to GAZIYEV's home twice and on one occasion had met another Soviet there). This was that he felt somewhat guilty about going to GAZIYEV's and meeting the other Soviet there, and as long as I didn't push him too hard (which I didn't on 11 July), he felt more comfortable ignoring it. The reason he so readily mentioned the two visits and the other Soviet on 1 November was, I think, that he was genuinely concerned not to "get into any trouble" with the U.S.

Embassy over attending the Soviet Embassy reception, wished to impress me with his sincerity about whose side he was on, and felt obliged to completely clear the record by mentioning the visits to GAZIYEV's home and meeting the other Soviet there.

15. Subject stated that GAZIYEV had invited him to his apartment for dinner about a month before he (Subject) went to Chicago to get married. This means that the dinner took place about mid-March 1967. Subject said he had expected to find only GAZIYEV and his wife in the apartment, but that a third person was there when Subject arrived. Subject said GAZIYEV introduced the third person as Valentin "something." When I asked if the last name were LOGINOV, Subject immediately reacted and said he was almost positive that was it. Subject's description of the Soviet also fit LOGINOV. GAZIYEV stated that LOGINOV was with the Embassy (Subject couldn't remember in what capacity) and described LOGINOV as a good friend. Subject said that the evening started off very casually, with LOGINOV expressing interest in the Spanish courses at the Mexican-North American Institute. LOGINOV, who Subject noted spoke almost as good Spanish as most of the Spanish teachers at the Institute, said he'd like to get a certificate in Spanish from the Institute and asked Subject if he could help him enroll, choose the best course for him to start with, etc. Subject replied that he'd be happy to, although it didn't seem to him that LOGINOV needed much instruction in Spanish. LOGINOV simply laughed this off, and it was agreed LOGINOV would drop around to the Institute sometime soon. LOGINOV, who took the lead in the conversation most of the evening, then began to ask Subject questions which left Subject with "no doubt" that he (LOGINOV) was trying to feel Subject out on his political views. Subject said that he couldn't remember most of LOGINOV's questions, but he did recall that LOGINOV began the feeling-out procedure by asking Subject if he didn't find that the Americans were much poorer at learning Spanish than other nationalities. He also made various derogatory remarks about the extent of American influence in Mexico. Subject said that after about ten minutes, LOGINOV's purpose became so blatantly obvious, that he (Subject) stopped the conversation and told LOGINOV that before they went any farther, he thought LOGINOV should know that he was talking to someone who was "100% capitalist," completely pro-American, and had absolutely no sympathy with Communism. (While this sounds awfully blunt and Subject was unquestionably trying to make himself look good in my eyes, the fact of the matter is that Subject does tend to be ~~ab~~ a bit blunt at times, and knowing his ideological leanings, I would not put it past him to have said exactly this.) Subject said that LOGINOV tried to backtrack a bit after this, but the conversation heated up again a few minutes later when Subject commented that he had a pretty good idea of what the Soviets were up to in Mexico. When LOGINOV asked what Subject meant, Subject related the story he once told me about having been in Veracruz a few years ago when a Soviet ship was actually or virtually put under arrest there. Subject told LOGINOV that "everyone knew the ship was loaded with Communist propaganda."

16. After about twenty minutes, according to Subject, politics were dropped and the conversation turned to more innocuous topics.

Subject said that LOGINOV seemed somewhat irritated with him, but on the whole kept his composure very well and treated Subject politely for the two hours or less Subject remained. As Subject was leaving, LOGINOV again said he'd come by the Institute to see Subject in the near future, but he never did. One day in late 1967 Subject saw LOGINOV at the gas station on the corner of Tacubaya and Juanacatlan, and LOGINOV greeted Subject by name. However, they did not converse with each other.

17. Subject said that GAZIYEV left most of the politically related part of the conversation to LOGINOV and never referred to the evening again. However, a few weeks after Subject returned to Mexico with his bride, GAZIYEV had Subject and his wife over to dinner (this would place the second dinner in about mid-May). This time GAZIYEV and his wife were the only others present, and the evening passed without any reference to politics. Subject stated that he still occasionally goes across the street for a cup of coffee with GAZIYEV between evening classes at the Institute, but that he has not been to GAZIYEV's apartment again and has never had GAZIYEV to his home.

18. Although Subject was very aware that LOGINOV's purpose in meeting him was to assess his exploitability, he did not seem to fully appreciate that GAZIYEV had both fingered him for LOGINOV and set up the situation for LOGINOV to meet him. I spelled this out for Subject and also informed him that LOGINOV was an exceptionally capable Soviet intelligence officer. I also explained that it was very possible GAZIYEV was using the Institute to spot other candidates for interviews with Soviet intelligence officers, and questioned Subject about GAZIYEV's activities and contacts at the Institute. However, Subject said that as far as he could tell GAZIYEV pretty much stuck to himself at the Institute and did not have any particular friends there whom Subject knew about. Subject said he would keep his eyes open for the type of thing I was looking for, however, and would let me know if he came onto anything interesting. Subject also offered to "play up to" GAZIYEV and/or LOGINOV under my guidance if I wished, but I declined the offer with appropriate expressions of appreciation.

19. The question that remains unanswered after all this is, of course, why LOGINOV and GAZIYEV were talking about Subject over the phone on 24 April 1967. According to Subject, the dinner which LOGINOV attended took place in March 1967, while LOGINOV did not attend GAZIYEV's second dinner, which took place about mid-May. Since I am satisfied Subject told me the truth, it would appear that the "certain things" which LOGINOV told GAZIYEV on 24 April he wished to discuss with GAZIYEV concerned how to handle Subject in the light of the LOGINOV-Subject encounter in March. Whatever LOGINOV had in mind on 24 April, it would appear that it was finally decided that GAZIYEV and his wife should simply have Subject and his wife over to a peaceful dinner in order to at least partially erase the memory of the first dinner.

French Club. My wife talked to Loguinov at the French Club. There seemed to be considerable doubt about their communication. Loguinov might have said that she had just played tennis, or was about to play tennis, or plays tennis occasionally. It seems likely that she did not play and was not about to play. She probably came to the club for the steam bath. She was in a hurry, possibly to leave the club.

Mrs. Charles Small. (Wife of American communist with jewelery shop on Niza). Soon for the first time at the French Club. She was practicing alone with a ball boy. She had no partner.

COMMENT

It is possible that Mrs. Loguinov and Mrs. Small are part of a communications channel. Loguinov's haste might have been due to the unexpected appearance of my wife and the risk that Small might arrive while my wife was still in the vicinity.

LOGINOV played tennis at Mundet with S.S. Abdel Rahman Hassan Abdel-RAHMAN, 1st Secretary and Consul at UAR Embassy. This was the first time they had played together. (played doubles with LIREALM and his wife).

14 May 1967

LIREALM played tennis at Mundet with LOGINOV. LOGINOV's son Dmitriy was there, speaks absolutely no Spanish or English. Also played with Jacques LEMAIRE. LOGINOV said his wife had had several heart attacks in Mexico and cannot play tennis. LOGINOV said he wanted Dmitriy to learn English, like his sister in Moscow. LOGINOV said he knew Jean BINEAU, when asked if he knew any French diplomats. LOGINOV claimed to have been in Soviet Navy, then immediately entered the Foreign Service Institute and straight into foreign service after that.

17 May 1967

LOGINOV plays tennis left-handed. An instructor commented that he was convinced LOGINOV had played much more than the one year he admits to. The instructor said he had never seen LOGINOV play with an instructor.

20 May 1967

LIREALM saw LOGINOV at Mundet but did not play with him.

25 Jun 1967

SOVIETS

Valentin's friends, June 30, 1967.

Contact. My lawyer celebrated his 40th birthday on June 30. Jim and Connie Pollack offered their home at Calero 76 in San Angel for a party for my lawyer. Of the 12 to 14 people at the party the following are part of a group who have organized a Great Books type club. At least once, and possibly twice or three times they have invited Valentin Loguinov.

Doug Wiltshire
Timmie Davis
Alexander "Sandy" Reed
Werner Thurau

Doug Wiltshire, about Masri. Doug claimed that Masri, his partner is pro-U.S. and anti-Nasser. He believes that Masri's wife is the secretary to the ambassador.

Werner Thurau. The Anglo-American directory lists Werner as British. My lawyer states that he is actually Danish. He previously lived in San Angel THEN MOVED to the Lomas address now shown in the directory. He since has moved back to Aida in San Angel and lives one or two doors from Timmie Davis. He is listed as vice-president of Jeffrey Manufacturing. He is reported to have studied at Oxford.

My lawyer, who is one of the more brilliant humorous-type intellectuals in Mexico has described Werner as the most brilliant person he has met in Mexico. Werner's friends are agreed, behind his back, that Werner is "ill-employed", that he is earning far less than he deserves. His standard of living stikes his friends as austere.

Sheila O'Sullivan Mabbo Thurau. Sheila AN OXFORD GRADUATE! is the wife of Werner and was not at the party due to illness. She is an actress, attractive, extreme extrovert, and the sometime mistress of Jim Tierney (spelling ?) the former head of the Rockefeller Foundation in Mexico, now at the home office in New York. I have often run across Sheila, but this was the first time I saw Werner.

Werner Thurau, about Valentin. As Werner was introduced to me he acted very surprised. He explained that he thought I was someone else, a friend of his, Valentin Loguinov. He claimed that we could be twin brothers. My wife overheard this performance and felt it was highly overplayed. My opinion was that this was a conversation starter, nothing more. Werner expected me to show interest in his having met a Russian. I did. Werner then told me about the book group. I had heard of it before through my lawyer and through Valentin. I had never before realized they were ~~on~~ one and the same group. Werner spoke of only one occasion when Valentin was there--he did not say there were not other occasions. Valentin spoke of several occasions. Werner described Valentin as good-natured, narrow intellectually and curious.

I did not acknowledge knowing Valentin but avoided the issue. I do not know who knew Valentin and first invited him to the group. I do not know how often the group meets or where.

Comments

I found Werner to be very interesting and charming. I have held the same opinion about his wife for some time. I believe I could develop him if it were of interest.

Werner deserves to be checked. Everyone seems agreed that there is something amiss here

I would not mind belonging to a book group--I have in the past. This one should be real swinging and might have Val as a permanent visitor.

CONTACT REPORT :

SUBJECT : LICOZY-5

DATE OF MEETING : 10 October 1967

1. I met with Subject at the restaurant of the Del Paseo from 09:15 to 10:00. Next meeting to be arranged by phone. Subject will take a months vacation with his family from 28 October to 25 November. He will go to South Africa and other countries in Africa.

2. During the week of 2 September, PRIKHODKO came to Subject's office to announce that he was back from home leave. Subject asked him about the status of the proposed Soviet tourist office. PRIKHODKO said that the Mexican Government had turned it down. Specifically SALVAT had told the Soviets that the tourist exchange between the Soviet Union and Mexico was so insignificant that it did not justify a reciprocal exchange of tourist offices (Comment: Evidentally the Mexicans used the reciprocity issue to deny the Soviet request.)

3. PRIKHODKO also said that Oleg NECHIPORENKO (P-7442) would arrive in Mexico in October and that he would have a job in the Embassy, not in the consulate.

4. While PRIKHODKO was in Subject's office, Senador ECHEVARRIA, the brother of the Secretary of Gobernacion came in and Subject introduced them.

5. Finally, PRIKHODKO mentioned that YATSKOV would be leaving soon PCS (Comment: As I mentioned earlier, I'll bet that NECHIPORENKO replaces YATSKOV).

6. The next day LOGINOV called Subject and asked him to come to a cafe near Subject's office. LOGINOV started off by calling Subject a son-of-a-bitch. He said, "Look at all the contacts you have in Mexico, even ECHEVARRIA's brother". He then went on to berate Subject for refusing to continue to work for the Soviets. He became quite heated at times. Subject repeated all the arguments he had used earlier about willing to be friends but refusing to help the Soviets in a clandestine capacity. During the discussion LOGINOV asked if Subject knew the "legal counsellor" of the US Embassy.

By this he meant the Embassy's lawyer, not the legal attache. Subject just laughed at him.

7. On 7 October Miguel ALEMAN Jr. came to Subject and said that he and Jacobo ZABLUDOWSKY had just seen Ambassador BAZAROV. They wanted BAZAROV to make arrangements to get them to the USSR for television coverage of the 50th Anniversary celebrations. BAZAROV had told them that things were very tight but if they went to Subject and he could arrange accomodations, BAZAROV would see that they got to the USSR. (Comment: From LIENVOY we know that the two had an appointment with BAZAROV on 9 October and thay they had been agitating for permits for about a week. I feel that by sending them to Subject, BAZAROV was giving them the brush off. If the Soviets were really interested in seeing them go, they would handle it differently.)

DATE OF MEETING: 28 September 1967

1. I met Subject in his room at the Del Paseo from 1415-1530. Subject will call me a day in advance to set the date of the next meeting, which as usual will be in the Del Paseo.

2. Subject had not seen or talked with CHMYKHOV or any other Soviet since he and CHMYKHOV were out together on the evening of 4 August. At that time, CHMYKHOV suggested that he and Subject have dinner together the next time Subject was in Mexico City. Subject agreed and told CHMYKHOV he'd call him the next time he was in town. Due to Subject's tight schedules on his visits to Mexico City, however, it wasn't until 28 September that he called CHMYKHOV. When Subject called the Embassy, however, he was told CHMYKHOV wasn't in. He therefore asked for LOGINOV, who proved to be in. LOGINOV immediately recognized Subject's voice and sounded very pleased to hear from him. He stated that he had had a wonderful holiday in the USSR (he returned on 27 August), but was now swamped with work. He added that he had planned to call Subject as soon as he got things under control. Subject thereupon said that he was actually calling for CHMYKHOV, because he didn't think LOGINOV had returned to Mexico yet. LOGINOV replied that CHMYKHOV wasn't in just then, but they'd both very much like to visit Subject in Cuernavaca. Subject said that he'd like to have them, but suggested they hold off for a week or so until the weather got better. LOGINOV agreed and said he'd talk to CHMYKHOV

SUBJECT : Erika Cammerman

SOURCE : LICOZY-5

1. On 7 September 1967 I asked Source about Subject. He knows her well.

2. The Cammerman's are Rumanian Jews who came to Mexico about 15 years ago. Eugene was a brilliant man who started with nothing and ended up very wealthy. Several years ago he attempted to negotiate trade between Mexico and Rumania but without results. He died of a heart attack about two years ago.

3. Erika is a charming, intelligent, cultured west-European type. She is not a leftist. She owns and runs INCOMEX at Isabella la Catolica 45 (telephone 18-65-61) and (12-88-32), a wine and cheese importing company. On ca. 1 September she left Mexico to some "bad" in Austria for a month. At Source's suggestion she added 2 weeks in Israel to view the conquest.

4. They have a daughter, Marina, who is stunningly i.e. Bahls beautiful. Marina met and married a German Gentile in New York for which her mother and family ostracized her. Source does not know where Marina is at present.

5. Although I did not mention my reason for interest, Source stated that if Erika is in touch with Soviets it would only be to get their business. She would not find Soviets either ideologically or personally attractive.

CONTACT REPORT

SUBJECT : LICOZY-5

DATE OF MEETING: 7 September 1967

1. I had breakfast with Subject at the Del Paseo from 0900 to 1000. Next meeting will be arranged by phone. Subject will go to Montreal for a conference on tourism to Israel from 23 to 26 September.

2. Subject had lunch with LOGINOV on 31 August. LOGINOV brought him caviar which Subject had requested and paid for. The following Subjects came up:

a. LOGINOV volunteered that NECHIPORENKO (P-7442) will return to Mexico in the fall. Subject asked if NECHIPORENKO would return to Consular work. LOGINOV said that he would not but would have other work in the Embassy. (Comment: I will bet that he replaces YATSKOV).

b. The larger part of the lunch was devoted to LOGINOV asking Subject about his trip to Israel and Subject's gleeful lists of captured Soviet equipment.

c. LOGINOV said he has reports that Mexican right wing youth groups are planning to sabotage the celebration of the 50th Anniversary of the Revolution and asked Subject for information. Subject said he had no information on, or, contacts with groups of that nature.

3. The following Mexicans have booked travel to the USSR with Subject. They are all local Jews with relatives in the USSR:

a. Mr. & Mrs. Samuel KASOVICH
b. Abraham YANOFSKY to Moscow and Tashkent
c. Pedro BRAILOVSKY to Moscow, Kiev and Leningrad.

4. Subject has booked passage to Cuba for a Russian emigre, Nikolay CHERNESHOV and his family; wife born in Italy and children, Igor, Natalia and Sergio all born in Venezuela. 5. Subject has checked with Adolfo de la Huerta of Salvat's office about the Soviet application for a tourist office. De la Huerta had heard about it but said it was not their affair and would be handled by Gobernacion.

6. David KLEINMAN, ca 55 yrs. old, born in Russia recently made reservations to go to Moscow during the celebration of the 50th anniversary. He will go in a private capacity as a tourist. Subject described him as an orthodox Communist and was particularly galled that KLEINMAN, a Jew called Israel an aggressor.

Prepared by FEINGLASS, Aug 67

THE CONSULAR SECTION OF THE USSR EMBASSY IN MEXICO CITY

The consular section consists of three persons: 285412 201- [redacted]

Valentin Sergeyevich LOGINOV - consul (third secretary) 144341 201- [redacted]

Vladislav Sergeyevich KORMUSHKIN - vice consul (Attache)

Vladimir Ivanovich SHPAKEVICH - vice consul (third secretary) 201-343847

With such a seeming-scarcity of work for the Consulate, it would be sufficient to have only one man for it. But the Soviet Embassy has to have three men handling consular duties. The Consulate is open to visitors twice a week and only two hours a day. Even that is too much for an occasional person who desires a visa for visiting the USSR. However, in addition to their regular duties, the consuls have to arrange various matters relating to visiting Soviet cargo vessels, artistic and cultural groups, etc. On several occasions, they had to do ~~xxx~~ errands outside of their overt field of activity. Perhaps this is one of the reasons why, in many instances, they cannot be reached on the telephone. All three of them speak fluent Spanish and have no difficulty in getting around and acquiring Mexican friends. Given below are their respective character sketches.

Consul LOGINOV is a rather recent arrival (two years in Mexico) and not very experienced in his job. However, he is learning the ropes quite rapidly and carries a lot of weight among the Embassy staff. LOGINOV is the one who orders [illegible] to be sent for any visiting dignitary or a performer. He, apparently, scrutinizes and approves the names of doctors and dentists patronized by the Embassy personnel. Recently a Man on Duty said over the phone that LOGINOV had forbidden to be given out the address of a German dentist, whom the Soviets visited quite frequently before.

LOGINOV is also in charge of making up a duty roster for appointing a Man on Duty who would be responsible for anything that took place at the Embassy on that particular day. No one, except the ambassador, seems to be exempt from that duty. On a few occssions LOGINOV encountered hostility to his arbitrary manner of making up the duty roster. Thus, when a Man on Duty called Nikolay Sergeyevich LEONOV, Press Attache and a (former?) Cultural Officer, and told him that LOGINOV put his name down as the responsible Man on Duty for the Embassy for that day, LEONOV said that he was very busy and let LOGINOV do it himself.

Obviously LOGINOV had made a number of secret enemies with his dictatorial manners and his disdainful, monotonous, and slow way of talking. His medium- to high-pitched voice sounds as if he is extremely bored with the world and does his interlocutor a favor just be talking to him.

His physical appearance seems to confirm that impression. A few newspaper photos show him as a youngish and rather good-looking individual with curly light-brown hair and with a contemptuous smile on his lips. Unquestionably, his type of charm appeals to elderly ladies and LOGINOV is quite aware that he is attractive to the other sex. Without a doubt, he tries to capitalize on it and with his fluent Spanish probably tries to ensnare Mexican females. There is no indication that LOGINOV has tried anything of the sort with the Soviet wives. One of the reasons may be that he would not like his wife, Aleksandra Dmitriyeva, a very formidable woman indeed, to get wind of it. On the other hand, the Mexican women may seem to be more exotic and attractive to LOGINOV than his own countrywomen, in especial his wife, who is a large unattractive female.

Nevertheless, LOGINOVA seems to be quite pleasant, with a nice cultured voice, and gets along with her husband well thanks to her good humour and social activity. She has been quite prominent in Mestkom work and in the children's summer camp. Shortly after their arrival, LOGINOV bought a tape-recorder for his wife for 115 dollars. Whether it was to be used for music, or other purposes, has not been determined.

Once in a while, LOGINOV goes on drunken sprees. Thus, on 12 February 1966, he and [illegible] drove up to the Embassy gate at three a.m., pounded on the gate, blew their horn and had altercations with Stanislav Sergeyevich [illegible], who was on duty at that time.

Another very prominent trait of LOGINOV'S character is his extreme chauvinism, bordering on jingoism. In reference to other nationalities, LOGINOV uses such deprecatory epithets as: "Amerikashki", "Zhidovka", "Nemchura", etc.

It is doubtful if LOGINOV has any true friends. His sneering attitude is probably the reason for it. Although he made several errors in judgement in his work and social behaviour, LOGINOV by no means is a fool and should be kept in mind for any possible developments.

(201-11[illegible])

Vladislav Sergeyevich KORMUSHKIN, vice consul (Attache), is a young man about thirty-three years of age, rather stocky, with blond wavy hair over a high forehead. A pair of heavy-rimmed glasses gives him the appearance of a very intellectual person. On the whole, KORMUSHKIN has the air of an easy-going fellow, who can make friends almost overnight. KORMUSHKIN and his wife are exceptionally close friends with Anatoliy Vladimirovich KARABACH, employee of the Commercial Office, and his wife. Both families visit each other quite frequently.

Besides occasional drinking bouts, KORMUSHKIN has not been known to practice any skirt-chasing, since his wife, Inna Nikolayevna, is not a bad-looking woman herself, and both seem to be getting along smoothly. KORMUSHKIN is a practicing physician at the Embassy and is quite in demand whenever any of the Soviets or his family is ill. KORMUSHKIN is also quite active in consular affairs and does most of the leg work for LOGINOV. He is also very active in Mestkom functions, where he is in charge of the Children's section. KORMUSHKIN is quite an energetic and pushy individual and can be quite rude and nasty at times. Undoubtedly, he is looking forward to being a full-fledged consul in time to come. The impression of KORMUSHKIN'S ambition and pushy trait in his character is intensified by the sound of his rapid and energetic but pleasant baritone voice.

A curious fact should be cited here. Shortly after his arrival, KORMUSHKIN purchased a tape-recorder for 185 dollars or 70 dollars more than the one bought by his "boss" LOGINOV. Why?

It seems that in the future, KORMUSHKIN may slow down somewhat, but his inner drive and energy will nevertheless make him a more adroit and skillful individual. His further progress should be watched with interest and caution.

CONTACT REPORT

SUBJECT: BESABER 25177

DATE OF MEETING: 27 July 1967

1. I met Subject from 1520-1645 on 27 July in his room at the Del Paseo Hotel. The next meeting is scheduled for 4 August at 1400 at the Del Paseo. Subject will call on the 3d or 4th to give me his room number.

2. Display of Subject's Products. Subject will hold a private exhibition of his factory's latest lines of furniture and artifacts at the Hotel Presidente from 2-4 August, between 1000 and 2000. Sanborns' buyers will get a sneak preview on Tuesday, 1 August. Subject will consequently be in Mexico City from 31 July thru 4 August. He said he planned to send out invitations to all the Embassys, but had not yet done so.

3. Soliman GOHARY. Subject had neither seen nor heard from GOHARY.

4. Col. Laurence HIGGINS. Subject's wife learned from Mrs. HIGGINS that the Colonel is due back in Mexico on 12 or 14 August.

5. [illegible]. CHMYKHOV dropped in on Subject at Subject's home in Cuernavaca about 1800 on Wednesday, 26 July. After hemming and hawing around for a few minutes, CHMYKHOV finally said that look, they were friends now and he wanted to ask Subject's advice on a matter. The doctor whom Subject had recommended for CHMYKHOV's son, CHMYKHOV said, had diagnosed the boy's stomach trouble as an advanced case of one of the worst strains of amoebas and had advised that the child be kept in bed and under observation. CHMYKHOV said the child was consequently being kept in bed at home in Mexico City. The doctor, according to CHMYKHOV, had also expressed concern that the amoebas

Subject by the time I saw him to lead him to decide to tell CHUYKHOV, when he called him at the Embassy, to come to the Del Paseo (Subject's hotel) rather than the Presidente, where clients and acquaintances might frown at all his Soviet friends. I told Subject to handle it the way he wanted, but just not to bring me a restaurant bill for six ballerinas and their escorts. I told Subject that his near-term objective should be simply to establish as much rapport with CHUYKHOV as possible, with the view to finding out what kind of person he is and what he has on his mind. I said he should consider CHUYKHOV his main target for the present time and urged him to take advantage of any opportunity to get together with him alone.

7. Subject apologized for his [illegible] story about his encounter with CHUYKHOV being a bit spotty, but he said he had a hard time understanding CHUYKHOV and wasn't able to follow everything he said. Subject said CHUYKHOV's Spanish is not good, he speaks very fast, and continually jumps from one subject to another. On the whole, Subject said, he had the impression CHUYKHOV was a rather nervous person and much less sure of himself than, for example, LOGINOV. Subject said that whereas he always felt he had to be on his guard with LOGINOV, he felt completely relaxed with CHUYKHOV and felt he dominated their relationship.

8. Invitation to ANDREYEV Farewell Party. Subject gave me an invitation he had received in the mail to a despedida for ANDREYEV on the evening of 31 July. (The invitation was formally issued by KAZANTSEV. See attachment B.) Subject said that although he was going to be in Mexico City on the 31st, he expected to be completely tied up with preparations for the opening of his exhibit the next day and unless I had a special reason for wanting him to go to the reception, he was going to have to skip it. I told him that in view of the circumstances there was no need for him to go.

Gohary is P-10056 but we already put cy in his file. RPE

DATES OF MEETINGS: 13 and 19 July 1967

1. I met Subject at the Del Paseo Hotel from 1350 to 1410 on 13 July and from 1345 to 1530 on 19 July. The next meeting is scheduled for the Del Paseo on 26 July. Subject will call in to arrange the time.

2. Soliman GOHARY. On 13 July Subject reported that he still hadn't been able to get through to GOHARY at the UAR Embassy, as the number GOHARY had given him was always busy. I gave Subject three additional numbers from the Diario Oficial and he tried all of them in my presence. He got through on the last one, managed to reach GOHARY, and spoke with him for about three minutes in English. The tone of the conversation tended to confirm BESABER's claim that he is on very close and informal terms with GOHARY. Subject asked why GOHARY hadn't come to his home the previous two weekends. GOHARY excused himself by saying he had simply been too busy, but wanted very much to see Subject. Subject replied that he was in town at the Del Paseo and why didn't GOHARY come up to his hotel room that evening. GOHARY readily agreed to come about 2030.

3. Subject reported on 19 July that GOHARY had arrived at the hotel room about 2050 on 13 July and stayed for two hours. At the conclusion of their meeting, Subject invited GOHARY to come to his home in Cuernavaca with his fiancee on Sunday, 16 July. GOHARY agreed and visited Subject in Cuernavaca from [illegible]-1700 on the 16th, but without his fiancee, who he said was ill. The hotel meeting on 13 July was by far the most profitable, as it gave Subject an opportunity to talk with GOHARY alone and at length over several drinks. The presence of Subject's wife on the 16th inhibited the conversation. Subject submitted the attached report (original given DCOS) describing the help him. His positive reaction to the idea of talking to "the older" American would seem to be confirmation of this.

e. (p. 6) While no future meeting was scheduled, Subject and GOHARY parted on the 16th with the mutual understanding that Subject would get in touch with GOHARY either to discuss further GOHARY's business future or to arrange a meeting with Subject's American friend.

f. (p. 5) Subject said it was his wife's understanding from Mrs. HIGGINS that Mr. HIGGINS would return to Mexico sometime during the week of 31 July.

g. Subject said that he thought a sizable amount of money--such as $1,200 U.S. per month, would be a vital, although not the primary, factor in recruiting GOHARY to remain in place. The prime incentive, in Subject's view, would obviously be the opportunity to help Egypt .

4. Contact with the Soviets. CHUYKHOV called Subject at home about 1000 on Sunday morning, 16 July. CHUYKHOV said he was at the Soviet dacha in Cuernavaca and that he and LOGINOV had gone to Subject's factory about 1700 on Saturday, the 15th, in order to present Subject with three bottles of vodka, but the guard had told them Subject had left. (Subject said he left the factory about 1630.) CHUYKHOV said that LOGINOV had left Cuernavaca because he was leaving for the USSR on vacation, but he (CHUYKHOV) was still around and could Subject come over to the dacha. And oh, yes, CHUYKHOV's child was sick with some form of dysentery and could Subject recommend a pediatrician? Subject said that despite the uncivilized hour, he got dressed and went over to the dacha about 1100. CHUYKHOV was overflowing with friendship, kept urging everyone from the smallest child to the oldest woman to go up and say hello to Mr. [illegible], and meekly presented Subject with one bottle of vodka.

He explained that they had drunk the other two bottles. About 1115 or so, Soviets began arriving at the dacha in droves; Subject estimated 20 men and 15 women arrived in all. One of the newcomers to walk in was ANDREYEV, who seemed to be greatly surprised to see Subject and to learn that Subject and CHUYKHOV knew each other. Subject stayed for about 40 minutes in all. CHUYKHOV stayed with him the entire time and talked incessantly--mostly about nothing and often so rapidly that Subject had a hard time understanding his faulty Spanish.

5. In speaking of LOGINOV, CHUYKHOV did say that LOGINOV is responsible for "matters inside Mexico," while he (CHUYKHOV) "supervised Latin American countries outside Mexico." CHUYKHOV did not elaborate on or give any hint as to what kind of "matters" he was talking about. As Subject was leaving, CHUYKHOV urged him to come to the Embassy the next time he was in Mexico City and they would have a few drinks. CHUYKHOV then said that as a matter of fact he was coming back to Cuernavaca the next weekend and would like to see Subject then. Subject said to give him a call. (NOTE: Subject is unusually busy right now because of his approaching trip to the U.S.--in about two weeks, but told me he would try to get together with CHUYKHOV for a drink. I urged him to do this.) In all, Subject said he had the impression from CHUYKHOV's general deportment that LOGINOV had told him to look after Subject while he (LOGINOV) was gone.

6. Communist Activity in the State of Morelos. Subject said that Cesar *MIER, the Jefe de Investigaciones of the Policia Judicial in Cuernavaca came by his home on the evening of 17 July to ask about a room-divider screen made of the turquoise mosaic material that Subject's factory specializes in. MIER told Subject that he'd prefer "not to pay too much for it," and Subject being Subject and also hoping we might make it up to him, obliged by offering him one way below cost. Delighted, MIER stayed on awhile and

SUBJECT: Telecon with LIROBBIN-2 on 12 July 1967 P-11665

1. LIROBBIN-2 called the Station at 1345 on 12 July and left a message for me to call her. I reached her about an hour later. She said she had met LOGINOV at a party at the Indian Embassy on the evening of 11 July. During a brief conversation with him, he told her he was going to the Soviet Union on vacation on 16 July. He also said that PRIKHODKO was going to the USSR on vacation on 26 July. A minute later, he said PRIKHODKO was leaving on 29 July.

2. Subject said he had had no other contact with any of the Soviets since March. (It will be recalled that she invited PRIKHODKO to dinner on 31 March, but he did not come.) Subject said she would call PRIKHODKO in a few days, mention that LOGINOV had said he was going on vacation, and invite him over before he left. She will let me know what happens.

Music Hall de Moscow

Valentin invited our tennis group to be his guests at the final performace of the Ballets Ruso at the Arena Mexico. The total group was about 15 persons.

Alexandra not present. Val's wife, Alexandra, was not among the group. Val made no comment about why she was not there. No one else asked, that I know of.

Czechs. Three Czechs were among the group. The introductions were badly handled and I wasunable to learnthe identity of the Czechs. Val and they spoke Spanish, not Russian or Czech.

SVESTKA was probably one

Odile Mauricee. (Spelling not certain for last name). Odile was invited by Val. She is Canadian, about 35, not unattractive, but careless in her dress. She struck me as being slightly masculine. She is a teacher of French in the mornings at the University of the Americas. In the afternoons she teaches at an Institute for Translators and Interpreters on Rio Tiber.

Who?

We were waiting for a mutual friend of Odile and Val, a Rafael. He never arrived. I asked Odile who Rafael was. She explained that he was a teacher and her drinking buddy. Every afternoon around 4 -5 she and Rafael can be found in the bar across the street from the institute.

Prob Rafael Vidella Ruiz cc P-4805

Odile had been drinking beer, probably quite a bit, prior to joining us that evening. She has lived in Mexico for 15 years. Her French, English and Spanish are fluent. She seemed to prefer French, though I felt her English was better.

She dressed oddly with white bobby socks. She did not fit in with the rest of the group. And I'm sure she didn't care. She seems to go to all Soviet embassy functions.

She might possibly be an intimate friend of Val's, if not a mistress, at least an occasional bed-partner. She commented (within the context of tennis, which was the topic of conversation at the moment) that one night Val told her he had to go home early (11 PM) because he was going to play in a tennis tournament the following day.

STAKE-OUT REPORT

DATE: 8 March 1968

1. I checked the Hotel Prince from 09:45 to 09:50 and noticed nothing unusual. I was outside the Hotel Alfer from 09:50 to 10:30 - nothing unusual. I then checked the Prince again at 10:40 for 5 minutes and noticed nothing.

2. I checked the Hotel Prince at 16:50 and saw two women and two men (Soviets) talking in the lobby. Then at the Hotel Alfer from 16:55 to 17:40. Nothing except a man at 17:30 who looked very European. This man looked into the lobby of the hotel, then into the adjacent garage, then back to the hotel then out of the area. He definitely was not a local Soviet.

3. At 17:40 I went back to the Hotel Prince to see if the entertainers were there. At 17:50 two men left who could be Soviets. I followed them to see if they were speaking Russian. I turned the corner from Luis Moya onto Juarez going east, I almost bumped into LOGINOV who was coming west on Juarez. I recognized him immediately and I felt that he recognized me. I continued along Juarez for a bit and then came back to see where LOGINOV went. I then stood on the other corner of Juarez and Luis Moya for 3 or 4 minutes. At this time I noticed a Soviet across Juarez (at the west side of the Juarez monument). He looked like KOLOMYAKOV but with too much hair. This Soviet was taking panoramic shots across Juarez. As his camera approached me, I stepped behind a kiosk. However, in the minutes before I noticed him, he could have been photographing me. A moment later I noticed LOGINOV about 10 yards from the Soviet. Both saw that I had spotted them. The Soviet with the camera then drifted west, photographed the Juarez monument and went further west. LOGINOV then went off in the same direction. I then went to report the above to CLASTONBURY at the Hotel Alfer after checking that I was not followed. I got there at 18:02.

4. The Soviet had a small camera which appeared to be 8 mm. Thus I doubt if he got identifiable pictures of me.

5. We checked out of the hotel at 18:30. At 18:40 we saw LOGINOV's car ahead of us on the Reforma headed toward the Soviet Embassy. Two men were in it whom I did not recognize.

6. LILYRIC has LOGINOV and BARANOV leaving the Soviet Embassy in LOGINOV's car at 15:36 on 8 March. Neither were back by 18:30 when LILYRIC secured. I instantly recognized BARANOV's photos as the Soviet with the camera.

7. Also per LILYRIC, LOGINOV left the Embassy in his car at 09:41 and returned on foot at 10:51. This was the period we were waiting for Subject. However he could not have seen me at the Hotel Prince since I left there at 09:50 the first time and at 10:40 the second time.

3. Date and Site of Next Meeting: Same place, same time, 19/2/68.

5. Information/Instructions Passed to Agent:

Rowton advised LIREALM/1 to continue his same line with his friend Valentin Loguinov. He agreed with LIREALM/1 that since Loguinov did not bring up the matter of his "boss" since his first reference to it at 27/1/68 at the French Club, Loguinov probably has not given further thought to the matter. (Loguinov had two opportunities to bring the matter up again with LIREALM/1 and did not do so).

Rowton also advised LIREALM/1 to continue to push LIRELIC/1 into the PRI but agreed that in the light of the current uncertainty as to whom might emerge as the future leader, LIRELIC/1 should not attach himself too firmly to any one individual, but rather await the outcome of the 27/2/68 convention.

Late for tennis. Val was 45 minutes late for our tennis match. I take this as meaning that he no longer suspects me of working for the company. Or at least his suspicions have been sufficiently allayed to permit him to risk missing a contact with me. He obviously was satisfied with my answers to his earlier provocation.

I am no longer a target. When we talk now, I have the definite feeling that he has neither thought at all about our meeting in advance, nor has he been briefed in advance by his people. Our conversation is spontaneous, inane, and frequently bogs down.

p. 13, 223

Negative about Gloria Pinto. Val seemed genuinely bored about Gloria. She is not young, but definitely attractive, athletic, sympathetic, and has organized several tennis groups, always careful to include Val. He seems completely unappreciative of her efforts in his behalf.

Not provocative. Val asked no leading questions and made no provocative remarks about our foreign policy.

Index C

Curious about personnel cuts at U.S. embassy. Val asked if it is true that 10 percent of the personnel would return to the U.S. He asked if I knew anyone personally who would be affected. I stated that the only person I really knew at all was Ruth Ortega. I added that the embassy couldn't possibly due without her. Val showed considerable interest in Ortega and suggested that I bring her along for tennis some day. I explained that my contact with Ortega was for business not, social, and that she probably was a little too old for tennis.

I admitted that I was but didn't like to mix them with other activities. I said I liked tennis here, chess there, and girls there, but not mixing them. I then quoted an postwar Russian song: "Piervoe dieloe, piervoe dieloe, samaleti, i devushki potom."

Tennis dinner. Gloria has organized a tournament. Prior to the first match she invited all the participants to a cocktail-dinner in her home.

Val late. Val was late, explaining that his wife had a doctors appoint-ment. He also said that he had spent the day at a party in honor of the ambassador who soon will leave.

Val might leave. Val was asked by a provocative German if he too would soon be leaving. Val explained how most people leave after three years, or when the ambassador they have been serving leaves. He said there was a possibility that he might leave, but he refused to express his opinion about such a likelihood.

Party rough on Val. Everyone at the party seemed to want to kid Val, or, in the case of the German, come as close as possible to insulting him. I refrained from this attack. I asked Val if he were always treated as~~tx~~ sort of a novelty at parties, with people attacking him. He said no, but that most parties were diplomats or his own Soviet community. He explained the Germans behaviour as typical of the shortsighted, illinformed and vulgar Germans.

Alexandra. Alexandra spoke little during the evening and needed help from Val frequently to explain what was said in Spanish. However, she seems very intelligent and very calm.

DATES OF MEETINGS: 11 and 19 January 1968

1. I met Subject in his room at the Del Paseo Hotel from 1415-1545 on 11 January and from 1415-1515 on 19 January. The next meeting will be arranged by telephone.

2. The Soviets. As of 19 January, Subject had not seen or talked with any of the Soviets since his telephone conversation with LOGINOV on 28 September. Subject did, however, receive a Christmas card from LOGINOV. With my agreement, Subject sent inexpensive gifts along with Christmas cards to LOGINOV and CHEYKHOV, but they weren't delivered until the week of 15 January. Subject explained that before Christmas, he assigned his salesman the job of delivering a score of Christmas gifts, including LOGINOV'S and CHEYKHOV'S, around town, but shortly after Christmas, found that the salesman had not delivered any of them. This discovery caused Subject to fire the salesman, who had been increasingly derelict in performing his job over the past few months and who, Subject had recently learned, had begun taking dope. Subject consequently wrote "better-late-than-never" notes on the cards accompanying the undelivered gifts and had his new salesman deliver them. I have instructed Subject to leave the initiative for the next contact up to the Soviets.

1. This case started about fifteen months ago and the only info we know of is the ROESTROM couple that LOGINOV asked the policeman to check on. Is the case active? What requirements are being given to the policeman by LOGINOV? Are any Americans involved? Have any other Soviets been involved? LOGINOV specializes in US operations. He may be giving ~~the~~ policeman assignments in support of his US operations.

2. Please check this with 12 and 4 and let us know what the status is. Tks.

SUBJECT : Policeman Recruited by LOGINOV

1. In reviewing LOGINOV's SPR which WEENING has just completed, I note that LOGINOV recruited this policeman 15 ~~13~~ months ago and that his first requirement was on the BOESTROM couple. At that time we gave LITEMPO-8 traces on LOGINOV saying that he was a dangerous KGB officer. LITEMPO-8 subsequently mentioned that the case was continued and that he, himself, was directing it.

2. If you think that LITEMPO-8 will cooperate, I would like to know the following about this case:

(a) Is it still active?

(b) Did the policeman pass info to LOGINOV on the BOESTROM couple? If so, what? Was there any follow-up?

(c) What type of requirements has LOGINOV given to the policeman? Are any Americans involved?

(d) Have any other Soviets been involved with this case?

(e) Who was ~~is~~ handling him while LOGINOV was ~~is~~ in the USSR on vacation (he left Mexico on 16 July ~~?~~ and returned on 5 Aug.)?

3. As a basis for discussing this case you could mention that we are especially concerned about LOGINOV because he specializes in US operations. He tried to recruit a chauffeur at the Embassy and tried to develop a female Foreign Service Officer (true). You might also say he is running a sensitive case into the US (false). Thus many of his requests to the policeman may be in support of American operations although this would not necessarily be apparent. Therefore we would like to know what he is asking for. Our traces would help both ourselves and LITEMPO-8, etc.

4. Depending on LITEMPO-8's reaction, you might even suggest that LITEMPO-8 take advantage of LOGINOV's absence from Mexico in the USSR to request Relacciones not to give him a new visa because of his intelligence activity as detailed by LITEMPO-8.

he has been back for a month or more

DATE OF MEETING : 5 January 1968

1. I met Subject at the Koala from 09:15 to 09:50. I will call him in the week of 15 January to arrange delivery of his liquor.

2. Subject gave me the travel info on IVANOV which has already been forwarded to San Jose.

3. Subject reported that LOGINOV visited him a few days before Christmas bearing 6 bottles of Vodka, red and black caviar and a lacquered box. He mentioned that NIKOFOROV and KORMUSHKIN had had a car accident. Also that NECHIPORENKO had arrived but that either he or someone in his family had been sick ever since arrival.

4. LOGINOV used the occasion to renew the old pitch. He said that with the celebration of the 50th anniversary everybody is contributing. What would LICOZY-5 contribute? Subject then gave LOGINOV a pair of sun glasses with a built in transistor radio (as a Christmas gift). LOGINOV said he meant not personal favors but something for the cause. He then asked Subject to spot a Mexican employee of the American Embassy. Subject laughed at him and repeated all the old arguments about not working for the Scvs. He told LOGINOV that, if he wanted to be friends, then stop bringing up these old requests.

SUBJECT : Berta *NAVARRO, Member of Fuersas Armadas de America Latina (FALA)

1. Source stated that Subject is the sister-in-law of his old friend Lic. Juan *SALDAÑA who used to be in Relacciones and is now Sub Director General of Accion Social of the Departamento del D.F. Subject is the sister of SALDAÑA's wife, Fernanda and is 24 years old.

2. A few weeks ago SALDAÑA brought Subject to Source asking the latter to give Subject a job. Subject told Source that she had formerly worked at UNAM and had been arrested in a group which had bombed the Bolivian Embassy in Mexico. She was held and interrogated but because of SALDAÑA's influence, she was released after 2 months without charges. However, the police refused to let her work at UNAM and told her that they would have to approve any job she undertook. She still has to report to the police every 3 days. Subject told Source her story because she knew that the police would check with him.

3. Subject told Source the following about herself and the FALA:

a. The FALA has 76,000 members.

b. Her superiors told her that the PCM tipped off the Mexican authorities about those involved in the bomb throwing. The PCM did this because terrorism is against their line and harms the peacful diffusion of Communism.

c. The FALA works on the cell basis so that each member knows only a few people. However, she worked as liaison between Mexico and Poza Rica and knows more members there. The FALA members in Poza Rica are Pemex workers.

d. The FALA is financed by the Cuban Embassy.

CONTACT REPORT: 50/50 [illegible]

SUBJECT: Operational Meeting with LIROCKET/1 (P-1241) [illegible]

DATE OF MEETING: 24 November 1967

1. The undersigned met with LIROCKET/1 on 24 November from 1200 hours to 1545 hours at an in-town safe house. From 1205 to 1245 the meeting was conducted in L/1's car inasmuch as the safe house was occupied during this period. The next meeting is scheduled for the same safe house on 8 December at 1500 hours.

2. The following meetings between L/1 and the below named Soviets occurred during the months of October and November:

a. Classes of 3 October: BEDRIN (P-9037) and GONCHARENKO (P-9379) studied on this day from 1530 to 1700. KAZANTSEV (P-880) studied from 1700 to 1800.

b. Classes of 5 October: In the morning of this day, an unidentified Soviet phoned Mrs. ROCKET (L/1 was out of the house) and requested her to inform L/1 that there would be no classes that day. No reason was given, either then or subsequently, for this cancellation.

c. Classes of 10 October: BEDRIN & Goncharenko studied from 1530 to 1700. KAZANTSEV came at 1610, interrupting class, to pick up several pocket books which he had previously asked L/1 to procure for him. L/1 selected them from his own library. KAZANTSEV stated that he did not care what subjects were chosen; he wanted them only to improve his reading ability. He did mention, however, that he preferred not to read books which had either violence or pornography as their central theme. L/1 brought a book on science fiction (Kaz. was not particularly interested in this), a book on ballet, and a book on the FBI in which KAZANTSEV seemed very interested. KAZANTSEV said that he would not be taking class today and that they would all discontinue classes after 12 Oct. KAZANTSEV stated that he was supposed to take his vacation between now and 15 November. & [illegible] BEDRIN and GONCHARENKO remarked that they would be too busy with the upcoming Olympics and 50th anniversary. L/1 noted that although BEDRIN was not especially interested in the books given KAZANTSEV, he was interested in obtaining books of a pornographic nature. BEDRIN has previously remarked that he liked a good spicy story and that during a 1966 layover in Brussels, he (BEDRIN) sought out and enjoyed seeing some sex movies there.

d. Classes of 12 October: (Last class until 14 November). BEDRIN and GONCHARENKO studied from 1530 to 1700. KAZANTSEV did not study. BEDRIN told L/1 to come to the Embassy near the end of October in order to pick up his invitations for the 7 November anniversary. L/1 mentioned that he might be going to the States during the last of October. BEDRIN asked L/1 to bring him two 7 inch recording tapes and two 5 inch reel tapes. BEDRIN commented that "another friend" had previously brought him some tapes. This was the frist time BEDRIN had ever requested L/1 to perform any personal favor.

3. On 31 October L/1 drove to the Embassy to pick up his inviations. L/1 met by BEDRIN who gave him two inviations. L/1 commented that he was not now planning to motor to US. BEDRIN stated that he did not need the requested tapes inasmuch as a "friend" had purchased some Grundig tapes for him while in the States.

4. On 7 November L/1 attended the Soviet celebration. L/1 was not accompanied by his wife since he had to teach classes that evening and therefore stayed only from 1700 to 1830 hours. By his own testimony, L/1 consumed some 14 shots of vodka during this period, yet managed to teach two classes that evening. L/1 agreed that the classes were conducted in a voluble spirit. L/1 was met at the gate by GORLITSYN (P-1167) who then passed him on to LOGINOV (P-11[illegible]). LOGINOV commented that he was still interested in possibly hiring Enrique GUTIERREZ as an English language teacher for his son. In the reception line L/1 met KAZANTSEV and wife, who introduced him to the new military attache (name forgotten by L/1) with whom he had an animated conversation in Spanish. The military attache spoke very good Spanish and indicated to L/1 that he would probably begin to study English within the next few months. The mil. attache's English was very poor. L/1 then met BEDRIN & GONCHARENKO and had the usual cocktail chatter with them. BEDRIN and GONCHARENKO, in turn, introduced L/1 to FNU GOLOVCO, allegedly a representative of the "Ministry of Culture" of the USSR who, in that capacity, was accompanying the Soviet Ballet on Ice troupe. GOLOVCO spoke in fluent English with L/1 commenting that he had studied English in the USSR. His home is Kiyev. L/1's impression of GOLOVCO was that GOLOVCO did not appear to be the "cultural type". GOLOVCO was very imprecise as to his actual role and duties with the Ice Ballet. GOLOVCO's dress was somewhat hap-hazard and he impressed L/1 as somewhat unrefined and a heavy. GOLOVCO, according to L/1, is about 40-45 years of age, 6'1" in height, 160-165 pounds, grey hair and thin-faced (angular). L/1, emboldened by a few vodkas, requested two tickets for the Ice Ballet from GOLOVCO. GOLOVCO politely acquiesced and said he would get two of the best seats. L/1 was then introduced to the assistant director and the director of the orchestra by GOLOVCO who translated in a seemingly suave manner. With this show of friendliness on the part of the Soviets, L/1 XXX decided to invite them all to his house for a buffet supper within the next few weeks. GOLOVCO and his associates were visibly pleased and L/1 also extended the invitation to BEDRIN. BEDRIN said he would try and make all the arrangements and a tentative date of 9 or 10 December was agreed upon. L/1 was then introduced to the Ethiopian Ambassador, Gaitachew BEKELE, with whom he conversed in English. BEKELE has good English facility. BEKELE appeared to be on good terms with a number of Soviets and know BEDRIN quite well. BEKELE is tall and thin, pronounced negroid features, and possesses a strong, forceful, dynamic personality. L/1 and BEKELE had a friendly talk and when parting XXXXXXXX left open the possibility of meeting together socially. As L/1 was leaving the Embassy, the Soviet Ambassador spotted him, broke from the group he was conversing with, and walked over to L/1 with whom he proposed a toast and they drank to the USSR.

5. Beginning with 14 November, the following classes were held:

a. Classes of 14 November: GONCHARENKO arrived 10 minutes late for classes at 1540. He informed L/1 that neither KAZANTSEV or BEDRIN would be available for classes that day. Then, apparently as an after-thought, GONCHARENKO commented that he would not attend classes either.

b. Classes of 16 November: L/1 met GOLOVCO who gave him two tickets for the Ice Ballet. BEDRIN and GONCHARENKO entered at 1530. At 1620 KAZANTSEV entered and interrupted the class to announce that he would not study that day. Immediately BEDRIN wheeled around and told KAZANTSEV very explicitly that he should remain and study. To this KAZANTSEV replied in English, "See the pressure my Chief puts on me!" It was quite apparent that BEDRIN was in charge of the language lessons and that KAZANTSEV was seemingly very hesitant to defy BEDRIN's challenge. (C.O. note: This may signify that BEDRIN's rank is considerable more than a Second Secretary within the internal organization of the Embassy). KAZANTSEV stated that he wanted to take a week's leave, but in deference to BEDRIN's wishes KAZANTSEV finally remained during the rest of the class, although his presence was a somewhat disruptive factor. GONCHARENKO, who had remained silent for the most part, became somewhat bored and dispirited by KAZANTSEV's antics and therefore exited the class at 1640 - some 20 minutes before the end of the lessons. BEDRIN and KAZANTSEV remained and L/1 had them ask each other questions in English - an exercise which KAZANTSEV enjoyed in that his English is superior to BEDRIN's. However, BEDRIN rose to the occasion, comported himself in a fine manner, and there ensued a lively exchange of answers and questions on non-controversial topics.

Upon departing KAZANTSEV stated that beginning 21 November a new pupil would join the class. He identified the new pupil as KORNYUKHIN, V-M-, (Valentin Mikhaylovich), a second secretary in the Embassy.

c. Classes of 21 November: Bedrin and GONCHARENKO studied from 1530 to 1700. At 1700 KAZANTSEV entered together with KORNYUKHIN. KORNYUKHIN possesses good, fluent English although his grammar is quite rough. He speaks with a decidedly British accent. KORNYUKHIN commented that he had served in Burma (approximately from 1962-65) and more recently (1965-67) had been working in Moscow. KORNYUKHIN is married and stated that he had been in Mexico some four months. KORNYUKHIN appears to be between 35-40 years of age, blonde hair, trim, athletic appearing, approx. 6 feet tall and weighing between 165-170 pounds.

d. Classes of 23 November: BEDRIN and GONCHARENKO studied from 1530 to 1700. GONCHARENKO commented that his wife and two children were ill with the flu. KAZANTSEV and KORNYUKHIN arrived at 1700 and studied until 1800. During the lesson a slight argument or difference of opinion arose between KORNYUKHIN and KAZANTSEV over what the official Soviet position was during the 1964 Cyprus crisis. (I/1 could not recall the substance over what they differed on). I/1 then queried them as to what the official position was on the present crisis. They both replied that they didn't know as yet what the position of the USSR was on the current Cyprus dispute. The exchange reflected the obdurate, somewhat dogmatic, character of KORNYUKHIN. I/1 characterized KORNYUKHIN as possesing very strong and fixed ideas. KORNYUKHIN did not appear to be awed by KAZANTSEV's position and spoke openly and forcefully to him. Upon departing I/1 spoke with LOGINOV regarding the possible employment of an English teacher for LOGINOV's children. LOGINOV commented that a Soviet English-speaking teacher/employee was now teaching his son. I/1 had recently met a MRS JOHNSON through William (?) PENN, Director of the British Institute.

JOHNSON, a British citizen, is [illegible] in securing the position. Although L/1 does not know JOHNSON well, he was introduced to him during the first meeting and passed on to LOGINOV a strong recommendation as to JOHNSON's credentials. (JOHNSON is a lawyer by profession and is unmarried). LOGINOV became more interested in JOHNSON and told L/1 that he might be able to use his services in two or three months. The undersigned instructed L/1 to obtain more bio information (full name, etc.) on JOHNSON and to monitor the progress ~~of JOHNSON~~ in attempting to obtain a teaching position at the Embassy.

[illegible]: [illegible] and GONCHARENKO told L/1 they were not able to attend classes this date as they were busy with upcoming 50th anniversary arrangements and Olympics. Requested that they be given lessons following day. This was not possible for L/1. GORLITSYN (P-11163) came into classroom after departure [illegible] & GONCHARENKO and began talking to L/1 in English. L/1 assessed GORLITSYN's English as being fairly good and capable of carrying a conversation. GORLITSYN said that he preferred to study English alone rather than in a class or with a tutor. GORLITSYN commented that he would be required to take his English exam in Moscow in the near future (time not specified) and that he would closet himself off for one week while he prepared for it. GORLITSYN stated that he wanted to "maintain his 20% bonus" by passing this English exam. L/1 views GORLITSYN as somewhat of a bumpkin; not particularly intelligent, but a plodder; and a loner in his relationships with others - as far as L/1 can discern. KAZANTSEV was not able to attend classes as he was to accompany a group from the international diplomatic community on a special tour to the Yucatan. LOGINOV (P-11712) also spoke briefly with L/1. LOGINOV asked L/1 if he would have time to teach his son (8 or 9 years old) English, in the company of another Soviet boy, between the hours of 1700 and 1800 any day of the week. L/1 stated that these hours were impossible for him, but might be able to arrange another time. LOGINOV said that he would give this consideration. LOGINOV then began talking of his love for sports and his background as a former judge in Olympic Skiing as well as Refereeing various other sports including tennis. This was all discussed against the backdrop of the Olympics. LOGINOV's English is good, although not as fluent as KAZANTSEV's. LOGINOV's only problem seems to be a lack

November 2, 1967. 1130 hours.

Casual contact. Loguinov was entering the French Club as I was leaving. He asked me to stay long enough to play a couple of sets of tennis with him. I had to decline due to previous committments. We both agreed to look for each other for tennis some day after the 50th anniversary celebrations next week.

November 11, 1967. 1100-1200 hours.
Source: Direct. At French Club.

Tennis. Loguinov and I played doubles with two women. Everyone seemd to permit themselves to tease Loguinov about the embassy's celebration of the 50th anniverrary and about the numerous requests that everyone seemed to have made for gifts and souvenirs from Russia. Val has singed up for a tournament of mixed doubles which begins tomorrow. I too have been invited and accepted.

Attitude. Loguinov seemed very friendly and anxious to continue our friendship. His motives, however, seem strictly for tennis.

Companion. Earlier I saw Loguinov playing tennis with a rather tall and heavy-set person who left when Loguinov approached my wife and me. Later, when dressed, this person passed by to say goodbye to Loguinov, in Russian. He is obviously an embassy type.

Loguinov played tennis with still another member of his embassy. We did not have an opportunity to talk on the courts. We did see each other in the showers. He showed great interest in playing soon and said he would call me to arrange the date and time. He joked that I should bring some of my friends from the embassy, all of whom are CIA. We could have an international tournament. I told him that none of my friends played tennis. He misunderstood and thought I said that I knew no-one at the embassy—he looked disappointed. I corrected him and said that I did indeed know embassy people, but that none played tennis and that I doubted very much if my friends were CIA, FBI or anything else.

CONTACT REPORT
SUBJECT: LIBACCH/1
PLACE, DATE, TIME: FIRENZE REST., 20 Aug., 1615 - 1800

1. Subject was fifteen minutes late for the meeting scheduled for 1600 hours, claiming a terrific hangover and exhaustion, having spent most of the previous night with REX, drinking etc. (Strangely his eyes were very clear, but then he is quite young.) I am quite sure that immediately upon his arrival and after making his explanation for being late he added that his car was in the shop for repairs, but at the end of the unproductive meeting he walked to his car parked only half a block away from the cafe. I walked with him and commented on his earlier remark regarding repairs but he denied saying anything about it.

+ this week 2. Subject had not yet seen LUBAN but said that he planned to attend a party allegedly to be given by Ludmila (not Sergio's wife,) at which time he will attempt to elicit info re LUBAN's recent trip. Incidentally, Subj. stated that ~~Sergio OLMOVICH~~ had returned to Mexico 3 or 4 months ago. (It had been my understanding that Sergio was still in Moscow.) Subject had not seen either of the OLMOVICHs' for several months.

3. We chatted at great length about many innocuous topics, Russian literature, Mexican food, etc. At one point I attempted to have him work on LO[illegible]'s Pad, but he begged off, referring again to his exhaustion, etc. However, we scheduled a 1000 hour meeting at the JEF cafe for Monday 25 August, Subj promising to be in good condition enabling him to tackle the Pad at that time. (Personally, I am not in favor of doing this sort of work in a restaurant.)

4. During our discussion of Russian literature Subj. asked me if I could get him a copy of SOLZHENITSYN's "GULAG ISLANDS", xxxxxxx in Russ, I said I would try.

5. Subject is going to try to get away for a short vacation in Acapulco sometime in Sept. and he hopes that I can join him. I made no commitment.

6. While waiting for Subj I was reading "Sports Afield" which I threw on a chair when Subject arrived. About half way through the meeting Subj asked me if I were interested in hunting and fishing and when I replied in the affirmative he quickly came up with a "brilliant" idea. He said he has a student American friend, who is studying Russian, and a rabid fisherman. He thought it would be a terrific idea for him to introduce this man, John [illegible], to me so we could hunt and/or fish together. I told him I ~~was not ready~~ for this sort of thing yet, perhaps later.

7. Subj has not seen LOI lately but has a date with him at the [illegible] Bros., Calle Liverpool, on the 29th of August. Apparently this was arranged by LOI. Subj [illegible] that he is very interested in the type of work we are asking him to do, but hopes he can become more active in this respect. He said: "I am ready to go to Moscow, or any other part of ~~xxxxx~~ Latin America to do your spying." I told him he was far from ready for that type of assignment and not to think about it at this time, that even if he were to be considered for such a job he would require much and painful training. He laughed good naturedly saying he understood perfectly.

8. COMMENTS. Subject is a strange cookie, vague, with a tendency to wander off into unrelated topics in the middle of a conversation. He seems to love everyone and he is certainly a friendly type, easy to talk to, and usually quite agreeable. He must be taken out of the cafe atmosphere into ~~more serious~~ duller surroundings and given a serious briefing as to what this is all about. It is too early for me to tell whether he can be brought down out of the clouds to face reality and I imagine a rather dull daily existence. I think he would like to be, and maybe is, an avid reader of literature. Perhaps he entertains thoughts of becoming a writer someday. He apparently enjoys putting away a good deal of alcoholic beverages.

Contact Report
Subject: Jimmy SABORI (P-13,830)
Date of Meet: Aug 5 at Continental Rest from 2000 to 2330 hrs.

1. The meet was prearranged and S came on time. The purpose of the meet was to debrief S on his meet with LOG which took place the previous evening and proceed with the filling of the PAQ as well as to give necessary ops instruction. The purpose was achieved.

Next meet: August 19 at the same time and place.

2. The fact that LOG started the meet with a talk about books appeared to S to be curious. No doubt that LOG was peddling some Communist ideological tid bits, especially, justification of Sov international policy. Briefly, too much freedom is not good; Americans and their foreign policy is naive: they worry more about the world opinion than about their national interest; if they want to do something they consult everybody and everything to find out an ages old fact that noby can satisfy everybody; Nixons trip to Rumania was outright a provocation aimed at Sov Union, except, if it was a product of naiveness.

3. S was really surprised to hear LOG giving up so eaily on the matter of the US Emb phone directory, but he was outright disappointed when LOG stated that he nor any of Sov Emb officials would want to meet with TANG. Further, S was shaken up when he directly told that he was to be Sov agent assigned to collect info about Red China and Nat Chinese policy concerning Sov - Red Chinese conflict from a Chinese Emb official. Although, he did not mention it to [illegible], it was obvious that S did not like at all the idea that big money was spoken but there was NO mention of money right now, i.e. during the period "S will be working on winning TANGs confidence".

4. P reminded S what he told him at their previous meet concerning his involvement with the Chinese and added that if it was not clear then what P meant LOG spelled it out in clear terms. S contended that he did not want to go to see TANG before speaking to P, because he wanted to follow our instruction. This was said to please P on one hand and on the other to appease his (S) own fear from the mere possibility that something might go wrong and he would have nowhere to turn to. F told him that going to TANG ONLY in connection with the matter of publishing the article could do him no harm; denying having contact with LOC recently is not sufficient; TANG could bring up the question for an ostensive purpose of wanting to send a message to S Sov friend and the fact of not seeing each other during the past 2 - 3 weeks means nothing ~~means nothing~~, because S is supposed to be able to reach a friend; S must be ready to meet any question by TANG not by denying previous statements but by emphasizing that he was thinking carefully about what he told TANG and he reached the conclusion that that would ~~getxxx~~ him in a situation he was never before in and, consequently, knows nothing about possible consequences; therefore, he decided to keep out a field he is ignorant in.

5. As far as the other requirements concerning the chinese are concerned, F told S to do nothing for the time being and, especially, to keep away from trying to ascertain the names of Mexicans working in the chinese Emb. S should claim that he was spending his time on trying to get the name of the next Presidential candidate before the President sends the name of the candidate to PRI for approval. Further, S can always be in no more hurry than LOC was to get him an answer on the platinum deal.

6. In spite of his reactions concerning the business part of the meet, S was flattered with LOC invitation to spend a day with him and his family in Cuautla "to celebrate his birthday together". S asked F would it be appropriate if he and Josephine took a present to Mrs. LOC, as for example, a silver broach or something similar. F told him that the maximum he could take for Mrs. LOC and the boy was a box of chocolatte candies in the value of MN 40.- and F did not imply that he would pay for it.

7. S read through the remainder of the PAQ and it was true that he was able to give very few answers if he did not have an opportunity to observe LOC in the circle of his family and in conditions less formal than they usually meet. It may be noted that S read the questionnaire 2 - 3 times to be aware of what he had to pay attention. S also requested that F bring him back the portion he already filled out because he was now give additional info and correct some of the given answers.

8. At the end of the meet S stated that he did not have his car this evening because Josephine needed it. F told him that he was willing to pay him a taxi, but he was not able to give him a ride. F is quite sure that the car which S uses is Josephines and that it is on S' disposal only when she does not needed. Further, if S ever wanted to identify F's car it is extremely doubtful that he would had ventured into setting excuses in an evening with such lousy weather as it was last night.

9. Byproduct of the talk about the car was that we learned Josephines age: she is 49. According to S nobody would believe that she was more than 40.

Subject: Jimmy TABORI (P-13830) Report on His Meet with LOGINOV (P-11,712) on Aug 4 at Samborns-San Angel
at 2000 hrs.

1. The meet was prearranged and it lasted 2 hours and 15 minutes. As in all previous cases S and LOG met in front of the restaurant. LOG came 3 minutes earlier.

THEIR NEXT MEET: On Aug 16 S and Josephine are to come to Cuautla at the "Banos" about 1000 hrs to be guests of LOG and his family (to celebrate S birthday which is on Aug 13).
On Aug 25 at Samborns-San Angel at 2000 hrs a business meet will be held.

2. LOG and S 2 Vodka cocktails, club sandwitch and a beer. LOG claimed that he had already eaten something and S felt a stomach disconfort.

3. LOG asked S did he finish reading the book (in English) about Rasputin which he gave him about a month ago. S answered affirmatively andthey spoke about the book. LOG promised to give S another book, witten a a British , titled "USSR 1941-45" or similar. LOG wants S to be familiar with the suffering of Sov people during the WW II.

4. Then, LOG asked S what was the situation with the US Embassy Phone Directory. S stated that the fictitious girl Patricia showed up for few day and returned to the States for family reasons. He brought up in a conv with her the Directory and she told him that it was tightly controled. S left it at that point and he told LOG that he would have to start working on the matter from scratch if LOG wanted the Directory but S would appreciate LOGs suggestions as to how to go about it. LOG told S to forget it because he know that the directory was well controled.

5. The next question by LOG was what progress did S make with Mr. TANG. S told him about his meet with TANG on Aug 1 (See FERNALD's TABORI Contact Report dated Aug 5,'69). LOG listened to the story without interrupting and then he told S that he was not certain that

TANG was a member of the Chinese Emb staff here, because he did not find his name in the diplomatic list. Further, he told S that he was doing a good job, which he appreciated, but he must be very cautious because the Chinese are clever people and extremely suspicious.

6. In reply to S' question LOG stated that he nor anyone of them (Sov Emb official)would meet with TANG, because that it too dangerous. S queried what was dangerous about it and LOG stated that there was always a chance that they (TANG and LOG or another Sov) might be seen together and that would be very bad. S went on to tell S that it would be his job to develop friendly relations with TANG ot possibly another Chinese official and slowly obtain from him the info LOG and his embassy needed; LOG will guide him as to how to go about it and if they show confidence in S he will have it made and Sovs (LOG used the expression: WE) would pay him very well for that job. S commented that he had believed that what he was doing he did out of personal friendship with LOG and not for money. LOG smiled at S' statement and added that in addition to money they (Sovs) enable S to travel to Sov Union and have a vacation on the Black Sea.

7. While S was thinking whether to say something or keep quiet, LOG told him that the next time he went to TANG he should limit his conv to the publishing of the article about Nat China and if needed deny that he had any contact with his Sov friend (LOG) since he met TANG; S' job is to win TANGs confidence and that is a slow process with the Chinese. Then, in answer to LOGs question S stated that there were to Mexicans (a woman and a man) working at the Chinese Emb. LOG told him to get their names and addresses. S commented that this was not as simple as it sounded, because one cannot just ask a person what was his name and address. LOG commented that even this was a matter which cannot be rushed; first get their names and later obtain the address.

8. There was another thing S should do: find out how many Chinese live in Mexico City and determined whichones were the influentialone and among the latterones determine which are the most influential; he can start working on this by dropping in a better Chinese restaurant and trying to develop some acquaintances; it can be assumed that those who go to restaurants are people who have money and those who have money are usuallu influential. S agreed with LOG and expected LOG to tell him that he would pay for the visiting of Chinese restaurants, but LOG kept quiet.

9. S had no intention to skip the talk about money and he told him that the publishing of the article about Nat China may end in a blind alley if TANG does not supply at least a half a page of advertising. LOG did not want that to happen and he told S that he (LOG) would give him MN 1,000.- if the printing of the article should be held because of lack of advertising. S brought to LOG's attention that half of page of advertising brings to Pierre (RUDIAN) 1,500.- pesos. LOG felt that he would pay that money as a price of keeping the door open to the Chinese Emb for S. To put some coating on the pill S added that he would try to obtain an add or two from Chinese restaurants, but he daoubted that the owners would be interested in advertising in a magazine which is far from being well known. Just the idea that S conteplated going to Chinese restaurants pleased LOG's ear.

10. LOG was interested in the status of the Presidential race and S told him that it narrowed down to four candidates and that all the indications were in the direction that ECHEVARRIA was to be the official PRI candidate. S believed that by Aug 20 he would know the name of the candidate. In reply to LOG's question S stated that the candidate will be publically known Sept 15-20.

11. LOG wanted to give more time to be positive of the name of the Presidential candidate and he decided that their next (business) meet would be on Aug 25 at the same rime and place. LOG immediately added that he did not forget that S birthday was on Aug 15 and that he believed that it would be the best if they celebrated together in Cuautla on ~~Ema~~ Aug 16. LOG added that on that day his wife and son would be with him in Cuautla and S should bring along Josephine; Log will bring a bottle of "Russian" champaign and pic-nic style food; there will be bottle of Vodka for Jisephine and a bottleof (P does not remember what) for S plus the book he previously mentioned. LOG added some more description about what a wonderful day they would have together. They are to meet in Cuautla about 1000 hrs at the "Banoes". LOG will be there without fail because he will pick up his son who is now attending the "Russian School" in Cuernavaca; the son speaks only Russian and English and LOG is looking forward to the fact that his son will be obliged to speak english all day; LOG's wife speaks a little Spanish and there will be no problem for her and Josephine to understand each other. S promised to be there.

12. Last moment assignment for S: LOG hold an info that TANG speaks Russian. If S succeeds to verify this fact LOG would like to know where did TANG learn Russian.

5. Administrative (salaries, accountings, etc.)

Subject mentioned near the close of the meeting that he owed me $600 (US) for the TV set which COIGNE had obtained for him. I said that I thought this was a gift but Subject said no, he insisted on paying for it and would do so shortly. Meanwhile, a part has burned out and he can not obtain a replacement in Mexico because this particular model is not made in Mexico. He will call in with the details and I will try to get it for him.

6. Information/Instructions passed agent:

None

7. Report/Information received from agent: (use back if necessary)

Subject had been in Europe and Israel for several weeks since our last meeting. Nothing of particular interest developed on this trip.

Before he left, Subject was invited by NECHIPORENKO (P-7442) to celebrate the latter's birthday (which happens to be 4 July). Subject tried to beg off but NECHIPORENKO refused to take no for an answer and actually came to Subject's apartment with KOSTIKOV to bring Subject to NECHIPORENKO's apartment. Since NECHIPORENKO's wife was away, three girls from the Pianitsky Chorus were awaiting the three men. Considerable drinking was done and Subject said it was obvious why they had asked him since the third girl needed a partner. Her name was Nina BUCHAROVA. Subject said that all of the girls were quite attractive and "available for anything." Subject said that he understood that most of the girls in the Chorus fit this category and that they would simply wait until their housemother was asleep before going out and getting some action.

Subject and NECHIPORENKO actually have a good personal relationship. (see attached sheet) page 2

8. Security:

None

9. Miscellaneous:

Subject solved a mystery of where GESTETNER was during his recent visit. Subject had met GESTETNER at the airport and had wined and dined his family during most of the time that GESTETNER was here. No wonder GESTETNER had no time for LIEMPTY-5 or anybody else.

Subject believes that NECHIPORENKO is very intelligent. He speaks the best Spanish of any of the Soviets known to Subject and due to this facility as well as his looks, can pass for a Mexican. Subject believes that NECHIPORENKO was given the task of cultivating and attempting to re-recruite him after LOGINOV failed. Subject had some interesting comments about LOGINOV (P-11,712) which seem to jive with other comments which have been made about him. LOGINOV had apparently originally been given the task of re-recruiting Subject. When he failed, he felt rebuffed and has since been very cool towards Subject. Subject believes that LOGINOV either has or thinks he has been given bad marks by his superiors for having failed with Subject. LOGINOV is probably jealous or NECHIPORENKO who has at least managed to retain Subject's friendship. Subject says that LOGINOV is not dumb and that he uses his good looks to great advantage particularly with women.

Subject has recently had some dealings with IVANOV (P-1612) who is furious for the following reason: Formerly Soviets leaving Mexico would take KLM or Sabena to Europe where they would pick up Aeroflot the following day. KLM and Sabena would pay overnight hotel costs. Now, however, the Soviets are picking up Aeroflot in New York. Because of scheduling, however, they still must spend at least one night in New York. The airlines will not pay this and IVANOV wanted Subject to cover it. Subject refused for the very sound reason that it did not make sense for him to pay $20 for selling a $127 ticket from which his profit was only $9. IVANOV became furious and Subject yielded by agreeing to pay for IVANOV's accommodations and he said he would do it for those becoming as friendly, such as NECHIPORENKO, but he would not do it as a general rule. While Subject was away, however, his wife went overboard and got IVANOV four rooms (for two people). Now Subject is furious.

On 31 July Subject was visited by PRIKHODKO (P-2270) who came in carrying a copy of Pravda or Izvestiya. Subject quoted the old saw, "There is no truth in Pravda and no news in Izvestiya," and PRIKHODKO got mad claiming Subject was acting very unfriendly by making anti-Soviet propaganda. PRIKHODKO was very serious. This is probably as good and as accurate a thumbnail sketch on PRIKHODKO that we are likely to get. PRIKHODKO, who said that he was leaving in September, had visited Subject to find out what Subject knew about a congress of Jewish intellectuals which is to be held in mid-September in Bogota to discuss the Jewish problem in the Soviet Union. PRIKHODKO wanted to know who was going from Mexico. Subject told PRIKHODKO that he had not heard of the congress but would check into it. He did check with someonw at the Israeliac Embassy who was horrified to learn that word had gotten out since at this time knowledge of the congress is confidential. Subject told me that he would tell PRIKHODKO that he had been unable to learn anything, reasoning that to tell him about it would get him involved with further requirements and would be working against the best interests of the Jews. I told Subject that I agreed completely.

Subject said that the Sputnik group which was due in June never did get Mexican visas and their trip has been cancelled. On the other hand, a delegation of about a dozen Soviets is due in August for a Congress of eye, ear, nose, and throat specialists, and still another group of a dozen is due in September for a congress of soil mechanics. Since these are official delegates as opposed to the sputnik group who were tourists, they will have no trouble getting Mexican visas.

Subject himself will be going to Budapest from 1 to 7 November for the IICA congress. Subject is world chairman of this group which apparently is the International Convention Organization.

Subject has received several letters from the Sputnik translator he met on his recent trip to the Soviet Union. She had received the dictionary that he had sent her from Rome and the art books he had sent her from Mexico but not a pair of glasses he had sent her by KLM. Subject will look into this. He is obviously quite fond of this girl and appeared to be seeking my reassurance that she was not a KGB provocation. I repeated that I had said before which is that the possibility she is should be considered but that under the

P-11,712

Subject: Jimmy SABORI (P-13,830)

Date of Meet: August 1 at Restaurant INN Le Club and Bonaparte Bar from 2000 to 2340 hrs

1. The meet was prearranged and S came on time. The main purpose of the meet was to have S fill the PAQ on LOGINOV (P-11,712), which was accomplished to a satisfactory degree, i.e. 26 pages out of 53. Further, FERNALD wanted to check what S has done or prepared for his next meet with LOG which is scheduled for Monday Aug 4 at 2000 hrs (this will be covered in the following paras).

Next meet: Tuesday August 5 at the Restaurant-Bar Continetal
at 2000 hrs.

2. On Friday Aug 1 at 1400 hrs S called on CHIN-HSIEN TANG, Minister Counseler of the Nat Chinese Emb at his office. The purpose of the call was to explain that the magazine La Mision goes to press the latest on the 18th of the month and it was too late to have anything published on Nat. China. In accordance with the instruction S received from Pierre RUDIAN, S told TANG that in publishing such articles the magazine writes them according to the wishes of the embassy of the country about which they are written. Because embassies pay only the subscription, they usually see to it that at least a half of page of advertising is included in the same issue.

3. TANG expressed understanding for such a practice and stated that he was interested in having published an article on the Republic of China and probably one on Chian-Kay-Shek and that he would see to it that a proper amount of ads be purchased.

4. TANG went on to ask which embassies are subscribers of the magazine and which use it for publishing articles. S stated that practically all embassies are subscribers and almost all of them had their articles published at one time or the other. TANG, apparently, was not satisfied with this answer and he asked point blanc was the Sov Embassy a subscriber.

5. When S answered affirmatively, TANG asked S did he know anybody in the Sov Embassy. S stated that he was on friendly terms with an official of the Sov Embassy. TANG commented that this was unusual, because Sovs make frends with nobody. S stated again that he had no other way of calling his relation with the Sov official than a personal friendship. In reply to TANG's question S stated that he prefered not to mention the name of his Sov friend and TANG asked what position did S's Sov friend have. S replied that as far as he knew the Sov official was quite high up (sic). TANG continued his questioning: what was the nature of S' relationship with the Sov, was it a business type relationship; how often did they see each other; where did they meet. S stated that he never transacted any business with the Sov and they meet about twice a month for a dinner or lunch in various restaurants. S added that the Sov plays tennis every week-end and that he (S) sometime goes to watch him playing (Note: the latter statement is not true). TANG asked did S play tennis and he answered negatively.

6. At this point S asked was he interested in meeting his Sov friend and TANG stated that he was. Then, S asked ~~take~~ TANG what should he say to his Sov friend. TANG commented that this was a good question and he told S that he would think about it. Consequently, he asked S could he pass by on Monday or Tuesday (Aug 4 or 5) and S said he would.

7. In reply to P's question S stated that he intended to tell LOG exactly what tranpired on his meet with TANG and that he planned visiting TANG on Monaday so that he would be able to tell LOG did TANG decide to meet LOG.

8. P told S that he was going too far in pleasing LOG and was getting in a deeper and deeper mess by getting involved with the Nat Chinese; it was obvious from the attitued of Mr. TANG that he read him through and was taking his time to find, at could he benifit something out of the whole scheme. Therefore, S should also take it easy and not rush to see TANG on Monday, i.e. before seeing LOG; further, he should stick to his previous decision that it was rather dangerous to be meeting with LOG often.

9. S felt that LOG would press for a meet with S as soon as possible once he got to know that TANG had opened the possiblity of wanting to meet with LOG. P considered this to be possible and impressed on S that it was up to him to stall.

10. At this point S asked F would we help him out if he got in troubles on account of his association with LOG. F replied that he was trying to instruct him how to keep out of troubles and it appeared that S did not care much about what F was telling him. S reacted quite strongly to F' statement by saying that F was wrong, or at least incorrectly interpreted S' attitude; as far as he (S) is concerned he is willing to discontinue meeting with LOG immediately, if we tell him to do so. F answered that if we wanted him to drop LOG we would had told him to do it. Nevertheless, S as an American is certainly aware of the fact that the US Service and, consequently, the US security is getting nothing out of S' collaboration with LOG; in view of the fact that LOG will remain here only about 2 months more we felt it would be the best to leave the matter take its normal course and find its natural end; we were and continue to be interested in keeping him out of trouble, but to achieve this the most important thing was that he carry out our instruction as he received it; we badly need that S fullheartedly comply with our instruction; if S' association with the KGB (sic) continues after the departure of LOG we would probably be willing to continue our relationship with S only if we were able to count on his sincerety and complete complying with every instruction he may receive from us. S stated that it was clear to him that he could not count on any help from us if he got himself in trouble by acting on his own . F left it at that.

11. As the working part of the meet ended about 1040 hrs S stated that he was broke and did not anticipate to be in a better financial condition for two additional months. S turned this theme one way and the other until he came out with the request for about 50.- Dollars. F answered that he would look into the matter and we left the INN Le Club and started walking. S, ~~was~~ obviously fearing that the meet would break up and he would go home without any money, ~~and S~~ complained that the place (the INN) was good for writing purposes but the food was lousy (true) and no drinks were served and that if he was not broke he would had invited F to a brandy. F reacted by offering a brandy. Once at the bar S asked F could he give him some money this evening. F felt it would serve no purpose if he stalled more and he gave S MN500.- and obtained a receipt for the same.

Date of Meet July 30 at Restaurant Firenze at 1630

1. Prearranged meet to which L-1 came 10 min early. The meet lasted 2 hours and 30 min.

Next meet: Wednesday Aug 6 at the same place at 1630 hrs.

2. L-1 came to this meet in much better shape than he was last time in spite of the fact that he complained of being tired. He wanted to eat something, but he did not feel ~~kas~~ having a full meal. He had 4 drinks (Rum and soda).

3. L-1 handed me a personality sketch which he prepared on BROVKIN which is not much by itself, but it could be useful for personality assessment of B.

4. I questioned L-1, as much as I was able without tipping my hand, about his visit to the Sov Emb on July 9. I detected no indication of deception nor withholding of info on his side.

[illegible]

5. In the course of debriefing L-1 on his meet with LCG I made my comments and gave him necessary instruction, which are covered in the following paras.

6. As L-1 mentioned LCGs questioning about LIOVAL-1 he immediately pointed out that the whole thing made no sense to him after LCGs repeated statements at the last meet that he was not interested in LIOVAL-1. I told L-1 that it made little sense to me, except, if LCG wanted to ascertain was L-1 telling him the truth. Then I added that I wished LIOVAL-1 had made some statement which L-1 could relay to LCG to see what would be his reaction. L-1 commented that once in the past he told LCG that LIOVAL-1 told him that he used to know a Sov diplomat here whom he considered to be his friend and was disappointed when the Sov diplomat tried to recruit him, because it was obvious that the friendship was a pretence. When LCG heard this he laughed and said that this was one of the old clumsy methods which are no longer used. (NOTE: I did not know about this fact and would appreciate whether it is contained in the files)

7. With regard to Victor I. RAMOS P. (or R) there is little to be said which was not mentioned in the Attachment # 1. His calling card had the following phones printed: 46-77-17; 46-15-78 and on the back was writeen 32-08-95. I am not inclined to take at the face value LOG's statement that he knew nothing about RAMOS, especially, in view of the fact that RAMOS ought to be attending the IICRM for some time to be able to speak some Russian and prounced well. L-1 is willing to make the translation RAMOS wants if he finds no difficulty in handling the terminology.

8. LCG's reaction on MUNOZ' plan to show the Sov film at the CP center at Versailles appears to be interesting.

9. L-1 was again puzzled with LOG's hints that L-1 should do something for the Socialist cause genuinely dislikes the idea of getting involved in the KGB work. I told him that I also did not want him to get involved in spying for KGB but I did not want him to be cast aside by Sov officials; there will be things L-1 can do to show the good will and what he does don amount to nothing as is the case with the showing of the Sov film: the most important is that he does nothing without checking with me.

10. According to L-1, LCG never before revealed his political way of thinking as much as he did in his statements concerning the excessive freedom in the USSR and other Socialist countries.

11. In answer to my question L-1 stated that he brought up the question of not being invited by LCG to his apt, because on the previous meet I asked him whether he was ever in LCG's house. This correct and I asked L-1 this question having in mind the filling out of the PAQ. I saw in L-1's agenda under Aug 8 LCG's address plus 1900 hrs. I told L-1 that if he is received by LCGs as a friend that it will be necessary that he (L-1) give a farewall dinner for LCG at his place. As a matter of fact before breaking up the evening L-1 should ask LCG and his wife which date in Sept they would be able to come to L-1's house; he will add that he would appreciate if LCG brought along one or two Sov couples. If LCG asks who else would be there L-1 will state he did not plan having anyone else, but if LCG wishes so he was willing to invite anyone LCG suggested.

Purpose of this suggestion from the point of our interest is quite obvious.

12. After the debriefing I asked I-1 to start filling out the IAQ and it 10 pages were completed. The work was going slower than I anticipated because it is not only a matter of translating but also explaining the questions.

Subject: LIBACON-1 (P-4805) - LOGINOV (P-11,712) Meet at Restaurant Fonda del Retiro on July 28 at 1300 hrs

1. The meet was prearranged and L-1 was in front of the restaurant 4 min before LOG. The meet lasted about 90 minutes.

THEIR NEXT MEET: Friday August 8 at LOG's Apt at Ignacio Esteva 21/2 at 1900 hours.

2. No cocktails were taken before the meal and with the meal beer was drank. LOG lead off with questions concerning L-1's family, health, work and entertainment.

3. Ammong questions concerning L-1's work there were also questions concerning LIOVAL-1: was L-1 giving him classes regularly; was LIOVAL-1 asking L-1 questions about the USSR or Sov officials; did LIOVAL-1 make any statements which would show "how he treates politically"(sic). L-1 gave routine answer pointing out that LIOVAL-1 does not hesitate to speak about his family matters and work, but he never asks questions of any kind; he takes his language classes regularly ; there were no statements concerning political matters.

4. L-1 told LOG that July 24 or 25 a young man Victor I RAMOS called on him in the evening at home and told him that he needed a translation of about 20 pages of Russian text into to Spanish and that he was sent by LOG and he asked him who was the person. LOG stated that he did not know the person and since it was a matter of translation he (LOG) sent him to L-1 hoping that he may earn some money by making the translation L-1 asked LOG did he know that RAMOS spoke some Russian which he learned at the IIORM. LOG stated that he was not aware of that fact. L-1 will make the traslation if he can handle the terminology dealing with economy.

5. L-1 told LOG that he spoke to E. MUNOZ about the Sov film and that MUNOZ was pleased with the offer. Due to the fact that MUNOZ is presently undergoing a treatment he was not able to make arrangements for showing of the film. In reply to LOG's question L-1 stated that MUNOZ wanted to show the film in the Communist Party Centro (sic) at [illegible]

Versailles, LOG exclaimed that for Heavens sake he did not anything like that; he wanted this to be entirely on private and personal basis without political elements involved; to show the film at Versailles would be stupid, it would just enable the imperialists to blast in the papers that the Sovs were getting involved in internal political matters of Mexico; in view of the coming Presidential elections this could be blown up into a scandal. L-1 remarked that he saw no difference in showing the film in the OPCentro or in the Centro Asturiano as LOG wanted originally. LOG explained at length the difference and L-1 promised to have another talk with MUNOZ.

6. L-1 told ~~that~~ LOG that quite recently he saw in the press something written to the effect that there are presently in the USSR 4 types of detention (concentration) camps and he wondered whether that was an indication that the freedom in the USSR was being trimmed again. LOG stated that "this was pure imperialist propaganda". He went on to say that in the USSR the cafes are full of people and that one can hear them even critisizing the government. He added that in his opinion there is too much (demasiado mucho) freedon in the USSR and other Socialist countries If Stalin was alive it could not happen that while the people in America are openly protesting against the war in Vietnam and against imperialism a Socialist country as Czecho rizes its people in favor of American and West Gernam empirialism. "Too much freedom in the USSR results with still more freedom in other Socialist countries; this is no longer freedom, it is a shameful betraial of Socialism; I hope that it will be realised soon that Stalin was right", said LOG.

7. At this point LOG worked in a hint to L-1 that he should do something for the Socialist cause. L-1 sounded his old tune saying that he saw nothing he could do and added that now when LOG opened him the door to the American Intelligence Service through Victor RAMOS (actually working for The Economist Intelligence Unit, S.A., Reforma 116 - 801 B) he would find out would they pay him well and if they would he would work for them, because anyway the Sovs never gave him anything. When LOG asked him what the hell he was speaking about, L-1 stated that he was ~~km~~ joking and LOG commented that L-1 had never done anything to help the Sov effort and consequently, they were not able to pay him anything.

8. L-1 asked LOG how was his wife doing, etc and added that he (LOG) never invited him to his house, while at the time he had met BROVKIN he was invited to Bs house after they met the second or third time. LOG told L-1 he had no intention of keeping L-1 away from his house, but he wanted him to know that since the time BROVKIN was here certain things had changed: previously the Sov Embassy was paying the rent for the apts of their officials and now the officials have to pay the rent from their salary. Consequently, LOG lives in a small, modest apt and he does not feel that it is adequate for receiving people. L-1 commented that LOGs statement made him feel bad because he believed that they were friends and that formalities were not necessary among them. LOG counteracted by saying that L-1 and his wife were invited to his apt on Wed July 30, but he did not want L-1 to be surprized to see in what kind of apt a Sov Dipl officials was living. L-1 thanked for the invitation and stated that it was impossible to him to come before 2030 hrs on Wed because he had late classes. LOG felt that 2030 was rather late and they agreed that L-1 and his wife would come to LOGs for dinner on Friday Aug 8.

Date of July 22 at the Raffaello from 2000 to 2325 hours.

1. This meet was held in lieu of the one scheduled for the previous evening to which S did not come. In the course of the morning of July 22 I tried to reach S by phone at his office but he did not come there. In the afternoon he phoned to our office and left the message to call him home. I called about 1625 when I returned from another ops meet, but S was not in. Josephine told me that he would be back in 30 minutes. When I called at 1700 hrs Josephine told me that S called from out and told her that he was going to the airport and that I should call about 1800 hrs. At 1815 hrs a maid answered the phone and told that S was out but would return home soon. At 1900 hrs the maid gave me the same answer. At 1930 hrs Josephine answered and passed the phone to S. We arranged this meet.

Next meet: August 1 at the Chez Le Club at 2000 hrs.

2. S did not go through much of trouble to explain the reason he did not come to the meet the previous day. He said that he did not write in his notebook the time of the meet and he went to the Raffaello at 1400 hrs just to see whether I was there; in the evening he went to movies with Josephine "because, anyway he was not sure when we were supposed to meet. I listened to his explanation without comment.

3. Inevitably, the moon landing was the first topic. S spoke about his excitement while watching the TV on July 20 in the evening and he concluded that LCG congratulated him on the great American success and explained the failure of the Luna 15 by saying that it must have landed on a rock and toppled down. At this point I asked S when did he see LCG and he answered that they had their meet on Friday July 18. Willy-nilly I had to ask S how could LCG congratulate him on the successful moon landing which took place two days later. It took a second or two until S told me that LCG extended his congratulations by phone. NOTE: It is possible that S' meet with LCG took place as was scheduled and there was no talk about the moon landing but S' emotional description of the feat carried to the statement about LCG's congratulations. It is also that S met with LOG on Mon evening (July 21), i.e. at the time S was supposed to meet with me and he did not have the guts to tell me that he left me waiting and he went to meet with LOG.

4. I went to the debriefing of S on his meet with LOG. Most of the aspects of that meet are self explanatory. Nevertheless, there are new interesting factors concerning S' future meets with LOG. It may be noted that S requested less frequent meet on basis of suggestion I made to him during the brief meet of July 18. Another factor is the rattling of big money.

5. There are facts which are naive and contradictory as far as LOG is concerned. LOG will work out a plan which is to provide security to their personal meets on one hand and on the other he invited S to come to the French Club..... LOG did not appear a serious operator if he felt that S was able to lead TANG in convs about military strength of Red China.

6. The previously heralded friendship between LOG and AUDAIN ~~[illegible]~~ boils down to a buble. On the other hand my attempt to debrief S on the activity of AUDAIN was just a little better than nothing. (Will prepare a separate Attachment).

7. As the attachment # 1 shows I discussed in detail the question of S' phone calls to LOG on July 10.

8. I also showed to S 10 pages of the PRQ and he felt confident to be able to answer them and similar ones. In fact, the restaurant Raffaello does not lend itself to the excercise of doing any writing there. Therefore we agreed to meet on Aug 1 mainly for the purpose of filling out the PRQ.

9. I asked him did he receive any answer on his application (sic) meaning the PRQ. I told him that I would had advised him if I had anything in that respect. To me it looked that the question indirectly meant did we intend to give him some money.

Re: Phone call to LCC on July 10

1. JS stated without hesitation that he phoned to LCC on July 10, i.e. the day their meet took place.

2. JS believes that he made his first phone call (NB: the one recorded by LIENVOY) about 1100 hrs. He was told to call in an hour and he DID CALL more or less an hour later. Then, he was told that LOC was still busy and that he should call in 30 minutes. JS CALLED AS HE WAS TOLD and after quite bit of waiting LCC came to the phone. Consequently, JS made THREE calls to the same phone number.

J. believes him, means LIENVOY missed 2 calls: including Comments with him

3. All THREE calls which JS made were answered by the same male voice. There was no indication that the male answering the phone recognized JS' voice in any of his two back calls.

4. JS recalls that when he made his second call and stated that it was "Vladimir calling" the operator understood that "calling" was the second name and he asked JS how to spell it, which required some explaining.

5. JS is positive that at no time during his 3 calls he mentioned any kind of second name.

6. English was spoken at the request of the operator.

[illegible]

Comment: Apart of the fact that the meet did take place, which should justify the assumption that at least one back call was made, there were no indications that JS tried to deceive us on this matter. Is it possible that the electricity was cut off at the [illegible] site between the first call and back calls?

Subject: Jimmy SABORI (P-13,830) Report on Meet with LOGINOV (P-11,712) on July 18 at SEPs-Paris

1. The meet was prearranged and it lasted about two hours. The previously used procedure was followed: S and LOG met in front of the restaurant and they entered it together. As usually, LOG was sharp in appearing on the spot.

THEIR NEXT MEET: On Aug 4 at Samborns Insurgentes-Tasquena at 2000 hrs.

2. Course of the Meet.

LOG asked S why he did not come "to play tennis with him" at the French Club on July 12. S explained that he was not feeling well and that he did not recover completely from the flu which he had all week. S added that only for the reason of keeping the word given to a friend (LOG) he came to this meet. Nice words by LOG who concluded that he brought S 2 bottles of Votka which can be used as " a medicine" for colds and similar disconforts.

3. As it could be expected after such an opening of the meet LOG was interested was S able to accomplish something for him. S told him that he had done what he promised and gave LOG the written report which LOG read. When he finished the reading LOG remarked that S did not sign the report. When S said that he was willing to do it right there, LOG said that it was not necessary and that he was only joking.

4. LOG spent considerable amount of time in questioning S about the reasons, consequences which the cancellation of PEMEX contract(s) with some US oil companies. At certain point the questions lacked clarity and S asked LOG point blanc what was he driving at. LOG stated that S should realize that the USSR is the second largest producer of oil in the world (sic) and that he was interested in finding out was it possible for the USSR to step in where the Americans kicked out (sic). S told LOG that it was difficult to go more wrong than LOG was in his thinking, because if Mexicans did not want Americans involved in their oil business it was positively certain that they wanted no foreigner, regardless of who they may be, to have anything to do with Mexican oil industry.

5. LOG commented that the USSR was very much interested in establishing strong economic interchange, especially trade, with Mexico and they were not finding the right atmosphere nor proper response in Mexico. He asked S what, in his opinion, could or should be done to overcome this situation. S answered that he believed that the Sovs ought to change their mentality if they wanted to trade with Mexico, namely, in the field of trade they should forget about Socialism and adapt the Capitalistic mentality: to trade with Mexico Sovs would have to establish industrial plants here and to do it Mexicans must have 51 per cent share in each case, which means the controling stock; in reality this does not mean that Mexicans would invest 51 per cent of the value........

6. LOG went to the other item of the written report and he asked S how he went about in contacting Chin-Hsien TANG, counselor of the Nat Chinese Emb. S told him about posing as a reporter for the magazine La Mision and going there on reccommendation of Pierre RUDIAN (See FERNALD's previous contact report). S added that in the Sept issue of the magazine there would be an article dealing with Nat China and the Peiking - Moscow coflict and if needed another artoicle on Ching-Kai Shek would be published. LOG told S that he was pleased with the manner in which S handled the task he gave him. LOG did not discuss the contents of this part of S's report and he questioned S about CHTANG: he wanted to know was S in a position to keep this acquaintance alive and develop it in to a sort of friendly informal relationship; he (LOG) knew TANG from some formal diplomatic gatherings and he liked the person. S believed that he was able to keep alive the established acquaintance and was not able to guess as to how far he would be able to develop it. LOG suggested that S do not allow too much time to pass until his next visit to TANG. S said that he could call on TANG on Fri July 25 to explain him that he did not succeed in getting the article in the Aug issue of the magazine and will publish it in Sept issue; at the same time S will make it known that he was interested in getting the material for an article on Chiang-kai Shek which should keep the doors open for another visit.... S was in his element when he was describing this and LOG was not finding enough word to praise S and at the same time to encourage him to all he can to bring his relationship with TANG to a point that LOG could meet TANG in a friendly unofficial manner. LOG concluded that for such a job he was willing to pay S in terms of thousands of Dollars. After the dust of verbage settled LOG told S that he should try to feel out TANG was he willing to speak about the military stregth of Red China. LOG explained to S that presently the Sovs were completely in dark as to the military strength and operational organisation of the Red Chinese army; they have no way of acquiring the info because even if they had friends in Red China none of them dared to maintain contact with Sov officials nor officials of other Socialist countries which are known to be on the Sov side; Nat China has many spies in Red China and they are well infoed on all aspects of developments in Red China; it is possible that TANG would be willing to make arrangements with his government for exchange of info, especially, military info between the USSR and the Rep. of China and this would be beneficiary to the USSR and the USA. LOG went on to tell S that he should think in terms of using RUDIAN for getting to meet TANG out of his embassy; be that a party or whatever might be needed, the expenses will taken care of by LOG, because money is no problem.

7. Then, LOG stated that S should arrange something to enable LOG to meet RUDIAN in a small, family type, circle. S was cought by surprize and told LOG that he told him that he and RUDIAN were quite often seeing each other. LOG stated that he knew RUDIAN well and was in may instances with RUDIAN at receptions and other formal social functions, but he never had an oportunity to be with RUDIAN in friendly and unformal circumstances. S commented that the only problem he found in trying to make such an arrangement was in the fact that RUDIAN often, sometime even twice in a week, drops in to see S at his (Josephine's) apt but he never announces his visits in advance more than an hour or two before he comes.

8. LOG asked S what happened to the US Emb phone directory; did the girl (friend of S) return. S answered that he did not have the slightest idea what was going on, "because in his condition (of health) he did even go to check did the girl return".

9. LOG was proposing that they meet in the course of the next week but S told him that he felt that they were meeting too often and in view of his status of a tourist it may be assumbed that the Gobernacion carry out spot checks on him; if he was to be seen by the Gebernacion or Security agents in company of LOG it is prety certain that they would take him in and interrogate him; he thinks that this can be avoided if they do not see each other so often.

10. LOG agreed with S' reasoning and added that he himself realised that they were getting together too often and he also cannot be 100 per cent sure that he is not tailed some-time. Therefore, he will out a plan by which they will be able to see each other whenever it is needed and will limit their regular personal meets to twice per month. He went on to tell S that he would pick up an apropriate spot on which S will place a chalk sign when he needs to se LOG urgently; LOG will pass by the place every morning and if he see the sign he will erase it which will assure S that he und rstood his request and they would then meet the same evening at a place (restaurant) which they would select only for this purpose. LOG concluded by stating that this was the general idea and that he would work out the details which he will explain to S on their next meet which they would hold in two weeks, i.e. August 4.

11. S commented that the plan looked good and if LOG was sure that it would work then there was no need for them to meet more than one a month. LOG stated that 2 meets per month were needed in spite of the fact that he was positive that his system was dependable.

12. S told LOG that he did not spend any of the MN 400.- he gave him for the purpose of establishing contact with an official of the Nat Chinese Emb and consequently wanted to return the money. LOG told him to keep it for himself and that he would give him money, as much as needed, if he had an oportunity to entertain TANG.

13. There was some unconsequential talk and LOG told S to come to the French Club any Saturday and that he would teach him to play tennis. LOG explained that he was going to the club every Saturday about 1000 hrs: S will be allowed to enter if he says that LOG was waiting for him.

Contact Report
Subject: Jimmy SABORI (P-13,830)
Date of Meet: July 18, at Melchor Ocampo & Leibnitz Coffee Shop
at 1500 hrs.

1. The meet was arranged by phone. On July 17 S phoned to our office and requested that FERNALD ring him up the next morning. After numerous fruitless attempts F finally reached S at his house at 1330 hrs. S told F that he was with a Chinese the previous day and would see him again on that afternoon at 1400 hrs. S concluded that on the basis of his first encounter with the Chinese he prepared a report for his friend (LOGINOV) whom he would see the same evening at 2000 hrs. F told S that he would want to see what he wrote before he gives it to LOG and a meet was arranged at the above indicated location.

2. F asked S how did he manage to see Mr. Chin-Hsien Tang (Counselor of Chinese Embassy) and where did he see him. S stated that Pierre ~~A[illegible]~~ Audiah helped him: PA phoned to the Nat China Emb and said that S, a collaborator in the La Mision (magazine), would like to visit the Emb and talk to a person who would be able to give him some info for an article he was preparing for La Mision. On July 17 about 1300 hrs S went to the Emb and after saying that he was coming from Pierre Audiah's he was received by TANG, Counselor of the Emb. S stated that he was interested in preparing an article concerning Chino - Sov ideological conflict, Mao's territorial claims and repeated border clashes; S would want have some views of Nat China government on these problems. TANG stated that he, nor his government, had any interest in the ideological conflict between Peiking and Moscow; with regard to Mao's territorial claims there was no doubt that they were legitimate; the fact that Mao was bring up this claims tends to indicate that Mao's position was weak within the country and his ruling party, and therefore, Mao had to seek an issue which would unite the leaders and people around him: such a political play may lead to war. S claims that he asked TANG on which side would Nat. China be in case of war between Red China and the USSR and TANG told him that such a decision would be made by a special top level Department of their government. On S' remark that Nat China cannot count on American assistance to return to the mainland, TANG stated that Nat China Government was aware of the fact that the USA cannot help them in that matter without getting involved in war with Mao's forces, which Nat China understands and considers that such a war would serve no purpose.

3. According to S after 10 - 15 min of talking TANG gave S some material and told him to return the next day to pick up additional material which he could use for his article. Therefore, S went to the Nat China Emb on July 18 at 1400 hrs and got some of their publications in English. To keep the door open for additional visit S requested some material on Chian-kai Shek and TANG told him that it would take some time to get it. TANG also asked did S or La Mision have connections with Sovs here and S stated they did not, but the Sovs were subscribers to the magazine. Reportedly, this visit lasted about 20 minutes.

Julian

brother of [illegible] Flores

4. After reading the paper (report) which S prepared for LOG F asked S was the Julian CARRILLO FLORES the same person whom he mentioned previously to me to his source on the Port of Spain ~~xmat~~ Conference and refered to him as Eduardo. S claims that he knew of no Eduardo CARRILLO FLORES, and if he had stated that it was Eduardo it must have been a slip of tongue. As for Julian, he is a a Department (unknown which) Chief in PEMEX.

5. In reply to F's question S stated that the US companies affected by the PEMEX decision were Continental Oil, Gulf Gas (or oil) and Kelly Oil from California.

6. In reply to F's question S stated that he did not go to the French Club on Saturday July 12 with LOG because he was not feeling well. He added that because of his condition (flu) he was keeping himself away from his office; he was still not well (remark: true) but he felt much better.

6. S asked F what he thought about the development of S's relationship with LOG. F said there was not much to think about, because LOG was getting all he wanted and it was obvious that we had no possibility of getting anything from S because he brought us in the picture at the time it would make no sence to try to change anything. S commented that it was not his intention to cut us short, but to the contrary, he wanted to be of help to us. F calmly stated that S was still able to do that if he timely reports acquaintance with any other Sov official and follows our instruction for every further step he makes in relationship with such an official. S said that we could count on him.

7. S stated after some thinking that he had connections in practically every branch of the Mexican government, but definitely had none in the Seguridad de Estado. F commented that this was understandable because the Security keeps itself separated from politicking which enables this organization to carry out it duties without interference of politicans. F added that the Security people ~~are~~ were excellently trained and were amazingly efficient in their work. It was evident that F's statements left S worried. F took advantage of the silence and added as an after thought that in his opinion it would be wise if S thinned his meets with LOG to 2, maximum 3, per month.

8. F changed his previously prearranged meet with S from Sat July 19 to Monday July 21 at 2000 hrs. S did not have his notebook with him and he assured F that he would not forget it. This meet lasted 30 min.

Embajada de la República de China

Ministro Plenipotenciario - Consejero del Embajador, Chin-Hsion Tang:

Plátique con el sr. Tang sobre el problema de Russo-Chino en la- frontera del rio Ussuri isla de Damansei llamada en Chino Txenpao.

El cree que Mao Tse-tung en realidad necesita tanto una diversion de sus problemas internos como consolidar el Ejercito Rojo un enemigo para unir al pueblo. Ya que los Estados Unidos es un cuento viejo y que no amenazan sus fronteras, el más logico es la Union Sovietica. Los terrenos que reclama son realmente Chinos pues en el añõ 1847 Zar Nicolás I logró anexar a Rusia la cuenta del - rio Amur y en el año 1853 arrancaron a China la margen norte del- mismo rio. Mao Tse-tung ya se fué mas allá de lo que pensaba y para el ya no hay retorno. Si se regresa, pierde tanto al Ejercito Rojo así como la union del pueblo. Ahora tiene que seguir adelante y solo que el camino que induce a la guerra. En el trato de San Petesburgo Rusia echo mano de otro 70 mil kilómetros cuadrados de la China occidental de la provincia de Sinkiang. Asi que en realidad el problema de la isla de Chenpao no está circunscrita a ella, que en si no vale la pena.

Le pregunte a que lado estan ellos en este problema y el me respondio," al lado que más nos convenga". Le dije que al lado de Maono tiene un aliado y con el jamas volveren a China. Ellos tiene - un departamento estratejico que estudia con quiene y cuando es el- mejor tiempo de regresar y con quiene más les conviene.

Los Terrenos que Pide Mao Tse-tung de Rusia

Nocolás Muraviev, en representación de Zar Nicolás I

1840-47 Anexa hasta el rio Amur.

1858 anexan la margen norte del rio.

1864 anexan 440 mil kilómetros cuadrados de la China occidental.

1881, anexan 70 mil kilómetros cuadrados del trato de San Petesburgo. (Provincia China de Sinkiang)

Despues de la Primera Guerra Muddial Rusia se echa sobre Mongolia y se posesiona de la parte de Manchuria.

1954 Mao Tse-tung pide al gobierno Ruso, Nikita ~~Kruche~~ Kruschev que regresen los terrenos que les prometio Lenin regresar.

Rusia se niega ! He aqui la furia de Mao Tse-tung.

Contact Report
Subject: Jimmy SABORI (P-13,830).
Date of Meet: August 26 at Chez Rene at 1400 hrs

1. The meet was prearranged and S came on time. The meet lasted two hours and 30 minutes.

NEXT MEET: Sept 8 at the same place at 1400 hrs.

2. S apologized for not bringing the copy of the report he gave to AEDIEHARD: he did not think of it this morning when he left the house.

3. I told S that the fact that AEDIEHARD would remain here at least five additional month did not please me, becuase I was not able to let the things go the way they were going until now and be just an observer. In reply to my questions S stated he was ready and determined to anything we tell him to do: he is willing to drop the association with AEDIEHARD; he is equally ready to do or tell AEDIEHARD anything we instruct him even if it was certain that AEDIEHARD would drop him; he is willing to go through any doings we consider necessary. I believe S was sincere in his statements.

4. I told S not to call A under any circumstances before their next meet (Sept 10); keep away from the Chinese Emb; if he gets the add from Luau Restaurant S can advise WONG by phone; take proof of the article as was promised but avoid any conv watsoever; if Josephine feels like going to the French Club on Sat (Aug 30) S can go with her, but I see no point in him going along alone. S stated that he understood what he was told and he would not do a move without checking with me.

5. S asked in a matter of fact tone that he would like to know where he stood with us; did we want him to carry out the work we request for patriotic reasons; do we intend give him a salary or make a worthwhile present. I told him that he can rest sure that we realized that he was not in a financial position to be able to work out of patriotic feelings, and consequently he would be paid for his work as much as it is worth to us.

6. Re next President: According to the statement of Dr Enrique BOLAÑOS Cacho, cousin of GDO with whom GDO plays domino every Tuesday at Los Pinos, L.ECHEVARRIA is the man; the race narrowed to 2 persons, Echevarria and Ortiz Mena; Mena is out because of reasons of health. The statement was made Sunday to ING. ESPEJOS and S got it from BARRIOS Gomez Monday afternoon. (Note I phoned to S Monday morning and he did have any news on this topic).

Subject: Jimmy SANORI (P-13,830) Report on His Meet with AEDIBHARD (P-11,712) on Aug 25 at Samborns-San Angel at 2000 hr

] The m.

1. The meet was prearranged and it lasted 90 minutes. No changes in the pattern of meeting and A came on time.

THEIR NEXT MEET: Sept 10 at the same place at 2000 hrs.
S was invited to come on Sat at 1030 hrs to the French Club with Josephine. S not sure he will go.

2. A apologized for not going to Cuautla on Aug 16. Lots of nice words about thinking about S and Hosephine all day that rainy day.

3. A had a suprise for S: few days ago he received orders to remain in Mexico at least 5 months more (sic). When S aked was he ~~not~~ pleased with the order, A stated that he was practically packed up and he had made plans regarding the places he wanted to visit and it was no pleasure in unpacking and so much less he liked the idea of cancelling his plans. S asked several questions about A's wife and A was giving normal answers. At no time did A belittle his wide and he stated that she was 40 years old.

4. S handed to A a written report on what he accomplished with the Chinese. A thanked for the same and told S to get the article published by all the means; do all possible to get the ad from the Luau Restaurant; keep in touch with WONG or TANG but make sure there is a bona fide reason to go to see them, example, to tell them that the ad was obtained, show them the script of the article before it is published and similar; be very careful because Chinese are highly suspicious people.

5. Then, A asked S why TANG was not listed in the Dip List. S stated that it was evident from TANG's calling card that he just recently arrived here. A accepted the explantion and told S that WONG was listed in the Dip List as a counselor and that he (A) had confused TANG with WONG and that it was WONG who spoke Russian.

6. At this point A handed to S an envelope containing MN 500.- and he told S he wanted him to have that money for accidental expenses while collecting info for A. S pretended he was hesitant to receive money but did not drag the story long (from fear that A might change his mind).

7. After the brief "ceremony" about giving and accepting the money A asked S did he have any news about the US Embassy Phone Directory. S reminded A that he told at their last meet that he had no way of getting it. A asked S did he know anybody working in the USIS. When S answered that he did not think so A told him there was a number of girls working for USIS, they work on the 3rd floor (of the Emb building) and several of them live in the Hotel Geneve; they carry out some propaganda; A is not sure "how far" can one get with them (in terms of having good time), but there is no problem of getting them (although, the interest is limited to one girl) to go out for dinner and dancing. This is something S should look into. S commented to the effect did A have an idea how much it ~~takes~~ costs to take a chick like those for an evening of good time; such a bill runs about MN 700.- . A replied that money was no problem; if S lines up something it is enough if he phones him a day earlier and he will bring him the money.

8. At this point A gave S the following instruction: If S ever needs something from A, as money, or he has something for A he should call the Emb and state that he wants to speak to Vladimir of the Consulate and stress that it was Vladimir calling. If A is in his office he will take the phone and there will be "just mucho gusto de saludarle" from both sides. If A is not there he(S) is to request to give the message that Vladimir called. The call should be made in the morning if possible. Regardless, whether S gets to speak to A or not he is to go the same evening at 2000 hrs to their meet place at Samborns-San Angel.

9. S said he would see what could be done and asked A was it possible that he was not able to do anything about the platinum. A apologized that it skipped his memory to tell S that he spoke to their Commercial Counselor Viktor IVANOV (full name mentioned by A) about the matter and that VI wanted first to know through which Swiss bank would the transaction be carried out; terms of the deal the buyers propose and be advised that Sovs were not interest in any deals which would be less than 1 million US Dollars. As soon as S submits the info, S and IVANOV will start working on the deal: if IVANOV leaves before the deal is closed it will not affect the deal becquse IVANOV will be able to back it in Moscow. S commented that it sounded good and that both of them will make a nice sum of ~~many~~ money. With a smile on his face A told S that he did not want any money because he had all the money he wanted. A commented that this was the case which makes it evident that they were in position to help each other : A facilitates the platinum deal for S and S get hold of a girl who can bring out the phone directory for couple of hours.

10. A asked the regular question as to who will be the next President of Mexico. S told him it will be Luis ECHEVARRIA, but this is still not positive. A did not ask for the source of info.

11. S asked A who was the girl in the restaurant he waved to and she waved back. S stated it was the girl with whom he quite regularly played tennis.

12. S was not able to recall one more thing A asked him to do or find info about.

13. The meet ended with a talk about birthdays. A has his on Dec 25 and his wife earlier. A made it known that his wife would accept with pleasure a birthday present as a bracelet.

Source: [illegible]-1 (P-4805)

1. In accordence with arrangements made in ~~xx~~ the presence of [illegible] during the previous meet with Source, Engineer Manuel RESTORI an his wife Ann invited Subject and his wife LYUDMILA SOKOLOV for a drink to their house on Sunday Nov 1 at 1900 hrs. Source and wife were also invited. This get-together lasted 3 - 3½ hours.

2. The party was pleasant and Subject appeared satisfied to be able to have somebody with whom he could speak his language. He was quite talkative, while his wife was rather reserved. Nevertheless, when Source stated that on Nov 3 will be 13 years since he arrived in Mexico and wanted to celebrate the occasion with a dinner at his place and have the same company together, Subject and his wife commented that the celebration would have to be postponed, because Ann de RESTORI and ~~xxxxxxxxx~~ Sokolov will be on a business trip. They both accept the invitation for the dinner to take place a day or 2 after Ann RESTORI and SOKOLOV return to town.

COPIES MADE

3. It was interesting to note that Subject and his wife Lyudmila stated that AEBIEHARD lived in Moscow in the same building or the same complex of buildings and that they were very close friends. Lyudmila went on to say that AEBIEHARDS daughter was now 18 of age and that she was outright a beauty. AEBIEHARD was proud about the fact that his daughter was admited to the Institute (Source believes: of Technology) in Moscow. Subject and his wife also stated that AEBIEHARD was doing fine back home, but no details were mentioned as to what was he doing.

4. Subject spoke about the place he was living in here and added that there were several Sov families living in the same building. He started the listing with [illegible] and Source interrupted by stating that he knew KOL and explained how he got to know him. Source went on to say that in connection with the same job he got to know KARALACH. Subject and wife commented that KARALACH had left PCS some time ago. Source said he did not know it, because he believed that KARALACH would remain here until he completed a 4-year stay and he did not believe that the 4 years already passed. Subject and wife said they did not know how long he was here but were positive that he left PCS.

5. Subject asked Source whom else did he know in the Sov Emb. Source stated that he presently knew very few because a number of his friend left. He mentioned he knew CHERNISH, whom he liked as a person. There were no comments from Subject and his wife. When source stated that he also knew NECHIPORENKO but found it difficult to get closer in relationship with him "because he is a dry person", Subject started smiling and nodding his head in sign of approval, but Subjects wife remained motionless and looked reproachingly at her husband.

6. Subjects wife spoke that the fact ~~x~~ of having their own car here was of great advantage for her, because "the Embassy has strongly reccommended to wives of Sov officials never to use taxis which obliges them to wait for their husbands or embassy chauffeurs to take them around ~~to~~ for shopping or social visits".

7. Source considers Subject to be a simple man, quite bit a peasant, talkative, deeply attached to the region Siberia from which he comes, inclined to stick to propaganda exaggerations about the progress in the USSR, but in the field of personal matters sincere. His wife acts as an aristocrat, dresses according to fashion (not Sov) and feels self important. No doubt she has her eye on luxury.

8. Except for the fact that they mentioned they had a 12year old son Sergey, there was no mention of other children nor any problems in connection with children.

SECRET

Soviet Operational Contacts:

AEMIDRIFF made the following comments concerning what appeared to her to be operational contacts and/or modus operandi of Soviet intelligence officers in Mexico:

Debriefing conducted 25-26 April 1970:

LOGINOV - During the affair between AEMIDRIFF and LOGINOV, they went to the movies once or twice a week, the Futurama and Cine Mod being the theaters most frequently attended. LOGINOV always made some sort of contact during these outings, according to AEMIDRIFF. She stated that he usually left his seat about 2300 hours and went out to the lobby for some time. She did not know where the contacts were actually made. Once she and LOGINOV encountered, apparently accidentally, outside the Cine Mod theater, a Mexican Army Colonel, who was introduced to her by LOGINOV as "Col. Sergio." In this instance LOGINOV did not excuse himself to have a private conversation with the Mexican. "Col. Sergio" was described by AEMIDRIFF as about 40, tall, no moustache or glasses, thick, curly hair, appeared to be of Spanish descent. The woman with "Col. Sergio" appeared to be about 25 years old and was introduced as his wife (which AEMIDRIFF doubted because, as she put it, he didn't treat her as one would a wife, but rather as a mistress). AEMIDRIFF knew nothing more about this Mexican and never saw him again.

On another occasion, LOGINOV and AEMIDRIFF met an American in front of the Futurama theater. LOGINOV introduced him to her as "Col. Michael." AEMIDRIFF stated that he was dressed in civilian clothes. He had blond hair, was of medium height, no glasses, large grey eyes (AEMIDRIFF thought him quite attractive). LOGINOV told "Michael" that he would call him the next day on urgent business. "Michael" was alone. AEMIDRIFF commented that they did not have a private conversation. She esimated this encounter took place about September 1959.

GOLOUZOV - AEMIDRIFF stated that GOLOUZOV used her in the same manner, i.e., took her about 3 times in all to Cine Chapultepec, then left her during the movie to make some sort of contact.

Debriefing conducted 12-16 May 1970:

Concerning Soviet Contacts in the Mexican Police: AEMIDRIFF stated that she overheard GOLOUZOV and DYOMIN talk about many contacts which they had in the police here. She said she had also overheard KOLOMYAKOV, BAKULIN, AND CHUYKHOV talk about how many good police contacts the Soviets have. However, each specific example which AEMIDRIFF could give concerned some non-operational favor which the Soviets could get taken care of, e.g., when the Soviets wanted to get something through Aduana; when some Soviet was missing and police cooperation was needed; getting advance notice when some demonstration hostile to the Soviets was about to take place, etc. She was not able to recall any hints that Soviets had operational contacts in the police; agents reporting on what the police were doing; assets who assisted Soviets operationally in some way. However, AEMIDRIFF thought the Soviets probably have such assets.

Concerning Soviet contacts in West German Police: AEMIDRIFF recalled that when she went to Germany as interpreter for Soviet surgeon and textbook writer, Pablo ANASOV, in January 1969 (they went to Cologne

West Germany on Commercial Ministry business), the Soviet Ambassador in West Germany stated that the Embassy had some paid agents within the West German police who helped them to protect the Soviets (in context that it was dangerous there; some Soviet official could be kidnapped by the enemy, etc.) AEMIDRIFF noted that AMASOV was quite old and very pro-regime.

Miscellaneous operational notes - AEMIDRIFF had no knowledge of Soviet safe houses or safe apartments. She stated that many Soviet visitors stayed at the Hotel Virreyes or in two other hotels near the Soviet Embassy (she couldn't remember names). She did not know whether the Soviets had any sort of special arrangement or contacts in these hotels.

AEMIDRIFF stated that she had attended several parties at which Mexicans also were present (she recalled specifically parties at the homes of KOLOMYAKOV, BAKULIN, LOGINOV) and in each instance the Soviet officer, at some point during the evening, had a private conversation with a Mexican guest. (Unfortunately, AEMIDRIFF was unable to recall the names of any of the Mexicans she met on these occasions, and of course there is no way of knowing whether such private conversations were operational meetings.) AEMIDRIFF commented that at purely Soviet parties, husbands always went off together and talked business, and if wives approached, they stopped their conversation.

Debriefing conducted 1-6 June 1970:

KORMUSHKIN - AEMIDRIFF commented that she thought KORMUSHKIN made operational meetings in the Bremen Bar, since she often saw him sitting in that bar, wearing dark glasses and trying to look inconspicuous.

(AEMIDRIFF sometimes passed by this bar and would look inside, although she never went in.)

KUPLYAKOV - Possible PCM Contact - AEMIDRIFF stated that she was told by Daniel Montiel (Daniel MENDEZ Montiel, 201-258951), the Soviet's chauffeur, that his brother, who is a Central Committee member of the PCM and who worked on the PCM publication "La Voz de Mexico," was in contact with KUPLYAKOV. In addition, AEMIDRIFF stated that she believed that Armando VERDUGO (iden with Armando MARTINEZ Verdugo, 201-851726) had an uncle, also named Armando VERDUGO, who is First Secretary of the PCM and who is in contact with KUPLYAKOV. At least this was strongly inferred by Montiel, according to AEMIDRIFF. (Editor note: Arnoldo MARTINEZ Verdugo, 201-054254, who is brother of Armando, is First Secretary of PCM). AEMIDRIFF stated that KUPLYAKOV always seemed to be very interested in and knowledgeable of what appeared in "La Voz de Mexico" and in the PCM publication "La Epoca." She stated that, in general, KUPLYAKOV paid so much attention to local politics and seemed to be so well informed on PCM matters that she felt certain he had something to do with the PCM.

AEMIDRIFF stated that KUPLYAKOV's wife was a good friend of Salvador GONZALEZ Marin, head of the Fondo de Cultura Popular. GONZALEZ' wife works in the Museum of Anthropology. GONZALEZ sold a lot of Soviet books, according to AEMIDRIFF, and for that reason was in contact with KUPLYAKOV, but she commented that GONZALEZ may also have been utilized by KUPLYAKOV in some other operational way. Most of KUPLYAKOV's contacts seem to be journalists. (These were the people AEMIDRIFF saw talking to him at receptions, etc.).

AEMIDRIFF stated that Leopoldo ARENAL, whose wife is the daughter of David Alfaro SIQUEIROS, is another Soviet asset who is handled by KUPLYAKOV (she heard VANOVSKIY talk about this). AEMIDRIFF said that ARENAL works with Eduardo ARAUJO (economic consultant for "Minera Continental, S.A.", mentioned in Commercial Office). She also stated she knew that ARENAL went at times to the Embassy to see KUPLYAKOV. AEMIDRIFF said that ARENAL goes to Moscow every year or so. (ARENAL identical with Leopoldo ARENAL Bastar, 201-117959).

Soviet Involvement in Student Disorders of 1968:

Debriefing conducted 23-25 April 1970: AEMIDRIFF stated that LOGINOV went out at nights often during this period and told her it was to make "contacts." LOGINOV also stated that his work during this period was some of the most dangerous he had ever done. AEMIDRIFF was certain that these "contacts" involved in student riots. AEMIDRIFF related that once at Auto Cine, LOGINOV made a meeting with a group of youths who came in another car (Falcon). Another time, some 2 or 3 days later, LOGINOV had MITOPOLSKI give him some shotguns which MITOPOLSKI had charge of. LOGINOV got the guns about 2200 or 2300; the guns were returned the next morning. Others who seemed to be going out all the time at night during the student riots (and talking about their meetings in general the next morning) were BOLSHAKOV, KORMOUSHKIN, NIKIFOROV. AEMIDRIFF never heard mention of money being passed during this period (i.e., to Soviet assets involved in riots) nor any mention of any names or positions of assets (This not in agreement with some of Dan James info). CHUYKOV seemed to be involved also.

Debriefing conducted 12-16 May 1970: AEMIDRIFF was again questioned on her knowledge of Soviet activities during the 1968 student disorders. She reported that all she really knew was that the Soviets were very busy during this period; that LOGINOV told her he was going out every night to make "contacts;" that she overheard Soviet case officers talking at various times during this period to effect that they very busy, making many contacts; that the situation was potentially explosive and a dangerous time for them to be making such contacts. AEMIDRIFF twice was with LOGINOV when he met with some "youths" in private conversations. However, AEMIDRIFF stated she did not ever hear any mention of any names of Soviet contacts in relation with the student disorders, any mention of the level of involvement of these contacts in the student organizations, any mention of Soviet guidance to the student movement, financing of the student movement, or the like. She really doesn't know that the Soviets had any contacts with direct access to information to these activities, but she strongly assumes that they did, based on their level of activity and the strong tenor that LOGINOV and other case officers gave to the idea that the contacts they were making were dangerous ones for them to be seen with during this period.

Debriefing conducted 1-6 June 1970: AEMIDRIFF questioned re 1968 student disorders again, for clarification previously reported details. She stated that the Soviets had some different types of rifles in the Commercial Office which served as samples of guns which they were trying to sell commercially in Mexico. One night about 11 o'clock, during the period of student riots, LOGINOV came to the Commercial Office with MITOPOSSKI (AEMIDRIFF was there watching TV). They got "some" rifles - AEMIDRIFF could not see how many or what kind. They took them out in some sort of bags. The next morning "some" rifles were returned to the Commercial Office, but AEMIDRIFF doesn't know whether all of them were brought back. She doesn't know whether or not LOGINOV might have been duty officer for the Embassy for that night.

AEMIDRIFF stated that NECHIPORENKO's trip back to the USSR during the 1968 riots may well have been to report on the riots. However, she didn't know that this was the case and noone specifically told her so.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: Conversation with Ed ELLY with USIS

DATE : 3 December 1969

1. On 3 December 1969 I had a brief conversation with Ed ELLY to find out if he knew any of the Soviets at the French Club and to brief him on these individuals. He did not know neither CHERNYSH (P-13,042) or SHEVCHENKO (P-13,623) by name and when I showed him pictures, he said that he did not recognize them by sight either. Since he is a relatively good player and they are relatively poor, it is not likely that they would play together. He said, however, that he would keep his eyes open for them and would try to identify some of the contacts they appear to be making at the French Club. I explained to him who the two Soviets were and why we were interested in them, and he said that he would be only to happy to do what he could.

2. I also asked him about Gloria PINTO (P-13,223) and showed him a picture of her, but while he thinks he may have seen her, he does not know her. He will check with his wife who may very well know her since she is a regular player and probably more or less in the same league with Gloria. I told ELLY that Gloria had been very close to LOGINOV (P-11,712) and that I was interested to find out if she would now, since he has departed, transfer her attention to one of the other Soviets. (I was specifically interested in finding out whether or not Gloria and CHERNYSH had met on the morning of 29 November as indicated by LIENVOY, but ELLY had not been at the French Club that morning.)

3. ELLY commented that he had found it hard to make contacts at sports clubs in Mexico than in other countries. Mexicans were particularly difficult to become friendly with and it was not at all uncommon to have a tennis match with no personal contact whatsoever. He said, however, that he thought the French Club was better than most in Mexico City. Even though the people at the French club were rather clanish, it was easier to get to know them there than, for example, at Chapultepec.

say about anything, ~~whkk~~ whether it be American or Russian. He is only interested in booze and women. I would say this is a pretty accurate description of TUCHIN (who is now gone--replaced by EMFLUTE's friend PERFILIYEV).

5. Subject has also met LOGINOV, for whom she did not have too much ~~xxxxx~~ respect. She didn't think him very smart, and he was constantly saying foolish things against the United States. ~~Shaxxxxxr saxxhim~~ I asked if LOGINOV had ever made a pass at her. She said no, but then she never saw him when his wife was not along. (Again, she has come up with a pretty accurate thumbnail description.)

6. Getting back to SARATOV, they have remained good friends since the Olyppics, and the friendship extends to SARATOV's wife. Subject and Natasha are very friendly, and I would like to keep it this way, for several reasons. I don't think there has been any sex between Subject and SARATOV (although I could be wrong, and I will ask, and In think get the truth). Subject is well aware of the friction between SARATOV and wife, and as a matter of fact Natasha has said quite openly that she intends to leave SARATOV in about a year. They have an 11-year-old son to whom she is very attached, and since he must return to the USSR to complete his schooling, she is going to return with him. In effect, she has chosen her son over her husband. Subject doesx not know whether Natasha's overly close attachment to her son (she won't go out in the evening until he is in bed, etc.) is the result of SARATOV's playing around, or vice-versa, but it is a fact, and it irritates the hell out of SARATOV. On the other hand, Natasha is attractive, intelligent, and if anything more firmly attached to the Soviet Union than SARATOV himself. Recently she offered to give Subject Russian lessons. Since Subject is the type of person that would easily do something like that even though it has [illegible] practical use,

AEDIEHARD (P-11712) October 7, 1969

Contact Report
Subject: Jimmy SABORI (P-13,830)
Date/Place of Meet: Oct 7 at Chez Rene Rest at 1414 hrs.

1. The meet was arranged by phone and S came about 14 min late.
NEXT MEET: Oct 10 (Friday) Insurgentes Sus & Extremadura
at 1100 hrs.

2. According to S his last meet with AEDIEHARD was on Aug 25. A had arranged a meet with S for Sept 10, but A did not come to that meet. Two days later, i.e. after he did not come to the scheduled meet A phoned to S' apt in the afternoon when he was not home and after exchange of nice words with Josephine he told her that he was not able to keep his appointment with S two days ago and he wanted to apologize for not showing up and that he would ring up S in a day or two. Because there were no calls from A for few days (sic), S decided to give him a ring and advise him that he had something for him, namely, S had in his possession a duplicated copy of an "Agreement" concerning the Platinum deal. As it is evident from the mentioned copy of the Agreement the same was signed and the Buyer's Agent signature was legalised by the U.S. Consul in Mexico City on Sept 25.

3. Although, this story lacks accuracy in terms ~~x~~ of dates, it is substantially different from the one S gave to FERNALD on Sept 12, the date of their last personal meet. Inspite of the vagueness concerning the dates and absence of details, this story appears to be much closer to truth, than the version of Sept 12.

4. S gave me for copying a technical copy of the above mentioned Agreement concerning the Platinum transaction. As is evident from the wording of the Agreement S would have nothing to do with Buyer or Buyer's Agent. The Agreement places S on the Sellers side or at the best makes him middle man between the actual Seller and Buyer's Agent. F did not read the Agreement in the restaurant (during the meet) and he made no comments with regard to the Platinum transaction as such.

5. S asked F should he ring up A from the restaurant to ask for a meet with him. F told S that A had left or was about to take off the same afternoon. Instead of commenting on the fact tha A left without even indicating to S that he might leave, S stated that this situation was giving him an opportunity to find out for us who was A's replacement. F told him that it was a common knowledge as to who was A's replacement and that the only thing to ascertain positively was whether A had dropped him (S) or the developments prevented A from meeting with S.

6. Therefore, F suggested to S to phone to the Sov Emb by using the duple talk (code) which A gave him and see what happens. If another person tells him that A left Mexico, S should ask how was he to go about a transaction he intiated with A. If the answering person insists in knowing what was it about, which is doubtful, S should limit himself to the statement that it is a commercial matter involving large amount of money, and it reached the stage that an action should be taken.

7. S promised to phone to the Sov Emb on Oct 8 about 1000 hrs and F told him that he would give him a ring about 1500 hrs.

88 F told S that he intended to discuss a serious matter with him but did not have all the facts on hand as yet. F added that he would have all the facts the latest Thursday Oct 9 and he asked S to come on Friday Oct 10 to the place mentioned in para 1 above at 1100 hrs and that they would go to an adequate place for such a conversation. S offered that the conv could be held in his apt and F tolf that it would be against our practices.

9. As far as his present activity was concerned, S stated that he was doing a lots of running in connection with his attempt to sell the unfinished hotel on the Caleta Beach in Acapulco.

AGREEMENT

THIS AGREEMENT made as of the date of the signatures hereto, by and between the undersigned SELLER'S AGENT, as agent for an undisclosed Foreign Principal, hereinafter referred to as SELLER, and the undersigned BUYER'S AGENT, as agent for another undisclosed Foreign Principal, hereinafter referred to as BUYER;

WHEREAS, Seller's Agent represents, as authorized agent, a Foreign Principal or entity, who are the owners of certain amounts of Platinum and also represents that Seller's Agent, being an American citizen, has no rights, title or interest, either legal or equitable in and to said Platinum, and is acting as Agent solely for a commission; and

WHEREAS, Buyer's Agent represents that his principal desires to purchase Platinum from a Foreign Principal or entity, being a domestic American company, has no rights, title or interest, either legal or equitable in and to said Platinum, and is acting as Agent solely for a commission;

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the premises, covenants and conditions hereinafter contained, it is mutually agreed by and between the parties as follows:

(a) Seller's Agent agrees to sell and Buyer's Agent agrees to purchase approximately One Hundred Thousand (100,000) troy ounces of Platinum more or less in shipments of Twenty Thousand (20,000) ounces monthly, priced on the basis of 1000 fineness, the same to be a transaction through a mutually acceptable bank in Zurich, Switzerland.

(b) In connection with the said purchase and sale, the following procedure shall be followed:

  (1) Upon the execution of this agreement, the Buyer's Agent shall take immediate steps to cause to be issued to the Foreign Commercial Bank, Bellairestrasse 82, Zurich, Switzerland, a divisible, transferrable, irrevocable, unconditional and without recourse, letter of credit payable in U.S. currency, in an amount sufficient to purchase the first shipment of Twenty Thousand (20,000) troy ounces of Platinum issued by a bank acceptable to Seller's Agent. The said letter of credit shall be in the form set forth, attached hereto and made a part hereof; a non-negotiable copy of the letter of credit so posted shall be furnished to Seller's Agent to examine.

  (2) Ten (10) banking days herefrom is granted to Buyer's Agent to deposit said letter of credit from the date of acceptance of this agreement and signature thereof.

(3) Seller's Agent shall deliver the first shipment and the documents at the Foreign Commercial Bank, within twenty (20) banking days after the posting of the letter of credit and thereafter shall continue such deliveries until all of said Platinum has been delivered, such delivery of all of said Platinum to be completed within One Hundred Eighty (180) days after the posting of the letter of credit.

(4) For the payment of such transaction, the Seller's Agent shall cause to be exhibited to the Buyer's Agent the documentation to be delivered to Buyer's Agent to effect said sale, to-wit: (a) Warehouse receipt, (b) Intransit permit and (c) Assay report;

(5) Thereupon, the Buyer's Agent shall provide Seller's Agent with satisfactory evidence of insurance by which the Seller's Agent and his principals are protected against all hazards from the loss of said Platinum during the time it is being assayed by Buyer's Agent's assayer (should Buyer's Agent desire an assay by his assayer) and extend to the time of payment as herein provided, it being understood that legal title shall not pass to Buyer's Agent or his principals until payment in full has been made to Seller's Agent;

(6) Payment shall be made by the said bank from the letter of credit on deposit within five (5) banking days from the date of delivery of the Platinum to the bank in Zurich, Switzerland, and payment shall be made on the basis of the accompanying assay certificates; provided, however, that within this five (5) banking day period Buyer's Agent may have the Platinum assayed by a recognized assayer of his own choosing, in which event the Seller's Agent shall have his representative of his choice on hand with the Buyer's assayer at the point of assay for the purpose of observing the assaying of any material which is the subject of this agreement. If the parties hereto do not agree with the results of such assaying, then each may select an umpire and these two shall select a third umpire and the conclusion of any two of these umpires as to the value of the Platinum referred to herein shall bind the parties. Such umpire procedure shall be completed and a report made within the period not to exceed five (5) additional banking days. If this umpire procedure is used, and while it is being used, payment shall first be made immediately on the basis of Seller's Agent's assay, as to the undisputed amount, with the disputed amount to await payment until the umpire's report has been made, whereupon payment shall immediately be made on the umpire's report for the amount, if any be determined due by umpire's report. When no assay is requested by Buyer's Agent, payment shall be made immediately on the basis of the assay certificates which accompany the material. The expense of Buyer's assay shall be to the Buyer, and the cost, if any, of the umpires shall be paid equally by Buyer's and Seller's Agents.

(7) Buyer's Agent shall assume the cost of packaging and freight insurance, transfer to airport and all responsibility of the Platinum once payment has been completed to Seller's Agent. At this point, Seller's Agent shall be completely free of any responsibility in regard to said Platinum.

(c) It is specifically understood that neither the Seller's Agent nor the Buyer's Agent shall under any condition disclose to anyone, except the Seller's Agent's undisclosed principals and the Buyer's Agent's undisclosed principals respectively, the nature of this agreement.

(d) This Agreement to the extent it contravenes any national or local government laws, ordinances or regulations of Switzerland or the United States of America, shall be deemed null and void.

(e) Performance under this Agreement shall be excused for and so long as forces majeure, acts of God, strikes, war in which either country is involved, or any similar force majeure cause which may interfere with the performance beyond the control of the parties hereto.

(f) Seller's Agent shall provide Buyer's Agent a Warehouse receipt in in-transit permit, and an assay report with each shipment.

(g) All notices which may be given under this Agreement shall be given in writing by prepaid cable, airmail, or by personal service to Buyer's or to Seller's Agent at the address listed below.

(h) The price of said Platinum shall be Ninety-five ($95.00) U.S. Dollars per troy ounce per 1000/fine.

(i) Seller's Agent expressly agrees that if Buyer's Agent shall have furnished a letter of credit as specified in sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of Section b above, and Seller's Agent shall fail to deliver all of said Platinum as provided in sub-paragraph (3) of Section b above, and the documentation referred to in paragraph (4) of Section b above, then Buyer's Agent, at his option shall be entitled to cancel this contract and neither party shall have any further obligation hereunder.

CONTACT REPORT

SUBJECT: LIBACON 1

DATE, TIME & PLACE: 6 Oct. 1100-1200, JET Cafe.

1. Subject arrived at the Cafe five minutes late (unusual for him) fairly bubbling over with "good news". Subject had a little difficulty gettingto to LOGINOV'S Embassy despedida at 1900 hrs. as he had planned. It seems that the neighbor with whom he had planned to leave his child was not at home and so he had to wait until his wife came home, at about 2000 hrs. Subj arrived at the Embassy at about 2020 hours where he was warmly greeted by LOG. After only a few words of greeting, Mrs. LOG fixed Subj a drink and a sandwich, and LOG excused himself saying he had to take care of the many guests and telling Subj to make himself at home, "you are more or less one of us." It should be noted that LOG did not introduce anyone to Subj. Subj soon approached Yuri CHERNYSH and a rather long, innocuous convesation ensued. Mikhail P. DAVYDOVSKI approached the pair and was introduced to Subj by CHERNYSH. (Card attached.) Subj was very taken with DAVYDOVSKI's charm and simplicity and learned that the latter had at one time been a "locksmith," (?) and having studied at the "International Diplomatic Institute" recived this appoinument as Private Sect to the Ambassador.

2. During one of Subj's free moments he approached Pavel KOVALEV, whom he recognized from the Army Day party which attended, but he could not recall his name. KOVALEV said he thought he recognized Subj's face but could not place it. Subj then told him that his mother taught Spanish at the Embassy (actually Subj told me he is not sure she is still doing so.) KOVALEV said he was interested in forming a small group to study Spanish and have Subj teach it and the latter heartily agreed to do so. KOVALEV promised to phone Subj at the earliest opportunity. Subj asked KOVALEV how the latter should be addressed, i.e., what was his position at the Emb? K replied that he was more or less attached to the Military Attache's office.

NIKOLAYENKO [illegible]

3. Subject met a young lady, Tanya LNU, and husband name unknown. They have been in Mexico for three months. Very little, if anything else, was said but Subj was impressed with the girl, physically that is. Subj left the party before [illegible], got a bear hug from LOG and was escorted to the door by KOVALEV. Subj having only had two drinks while at the party went to Gill's but she was out, so he went elsewhere (no identification) where he spent the night "talking."

Contact Report
Subject: LIOVAL-1 (P-8903)
Date/Place of Meet: Oct 3 at Rest. Hoyo at 1330 Hrs.

1. Prearranged meet to which L-1 came 10 min. early.
Next meet: October 16 at the same place at 1430 hrs.

2. Since our last meet (Sept 19) L-1 had not seen LIBACON-1 who in two instances apologised (2-3 days after the class was due) for not holding the class "because he was not feeling well". In both cases it was obvious to L-1 that he was dead drunk when he phoned. In view of the fact that LIBACON-1 did not phone to L-1 for a whole week, L-1 gave him a ring on Oct 2 and he promised to give a lesson to L-1 at 1630 hrs of Oct 3.

3. L-1 explained me that his working schedule in the new scholar year keeps him busy in the morning and the afternoon, except, Friday afternoons, which makes it difficult on him to be tieing himself twice a week for LIBACON-1's class which most of the time does not take place. L-1 felt that nothing would be lost if he reduced the Russian language classes to one per week, which would be more than he ever actually had in the past. I told him to go ahead and suit himself.

4. I told L-1 that AEDIEHARD was scheduled to leave in about a week and it would be interesting to ascertain whether LIBACON-1 knew it. L-1 will show to LIBACON-1 the Excelsior of Sept 25 in which the Sov Emb farewell party was announced. L-1 felt bad about the fact that he did not even have a chance to see AEDIEHARD face to face.

5. L-1 asked could he remind LIBACON-1 that he promised to make some arrangements which would enable L-1 to meet Alla (GLEBOVA /P-13,482/) and suggest that AEDIEHARD's departure was opening the possibility to do something along that line. I told L-1 that there was no reason to expect that LIBACON-1 would accomplish anything, but L-1 should be after him on the basis of his former promise.

6. I told L-1 that he should tell LIBACON-1 that a person he knew quite well 3-4 years ago returned to the US Embassy and that this American Embassy official was a very close friend of a dear friend of his (L-1). I explained to L-1 that such news would certainly please LIBACON-1 for several obvious reasons, but it was more important to ascertain whether LIBACON-1 would relay such news to some of his Sov acquaintances. If it happens that ANDIEHARD's replacement or another Sov official attempt to contact L-1 through LIBACON-1, it would be an indication that LIBACON-1 got the news of L-1's US Embassy contact to them. L-1 liked the idea and will give the story to LIBACON-1.

7. At this point it may be recalled that L-1 had met NECHIPORENKO (P-7442) at the time he had met YATSKOV.

8. Comment by BHF:

> In view of the fact that NECHIPORENKO by himself is a determined KGB case officer who is agressive in pursuing American targets, I felt that we stand to lose nothing by adding to L-1 a label of having a contact in the US Embassy.

DRAFT

MEMORANDUM FOR: The Record

FROM : C/CUB

SUBJECT : Visit to the Soviet Embassy, Night of 1 October 1969; Occasion: Despedida for Valentin LOGINOV

1. As members of the Cuerpo Consular, Terence D. SISTONE and his wife were formally invited to Valentin LOGINOV's despedida. The scheduled hours on the invitation were from 7:00 to 9:00. Actually, they arrived at about 7:45 and left at about 9:15. SISTONE had two main purposes in attending the reception: 1) to determine LOGINOV's replacement, and 2) to meet the Cubans present, if any. On the first count SISTONE was successful. Oleg Maksimovich NECHIPORENKO was formally introduced to the crowd as LOGINOV's replacement by Mr. KAZANTSEV, the Soviet Chargé. On the second count SISTONE was not successful. The only Cuban present that he recognized from mug photos was Rafael MIRABAL Fernandez, who quite obviously avoided any contact with SISTONE, rather furtively staying on the other side of the room at all times. In all, SISTONE talked to some nine Soviet Embassy officials that he could recognize from the mug book and had somewhat extensive conversation with three, LOGINOV; KAZANTSEV, the Chargé; and Eduard Anatolyevich SARATOV, TASS representative. For cover purposes SISTONE, of course, also had to spend much of his time with fellow members of the Cuerpo Consular, mostly with Leander VOURVOULIAS, the Cuerpo Consular president and ex-Greek Consul General, and Sra. Marta FONSECA Guardia de JIMENEZ, the Consul from Costa Rica and Cuerpo Consular secretary. SISTONE also met a Mexican engineer, Alfonso SIBAJA C., who is married to a Greek woman who is Press and Cultural Attache for Greece. SIBAJA is therefore active in, though not a member of, the Cuerpo Consular. It is very early to tell, of course, but a man like this could conceivably become an access agent to either Soviet or Cuban officials.

[illegible]

Are we following? VC.

2. At the entranceway SISTONE met and recognized Col. Konstantin Nikandrovich BOGATYREV, the Soviet Military Attache. Both on this occasion and later in the evening BOGATYREV seemed to have a forced grin on his face. He exchanged pleasantries but provided nothing of significance.

3. In the reception area inside, SISTONE greeted Valentin LOGINOV and his wife, who readily recalled SISTONE and wife from the excursion to the Ford factory in July. LOGINOV also recalled that SISTONE was Raymond A. FRADYER's replacement and asked after the latter: Had he yet arrived in Paris? SISTONE said that he understood that FRADYER probably had arrived by now. SISTONE asked LOGINOV when he was leaving for the Soviet Union. LOGINOV answered that he was leaving on 7 October and that en route he was visiting New York City, a place that he was anxious to visit. He added that he would not be visiting Paris to see his friend FRADYER. LOGINOV all evening was a very amiable host, circulating and talking to practically everyone present. About half the time he was surrounded by a circle of very young and apparently unattached Mexican ladies - perhaps university students. Mrs. LOGINOV was quite transformed from the very drab woman of the Ford excursion. She was quite dressed up, even attractive, and did her best to be a charming hostess, although this was obviously a forced chore for her. (Later in the evening she busied herself pointing out what she thought to be the choicest items on the buffet table.) Valentin LOGINOV invited SISTONE and his wife to visit him in Russia. SISTONE answered to the effect that this would be wonderful someday if he Loginov or the Russian Government would pick up the tab. LOGINOV replied that that was not necessary because all Americans are so rich they can afford a trip anywhere. Later, talking to SARATOV (see paragraph 9 below), SISTONE was told that LOGINOV would be spending three days in New York City. Later in the evening LOGINOV had his picture taken, probably by a press photographer, with SISTONE's wife, and he was in general quite gallant with her. In the little speech following the buffet, LOGINOV thanked VOURVOULIAS for his few words of farewell and the Cuerpo

[illegible]

Consular gift of a silver plate. He ended his speech by saying, "Thanks on my wife's behalf and mine. You all have been very attentive to my great country." About the only times that LOGINOV seemed reflective and serious during the evening were during this little speech and later in saying good-by to SISTONE (accompanying this with an abrazo). LOGINOV's last words to SISTONE were said with much real or imagined feeling: "You Americans and we Russians have to be real friends in these days of the world."

4. Negatively, SISTONE did not see LIREALM-1; SAO's friend, Yuriy VANOVSKY; or Chief, SB's friend, Boris CHMYKHOV, at the Soviet reception. Since there were over 100 people milling about, SISTONE, of course, could have missed those people.

5. Prior to the buffet, SISTONE met again Leon (Spanish version of Lev) N. GOLOUZOV, a member of the Soviet Commercial Staff. SISTONE had met GOLOUZOV on the Ford excursion as well, and the two chatted briefly about that trip. GOLOUZOV gave SISTONE his calling card, copy of which is attached.

6. Standing beside GOLOUZOV, and obviously a very junior officer under the latter's wing, was Vladimir PETROV, also of the Soviet Commercial Office. Following the example of big brother, PETROV also gave SISTONE his calling card, copy of which is attached. PETROV looked to be no more than in his late 20's.

He is almost baby faced, has sort of a pug nose, is perhaps 5' 9" tall, is of medium to slim build, and has light hair. PETROV said he had only been in Mexico two weeks and was terribly confused by the vehicular traffic, which is much noisier and extensive than that of Moscow. Although he speaks Spanish quite well, he said that this is his first tour in Latin America.

7. Also early in the evening SISTONE met Vladislav Sergeyevich KORMUSHKIN, Soviet Vice Consul. He is a fairly tall, heavy built, athletic-looking young man with a very strong handgrip on being introduced. KORMUSHKIN was almost the only Russian with whom SISTONE talked who did not even try to be friendly. He just stood around most of the evening, listening and looking very ill at ease.

8. SISTONE only met Oleg Maksimovich NECHIPORENKO, LOGINOV's replacement, very briefly and on an occasion when LOGINOV was not around. Therefore, SISTONE was not formally introduced by title or as FRADYER's replacement to NECHIPORENKO. This man looks very Latin and could mix in a crowd on the street without any difficulty. He stayed very much in the background all evening. During the little ceremony in which he was introduced by the Chargé as LOGINOV's replacement, he was asked when he had previously served in Mexico by the latter. He replied he had been in Mexico from 1960 (or 1961) to 1965. stationed previously

/ you bet - Speaks good Spanish, too

The Chargé described him as a young man advancing rapidly in the Soviet Foreign Service. He also said he had been a simple ~~Military~~ Attache before but is now a Second Secretary and is taking over as Consul. The Chargé described NECHIPORENKO as a non-Great Russian. SISTONE missed his nationality, if it was mentioned. The Chargé hastened to add that NECHIPORENKO's wife, however, is Great Russian.

9. Possibly the longest conversation SISTONE had with any Russian was that with Eduard Anatolyevich SARATOV, the TASS representative. SISTONE was introduced to him by Findley HOWARD, local Pan American representative. SARATOV was the only one with whom SISTONE spoke in English. All other conversation with Russians and other non-Americans was in Spanish. SARATOV is a very smooth, gallant man-about-town. He seemed to really enjoy talking to Americans and other non-Russians at the reception, and bowed and established rapport with the ladies of all ages. He said he has been in Mexico two years, is married, and has one son in the fourth grade, who is naturally attending the Embassy school and who will be sent next year to the Soviet Union for his further education. He asked SISTONE how many children he has and commented on the answer, five, by saying that in his business it is not practical to have many children. SISTONE asked him how he gets his news to send home. SARATOV replied that he is obliged to send home daily a resume of the most important Mexican events, much of which he obtains from the Mexican press. He added, with a smile, that he, of course, has to supplement such newspaper accounts with information from his own contacts. SISTONE asked if this meant, among other things, getting handouts from Government offices. SARATOV dismissed such sources as unimportant. He said this daily resume which he sends home by Telex takes him about two or three hours. He said he is the lone TASS representative here. He has his own office separate from the Embassy and prefers it that way. SARATOV claimed to have traveled around Mexico quite a bit. He seemed to be impressed with the Yucatan and wanted to know if SISTONE has visited there. The latter replied that he has not yet visited the Yucatan since being stationed here, but that, as a tourist, he had seen the ruins there some years ago. SARATOV said that he is from Siberia, and in answer to a SISTONE question said he thinks the Georgians are the warmest and friendliest people of the Soviet Union. SARATOV obviously likes to brag about having been stationed previously in Washington. He also said he would very much like to have been assigned to the new TASS office being opened in San Francisco. According to SARATOV, per an agreement between the United States and the U.S.S.R. the former will have a Consulate in Leningrad and the latter a Consulate in San Francisco. The opening of the TASS office in San Francisco is somehow connected with the establishment of the Consulate. In speaking of LOGINOV's three days in New York, SARATOV said he would recommend three things for him to visit: a good steak house, a good Chinese restaurant, and Rockefeller Center Music Hall.

10. Somewhat after the despedida ceremony, SISTONE noted the Chargé, Boris Aleksandrovich KAZANTSEV, alone and introduced himself. From a distance KAZANTSEV looks extremely young for his high position; closer up he looks a little older. KAZANTSEV was extremely affable when he learned that SISTONE was a new member of the Cuerpo Consular. He said he is a member of an equivalent organization among the diplomats and in that context knows Mr. Wallace STUART quite well. yes He said he was extremely privileged a couple of nights previously to be able to shake Astronaut ARMSTRONG's hand and talk to him. He thinks the space program a wonderful adventure for both our countries, and he mentioned the current negotiations between the American Atomic Energy Commission and its Russian equivalent in working out the rules for use of peaceful nuclear energy. While affable, KAZANTSEV does not impart any feeling of sincerity whatsoever. He seems transparently cynical, and reminds one of a second-rate American politician. After the above conversation and when SISTONE was talking to a Mexican airport official, for some reason KAZANTSEV reapproached SISTONE and said to him and the Mexican that he hoped there would be a rapprochement soon between the United States and Cuba. SISTONE cannot figure out why KAZANTSEV made that remark at that particular time unless 1) he thought the Mexican airport official was a Cuban, or 2) he had been briefed by LOGINOV not only on the fact that SISTONE is FRADYER's replacement, but that FRADYER had somehow been connected with Cuban operations.

11. SISTONE only met Yuriy CHERNYSH, Soviet Vice Consul, very briefly to shake hands near the end of the evening. He was easily recognizable from his very light gray hair.

12. SISTONE was only sure of one Cuban's being present, Rafael MIRABAL. At one time, SISTONE thought he saw a gentleman who looked a little like Ambassador Joaquin HERNANDEZ Armas, but at second glance he did not think so. There was no doubt in SISTONE's mind that MIRABAL was avoiding him. On one occasion, MIRABAL was quite close, within earshot, and may well have heard SISTONE either talking English to a fellow American or his wife, or discussing something American. Thereafter, every time SISTONE tried to work his way toward MIRABAL, the latter would shortly move further away. Twice SISTONE talked to people that vaguely looked like they might be Cubans from the mug book, only to discover in both cases that they were Mexican.

SECRET

13. One of the above Mexicans turned out to be Alfonso SIBAJA C., who described himself as a mechanical engineer and industrial consultant. His address is Ezequiel 82, Mexico 14, D.F., and his telephone number is 17-88-85. This man is the husband of a lady he described as Press and Cultural Attache of the Greek Embassy. SISTONE was also introduced to her somewhat later and got the impression that she is not Greek but either all Mexican or perhaps of partial Greek ancestry. Her name is Heliana K. de Sibaja. SIBAJA and SISTONE exchanged calling cards (copy of SIBAJA's is attached). SIBAJA said that he and his wife attend such functions as this reception quite frequently and definitely recalled not having met SISTONE before. The latter explained his recent arrival. SIBAJA claimed that he is a good singer of folklore songs and that his wife knows how to dance them. They have performed spontaneously quite often at diplomatic and consular affairs. Asked whether he would be going on the Cuerpo Consular excursion to Monterrey scheduled for late October, SIBAJA said he would like to go. He is a working man, however, and was not sure he could get away. SIBAJA and wife and SISTONE and wife established rapport rather easily, and all agreed they should meet again rather shortly. SIBAJA said that he is of partial French ancestry. He looks as though he might be Mideastern, however. He is proud that he is from JUAREZ' home state of Oaxaca. It would seem to SISTONE that this is actually a secretary

the kind of man who might be used as a fairly nonsuspicious access agent to either the Soviets or the Cubans. He obviously circulates in their social milieu. SISTONE intends to follow up on this man. He said he lives in Colonia Lindavista, where SISTONE's wife's relatives are concentrated. He has a son going to Colegio Tepeyac in that area.

14. The only Americans SISTONE was aware of at the reception were 1) Clyde SNIDER, Chief of the Visa Section of the Consulate, 2) Findley HOWARD, of Pan American, and 3) David WIESLEY, American businessman and Honorary Consul of Iceland.

15. Considering the fact that SISTONE was only in the Soviet Embassy a little over one hour and had to spend a good part of his time talking to SNIDER, VOURVOULIAS, and that real pain-in-the-neck, Sra. JIMENEZ, he considers his contact with Soviets about the maximum that could be achieved under the circumstances.

CONTACT REPORT

SUBJECT: LIBACON 1

DATE, TIME & PLACE: 1 Oct., 1600 - 1730, El Mortiro Rest. & Hotel Emperador.

1. I arrived ten minutes prior to the appointed time, noted Subject's car parked around the corner, entered the Restaurant and found Subj without difficulty.

2. Without any preliminaries to speak of, Subj told me that he had interesting news for me. As he hesitated for a moment I asked him if he had been invited to the despedida this evening. He was a bit shocked and probably disappointed, ~~xxxxx~~ with a "who, what", but recovered quickly and admitted that this was to have been the interesting news - yes he had been invited and was going. He explained that he had made a phone call to the Embassy to invite LOGINOV to his house for a farewell party, but the latter turned the tables and invited Subj to the despedida. Subj claimed that he told LOG that this in reality a "dirty deal", but LOG countered with the claim that Moscow wants him to return urgently and now he was too busy to consider personal invitations. (Subj did not appear to be unhappy with this turn of events.) Subj promised to keep his eyes and ears open and fervently hoped that LOG would introduce him to his replacement, the unofficial one.

S/F any need?

Libacon called Loginov on 25 Sept to postpone meeting - No subsequent calls

3. Above, of course, took only a few minutes, the rest of the time Subj discussed women, food, drink, and related topics. He would like, he said, to be better acquainted with Alla GLEBOVA (works at Sovemb) whom he considers to be an exceptionally interesting girl, although married. (I don't believe he is a position to do much about this. I believe he is capable of seducing a lot of girls, but I don't see how he could work up much access to this woman.)

4. Subj gave a copy of a short paper (written in Russian) he worked up on his friend HENARES who lives in San Juan del Rio, near Queretaro. Subje is very anxious to have us help this individual but I still don't see much point in it. I asked Subj if HENARES is acquainted with anyone at the SOVEMB and was told that he might know one or two the ~~local~~ Russ/Span ~~xix~~ (ninos ?) who are employed there. HENARES is one of these himself. A translation of the document is attached.

ninos - but not employed by Sov

5. Subj is a very friendly, likable chap, but I do not ~~him~~ think ~~it~~ he would find it difficult to fabricate something, whether it be important or otherwise. This is purely an opinion, so far, based on nothing concrete.

6. Subject expressed a desire to have a "blast" with me sometime with no reference to business. I said I would consider it, perhaps it would be amusing.

Below is translation of document written by LIBAG[illegible] 1 re his friend HENARES who lives in San Juan del Rio.

"HENARES

A Spaniard born in the province of ASTURIA. During the Spanish Civil War was taken to the USSR with other children. Completed his elementary schooling in Spanish childrens' schools. Entered Leningrad University majoring in history, and following graduation was a given a chair in the same deartment. Arrived in Mexico, I believe, in 1957, with the aid of his sister, who lives in San Juan del Rio. Is a manager of a restaurant. Henares is a very intelligent, sensitive, fellow. Always studied with pleasure. Was very fond of nature and animals. During periods of vacation from the elementary schools, instead of just fooling around as did the other kids, he would work as a shepherd, water boy, in vineyards, took long walks, read, swam, and always tried to be a loner. Therefore, he was not very well liked, was teased, and once, knowing that he was not a good swimmer, was thrown from a steep bank into the river KLYAZ[illegible]. My mother dragged him out. He always loved her, and to this day has great affection for her. Whenever he visits Mexico he never fails to call on her. Being acquainted with his character and sentiments, I would say that now, living in a dead city, he suffers greatly. I suppose that because of his loneliness he impregnated a stupid, old fashioned, Indian girl. His political views are the most liberal, and being an intelligent fellow, he was never placed in an unconfortable position, although he was not fully trusted.

I think, that were it possible to use these characteristics, we could use him to our great advantage."

I told Subject that we would make no move whatsoever, until, and perhaps not even then, he provided me with personal biographic data re the above individual.

CONTACT REPORT

SUBJECT: LIBACON 1

DATE, TIME & PLACE: 25 Sept. 69, 2030 - 2200 hrs., Firenze Rest.

1. Subj arrived eight minutes late and realising same, apologized. He appeared to be in a good mood and when asked told me that he and his wife were now getting along very well. He claimed that he called LOGINOV xx, at the Embassy on the morning of the 15th and asked that their dinner engagement for that evening be postponed. According to Subject LOG told him that their dinner had been scheduled for the 18th, not the 15th, so Subj xxxxxx assumed LOG was correct. I reminded Subj that to the best of my recollection it had been for the 15th. In any event, Subj said LOG took the postponement very well, especially when Subj confirmed with LOG again that the latter was not leaving in October, perhaps not even in November. Subj apologized to LOG, explaining that his wife had just taken on a new job, was nervous about it, and in addition, was taking care of her parents dog and birds, and was simply not in condition to have a party. (I am not sure Subj went through with this explanation to LOG or to me only.) Subj plans to visit LOG at the Embassy on the 29th, 30th, or the first of October, at which time he will set a date for the dinner, hopefully he said, for the same week. If the dinner is to be held prior to xxxxx the evening of the first of Oct. Subj will call the office, (as in the past) and so inform the party on the other end. Our next meeting is scheduled for 1600 hours, 1 Oct., at the "El Mortiro" (?) Rest. xxxxxx in the Suites Emperador.

2. Subject's wife, described as a "bilingual" secretary/typist is now employed by "Orbita Suplementa", and is paid $ 3,500 monthly. Sujb. claims that she will be earning $ 4000 by next month, if everything goes off well. One of the partners xxxxx (?) of this supplement is: Andrea Cataño Michelena.

3. Subj then asked me if I could check a street map of Moscow and see if I could find Ul. NEZHDANOVA on it. I told him I could but would not give him an answer one way or the other unless he would provide me with a satisfactory reason. After extracting a promise from me that I would not laugh at him, he proceeded to tell me about a recent experience he had with a medium at Andrea's home. He prefaced his story with an assurance that he is an atheist and does not believe in the hereafter nor in spiritualism in particular, nevertheless, he was shaken with the experience. He claimed that the medium (name unknown to Subj.) did not go into a trance, nor turn off any of the lights, but simply asked Subj. if he had ever known a girl by the name of "Tanya" while Subj. lived in xxx small town near Ivanova (also not far from Moscow.) Subj claimed that he recalled a girl by that name, that he and she were only about 10 yrs of age at the time, and that they used to go mushroom gathering together. He He said he broke out in a cold sweat when the medium asked this question because he was absolutely positive that no one in Mexico would remember the girl's name nor the episode. The medium then said, speaking for Tanya, "Zdorovo Rafichka", (Hello, Rafael). Subj claims that the medium has no knowledge of the Russian language and that he had not been called "Rafichka" since early childhood. xxxx The medium explained that Tanya had died six months ago and was now present in the room. Through the medium, Tanya explained (in Spanish) that she had been married to a Valentin [illegible], now living at [illegible] Ul. Nezhdanova, apt. 23, Moscow. Subj was not sure he had the correct numerical address, nor did he know what region of Moscow the street was in. Tanya further explained that KIRASOV was engaged in some unspecified underground work, possibly ~~xxxx~~ anti-government activity, and that one member of this group was actually employed by the KGB. He was not further identified.

4. Subj then went on to relate two other "odd" experiences he had had prior to his coming to Mexico. They are not worth repeating here. I told Subj I would try to locate the afore mentioned street on the Moscow map but that I did not take any of this very seriously. Although Subj realized that I was amused by this tale he was not ~~xxxxx~~ angered by my attitude saying he did not know what to make of it himself.

The party was very gay, excellent food brought by each of the guest, much music, dancing, and drinking. No politics. Everyone was in a very friendly mood.

2. Formal farewell reception. Wednesday, October 1, at 1900 hours at the Soviet embassy will be the formal party for DIEHARD.

The Pintos, Gomez and possibly others from our group will attend this party. I do not know how big it will be.

DIEHARD was disappointed when I said I would not attend, but that this was no reflection on my friendship for him. I stated that I felt it unwise for an American to visit the Soviet embassy. I was afraid that the FBI or CIA would learn of my visit. Val was very insistent and said he'd be disappointed if we did not come. Later in the evening he brought up the subject again and insisted there would be no way anyone could know if I were present or not--there would be no risk to me--no names would be recorded. I said I would think about it, but doubted that we would come.

He [illegible] well not? [illegible] Quite a [illegible]? [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] from [illegible].

3. DIEHARD's replacement. During the course of the evening speeches were made, or at least semi-formal comments and wishes of goodluck to DIEHARD and his wife. DIEHARD said that his replacement would be at the farewell party at the embassy and he hoped we would all meet him. Ralph Wiegandt stated that he wanted DIEHARD's replacement to know that he, the replacement, would be welcome in our group. Our group is somewhat international and has given us all a chance to exchange views. We would regret losing contact with the Soviets. DIEHARD then mentioned that his replacement is something of a sportsman.

Good?

4. Yuri Tchernich. I told DIEHARD that I hadn't seen Yuri for a long time. I asked what had happened to him. He answered that Yuri had been on vacation for a while. This does not account for the many months, perhaps five or six, that I have not seen Yuri. I did not press the issue.

This [illegible] day [illegible] Guanajuat [illegible] [illegible].

5. DIEHARD FLIRT. DIEHARD seemed to be indifferent to Pepe's presence. When he danced with Gloria he often seemed very intimate--dancing close, whispers and ~~giggles~~ giggles, soulful looks. Gloria did not try to control this situation, but rather participated. My wife later reported that while dancing with DIEHARD he also tried to flirt with her, but on a more discrete level, holding her too close, squeezing her hand meaningfully, etc.

6. Dr. Gomez' comments. We arrived promptly at 2000 hours. We were the firsts guests to arrive and the only guests for nearly an hour. During this time Dr. Gomez made several comments of interest. First, let me say that I have thought that Luis was a communist sympathyzer, despite his wealth. He became famous some time back by successfully sewing back on a hand that was amputated in an accident. He is a doctor with Seguro Social. Mexico since has shown him off to the world as Mexico's great hand surgeon. He travels around the world attending medical conventions and is the principal host to medical conventions here in Mexico. An elaborate book was published by Seguro Social on surgery of the hand and Luis' work in that field. I mention the above since it seems to set the stage for someone who might believe that socialism and socialized medicine is good, because he himself has profited so greatly from it.

Further, Luis and Sylvia had made it known for quite some time that they wanted to have the farewell party for DIEHARD in their home. I always felt that this was due to communist sympathy. Now I don't know. And I am at a loss to explain why they insisted upon holding the party. They do not seem to be close friends of DIEHARD, are somewhat different in social and intellectual status, and no longer seem to me to be communist sympathyzers.

Luis commented that DIEHARD's son would probably come to the party since they have no maid. Incidentally, he did not come. He then stated that the boy still speaks no Spanish at all. He added that the boy has lived in Mexico for five years and before that for several years in Cuba. Luis explained that the Soviets are afraid to have their children see how the world really is. Luis added that Kruschev saw a super-market in Los Angeles and simply couldn't believe his eyes. Luis was frankly critical of the Soviets and their intellectual isolationism.

7. DIEHARD MIGHT RETURN. DIEHARD and his wife both conceded that there was a good chance they might come right back to Mexico. She told me that if she did, she would like to teach me Russian. We had exchanged a few elementary words during the evening.

[illegible] [illegible] of comment & one convinced that he would. i.e. I say that he would have appeared to have heard something which made him say what he did.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Chief SB

INFO : Chief, CUBA

SUBJECT : Relationship Between AEDIEHARD and Gloria PINTO

1. In response to a conversation between Chief, SB, and the undersigned, LIREALM-1 was questioned in detail on 25 September concerning the relationship which exixts between AEDIEHARD and Gloria PINTO with a view toward possible embarrassment of AEDIEHARD before his superiors.

2. LIREALM-1 and his wife both believe (but have no proof) that it is probable that Gloria PINTO is having or has had an affair with AEDIEHARD. Both LIREALM and his wife are close friends of the PINTO's and know that Gloria is strongly attracted to AEDIEHARD who is both physically and intellectually superior to her husband. Due to Gloria's continued friendship with AEDIEHARD at the French Club and other places, LIREALM-1 feels sure that Gloria's husband, Pepe, does not yet know of the affair.

3. LIREALM-1 characterized Pepe PINTO as: sweet, slow-witted and below average in intelligence. He is a physician specializing in lung disorders, born in the Canary Islands. He considers himself a Spaniard with the characteristic Spanish lack of respect for women. He attempts to tightly control Gloria's activities while, according to Gloria, having as many affairs himself as he can. Gloria greatly resents Pepe's attitude toward her. Pepe is basically defensive and would not want anyone to know if Gloria were having an affair with another man. He would probably deny it if anyone said so, even if he were aware of it. He would take it out on Gloria, however, and would probably beat her and restrict her movements even more closely.

Agreed VPR

4. In view of the above, it would certainly appear that there would be nothing to gain, and perhaps much to loease, by any attempt at exposing her supposed affair with ABDIEHARD. Since she now appears to be in contact with SHEVCHENKO, much better to hope for better developments in this case.

is more to this invitation than meets the eye and that the KGB will be going all out to recruit him. I think Subject may be right and I think he should probably find a good excuse for not going.

Subject states that he had complained to KAZANTSEV (P-880) about the shoddy treatment he had been getting from LOGINOV (P-11,712). Never before had he been forced to "stand in line" for Soviet visas for his clients. In the past, he had been able to sent passports to the Soviet Embassy any day--never mind the office hours--and get the passports back with visa the same day. Subject says that LOGINOV himself finally admitted that ~~this was because Subject had~~ [illegible] having been uncooperative (meaning that he had refused to let LOGINOV recruit him). Subject says unequivocally that LOGINOV is leaving PCS by the end of October and that he is not being replaced by a newcomer. Subject understands that NECHIPORENKO, who in a former tour had worked in the Consular Section, will take over as Chief of the Consular Section when LOGINOV leaves.

Subject says that KAZANTSEV is about to leave (in fact, Subject thought KAZANTSEV had already left) and that both a replacement for him and a new ambassador were on the way. I told Subject that as far as I know, KAZANTSEV was to be replaced by another ~~concierge~~ Consejero who would be Chargé, but Subject insisted that an ambassador had been named and would be coming soon. He did not know who the ambassador would be.

Subject remarked that both IVANOV and ~~NIKITOFOV~~ Nikiforov had left and he said that ~~NIKITOFOV~~ Nikiforov was, he thought, a very decent person.

Subject said that PRIKHODKO (P-2270) had come to see him to say goodbye. PRIKHODKO had said, almost with tears in his eyes, that Subject had been a very good friend and that he would never forget him. He invited Subject and wife to come visit him in Moscow. Then when Subject asked PRIKHODKO for his address, PRIKHODKO hemmed and hawed and said that he didn't really have an address yet but that Subject could write him in care of Latin American Department of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. Subject remarked that PRIKHODKO was undoubtedly being sincere, but when you came right down to it, he was just as hemmed in and afraid as anything of the others. Subject said that it was a real tragedy that the Soviet system made such robots out of good people.

Memorandum
TO: RIZZUTO through ARCHBOLD
From: FERNALD
Subject: AEDIEHARD (P-11,712) - Thoughts Re possibility of Pitching Him

1. Assuming it was agreed that A should be pitched before his PCS departure, because there are no indications that he would be more susceptible ~~later~~ to an approach later when he comes to a new post abroad in few years and, to the contrary, it is more likely that he would be still more daring, more selfconfident and more determined to advance and solidify his position within the KGB, I wish to add some views of mine to the list of possibilities as to how a pitch could be carried out.

2. My views and thoughts on this subject will be based on the possible use of existing assets and means. I am fully aware that there will be plenty of room for improvements, additions and modifications of what will be said in the following paras.

3. As far as I know we are lacking adequately solid facts in which we could put our teeth, i.e. we do not ~~we do not~~ posses worthwhile mentioning material which we could use to exert a desired pressure on A.

4. I am inclined to believe that we are in a position to make a serious attempt to obtain a "pressure argument" through the use of existing assets which are targeted against A and that it can be done without taking an undue risk.

5. As a move in this direction I was thinking in terms of having recorded a SABORI-A meet for which we would prepare SABORI. To be more specific I have in mind a situation along the following lines:

a. In going to one of his next meets with A, SABORI should carry on his person a transmitter. I am not in favor of a body recorder, because the recording time is limited and it requires the bearer to be turning it on and off, while the transmitter can be set and it requires no action by the bearer on one hand and on the other the bearer is under the impression that Canbury says Station transmitter does not have [illegible] which would [illegible] body [illegible] in any [illegible] binaural [illegible] restaurant [illegible] every action and statement of his is recorded from the moment the transmitter is strapped on him.

b. SABORI should go to such a meet with experession of a person who is in exceptionally good mood, because of a business success and he was given a substantial advance on his commission. After A and SABORI have their routine two drinks, SABORI will state to A that he would pick up the tab for the evening (after being treated by A so many times) but he would want to celebrate the occasion. It would be desirable that A agrees on a drink or two to please S, but even if that does not take place, it is anticipated that A would want to accompany S^{X} in his good humore. What ever be the case, the situation lends itself to a free talking, critical commenting and some bitching, just to play it big. It will be up to us to prepare S as to how to run the conversation to get out of A a few statements which he would not like his superiors to know about.

c. As far as S is concerned I believe that he can be persuaded to carry a transmitter on his person and as a reason for requesting it we could tell him that it represented a complimetary element to the PAQ which he made on A, because the psychologist who reviewed his PAQ considerd it essential to have a tape covering one meet. There is no way of hiding the fact that we will be recording what is transmitted, but we will not have to give any explanations regarding how it will be done.

d. I hope that one way or the other we will be in possession of a tape which could be used as a pressure factor. From there on all becomes a matter of manupulation: S may request a meet with A under the pretext that that the people interested in the platinum deal sent to S their specialist, who would like to clear some questions before opening the letter of credit and that it was essential that the person who arrived here see A, because that will strangthen S' position in the deal. I mentioned the platinum deal because it would give some common ground to the new person being introduced on the scene, but some other story might be as good.

e. The new person showing up under the platinum deal or any other pretext would be a case officer of ours. I feel that such a person should at first sight show that he was a Yankee, that he be versed in platinum or what ever the pretext may be and that he should be a Russian language speaker. I am inclined to believe that after some business talk and after creating an atmospher of mutual understanding there would be no problem for the case officer to start speaking Russian. If A takes this fact in good mood and the business conversation continues in Russian, S would be in a position to excuse himself as a person who was no longer needed. It is almost impossible to anticipate what would be As reaction to the fact that S wanted to leave. If insisted that S stay, we will have to accept it. Nevertheless, S will be instructed to "go to the bathroom" for a while and the case officer will have to use this opportunity to drop his cover and go on with his job. He will have in his pocket a reel of tape to counteract As emphatic refusal (which we must anticipate).

f. It may be mentioned that S will not have to know anything about the existance of the tape and as far as the case officer is concerned S may have to be satisfied with the explanation that the c.o. was the psychologist who decided that he wanted to meet A in person. Of course, developments may not bear out this cover, but that will be at the stage ~~of developments~~ when we could not care less.

g. There is no doubt that S will be burned whether the the things turn out right orwrong, but S will be left only with guesses as to what transpired between the case officer and A in Russian.

h. It is the fate of any officer making the pitch to be burned if the exgersice ends in anything less than a success. Therefore, it would be worthwhile considering to get a suitable laguage speaker case officer from Hqs for this purpose.

6. I am aware of the fact that ~~that~~ the above discussed scheme has a quite certain weakness in as much as it is built on and around an untested asset as S is. Nevertheless, in terms of security and protection of Agency/ ~~Assets~~ Station assets the scheme is advantageous, which is selfevident.

7. It should be assumed that S might come up with some objections when it comes to introducing another person to A from fear that he would deal himself out of the game and terminate his usefulness to us. I do not consider it difficult to put him at ease.

8. For your consideration and comments.

BHFernald

This is not a bad plan, but I think it breaks down on the following points (most of which Fernald himself has pointed out):

1) I think SOBOLI is still too much of an unknown quantity to build any type of approach around.

2) I question the efficacy of what is, stripped to its essentials, a blackmail approach! Why should he worry about what's on the tape (he can say he was just saying it for SOBOLI's benefit) ~~[illegible]~~ and his reaction would not likely be a favorable one.

3) I doubt we can get a technically adequate tape

4) It looks now as if LOG will be leaving soon - possibly as early as 18 October - so no time to set up properly.

Nevertheless well thought out within the problem at hand: how to make a pitch to [illegible] —

Agree that blackmail won't work - but in reading file main thing that stands out (to me at least) is the energy with which AEDEHARD pursues his career. Believe he is ruthlessly ambitious to get ahead. If we are willing to burn SABORI, it might be advantageous to insert senior Russian speaking staffer as suggested in this paper (but without transmitter) who will make A offer to think over on long cold Moscow nights prior to his arrival at a new post. Our offer will consist of first, sewing seeds of discontent on fact that he is now 42 years old and has not risen to the heights in his profession~~s~~ that he could have. (He is only listed as 3rd Secretary while younger men are 1st and 2nd Secretaries) I don't know his KGB rank but it can be intimated that we know his rank could be higher. Talking fast, we could then suggest to A that we will work out a plan in his absence whereby we can aid his future career by putting ~~him~~ in his path advantageous situations such as allowing him to "recruit" a U.S. official at his next post. In return, he would service our requirements during his tour. Our working relationship with A could have a time limit with control factors on both sides. "No answer is wanted now. Report the approach if you wish. The offer will be good upon your arrival at the new post whereever it is." (A, of course, will think the talk is recorded so there must be some way of assuring him it is not. SABORI, naturally, must be absent.)

Not a bad idea, but the intermediary should be someone like LIOVAL, not SABORI. I don't mind burning SABORI, but I think turning Aedehard's agent on him would produce wrong psychological effect. Anyway, unless Aedehard does stay until end of year, think not likely, this thing is academic -

9. Supervisor's comments

1. It is possible that Oleg had been planning to contact me and had deliberately had placed himself in my path.

2. It is also possible that Oleg, like all the other Soviets, hates to spend money and would rather play with another club member than to spend money on an instructor. He may be trying to build up a group of friends or acquaintances with whom he can ~~pxxxtxxhixxxifxxxx~~play.

3. If he had been looking for me, it could be that he has been asked to step in where Val failed. That is, as an American friend, I never invited Val to my home. He never met other Americans through me. Note, however, that he never invited me to his home either--though he did invite us frequently to various events which were under the auspices of the Soviet embassy. We did not but rarely accept, One such occasion was the Moscow circus.

4. If he had been looking for me, it could be that he wants to assure his acceptance by our tennis group where Gloria Pinto is a possible target. Oleg has gotten to Gloria, but I, the American who is somewhat and sometimes hostile to soviets, might be considered a stumbling block. Perhaps he, Oleg, will try to reach all the other members of the group individually so that an invitation by Gloria to one of our functions will meet with general acceptance.

SCENARIO OF CONTACT

I arrived about 0900 and took an instructor.

About 0950 Olegk arrived to play with and instructor on the adjoining court. He made no effort to greet me. He had been pointed out to me by Val, but I had not been pointed out to him do my knowledge--though it is certain that Oleg and jVal must have discussed the "players" in their"game" and counted me as possibly on the other team. That is, I am sure that Val has pointed me out to Oleg, but Oleg would not have wanted to acknowledge this.

At 1000 my hour was up and I told my instructor I was through--I did not want to continue for another hour. As I was paying my instructor I noticed that Oleg was paying his. It is very unusual and possibly even bad form to take an instructor for less than half-an-hour. I am suggesting that he wanted to be free to contrive an accidental meeting with me.

I set a course for one of the several gates from the courts we were using. I could see that Oleg had headed for the same gate (this could have been perfectly natural) and at a speed which after some thirty yards would bring him to the gate at the same moment as I (this was not entirely natural).

Since I had an excuse to greet him, having had him pointed out in front of Pepe Pinto the preceding week, I did so. I ~~xxkxx~~ said Good Morning and asked if Val were here. He looked very pleased (I kthought possibly relieved) when I took the initiative and recognized him.

Oleg said that Val had not arrived as far as he knew. I said I had been training to get ready for Val. I wanted my revenge for last week.

Oleg seemed amused by this and immediately asked if I would like to play with him since Val was not here. I agreed. We found a court and played for about one hour. Olgg won 6-3, 6-4.

Bike riding maybe

Oleg is very athletic in appearance and played and excellent game for someone who has played for only two years (if this is true). He has enormous muscular thighs. It escapes me what sport would produce this, other than weightlifting. Weightlifting is out since his upper torso, though muscular, is far less developed than his legs. Basketball does not seem likely to produce his particular kind of development.

Oleg is pleasant. Speaks excellent Spanish. Has not made any political comments (yet!). Seems more intelligent, but less extroverted than Val.

Oleg asked if I were with the American Embassy. I answered"no, I have my own business". It was then that he asked if I knoew another "Bill" who is in private business and who xx has an army rank. Oleg xxxxxxxxxxx thought the other person was a major.

I left at this point. Oleg stayed on to play some more. My wife could not see him and it is not therefore, known with whom or how much longer Oleg did play. Val was not seen during the course of the morning. The Pintos are in San Francisco.

Contact Report
Subject: Jimmy SABORI (P-13,830)
Date of Meet: Sept 10 at Sanborns-Lafragua at 1700 Hrs

1. Prearranged meet and S came 10 min early.
NEXT MEET: Friday Sept 12 at Chez Rene at 2000 hrs.

2. Instead of receiving the Agency Contract from the Moon Valley Corp. Dallas, Texas, he received a phone call (his phone was connected) on Sept 10 in the morning and was requested to sign the contract immediately and return it by registered mail. The caller (Lester MacGhee) told S that the contract was mailed "Registered-Return Receipt" on Mon Sept 8 ". S concluded that he expected receiving it on Sept 11, but more likely on Sept. 12.

3. S was disappointed because he counted on showing the contract to AEDIEHARD that evening and the absence of the contract will necessitate another meet with A when the contract arrives. FERNALD repeated to S that he needed a Xerox copy of the same and decided to meet with S on Sept 12 to debrief him on his meet with A and get a copy of the contract.

4. S will not have much to report to A when he meets him that evening. S went to the Hotel Geneve where a friend of his used to be a manager and was disenchanted when he found out that he no longer worked there. The new manager did not want to show him the register of guests and his attempt to spot a girl or girls who lived in the hotel and appeared to be working bore no results, because all he was able to see or exchange few words were tourists. S spoke to TANG by phone to inform him that the Luau manager wanted to check with the embassy on the size of the add he was to place in the monthly MISSION. TANG stated that he would take care of that and he reminded S that WANG wanted to see the article before it was printed. Other, than to capitalize on the info that Echeverria would be the next President of Mexico and speak about the platinum deal S had practically nothing to report.

5. F repeated the instruction he gave S on Sept 8 with regard to stalling IS activities with A and as far as the platinum deal was concerned it was made clear that his fair and square [illegible] will determine our attitude.

DATE, TIME & PLACE: 10 Sept. 6[illegible], 2030 - [illegible], [illegible] Post.

1. Arriving on the dot, found Subj already there. First thing he said was that he could not stay late, was having trouble with his wife but due entirely due to his bad behaviour. Apparently he had stayed out all night Sunday, with a girl friend whom he did not identify and I did not push it. I do not feel, at this time, that this is a particularly important item.

2. First thing I asked for was possible [illegible] aliases of:

(a) Pax [illegible], or [illegible] (according to Subject)

3. When asked Subj confirmed that his dinner party for [illegible] will be on the evening of the 15th Sept, and only that couple is expected.

4. I told Subj to continue to refuse to write reports on his friends for [illegible], but that he could do so on a so called friendly basis and not to accept any money from [illegible]. Subj put on a pretty good act talking to me as though I were [illegible]. "I do not intend to write any reports for you on my friends unless you can tell just exactly what you them for and what you intend to do with them. You have told me that this would help you and the Soviet, I want to know how. I am a serious man and I do not intend to take this sort of a request frivolously. If you tell me the facts, I will think over your offer, but I am not going to play games, etc, etc." The way Subj talked it would not surprise me to have him pull the same stunt on [illegible], re lying, of course, what he has been told. This, incidentally does not satisfy me 100 %.

5. Subject told me he has a close personal friend, with the same b.g. as Subject, living in San Juan del Rio in [illegible], in retire. Subj. wondered if we could find any use for him to be useful. My first reaction was that living where the man does is of very little use, but I was willing to discuss it with Subj at a later date. I would, of course, need complete details, etc. Subject said he would provide them for the next time.

6. No further business.

7. Next meeting 17 Sept. [illegible], 2030 hours. We may move to another place a little [illegible].

Contact Report
Subject: Jimmy SABORI (P-13,830)
Date of Meet: Sept 8 at Cez Rene at 1400 Hrs

1. The meet was prearranged and S came on time. The meet lasted about 3 hours.

NEXT MEET: Sept 10 at 1700 hrs at SAMBORNS-La fragua if S does not request to see me earlier.

2. S was advised by phone from Dallas, Texas, that the Moon Valley Corporation was able to meet the Sov requirements concerning the platinum deal and that they mailed on Sat Sept 6 a contract (agency contract) to S which enables him to purchase 10 ounces of platinum per month from the Sov seller (an export company). According to the same phone message the contract provides for a US$3.00 commission per ounce.

3. S hopes to receive the contract before he meets with AEDIKHARD on Sept 10 at 2000 hrs. On his own intiative S decided that he would want to show the contract to FERNALD before taking it to A. That was the reason for arranging another meet with F before the scheduled meet with A.

4. The generous commission provided for by the contract enables S to offer to A US$1.00 per ounce. Even if the minimum required by Sovs is purchsed a $1.- commission per oz. would still net $20.000.-, according to S' estimates. S anticipates that the purchases would go above the required minimum. S was taking in consideration the possibility that A would not want to accept any commission. ~~and~~ Therefore, S came up with a scheme by which there would be a bank account for A and the money would be his, whether he wanted it or not, or better said , it would be up to him to decide when he wanted to use it.

5. At this point it may be mentioned that apart of the fact whether the Sovs would want to close the platinum deal the entire above mentioned account is strictly S' interpretation of what he was told over the phone and only the copy of the Moon Valley Agency Contrat with S will clarify many questions one would like to ask right now. Nevertheless, it appears to be probable that an Agency Contrat was promised to S.

6. In spite of the fact that at the time of this writing one can deal only with "ifs", it is worthwhile mentioning that S believes that A would like to facilitate S to get the deal, because in that case S would be on one hand morally obliged to him and on the other S would had collected a nice sum of money. In turn this would make A feel that he obtained a satisfactory control factor over S and the rest is quite obvious. Other than reccurring to methods which are quite rarely used gainst people as S, we in a situation of a very inconfortable spectator left with a hope or a which that A might go for the commission.

7. As far as S'willingness to give to A the attractive chunk of money is concerned he is doing it for a double purpose: to please us (indirect protection of his interest) and to protect his interest directly by assuring A' willingnees to help him in getting the deal.

8. Although, our situation is not pleasant (if the deal is to materialize) we are not helpless onlookers. S mentioned that if it comes to closing of the deal he will have to travel to Zurich, Switzerland, and for that he needs a passport. How much S is aware of our control position (by enabling him to get a pessport fast or dragging its granting) can be best illustrated by the fact that he told F that he would certainly put aside a worthwhile sum for F. Needless to mention that F gave him a ~~[illegible]~~ darn good lecture ~~[illegible]~~ when he made his silly statement. Nilly-willy F was obliged to turn weakness into stregth and S understood that he could as well forget about the deal (if it comes his way) if he would not play it fair and square with us.

9. S brought up quite reasonably the question that A would most likely put pressure on him to get producing along the lines of assignments against the US Embassy and as the first thing the question of obtaining the Embassy phone directory would be thrown in S' lap.

10. F told S that because of the new development in the platinum business F will allow S to follow A' instruction ~~as~~ as to how to go about getting the directory. F told him to go ahead and look up all the USIS girls he can find in the Hotel Geneve and report to A his findings. F pointed out that we demand from hin to stall as much as possible. On S' remark that he should have something to report to A when he sees him on Sept 10 F commented that he will have no objection that S report his findings.

11. S really stalled all he was able in connection with the Chinese Embassy; he did not go there at all, because he still did not obtain the ad from the restaurant Luau.

12. After the above conv S completed the PAQ, which is attached hereto.

13. S told F that his home phone was disconnected because he did not have money to pay the bill of MN 632.- This happened at unconvenient time because the Moon Valley from Dallas, Texas, was not able to reach him and they were obliged to contact him through a friend ~~mg~~ of his. F anticipated that S would in one or the other way be asking for money and he had with him a filled receipt for MN500.- which sum he gave him . F implied that he would give him a couple hundred pesos more at his earliest convenience.

14. Then, S spoke about the presidential race and stated that the Gobernacion Secretary Echevarria would be the PRI official candidate and that the public announcement to that effect would be made on Sept 19. F phoned this info to ARCHBOLD. See Attachment.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD 6 September 1969

FROM :CUBA/PELLEMENT AP

SUBJECT: Recent and Proposed Contact Between LIREALM-1 and AEDIEHARD

1. At the 5 September 1969 meeting between LIREALM-1 and Andrew E. PELLEMENT, the following information was received from and discussed with LIREALM-1:

a. LIREALM-1, following Station advice ~~following~~ after the the recent incident where AEDIEHARD approached LIREALM-1 with an offer to pay LIREALM-1 for any information he could obtain from the U.S. Embassy, has avoided contact with AEDIEHARD at the French Club. LIREALM-1's wife, an almost daily visitor to the Club, has been asked by LIREALM-1 to note AEDIEHARD's activities and associates and report anything interesting to LIREALM-1.

"Station" advice was FRADVERS — actually they + Station wanted relationship retained as long as AEDIEHARD refrained from being provocative — JPR

b. Mrs. LIREALM recently told LIREALM-1 that for a number of consecutive Saturdays, AEDIEHARD had brought a young lady, whom MRs LIREALM thinks to be German, to the Club as his guest. Mrs. LIREALM did not attempt to determine the identity of the female, but reported the information to her husband. She has noted no other items of interest in AEDIEHARD's pattern of activities at the Club. He has not seemed to single out any individual as a tennis partner, nor is he frequently seen socializing with anyone in particular while at the Club.

SB/F any ideas
no

2. LIREALM-1 was advised that the Station had learned that AEDIEHARD will not return to MHHARSH immediately as originally thought, but he will probably remain in Mexico for another five months. LIREALM-1 was told that this information was not yet public knowledge, but the Station would like LIREALM-1 to confirm this if possible. This led to a general discussion of LIREALM-1's association with AEDIEHARD since the recent incident. LIREALM-1 was instructed that it was not the Station's wish that he avoid contact with AEDIEHARD, but rather that he not single out AEDIEHARD for special attention or closely court his friendship. It is the writer's opinion that a sufficient time has elapsed since the last incident for LIREALM-1 to again renew some association with AEDIEHARD, and a particularly opportune chance to do so is available: LIREALM-1 and AEDIEHARD both belong (as has previously been reported) to a group of tennis enthusiasts at the Club who take turns entertaining each other in their homes. To date, all the members of this group have given parties except LIREALM-1. Mrs. LIREALM, following the incident and thinking that AEDIEHARD was soon to depart, has stated that she did not want to have AEDIEHARD in her home since he represents a government so opposed to the principles of her government, etc. Based on AEDIEHARD's extension in Mexico and the fact that the LIREALM's owe their friends a party, LIREALM was instructed to plan a party for the group and to include AEDIEHARD and his wife in the group invited. At the party, LIREALM-1 should not focus an undue amount of attention on AEDIEHARD, but should take advantage of the opportunity to renew their general friendship and let the matter, more or less, take its own head from there. As a first step in this general direction, LIREALM-1 plans to go to the Club over the weekend of 6-7 September at times when AEDIEHARD usually plays tennis to at least say hello.

On 7 Sept he told LIREALM he leaving in Oct!

SECRET

3. A second reason why both LIREAMH-1 and his wife plan to go to the Club is to see if they can identify the new "girl-friend" of AEDIEHARD. LIREALM-1 says he almost always carries his camera with him when he goes to the club and frequently takes pictures of his wife and their friends. Under this pretext, he will try and take a picture of the girl friend if the opportunity presents itself where it will not come to the attention of AEDIEHARD.

4. LIREALM-1 is preparing a written teport in some greater detail concerning AEDIEHARD and his relationship with him since the incident. He will also attempt to see if his can get any more details about the girl friend from his wife.

5. The substance of the above including the idea for the party has been verbally reported to C/SB and he is in accord with the plan for the party, which will be, at least in part, paid for out of Station funds.

It now agreed that they will host a party when the "Group" return from vacation in about mid-Oct. She will gradually "reverse" her opinion in the meantime. Party will be about 18 Oct.

Contact Report
Subject: LJOVAL-1 (P-8903)
Date of Meet: Sept 4 at Hoyo 19 Rest at 1340 Hrs.

1. The meet was prearranged.
Next meet: Sept 11 at the same place at 1330 hrs.

2. During the language class on Mon Sept 1 LIBACON told L-1 that he had a lunch with AEDIEHARD on Aug 29 and on that occasion A accepted to come to LIBACON-1s house for dinner on Sept 15 about 1900 - 1930 hours. LIBACON-1 added that Yuriy CHERNYSH (P-13,042) would ~~xxx~~ also attend the dinner.

3. LIBACON-1 told L-1 that he wanted to invite him to the same dinner L-1 with wife, Mrs. REX and Odil, but his wife refused to have more guests than the two Sov couples, because they did not have suffient space and could not afford to spend the amount money the additional number of guests would cost. He went on to state that even this way he was in a quite embarrassing situation because he would not have money to buy more than a bottle of Castillo rum.

4. L-1 thanked LIBACON-1 for thinking of him and added that he would not have been able to come for dinner that evening because he had to give a class which he was not able to cancel. LIBACON-1 felt releaved, but he appeared to be very nervous. L-1 added, as ~~xxxxxx~~ an afterthought that he would bring to LIBACON-1 a bottle of wisky, because his friend Octavio from Matamoros was scheduled to come to town before Sept 15 and he usually brings him a couple of bottles of wiskey; if not sooner L-1 was certain that Octavio would call on him Sept 14 or 15 the latest and in that case L-1 could hand the bottle to LIBACON-1 on the evening of the party at 2100-2130 hrs. LIBACON-1 felt that this would be great and that L-1 could remain with his guests for a drink.

5. L-1 commented that the above mentioned developments made it unnecessary for him to go through the gimmic of asking to have his classes at LIBACON-1s place. Further, LIBACON-1 told L-1 that he had asked AEDIEHARD for the fishing knife L-1 had requested, but A did not know whether they had them on stock and if there were any he would bring it to the dinner.

5. LIOVAL-1 fet certain that LIBACON-1 was very nervous during the class and, especially, when he spoke about his meet with AEDIEHARD and the forthcoming dinner. He went to the bathroom 4 times in an hour and a half (he usally goes twice when served the same amount of liquor). This lead L-1 to speculate that there might be something fishy in the connection with the dinner, including the possibility that AEDIEHARD requested to meet L-1 at LIBACON-1s place and that his wife spoiled the plans by limiting the number of people. To keep the matter from developing into wishful thinking I told L-1 that it was possible that LIBACON-1 felt imbarrassed for not being able to invite him to the dinner. L-1 commented that LIBACON-1 had no reason to tell him anything about the dinner and if he kept it to himself there would had been no reason for embarrassment. We agreed that there was no reason to speculate, but to wait and see. L-1 stated that his hopes went high because LIBACON-1 told him that AEDIEHARD ~~told~~ stated that his departure was postponed and that he did not count on leaving before the end of December '69. Difficulty in finding a suitable replacement was given as reason for postponement of departure.

7. Requirement: In view of the fact that LIBACON-1 is used to see at L-1s place wisky which doed not have the tax tags (stamps), because he normally gets his from Octavio (a Customs inspector in Matamoros), L-1 requested that I supply him a bottle of wiskey which entered the country tax free (L-1 usually has the Old Par).

I will [illegible]

8. For his personal use L-1 would like to borrow a John Plain catalogue, the issue valid after Aug 18, '69.

OK - but not here yet

CONTACT REPORT

SUBJECT: LIBACH 1

DATE, TIME & PLACE: 3 Sept. 1600 - 1700, [illegible]'s - Londres.

1. Subject was already at the meeting site when I arrived ten minutes after the hour - late because of another downpour and traffic tie-up. He had to leave early to pick up his wife and child and take them home and, therefore, asked if we could continue our meeting at a later hour, same day. I had no objection so we agreed to meet at Sanborn's, Tiber & Reforma, and proceed elsewhere from that point.

2. Subject did not prepare any notes for me re his meeting with LOG as I had requested but assured me that he recalled it vividly. He then proceeded to describe it to me without any prompting by me.

3. Subject met LOG at the ~~xxxxx~~ Fonda del Refugio, 166 Liverpool, at 1400 hours, 29 Aug. as had been arranged. They stayed in the restaurant for approximately 90 minutes. LOG asked Subj if he had seen any of his American friends lately and Subj replied that he had seen "John" and "Rex" in the usual manner, i.e. as students. LOG offered the opinion that Subj was being "surrounded" by Amis and didn't Subj feel the same way. Subj denied that this was so, at least as far as he was concerned, but if LOG felt that some of these people were "intelligence" types, he, the Subj certainly did not feel that way. LOG then asked Subj how he was fixed financially and the latter said he was as broke as usual. LOG then suggested that Subj could have a little extra money if he would only agree to write a report or two about these Americans. Subj told LOG that he had already reported orally all he knew about John and Rex and that he saw little point in repeating it in writing. LOG then suggested that he would pay for such reports and thus help Subj out of his financial difficulties. When asked by Subj., LOG offered to pay 200 pesos for each report, claiming that "we have unlimited funds for this sort of thing". Subject did make any commitment, and said that "as a fellow Soviet I would hate to accept any money for such a favor." LOG insisted that this small amount would help Subj take the vacation he was so eager to take. LOG told Subj that he had bad news, he would not be able to return to Moscow on the first of Oct as he had wished. A replacement for him is not available and he therefore has no idea when he will depart. In fact he had hoped that he could have brought his replacement with him to this meeting, but no luck. In any event Subject invited LOG and his wife to come to his home for a farewell (?) dinner on 15 Sept at 1930 hours. LOG asked Subj to invite Miguel Angel HERODIO and wife also, and Subj agreed. Subject commented to me that the 15th was a particularly bad date, he having forgotten that this was a big holiday. He will [illegible] call LOG and see if he still wants to keep the same date.

4. Subject told me that HERODIO had confided in him to the effect that LOG had tried to recruit him by writing reports on his friends but HERODIO refused. HERODIO made Subject promise that he would not breathe a word of this to anyone.

5. [illegible] mention [illegible] about the possibility of showing the Spanish Civil War film. Subj did not bring this topic up with LCS however.

6. I told Subj that we were not in favor of his playing a double agent role, at least at this time, however, I would discuss the possibility of his writing a report for LCS with my superiors and let him know about the decision at a later meeting. I also told him to go ahead and write a brief report as though for LCS but to give it to me instead. He promised to do so but I ~~have doubts~~ really doubt that he will do it. I explained to him that a double agent is not permitted to keep moneys received from both sides and that any money he might receive from LCS, for whatever purpose or for any reason, would have to be turned over to me. He seemed to understand this reasoning very well.

7. We met at Sanborn's as arranged and I am not very happy about this site for a meeting place. Although nothing untoward happened as far as I know, we will not meet there again. We did not move from there as I had planned to but inasmuch as we were sitting in a rather dark corner I did not press a move. It is quite apparent, and I suppose with good reason, that Subj is very naive in respect to espionage in general. For example he claimed that he did not the meaning of the term "resident". ~~Kostanfski~~ I presume that this term would hardly have any use or meaning inside the USSR. Most of Subject's youth was spent outside of Moscow, in a small mining town about 100 mil northeast of Moscow. Subject claimed that he is becoming more and more interested in working with us, not so much against the Soviet Union but for the dignity and freedom of humanity.

Subj [illegible]

8. I asked Subj if he had read the Penkovskiy Papers. He claimed that he asked for a copy once or twice but "Boh" had not been able to obtain it. He would like to read it in Russian if possible. I think it ~~xxx~~ might open his eyes a bit more but I really don't know where he would get a chance to read it without revealing the fact to his wife or someone else.

Will send [illegible] done file

9. Next meeting is scheduled for 10 Sept, 2030 hours, Firenze Rest.

[illegible]

As agreed ~~[illegible]~~ between Dittmann & Frank 5 Sept, Dit will try to get [illegible] to take LCS to 15 Sept meet — [illegible] will be present to "chaperon" — see separate CR.
Dan should stress necessity for [illegible] to write report for LCS, which I don't [illegible] him to do — as a friend [illegible] anything [illegible], [illegible] not want to [illegible] a report (not [illegible] report [illegible] with the character for ~~[illegible]~~ [illegible]). [illegible]

Dear Valya, (LOGINOV)

It doesn't seem to be true, but it is. I am writing a letter ((to you)). Several times I got ready to write, but couldn't because of either laziness or too much work.

One and a half years have gone by since you left. My wife and I remember you often, more so, because there are practically all new and some very serious faces in the Embassy ((now)). I went to the reception on the Red Army Day, but since I didn't have an invitation, they didn't let me in, even though CHERNYSH and NECHIPORENKO tried to help me. As you see, my brother, times change. In our days, i.e. when you were here, everything was simpler and I would say even gayer.

Well, enough of complaining. I'll now turn to the news. The most important news, at least for me, is that Tege is expecting. We are waiting for the "Parisien package" approximately in February. It would be nice to have a son, since we are not going to produce more children. But if it is a girl, that too would be nice. I will feel as though I am in a harem.

I am studying English and French seriously. In 2-3 years my wife and I want to move to Spain. I have had enough of Mexico. I have been living here for 14 years. On the other hand, with the knowledge of languages, one can earn a better living in Spain. You know yourself that life is much happier in Europe. Last year 21 million tourists visited Spain. One can make a good living through tourism, and without much difficulty.

I continue working in the Institute. We bought a good lot on Rin Street and built a three-story building. Juan Luis's wife is also expecting their second child.

Please extend our big hello to your wife. We remember her often. You have a very nice and kind wife. Looking forward to/hear your news, we embrace you.

Сейчас [illegible] как [illegible] прошло уже не [illegible] [illegible]. [illegible] и я часто вспоминаем о тебе, тем более, что в институте почти все новые лица и каждого уже слишком серьезные. В день Красной Армии пошёл на прием и не пропустили так у меня не было пригласительного билета. Не смотря на то, что и Борис и Катя Никифоровы [illegible] помогли мне все же не пропустили. Как видишь, брат, времена меняются. В наше время, т.е. когда ты здесь был, все было проще и я бы сказал гораздо повеселее.

Ну, ладно, хватит [illegible]. Перейду к новостям. Самая интересная новость, интересней для меня, это то, что [illegible] [illegible] ребенка. Ожидаем „горячую посылку" приблизительно в феврале. Усердно занимаюсь испанским и французским языками. Хочу с женой через 2, 3 года переправиться в Испанию. [illegible] напоминает мне надоевшую Мексику. Я уже здесь живу 11 лет. Да и событий в Испании, [illegible], можно хорошо [illegible] заработать. Затем, ты сам знаешь, в Испании жизнь-быт веселее. В прошлом году Испанию навестило 21 миллион туристов. 1. As requested in Reference, Station queried INBREED as to why they had included Valentin Sergeyevich LOGINOV (201-0285412) in their list of Soviets who had been PNG'd or expelled from various countries in the past five years.

2. In INBREED's reply to our query, they stated that in the periodic "Das Beste" there was an extract from the Reader's Digest of 1 January 1972, of a book titled "Moscow's Attack on Mexico" by John Barron. From this article it was learned that the KGB officer LOGINOV met secretly with Mexican students at the time of the student demonstrations in Mexico in 1968. In March 1971, when five Soviet officials were PNG'd from Mexico, it was believed that Valentin Sergeyevich LOGINOV was among those ousted.

3. Upon learning that LOGINOV served in the Soviet Embassy in Mexico City as Third Secretary/Vice Counsel from August 1965 to October 1969, INBREED has now advised the Station that LOGINOV's name [redacted] erroneously appeared in their list of Soviets who had been PNG'd.

9.02.19 ¿Hay alguna característica en sus hábitos de comer o en sus maneras que merezca mención especial? De ser así, descríbala:

9.03 Impresión general de sus hábitos de comer y fumar. (Marque la descripción más apropiada).

9.03.01 Persona de enorme apetito y preferencias bien definidas. Come y fuma con bastante fruición, pero tiende a ser un poco rústico y tosco. Es fácil imaginarlo comiendo grandes emparedados y tomando cerveza con sus amigotes en la taberna del barrio. ___

9.03.02 Persona de enorme apetito y preferencias limitadas. Come y fuma con fruición pero sus modales son definitivamente toscos y rústicos. Es fácil imaginar su aspereza con el camarero que le sirve comida extraña o preparada de manera desusada. ___

9.03.03 Persona de comer sensual que conoce todos los restaurantes y sus especialidades. Se empeña en que otros prueben los platos que él ha descubierto. Come con visible placer, saborea sus cigarrillos, y aunque raramente se muestra tosco, se preocupa más de su comida que de sus modales. Es fácil imaginarlo cocinando y sirviendo platos especiales a sus amigos. ___

9.03.04 Persona de comer sensual que tiende a comer solo si puede. Parece comer de todo y tiene cierto aire de glotón. Come con visible fruición, saborea sus cigarrillos y luego se queda a la mesa solo, regodeándose. Es fácil imaginarlo solo rondando la mesa de los bocadillos en un cóctel, golósineando.

9.03.05 Persona de comer rutinario que generalmente hace lo que los demás. Probablemente padece de alergias que le impiden comer ciertos alimentos. Da la impresión de gustarle más fumar que comer, ~~pero sus~~ modales a la mesa se adaptan a cualquier situación. Es fácil imaginarlo tomando pastillas digestivas en su cuarto.

9.03.06 Persona de comer rutinario que generalmente hace lo que los demás. Come con algún desgano y raras veces habla de lo que le gusta o no le gusta. Fuma cada vez que puede, pero más mecánicamente que con fruición. Por lo general trata de adaptar sus modales a la situación pero posiblemente con alguna torpeza y sin disimulo. Es fácil imaginarlo comiendo algo a la carrera en algún puesto callejero a cualquier hora.

9.03.07 Gastrónomo cuyo refinamiento en el comer es pronunciado y extenso. A la mesa es muy ritualista y para él el ambiente y el servicio son casi tan importantes como la comida. Es agraciado y culto a la mesa así como al fumar. Es fácil imaginarlo cambiar de ropa para comer y disfrutar buen vino y finos platos a la luz de candeleros.

9.03.08 Persona de comer desusado, diminuto. Come de modo preocupado, indiferente a la comida y a lo que le rodea. No sería sorprendente que tuviera manías gastronómicas (de vegetariano, de fórmulas especiales, etc.).

9.03.09 Nada de esto cabe.

23 April 1970

Soviet Operational Contacts:

AEMIDRIFF made the following comments concerning what appeared to her to be operational contacts and/or modus operandi of Soviet intelligence officers in Mexico:

Debriefing conducted 23-26 April 1970:

LOGINOV - During the affair between AEMIDRIFF and LOGINOV, they went to the movies once or twice a week, the Futurama and Cine Mod being the theaters most frequently attended. LOGINOV always made some sort of contact during these outings, according to AEMIDRIFF. She stated that he usually left his seat about 2300 hours and went out to the lobby for some time. She did not know where the contacts were actually made. Once she and LOGINOV encountered, apparently accidentally, outside the Cine Mod theater, a Mexican Army Colonel, who was introduced to her by LOGINOV as "Col. Sergio." In this instance LOGINOV did not excuse himself to have a private conversation with the Mexican. "Col. Sergio" was described by AEMIDRIFF as about 40, tall, no moustache or glasses, thick, curly hair, appeared to be of Spanish descent. The woman with "Col. Sergio" appeared to be about 25 years old and was introduced as his wife (which AEMIDRIFF doubted because, as she put it, he didn't treat her as one would a wife, but rather as a mistress). AEMIDRIFF knew nothing more about this Mexican and never saw him again.

had blond hair, was of medium height, no glasses, large grey eyes (AEMIDRIFF thought him quite attractive). LOGINOV told "Michael" that he would call him the next day on urgent business. "Michael" was alone. AEMIDRIFF commented that they did not have a private conversation. She esimated this encounter took place about September 1959.

GOLCUZOV - AEMIDRIFF stated that GOLCUZOV used her in the same manner, i.e., took her about 3 times in all to Cine Chapultepec, then left her during the movie to make some sort of contact.

Debriefing conducted 12-16 May 1970:

Concerning Soviet Contacts in the Mexican Police: AEMIDRIFF stated that she overheard GOLCUSOV and DYOMIN talk about many contacts which they had in the police here. She said she had also overheard KOLOMYAKOV, BAKULIN, AND CHEKHOV talk about how many good police contacts the Soviets have. However, each specific example which AEMIDRIFF could give concerned some non-operational favor which the Soviets could get taken care of, e.g., when the Soviets wanted to get something through Aduana; when some Soviet was missing and police cooperation was needed; getting advance notice when some demonstration hostile to the Soviets was about to take place, etc. She was not able to recall any hints that Soviets had operational contacts in the police; agents reporting on what the police were doing; assets who assisted Soviets operationally in some way. However, AEMIDRIFF thought the Soviets probably have such assets.

Concerning Soviet contacts in West German Police: AEMIDRIFF recalled that when she went to Germany as interpreter for Soviet surgeon and textbook writer, Pablo AMASOV, in January 1968 (they went to Cologne West Germany on Commercial Ministry business), the Soviet Ambassador in West Germany stated that the Embassy had some paid agents within the West German police who helped them to protect the Soviets (in context that it was dangerous there; some Soviet official could be kidnapped by the enemy, etc.) AEMIDRIFF noted that AMASOV was quite old and very pro-regime.

Miscellaneous operational notes - AEMIDRIFF had no knowledge of Soviet safe houses or safe apartments. She stated that many Soviet visitors stayed at the Hotel Virreyes or in two other hotels near the Soviet Embassy (she couldn't remember names). She did not know whether the Soviets had any sort of special arrangement or contacts in these hotels.

AEMIDRIFF stated that she had attended several parties at which Mexicans also were present (she recalled specifically parties at the homes of KOLOMYAKOV, BAKULIN, LOGINOV) and in each instance the Soviet officer, at some point during the evening, had a private conversation with a Mexican guest. (Unfortunately, AEMIDRIFF was unable to recall the names of any of the Mexicans she met on these occasions, and of course there is no way of knowing whether such private conversations were operational meetings.) AEMIDRIFF commented that at purely Soviet parties, husbands always went off together and talked business, and if wives approached, they stopped their conversation.

Debriefing conducted 1-6 June 1970:

KORMUSHKIN - AEMIDRIFF commented that she thought KORMUSHKIN made operational meetings in the Bremen Bar, since she often saw him sitting in that bar, wearing dark glasses and trying to look inconspicuous.

(AEMIDRIFF sometimes passed by this bar and would look inside, although she never went in.)

KUPLYAKOV - Possible PCM Contact - AEMIDRIFF stated that she was told by Daniel Montiel (Daniel MENDEZ Montiel, 201-258951), the Soviet's chauffeur, that his brother, who is a Central Committee member of the PCM and who worked on the PCM publication "La Voz de Mexico," was in contact with KUPLYAKOV. In addition, AEMIDRIFF stated that she believed that Armando VERDUGO (iden with Armando MARTINEZ Verdugo, 201-851726) had an uncle, also named Armando VERDUGO, who is First Secretary of the PCM and who is in contact with KUPLYAKOV. At least this was strongly inferred by Montiel, according to AEMIDRIFF. (Editor note: Arnoldo MARTINEZ Verdugo, 201-064254, who is brother of Armando, is First Secretary of PCM). AEMIDRIFF stated that KUPLYAKOV always seemed to be very interested in and knowledgeable of what appeared in "La Voz de Mexico" and in the PCM publication "La Epoca." She stated that, in general, KUPLYAKOV paid so much attention to local politics and seemed to be so well informed on PCM matters that she felt certain he had something to do with the PCM.

AEMIDRIFF stated that KUPLYAKOV's wife was a good friend of Salvador GONZALEZ Marin, head of the Fondo de Cultura Popular. GONZALEZ' wife works in the Museum of Anthropology. GONZALEZ sold a lot of Soviet books, according to AEMIDRIFF, and for that reason was in contact with KUPLYAKOV, but she commented that GONZALEZ may also have been utilized by KUPLYAKOV in some other operational way. Most of KUPLYAKOV's contacts seem to be journalists. (These were the people AEMIDRIFF saw talking to him at receptions, etc.).

AEMIDRIFF stated that Leopoldo ARENAL, whose wife is the daughter of David Alfaro SIQUIEROS, is another Soviet asset who is handled by KUPLYAKOV (she heard VANOVSKIY talk about this). AEMIDRIFF said that ARENAL works with Eduardo ARAUJO (economic consultant for "Minera Continental, S.A.", mentioned in Commercial Office). She also stated she knew that ARENAL went at times to the Embassy to see KUPLYAKOV. AEMIDRIFF said that ARENAL goes to Moscow every year or so. (ARENAL identical with Leopoldo ARENAL Bastar, 201-117999).

Soviet Involvement in Student Disorders of 1968:

Debriefing conducted 25-26 April 1970: AEMIDRIFF stated that LOGINOV went out at nights often during this period and told her it was to make "contacts." LOGINOV also stated that his work during this period was some of the most dangerous he had ever done. AEMIDRIFF was certain that these "contacts" involved in student riots. AEMIDRIFF related that once at Auto Cine, LOGINOV made a meeting with a group of youths who came in another car (Falcon). Another time, some 2 or 3 days later, LOGINOV had MITOPOLSKI give him some shotguns which MITOPOLSKI had charge of. LOGINOV got the guns about 2200 or 2300; the guns were returned the next morning. Others who seemed to be going out all the time at night during the student riots (and talking about their meetings in general the next morning) were BOLSHAKOV, KORMOUSHKIN, NIKIPOROV. AEMIDRIFF never heard mention of money being passed during this period (i.e., to Soviet assets involved in riots) nor any mention of any names or positions of assets (This not in agreement with some of Dan James info). CHMYKOV seemed to be involved also.

Debriefing conducted 12-16 May 1970: AEMIDRIFF was again questioned on her knowledge of Soviet activities during the 1968 student disorders. She reported that all she really knew was that the Soviets were very busy during this period; that LOGINOV told her he was going out every night to make "contacts;" that she overheard Soviet case officers talking at various times during this period to effect that they very busy, making many contacts; that the situation was potentially explosive and a dangerous time for them to be making such contacts. AEMIDRIFF twice was with LOGINOV when he met with some "youths" in private conversations. However, AEMIDRIFF stated she did not ever hear any mention of any names of Soviet contacts in relation with the student disorders, any mention of the level of involvement of these contacts in the student organizations, any mention of Soviet guidance to the student movement, financing of the student movement, or the like. She really doesn't know that the Soviets had any contacts with direct access to information to these activities, but she strongly assumes that they did, based on their level of activity and the strong tenor that LOGINOV and other case officers gave to the idea that the contacts they were making were dangerous ones for them to be seen with during this period.

Debriefing conducted 1-6 June 1970: AEMIDRIFF questioned re 1968 student disorders again, for clarification previously reported details. She stated that the Soviets had some different types of rifles in the Commercial Office which served as samples of guns which they were trying to sell commercially in Mexico. One night about 11 o'clock, during the period of student riots, LOGINOV came to the Commercial Office with MITOPOSSKI (AEMIDRIFF was there watching TV). They got "some" rifles - AEMIDRIFF could not see how many or what kind. They took them out in some sort of bags. The next morning "some" rifles were returned to the Commercial Office, but AEMIDRIFF doesn't know whether all of them were brought back. She doesn't know whether or not LOGINOV might have been duty officer for the Embassy for that night.

AEMIDRIFF stated that NECHIPORENKO's trip back to the USSR during the 1968 riots may well have been to report on the riots. However, she didn't know that this was the case and noone specifically told her so.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT : Operation Road Course

REFERENCES: A. Our memorandum dated 9 December 1969, same subject.
B. Memorandum No. S-69/4748, dated 10 December 1969, same subject.

1. The following comments from CAS/MEX on References are forwarded for your information. In an effort to identify "George", CAS/MEX obtained the following information from reliable sources concerning the 3 and 4 October 1969 meeting between Subject and the Soviets.

2. CAS/MEX sources reported the presence of certain Soviets at the Soviet Embassy on the morning of 4 October 1969, which is when the debriefing of Subject took place. Although the presence of some of these Soviets have been reported previously in Reference A, the context of the observations could indicate that possibly one or more of these individuals was involved in the interview of Subject on 4 October 1969.

3. Yevgeniy Ivanovich FEDIN was seen entering the Embassy on 4 October at 0953 hours. He was seen working in Window #12, which is his and Yuriy Viktorovich KUPLYAKOV's office. This office is also used for receiving VIP visitors. FEDIN was seen exiting the Embassy with Mikhail DAVIDOVSKIY and Lev GOLOUZOV at 1240 in an automobile carrying license plates "83 DD".

4. Boris Pavlovich KOLOMYAKOV was seen entering the Embassy on 4 October 1969 at 0910 hours. At 0919 hours, KOLOMYAKOV was observed speaking with Vladislav Sergeyevich KONIUSHKIN in the garden of the Embassy, then KOLOMYAKOV entered the main Embassy building by the main entrance. At 1007 hours, KOLOMYAKOV was again observed in the garden speaking with Valentin Sergeyevich LOGINOV, after which both went into the receiving room just inside the gate, into the Embassy [illegible]. If [illegible] or [illegible] is the Soviet who was interviewing Subject as described in his debriefing report, then this conversation in the garden might have ensued during one of the times "Soviet [illegible]" (as described by Subject) left the room. KOLOMYAKOV was seen exiting the Embassy at 1314 hours that day in an automobile carrying license plates "89 DA."

5. Valdislav Sergeyevich KORMUSHKIN was seen entering the Embassy at 0910 hours on 4 October in the company of KORMUSHKINA, dirving an automobile with license "76 DD." Other than the conversation mentioned in paragraph 4 above, he was not seen again until 1324 hours when he exited the Embassy alone. It is not known when KORMUSHKINA left the Embassy.

6. Oleg Sergeyevich KOROLEV was seen entering the Embassy on 4 October 1969 at 0840 hours driving a dual-control car from a local driving school. The car and instructor then departed. KOROLEV entered the main Embassy building and was not seen again until 1349 hours, when he exited the Embassy on foot.

7. Valentin Sergeyevich LOGINOV was seen entering the Embassy at 0849 hours the ~~morning of 4~~ October 1969. He was seen exiting the Embassy in his car, license plates "31 DG," at 0913 hours and was seen entering the Embassy again at 0939 hours in the same vehicle. At 1016 hours he was seen exiting again in car "31 DG" with LOGINOVA. The above is brought to your attention because all of these Soviets are known KGB officers (except FEDIN, who is carried as Suspect KGB), and all have at least passable English speaking ability.

8. Attached is a photograph of Genrikh Ivanovich KUZNETSOV, who might have been the driver for car "23 DD," in which Subject was smuggled out of the Soviet Embassy on 4 October 1969. Since his wife, Yelizaveta Ivanovna KUZNETSOVA, may have been with him, her photograph is attached. Also attached is a photograph of Yevgeniy Grigoryevna KHOKHLOVA, wife of Inva Fedorvich KHOKHLOV, who might be identical with the woman who met Subject at the gatehouse as he entered the Embassy on 4 October.

9. With reference to the emergency instructions for Subject on the last page of Reference B, CAS/[illegible] reports that they were not briefed concerning this emergency means of communication. If Subject had called, in accordance with his instructions, the fact that [illegible] was unaware of this arrangement makes it possible that a serious flap could have developed. Because of this potential problem, we would appreciate receiving in advance any such communications plans for either Subject or other such agents prior to their pre-mission briefing. Such emergency planning must be completely coordinated with CAS Headquarters prior to implementation.

10. Please advise if Subject was able to identify any of the Soviet individuals he met, utilizing the photographs which we loaned to you during our meeting on 19 December 1969. We would also appreciate learning if Subject is able to identify KUZNETSOV, KUZNETSOVA, and KHOKHLOVA, whose photographs are attached.

11. It is requested that your office return all photographs of the Soviets in Mexico which we have passed to you previously, including attached photographs.

10) Valentin Sergeyevich LOGINOV: He left on the 6th of October for Moscow, six months before the completion of his tour. He was head of the consular section and the lover of Raya. Apparently the causes for his sudden return were 1) having been Raya's lover; and 2) not having had good results from his work and, according to Raya, some kind of failure. He was in Mexico on two different occasions.

She states that during the time she was having an affair with Valentin LOGINOV, who was chief of the consular section, he occasionally took her out at night to places where she knows he made contact with persons who seemed to be Mexicans. She says that she doesn't know with which persons he made contact, nor if they were Mexicans or not, because she never saw them, but that he, on several occasions took her to these places: the Cine Mod on Lomas de Tecamachalco, the Cine Futurama in Colonia Lindavista, the drive-in theater called Autocinema del Valle, the drive-in called Autocinema Satelite and the Cine Tlaltelolco. When she accompanied him to those places, he left the car and she remained in it; that he would go for 10, 15 or 20 minutes to converse with those people. He never told her who these persons were nor what they talked about.

ACTION REQUIRED - REFERENCES

REFERENCES: A. HMMA 37833, 12 September 1969
B. HMMA 37926, 10 October 1969

1. The two Personality Assessment Questionnaires on AEDIKHARD which were transmitted as separate cover attachments to Reference A were unfortunately not received until 30 September, by which date we knew from a visa cable sent the State Department by the Embassy in Mexico City that AEDIKHARD was departing PCS one week thereafter, on 7 October. Reference B confirmed that departure.

2. Since but one week was available for the completion of the MKCRUSH assessment, and its transmittal to the Station, we decided not to go ahead with it. The PAQ's have been made a part of AEDIKHARD's file, and should he appear in the future outside the USSR, an assessment can be made at that time.

ACTION REQUIRED - REFERENCES
Reference: DIRECTOR 27830, 7 August 1969

1. LIFIRE reported the PCS arrival in Mexico City of the MAZURIN family on 20 October 1969 aboard Air France flight 707 from New York City. Subject travelled on Soviet Diplomatic Passport D-027105 and his wife, Lidiya Petrovna, and son, Andrey, travelled on Soviet Diplomatic Passport D-027106.

2. Per Reference cable, Subject was scheduled to replace Valentin Sergeyevich LOGINOV (201-285412). Subject will be replacing LOGINOV in slot but apparently not in position. Oleg Maksimovich NECHIPORENKO (201-305870) was introduced at LOGINOV's farewell reception at the Soviet Embassy as LOGINOV's successor as "Head of the Consular Section." Since we do not have passport coverage on Air France flights, we were unable to obtain Subject's passport, which would indicate his title.

3. Subject was escorted into the Soviet Embassy on his first day in Mexico by NECHIPORENKO.

4. Photographs and further information on Subject will be forwarded when received.

5. A 201 number for Subject is requested.

LIBACON-1 Progress Report

1. Forwarded herewith is Bruce H. FERNALD's progress report on LIBACON-1, covering the period 30 January to 15 August 1969.

2. As FERNALD's report indicates, steady progress has been made in developing LIBACON-1 into a responsive agent. LIBACON-1's credentials vis-a-vis the Soviets are excellent, and he is learning to use these credentials to the Station's benefit. He was reluctant at first, possibly because he did not want to do the same thing for RVROCK that he refused to do for AEKICK. Patient handling by FERNALD seems to have overcome this reluctance, and LIBACON-1 now responds well to direction.

3. So far, there seems to be no reason to suspect the sincerity of LIBACON-1's relationship with RVROCK. He developed strong personal affection and professional respect for both KARTASUK and FERNALD, and his turnover to Douglas F. DITMANSON on 14 August 1969 represents an effort to strengthen the emotional attachment, which seems to be so important to him, by providing him with a case officer who speaks his native tongue. And, although LIBACON-1's private life is a mess, we will watch closely to see that this does not cause any greater problem than occasional missed meetings and delays in completing assignments.

4. In the next phase of LIBACON-1's activity, we expect to concentrate on two things:

a. Strengthening the ties with AEDIKHARD (there have been indications that AEDIKHARD's tour may not be ending shortly after all, in which case he will remain a prime Station target).

b. Spotting additional agent prospects, as suggested by Reference A.

24 August 1969

PROGRESS REPORT

Subject : LIBACON-1

Period Covered: January 30 to August 14, 1969

1. LIBACON-1 was recruited by Samuel J. KARTASUK on January 30 and was handled by him until March 26. During this period they held nine ops meetings.

2. Bruce H. FERNALD took over LIBACON-1 on March 26 and handled him to August 14, when he turned him over to Douglas F. DITMANSON. During this period 16 ops meetings were held.

3. After a fine recruitment job KARTASUK also accomplished the difficult task of converting LIBACON-1's agreement to work for KARTASUK personally into a regular working arrangement.

4. Of the nine meetings KARTASUK held with LIBACON-1, actually only six were working meetings. Info was obtained on LIBACON-1's personal background as well as his ops potential. LIBACON-1 was SGSWIRLED with satisfactory results. Further, LIBACON-1 was motivated to work for us and he was mentally prepared to accept another handler. During this period the condition which LIBACON-1 had placed on his agreement to work for us was respected (i.e., that he would not be asked to report on his personal friends such as Spaniards, his students, or Mexicans to whom he was emotionally attached). LIBACON-1 did complete for KARTASUK a 15-line written report on AEDIEHARD.

5. FERNALD encountered no problems in getting along with and handling LIBACON-1, whom he got accustomed to following instructions and to submitting reports in writing.

6. LIBACON-1's initial attitude was that he had agreed to work, or more accurately, to assist us in our work against AEKICK, but he was determined to keep himself away from everybody and everything associated with AEKICK. He did not see AEDIEHARD for more than four months, and when they met accidentally in a resort, LIBACON-1 was decisively turning down everything AEDIEHARD asked for. He went so far as to accept a luncheon appointment with AEDIEHARD, and then a day before it was to take place he postponed it indefinitely.

7. FERNALD succeeded in convincing LIBACON-1 that he should maintain social or friendly personal contact with AEDIEHARD and his colleagues and that he could do it without either giving in to his or their demands, or at the other extreme, without saying no to everything they mention or ask for. LIBACON-1 followed instructions and went to AEDIEHARD's office to ask him why he had not called him for ten weeks. The result was that LIBACON-1 had two luncheon meetings with AEDIEHARD in July, and on August 8 LIBACON-1 and his wife were dinner guests of AEDIEHARD and his wife at their apartment. The AEDIEHARDs agreed to come to LIBACON-1's place for a farewell dinner in September and in the meanwhile LIBACON-1 and AEDIEHARD will meet for a luncheon on August 29.

8. FERNALD insisted from the beginning of his handling of LIBACON-1 that the latter prepare bio sketches on the MHHARSHers he knew personally and on Spaniards who had lived in the USSR. LIBACON-1 prepared bio sketches, which are actually personality assessments, on AEDIEHARD, IDENTITY A, IDENTITY B, IDENTITY C, and IDENTITY D. The latter two reports showed that he would also report on two Spaniards who are close friends of his, in spite of his earlier conditions. Further, FERNALD instructed LIBACON-1 to contact a good friend of his (IDENTITY E) when the latter returned from a longer trip to Czechoslovakia. LIBACON-1 carried out the assignment well and reported (orally) about IDENTITY E's observations, impressions and conclusions concerning what he saw and heard during his stay in his country. IDENTITY E is also a good personal friend of LIBACON-1.

9. From the above it can be seen that LIBACON-1 has developed into a person who has confidence in us, and he accepts without reservation that we know what we are doing.

10. In analyzing LIBACON-1's written reports it can easily be seen that LIBACON-1 takes his assignments seriously and when he makes a statement about a person he is scrupulous about drawing only that conclusion which can be corroborated with facts. LIBACON-1 is equally serious and reliable when he reports about his meetings with AEDIEHARD: He first reports the course of the meeting and reports AEDIEHARD's statements verbatim, as much as possible. Then, he uses his area knowledge and the knowledge of the person to relay the actual meaning of the statements. FERNALD not only believes that LIBACON-1's reporting is reliable, but he also feels that one can depend on LIBACON-1 to use his knowledge of the area and people to separate the appearance and verbiage from the facts, be they good or bad.

11. An assessment of the moral and political reliability of LIBACON-1, from the point of view of his work and activity on our behalf can only be favorable. The same cannot be said when one views his personal life. In this field he has many problems, which, generally speaking, are a result of the fact that while he is intellectually mature (or at least adequately mature for his age), when it comes to emotions he acts like a teen-ager. LIBACON-1 is aware of this fact and he ascribes it to the fact that he grew under conditions of regimentation and moral terror; and when he found himself in a world in which people live free and there are no restrictions on personal activities, as long as they do not violate the laws of the country, he remained possessed by the desire to enjoy this freedom. Fortunately, his personal immaturity affects his work for us only to the extent that he occasionally may not complete an assessment; but when he does do a job he does it very well.

12. To conclude: Although LIBACON-1 has his problems, there are restricted to the area which does not affect his reliability, dependability and loyalty to us and our cause. It is felt that LIBACON-1 will be still more productive and easier developed when handled by a case officer speaking Russian; i.e., the language of his formative years.

WHEN LIBACON-1 RESISTED BY STATING LIOVAL-1 NOT ONLY HIS STUDENT BUT ALSO GOOD FRIEND WITH WHOM AEDIEHARD COULD ACHIEVE NOTHING BECAUSE OF LIOVAL-1'S PERSONAL INTEGRITY AND POLITICAL CONVICTIONS, AEDIEHARD BECAME ABUSIVE AND FLATLY DEMANDED THAT LIBACON-1 MAKE INTRODUCTION. LIBACON-1 CONTINUED TO REFUSE (HE IS TRULY OPPOSED TO MAKING INTRODUCTION AS HE DOES NOT WANT TO GET INVOLVED WITH AEKICK AND DOES NOT WANT TO DO ANYTHING WHICH WOULD MAKE LIOVAL-1 SUSPECT HE IS INVOLVED WITH AEKICK) AND AEDIEHARD EVENTUALLY INSISTED THEY MEET FOR LUNCH FOLLOWING WEEK TO DISCUSS MATTER FURTHER.

(13) On 12 December 1968 two team members spotted Valentin S. LOGINOV (known KGB) walking with an unknown Mexican male. After LOGINOV departed the Mexican remained at a restaurant for an hour appearing to be waiting for someone. The Mexican finally departed after making a phone call and was lost in heavy traffic. The team members obtained the Mexican's license plate number from which he was identified as Ignacio VALLINA Barros.

1. Per LIENVOY Subject of References (Subject) contacted AEDIEHARD at 10:15 on 6 February 1969. Subject said that she was in Mexico for a few days before returning to the USA and had just spent two weeks in Acapulco. She invited AEDIEHARD for lunch but he could not make it. He agreed to visit her at the home of her host (reported in Reference A) at ca 19:00 the same day.

2. When Subject had not contacted the Station, she was called at the home of her host the next morning, 7 February, and a meeting was set for 15:00. Both on the phone and at the meeting, Subject had a severe hangover.

3. Subject gave full information on her call to AEDIEHARD on 6 February. She said that she was just about to call the case officer on 7 February when he called her. She did not call in on 6 February because she wanted to wait until after she saw AEDIEHARD so that she would have something to report. She stated that she had not visited Mexico since the trip reported in Reference A when she first met AEDIEHARD because she is tied down with the care of her mother who is still alive. She had sent two or three letters to AEDIEHARD but he had never answered them and on 6 February AEDIEHARD said that he had not received them.

4. As previously, Subject's reporting was terribly confused. Almost every point let her into rambling tangents. She said that AEDIEHARD arrived at her host's home at ca 19:30 on 6 February. About four women and Subject were there. They were all guests at the luncheon to which AEDIEHARD had been invited. The male guests had long since departed to their jobs. AEDIEHARD made his usual impressio on all the girls, none of whom he had met before. "They all loved him." AEDIEHARD stayed until ca 22:00 when he left pleading a previous appointment.

5. AEDIEHARD debriefed her on her activities since they last met and told her that he would be coming to New York on vacation. She invited him to visit her and gave him her address and telephone number (under separate cover). She asked about the manuscript of her book which she had left with him. He told her that it was in good hands and that he was looking for a publisher. She told him that she was leaving on the morning of 9 February and he promised to see her again before she left. Actually, AEDIEHARD spent considerably more time charming the other ladies than he spent talking to Subject.

6. At ca 10:30 on 7 February, Subject called AEDIEHARD in the case officer's presence. He was not in. She was told to call later which according to LIENVOY she did but he was still not in.

7. The case officer called her again on the evening of 8 February but since AEDIEHARD had not contacted her, she was not met. She was instructed to call the Station before contacting AEDIEHARD on her next visit. She departed on the morning of 9 February.

8. Since AEDIEHARD did not engage in significant conversation with her and made no attempt to see her a second time, it would seem that he has no interest in her. This is not surprising since AEDIEHARD could hardly escape the same assessment of her that the case officer has. She made an even worse impression than at the first interview--a totally self-centered person who could not even remember the last names of the women who met AEDIEHARD although she can talk endlessly about them on how they relate to her. Her mind is totally distracted.

9. In view of the above, the Station believes that Subject would be of no use against AEDIEHARD and plans to terminate her, if she reappears in Mexico.

REF: MEXICO CITY 9356 (IN07511)

1. FOLLOWING FROM LIREALM-1 SECOND WRITTEN REPORT AND DEBRIEFING ON 6 MARCH.

A. LIREALM-1 AND 201-285412 (SUBJECT) ARE MEMBERS OF AN INFORMAL GROUP WITHIN THEIR CLUB WHICH REPAIRS TO ONE OF GROUPS HOME EVERY SECOND SUNDAY FOR LUNCH AFTER TENNIS. 2 MARCH INCIDENT OCCURRED AT SUCH A LUNCH WITH CA 25 PEOPLE PRESENT.

B. DISCUSSION WAS NOT OUT OF EARSHOT OF OTHER GUESTS BUT AT TABLE DURING LUNCH. SUBJECT MADE AN ATTEMPT TO KEEP IT PRIVATE. IN FACT, AFTER STATING HE HAD SEEN LIREALM SEVERAL TIMES AT SANBORNS WITH INTELLIGENCE OFFICERS, SUBJECT TURNED TO A GERMAN GUEST AND ASKED, "DO YOU THINK THAT LIREALM COULD EARN AS MUCH MONEY AS HE DOES, DOING WHAT HE SAYS HE DOES, WITHOUT HELP FROM WOFIRM?" THE GERMAN, GOING ALONG WITH THE JOKE SAID, "OF COUSE NOT".

C. SUBJECT PRESENTED THE WHOLE THING AS A JOKE BUT WITH A DEFINITELY MALICIOUS TWIST.

D. THIS PROVOCATION OF HIS CONTACTS IS STANDARD PRACTICE WITH SUBJECT. HE SEEMS TO HAVE A COMPULSION TO COME UP WITH SLIGHTLY OFFENSIVE PROVOCATIONS. THUS TWO WEEKS AGO AT A SIMILAR LUNCH AT ANOTHER GERMAN,S HOUSE, HIS PROVOCATIONS TO TWO GERMANS ON NIXON'S VISIT TO BERLIN AND ELCTION OF PRESIDENT THERE LED TO HIM INSULTING HOSTS AND LEAVING IN A HUFF SHORTLY BEFORE HE WOULD HAVE BEEN EVICTED.

E. LIREALM FEELS THAT HIS HARPING ON LIREALM'S WORK FOR WOFIRM IS SUBJECT'S STANDARD PROVOCATION FOR HIM (LIREALM AND WIFE ARE ONLY AMERICANS IN GROUP) AND THAT SUBJECT HAS NO HARD INFO ABOUT HIS WOFIRM CONNECTIONS. HOWEVER, LIREALM ALSO FEELS THAT IF SUBJECT IS ALLOWED TO CONTINUE THIS PROVOCATIVE LINE WITHOUT EFFECTIVE REBUTTAL, LIREALM CAN BE MADE TO LOOK TO FOOL IN THE GROUPS EYES. IN LIREALM'S ESTIMATE NONE OF GROUP SUSPECTS HIS STATUS IN MEXICO BUT THINK THAT THE WOFIRM LINE IS JUST SUBJECT'S WAY OF PROVOKING THE ONLY GRINGO IN THE GROUP.

2. LIREALM STATED THAT SUBJECT IS VERY GOOD IN DISHING IT OUT TO EVERYBODY BUT INVARIABLY COMES OUT A POOR SECOND IN REPARTEE AFTER DELIVERING INITIAL DIG. HE CAN NOT TAKE IT, IS THIN SKINNED , AND EMBARRASSES EASILY.

1. 201-285412 HAS BEEN ASSIGNED AEDIEHARD.

2. THERE APPEAR TO BE TWO KEY OBJECTIVES WHICH SHOULD BE SOUGHT IN THIS LATEST LIREALM/AEDIEHARD DEVELOPMENT. THEY ARE:

A. PROTECT AND STRENGTHEN LIREALM'S COVER IN A NATURAL MANNER, AND

B. OPERATIONALLY EXPLOIT AEDIEHARD'S AGGRESSIVE ATTITUDE IN POSITIVE TERMS SO THAT STATION CAN DEVELOP ADDITIONAL ACCESS TO HIM WHILE MAINTAINING THAT WHICH IS ALREADY EXISTENT.

3. IF OUR ACTIONS ARE CAREFULLY PLANNED, THESE OBJECTIVES NEED NOT CONFLICT. REVIEW OF AEDIEHARD'S FILE REVEALS FOLLOWING GENERAL CONCLUSIONS:

A. DESPITE HIS AGGRESSIVE ATTITUDE AND VISIBILITY, THERE DO NOT APPEAR TO BE ANY SIGNIFICANT SUSCEPTIBILITIES.

1. Please query Jerome H. BALSIS in regard to the location of the 1964 overt and covert tax returns and payment check in the amount of $1774.00 of Edward G. TICHBORN and advise.

2. TICHBORN states that he passed the only two copies of each return and the check to BALSIS on 28 April 1965, further stating that BALSIS told him he would completely audit both returns to assure their accuracy in regard to mathematical computations and application of tax liability. BALSIS was to return a copy of the overt return for TICHBORN's retention.

3. A thorough search of Station files failed to uncover the subject tax returns and check or any transmittal record of returns or payment.

4. Since TICHBORN will be extremely hard pressed to duplicate the returns without a copy of the overt return, the location of the returns is very important.

1. Due to operational requirements a meeting was not held with Edward G. TICHBORN by an Admin representative, however, the items noted below were briefly discussed with him by telephone on 26 October.

2. TICHBORN was advised information would be forwarded to the Station and, upon his return to the Station, he should ask his contact about the items--both as a reminder and for fuller explanation. As will be noted, there is a time element concerned with c. below.

a. Reference A (Transmittal of hospitalization claim). TICHBORN asked about the claim and was advised the dispatch was received 5 October and the separate cover was received by the Insurance Branch on 25 October. The insurance section has agreed to expedite the claim and it is expected Finance will advise the Station of the amount of reimbursement to TICHBORN within the next two-three weeks.

b. Reference B (Concerned signing the contract amendment forwarded by Book Dispatch 5178). The provisions of the BD regarding signing the amendment still pertain. The subject was very briefly but, by no means thoroughly, explained. In this connection, it had been planned to have him read the two attached pamphlets "Your Social Security" and "Social Security Amendments--1965". If cover or operational considerations do not preclude, the pamphlets may be given to TICHBORN to either read and return to the Station or to retain.

c. Reference C (Transmitted Income Tax information in response to Book Dispatch 4659). The Tax Committee was checked regarding TICHBORN and advised they needed additional explanatory information from TICHBORN prior to being able to compute an assessment and bring him under the revised tax procedures. TICHBORN could not recall sufficient facts and figures to provide the required information. He was therefore advised it was to his benefit to submit the information to the Station as soon after his return as practicable.

(1) Other Income. He had indicated receipt of fees but did not state whether they were the result of work outside the U.S. or if they were received while in, and as a result of work in the U.S. If the fees were earned as a result of work outside the U.S., they are excludable for federal tax purposes.

(2) Itemized Deductions. He had indicated under "other" $1400. but did not provide any breakdown or explanation as to what the amount represented. It is necessary to provide sufficient supporting information to enable the Committee to recognize the amount as an allowable item. He also indicated a loss of $2,000 on investments. Explanatory facts are required such as--names, when, reason for the loss (sale of stock at $XX versus cost of $XX or whatever), whether the loss was a carryover from prior year(s), etc. It is better that too much information be provided rather than too little.

TICHBORN is to provide the information in writing with his certification as to completeness and accuracy for transmittal to Headquarters. If the information is received within the first part of November it is likely the revised procedures will be applied for the 1965 tax year.

Mr. Edward C. Tichborn

Dear Mr. Tichborn:

Reference is made to your current contract with the United States Government, as represented by the Contracting Officer.

Arrangements have been recently completed allowing certain independent contractors of this organization to obtain social security credits by covering such individuals under the social security tax provisions applicable to employees. These arrangements also include a provision for retroactive applicability to the beginning of the 1965 tax year. This can be done only for reasons of security since the procedure results in reducing the social security tax from the self-employed rate to the employee rate. For example, in January of 1965 the tax rates were 5.4% and 3-5/8% respectively.

As a consequence thereof, said contract is amended by deleting all reference to social security and by adding the following paragraph:

"Effective 1 December 1964, social security taxes will be covertly deducted by this organization from your compensation in the same manner and to the same extent as would be done if you were a Government employee. Security reasons make this procedure necessary. Its implementation does not imply in any manner the actual creation of an employee-employer relationship. Your legal status under this agreement continues to be that of an independent contractor."

If you receive or expect to receive full or partial social security credits from overt sources you will so notify this organization and an adjustment will be made or covert deductions discontinued, depending upon the circumstances. Further, if you should subsequently receive overt social security credits, evidence thereof will be submitted to this organization. In such event your covert credits will be erased and your covert deductions returned.

All other terms and conditions of said contract remain in full force and effect.

2. In order to discharge this responsibility and to insure that each contract agent receives full social security credit for any self employment tax paid through the Covert Unit, it is necessary for this office to prepare the Schedule SE (Form 1040) for each taxpayer for secure transmission to the Social Security Administration. In order to complete Form SE for Subject Contract Agent, it is necessary that the following information (designated by an "X") be furnished:

X True Name (As it appears on Subject's Social Security Card)

___ Social Security Number

X Stateside address currently applicable or the address used when the taxpayer last resided in the U. S.

X Type of Business activity to be reflected in reporting Social Security credits from self employment, such as management consultant, translator, writer, etc.

As a result of the events described below, the Station feels it has a reasonably clear idea on these points now.

2. On 15 May, being a Saturday and two days prior to TICHBORN entering a Mexican hospital for a long-delayed and somewhat apprehensive (on his part) hernia operation, TICHBORN was in an unusually loquacious mood for a luncheon engagement with the Station case officer. He showed little opposition to three good Manhattans and, for the first time, the Station case officer felt he was seeing clearly TICHBORN "the person" and not TICHBORN "the lawyer". In other words, there was no protective veneer involved in the rather long luncheon discussion which followed. The issue which brought forth the entire discussion was reaction of the Mexican intellectual to the Dominican Republic situation. In the process, TICHBORN brought out very sincerely, passionately, and clearly the following points:

a. When he was a trial lawyer in California for five years, his real inclinations were what he termed "leftist". He harbored a number of "reservations" about the way that things were or were not happening in the U.S. under the U.S. system. These were private thoughts and reservations and did not translate themselves into action, but nonetheless points of real concern to him. Then, he came to Mexico for a period to get "that" novel and writing off his chest: during that period, he saw the Mexican system and some of the Latin American Systems. At that juncture, he became very much aware of the fact that it was the "system" that counted, in spite of whatever imperfections existed, and that there "was, and is, nothing that can anywhere nearly approach the U.S. system". As he said, "Sure, there are a lot of things wrong, because of decisions made by human-beings who are fallible and have their own interests to look after, but there is so much good and so many compensations on the plus side of the system and the way it works, you can afford to recognize the wrongs and work them out within the system". He said that this was so obvious from abroad that he just wondered why he ever had worried about incidents and didn't realize that it was the "system" that mattered.

b. He told about some of the discussions he had had with leftist Mexican intellectuals on these points such as, "Is the Soviet system capable of producing and absorbing such pictures as 'Dr. Strangelove' or having a John Steinbeck write a 'Grapes of Wrath' and run off with all prizes in the writing and motion picture field? Can you even approximate that in Mexico? Witness the furore over 'The Children of Sanchez' here while the 'Grapes of Wrath' was every bit as harsh with respect to similar circumstances in the U.S. and won everything." On and on. In so many words, our system thrives on "self-criticism", and there are things to criticize, but what other system in this world is not only permissive of that, but thrives on it. And so on. He has no doubts about any governmental/social/political/economic system in any combination being able to even approach it.

3. The foregoing is a very brief synopsis of a rambling and long philosophic discussion on these points in which TICHBORN concluded his statement and, even, tirade (his Latin heritage had gotten the better of him at that point) with the statement that "My philosophy on this point, and my present sentiments, have been forged in the fire of thinking as a leftist critic and having come to see and understand a great deal; and they can't tell me a damn thing about what is the best system nor on the basis of their present circumstances in their own countries have they any right or basis for criticizing the U.S. and its actions. Nothing is per/fect, and I can't defend it as being perfect, but for every imperfection they try to show me in the U.S. and what it has or has not done, I can show them hundreds in their country and any other one they try to hold up as a model."

4. In so many words, at least the Station case officer at the present time is satisfied in his own mind that TICHBORN was speaking sincerely during this discussion and there is no question in the Station's mind about where TICHBORN stands ideologically even though he may be considered "left of center."

5. Since this issue seems to hover constantly in the background with TICHBORN insofar as KUBARK is concerned, the Station felt it would be a good idea to register the foregoing incident and appraisal with Headquarters.

SUBJECT ADMINISTRATIVE/FINANCE
Loss of Personal Funds - Edward G. TICHBORN

ACTION REQUIRED - REFERENCES

REFERENCE: HMMS-3432, 22 April 1964

1. The delay in answering reference should not be construed as lack of desire or intent, on the part of TICHBORN or the Chief of Station, that the case be submitted to the Board of Review for Shortages and Losses for consideration, but rather as an administrative delay of getting the facts, people, papers, etc., together and in one place for submission.

2. Attached is a statement prepared by TICHBORN regarding the loss of funds and containing the pertinent circumstances of the case. The sub-paragraph numberings are in accordance with, and relating to, the requirements of paragraph 3, a of FR 34-250. The information requested in sub-paragraphs numbered 8 through 12 is answered jointly by Stewart R. PATAKER and Jerome H. BALSIS who were assigned to investigate the matter by the reporting official.

3. PATAKER and BALSIS talked with TICHBORN, at different times, regarding the shortage of funds and the happenings as related to them were substantially the same as outlined in TICHBORN's statement. Since there is no other way to verify the facts and TICHBORN has proven himself to be truthful and forthright in his dealings with the Station his statement regarding the loss of funds is accepted as fact.

4. Since TICHBORN is authorized travel expense "on actual, reasonable, and necessary expense basis" it does not seem sensible for him to have reported the loss of funds in other than the way he says actually happened.

SUBJECT Contract Amendment Edward G. TICHBORN

ACTION REQUIRED - REFERENCES

Reference: DIR 67851

Action Required: FYI

1. Forwarded herewith is the referenced amendment Edward G. TICHBORN's contract which provides for a one year extension effective 19 November 1964 and a compensation increase from $9,000 to $12,000.

2. During Subject's recent TDY in Washington it was made clear to him that this substantial pay raise and extension of his contract was on the basis that TICHBORN continue to devote 85 to 90% of his time to KUBARK activity. In view of the fact that Subject is currently handling only one intellectual project for the Station, please explain to him that in the event that his work load reverts to the 50 to 65% level, he cannot expect to continue to receive the present amount of compensation. During Subject's talks at Headquarters, it appeared that TICHBORN understands this most clearly. As a contract agent, he is remunerated on the basis of services rendered. In return for this arrangement, the government makes no claim on income he might receive from his private business activities. Obviously it is our hope that coupled with the occasional full-time assignments in other WH countries levied on TICHBORN, that the Station will be able to continue to utilize Subject's services at the high level of activity which will justify his current compensation.

SUBJECT General - Administrative Specific - Covert Income Tax Return to Edward G. TICHBORN

ACTION REQUIRED - REFERENCES

REFERENCE: HMMS-3952, dated 15 January 1965

1. Referenced dispatch has caused TICHBORN and the Station to become aware of some new problems with the Mexican banking system. As Headquarters may not be aware, TICHBORN has a dollar account with a Mexico City bank for his personal affairs. Mexican banks do not return cancelled checks to the depositor, but only provide statements. TICHBORN requested his bank to provide him with his cancelled check (on a loan basis) so that copies could be made of it. It developed over a process of several weeks that the bank could not locate this check nor had it been run through TICHBORN's account. Since ample time had expired (it was mailed in June 1964), the bank checked all accounts of persons with TICHBORN's last name on the theory that it might have been run through someone else's account (not an unusual occurrence here). It had not that the bank could discover.

2. As a result, TICHBORN is stopping payment on the check with the bank, writing the office with which he filed his overt income tax, advising that office of the circumstances, and requesting some word back whether or not, in fact, that office received and cashed the check. If the check was received, TICHBORN will provide the Station with a copy of the letter so stating and remove the "stop payment" order on the check. If the check was not received (mail is another problem), then TICHBORN will send another check and a copy of the interchange of correspondence on the matter with the bank and the income tax authorities will be provided Headquarters. It is hoped this will be satisfactory.

3. The only reason the Station is providing all the gruesome details on the foregoing is so that Headquarters will have some understanding of the Mexican banking problems should questions of this nature arise again.

Edward G. [illegible] - Covert Income Tax Return

HMMA-5111 dated 17 December 1964

1. Headquarters review of [illegible]'s 1963 overt and covert tax returns revealed that he reported his covert income on the overt return and that the tax computation on the overt return was incorrect. The covert return appears to be correct, however, it will be necessary for Subject to advise Headquarters whether correspondence has been received from IRS regarding the apparent error in the overt tax computation.

2. It is, generally, the rule that a copy of the cancelled check, in payment of the overt tax liability, be forwarded to Headquarters when the covert income is reported on the overt return.

3. It would be appreciated if Subject would forward his cancelled check, or a copy thereof, with the above requested information.

Dear Mr. Thomas:

Due to increased demands upon my time from other clients, I find it necessary to relinquish my duties as legal counsel for the IILR here in Mexico, and I do so with great reluctance. One of my heretofore-lesser clients has recently expanded his activities in certain real estate developments in Guadalajara and Puerto Vallarta, thereby necessitating my frequent absence from Mexico City. Then, too, I had underestimated the amount of time and effort required to satisfactorily attend the various legal and administrative matters confronting CEDS. Should you so desire, I could recommend other legal counsel; but I am inclined to feel that the Centro's principal problems would be of an administrative nature rather than a legal one.

As for my legal fees to date, I am submitting a bill for $650.00 U.S. Cy. This represents a total of 65 hours at the rate of $10.00 per hour. My regular fees amount to $20.00 per hour, but, in keeping with my own political affinity for labor causes, I have reduced them to the lesser figure.

May I thank you again for your confidence and good will in having chosen me as legal counsel for your organization's activities in Mexico. I shall be happy to give you a personal report of my observations on my next trip to New York.

Sincerely yours,

Henry P. Lopez

1. As Headquarters is aware, Edward G. TICHBORN is in Mexico on a tourist visa and with a number of "associations" (i.e., law firm in PBPRIME, TV and movie contacts in Mexico) which have sufficed to provide satisfactory superficial cover for his presence and activities here up to this time. However, he has been here long enough now and made enough trips to other Latin American countries where a continuation of this tourist status and present cover arrangements should be changed for something more substantial. All of this became apparent when he began to try to obtain his working papers. TICHBORN's profession, of course, is that of a lawyer, but he cannot practice this profession in Mexico under Mexican law. Therefore, to find a peg for working paper approval, something else had to be found. None of his numerous present cover associations or stories had enough substance to provide a sufficiently plausible basis for working papers. The corporation being created for the QRMANTLE activity under the cover story being used (e.g., fairly affluent PBPRIMER interested in culture and intellectuals trying to get something of the QRMANTLE nature started and, then, interest PBPRIME foundations in picking it up) will not support an application for working papers. As a result, the Station and TICHBORN were casting about for something else with more depth and durability.

2. During the week of 27 September, an old friend of TICHBORN's, Identity A, came up with the following proposition:

a. Identity A owns Identity B which operates out of Mexico City and distributes PBPRIME shows dubbed into Spanish throughout the Caribbean and South American area. The business has been in existence for some time and, according to TICHBORN, is thriving. Identity A said that his business had reached a point where he needed legal assistance of various types, but was not prepared to turn it over to just any local lawyer since it involved a wide range of problems.

b. Identity A, who knew from conversations with TICHBORN that the latter was thinking about getting Mexican working papers, made an offer to TICHBORN. He said that he would provide TICHBORN with office space and telephone in his present office area in downtown Mexico City on Reforma if TICHBORN would just advise him on what local lawyers to see on these various legal problems and act as a very general legal advisor to him on dealings with these people. He and TICHBORN figured this would take, perhaps, 5% of the latter's time. Further, and most important, Identity A said he would provide the basis with Identity B for TICHBORN obtaining his working papers. For various reasons, however, Identity A desired an answer right away (within several days).

3. The Station checked out Identity A in Station files and found that there had been some previous traffic on him in the period, 1957-61: HDC-W-334 dated 19 December 1957; HMM-A-9445 dated 12 February 1958; DIR-40866 dated 20 May 1961; DIR-41304 dated 22 May 1961; DIR-41303 dated 23 May 1961; DIR- 41298 dated 23 May 1961; and MEXI-8085 dated 23 May 1961. As will be noted, the May 1961 traffic concerned TICHBORN coming to Mexico and being employed as legal counsel to Identity A. (This never really reached fruition although TICHBORN used an association with Identity A, which was never more than close social contact and an interest in show business, as one of his various cover stories.) In all this traffic, there was not any derogatory information developed on Identity A. Therefore, the Station on strength of the timing required and this previous traffic told TICHBORN to go ahead with the arrangement since it is not only essential for his local activities, but will provide him with stronger and readily-available cover for any further Latin American trips (i.e., FUASPEN) he might be required to make. TICHBORN has been told, to transact an absolute minimum of his business for KUBARK at this office on his regular projects. (e.g., QRMINE and QRMANTLE).

4. Hopefully, this will also straighten out the working papers problem on some sort of rational basis in the near future.

SUBJECT General - LICONGA
Specific - Edward G. TICHBORN Contract 201-253203

ACTION REQUIRED - REFERENCES

REFERENCE: HMMA-24352, dated 22 September 1964.

1. As probably can be discerned from previous communications on this subject, the Station has never been too certain about the original understandings with Subject on his relationship with KUBARK. At least some understandings have been supplementary to the formal contract (such as, his availability for extended trips to Latin American areas in election periods). This is no complaint on the part of the Station, but merely a prelude to a matter which the Station brought up with TICHBORN in connection with his intellectual magazine and QRMINE activities.

2. It has been the Station's inference, from talking to TICHBORN as well as communications on other aspects of his relationship with KUBARK not covered in his contract, that he is not to be considered a full-time contract agent. In other words, he has outside activities in the legal and other fields here which it was understood would provide additional income to him at the time he entered into his original relationship with KUBARK. As can be discerned from his biographic data, he has operated at a level and enjoyed an income outlook that would not be satisfied by the present contractual arrangements on salary. It has become obvious to the Station, however, that if he is to handle, properly, present requirements being imposed on him by the Station a very high percentage of his available time is going to be involved.

3. Taking all the foregoing into consideration and to avoid complications with his present projects or TICHBORN, the Station asked him what understanding he had on the proportion of his time to be devoted to KUBARK activities. He said that his present contract was predicated on approximately 60 to 66-2/3% of his time being utilized by KUBARK. His present estimate is that he is devoting 85 to 90% of his time to KUBARK activities; and, if he is to do the kind of job that is desired on the two intellectual projects recently acquired, he will sustain that percentage. Of course, he continues to be available for appropriate election of political assignments (such as FUASPEN) in other countries from time to time; but, it has to be recognized that when he is absent from Mexico, this represents 100% of his time.

4. The Station agrees with his analysis on current commitments against his time on behalf of KUBARK. Therefore, it was indicated to TICHBORN that he should be prepared to take up this matter with Headquarters at the time he makes his late October trip to PBPRIME in connection with the new intellectual magazine (see reference) and that the Station would request Headquarters to be prepared to discuss the matter at that time. It is the Station's understanding that his present contract extension expires 19 November 1964.

5. The Station would like to emphasize that this matter was brought up at its initiative in order to try (a) to assure that demands being placed on TICHBORN recently could be reasonably expected to be fulfilled and (b) to get a complete understanding on all aspects of TICHBORN's contractual status (written and unwritten) so that neither the Station nor TICHBORN get committed to these continuing activities and suddenly find themselves in contention about the time/salary involved. It should also be emphasized that TICHBORN has not complained about recent requirements, but has devoted whatever time required to handle them and do the job expected.

NO NITE ACTION

1. FOLLOWING IS SUMMARY OPINION OF TICHBORN, FROM OFFICERS WHO HAVE DEALT WITH HIM: EXCELLENT CHARACTER AND COMPLETE LOYALTY TO ODYOKE. ALTHOUGH AT STATION REQUEST TICHBORN HAS DEALT IN MEXI WITH PERSONS OF FAR LEFT, THERE IS ABSOLUTELY NO INDICATION THAT HIS POLITICAL INCLINATIONS ARE ANYTHING BUT COMPLETELY PRO-PBPRIME. THERE IS NO QUESTION ABOUT HIS ABILITY AT ANY CHORE INTERESTING ENOUGH TO STIMULATE HIM. HE IS EXTREMELY LUCID, AND HIS MIND CAN ONLY BE DESCRIBED AS BRILLIANT. HE HAS AN EVEN, PLACID TEMPERAMENT. HIS JUDGEMENT APPEARS TO BE SOUND (ALTHOUGH IN MEXI HIS ASSIGNMENTS HAVE USUALLY BEEN OF THE TYPE IN WHICH HE FOLLOWED STATION GUIDANCE). HE IS NOT GOOD AT DETAIL, SUCH AS REPORTING AND ACCOUNTING. IN ESSENCE, HE IS A SHARP OPERATOR, WHO COULD PROBABLY DO WELL IN POSITION OF IMPORTANCE.

2. STATION NOT IN POSITION TO COMMENT ON HIS LEGAL ABILITY. HIS LOCAL ACTIVITY FALLS IN THE PUBLIC RELATIONS CATEGORY (AS A PBPRIME CITIZEN HE NOT ALLOWED PRACTICE MEXI).

ACTION REQUIRED - REFERENCES

ACT: Cable comments on Contract renewal and amendment

1. While TICHBORN was at Headquarters in April, he said he needed $4,000 per year more than the $8,000 plus expenses he receives under his present contract. He cited the high cost of life insurance he must take out for all his air flights, since he does not receive KUBARK rights of survivorship as a Contract Agent. He also mentioned the rising cost of living in Mexico, and the increased amount of time he is spending on behalf of KUBARK, at the expense of his cover. He said that his financial situation will soon force him to spend more time on his law practice, limiting his availability to KUBARK.

2. Headquarters thinks highly of TICHBORN, and we regard him as an excellent long time asset who might possibly be converted to career agent in the future, when his legal practice is less lucrative, or he chooses to work almost full time for KUBARK.

3. Meanwhile, Headquarters believes that the fairest arrangement for KUBARK and for TICHBORN, would be to keep him in contract status, raising his salary. This would ensure KUBARK's continued utilization of his valuable services, would assure the maintenance of a strong cover, and at the same time would give TICHBORN the incentive to work hard at his cover and would permit him to realize the return from his cover efforts. If TICHBORN were converted to Career Agent status now, there would be almost, if not total offset of his cover income.

4. Headquarters suggests that when TICHBORN's contract is renewed as of 19 May 1963 for two years, it be amended to increase his salary by $1,000 per year, and that additional compensation of $3,500 per year be included for housing. The whole amount would be taxable. A clause can also be added to the contract authorizing TICHBORN to apply for the special life and hospitalization insurance given Contract Agents.

5. Please discuss the proposal in paragraph 4 and/or any Station ideas with TICHBORN, but avoid making any commitments. Since the present contract expires on 19 May, it is requested that the Station cable its views on TICHBORN's future use and proper pay.

Chief of Station, Mexico City

SUBJECT
Tichborn Report on Caracas Travel

ACTION REQUIRED - REFERENCES

Reference: HMMW-11415, 22 March 1963 5[illegible]-134-[illegible]

1. Station Mexico regrets that, to date, it has been unable to obtain the Reference report from Tichborn. As Headquarters is aware, Tichborn, while brilliant and articulate, is not always dependable, especially when it comes to routine tasks. It is true, however, that Tichborn has been extremely busy traveling for KUBARK, and is at the moment on another of his frequent trips.

2. In any event, Tichborn has promised to provide the report as soon as he returns from his present trip. It will be forwarded when received from him.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Chief, Contract Personnel Division

SUBJECT: Edward O. TICHBORN (p), Contract Amendment

1. It is requested that the contract for Edward O. TICHBORN, Contract Agent, be amended to delete the current paragraph 2. Travel and Operational Expenses and insert:

> "2. Travel and Operational Expenses. You will be advanced or reimbursed funds on an actual, reasonable and necessary expense basis for those expenses incurred by you in connection with such travel or may be directed or authorized by the Government and while on temporary duty away from your permanent post of assignment. In addition, you will be advanced or reimbursed funds for necessary operational expenses as specifically approved by the Government. Payment and accounting for all expenses incurred hereunder will be in substantial conformance with applicable Government regulations.

The effective date of the amendment should be as of the effective date of the contract, 19 May 1961.

2. The above request is corrective in nature as it was not intended to change the travel expense provision which had been in effect during his previous contract.

Tichborns original contract provided for travel on an actual expense basis. This was when he was working on a daily or job rate basis.

This contract was terminated and a new contract was written in May 1961. He was given ~~an~~ $8,000 per year, and the reimbursement for operational travel section reads "This may include per diem in lieu of subsistence---."

None of Tichborn's travel claims have been processed since the new contract has been effective. All travel claims submitted by him starting in June 1961 have been submitted on an actual expense basis.

Finance takes the view that the "This may include per diem---" as restricting Tichborn to per diem only plus of course operational expenses. Processing Tichborns old accounts on this basis would require him to refund several hundred dollars.

An ammendment to the contract would take care of these old accounts as submitted.

Options:

1. Get refund from Tichborn
2. Ammend contract to cover actual expenses to present date.
3. Ammend contract to cover actual expenses past and future.

What are your wishes?

Currie

Avoid any action that would require refund — this works out 2 or 3 with WH/3+F — select most equitable and operationally justifiable arrangement. PO 19 March 63

1. Referenced dispatch was discussed with the Ambassador on 6 March. He said that in talking with Oliver G. GALBOND and others in Headquarters in early 1962 as well as with Chief, DYVOUR support, he had expressed great appreciation for the assistance rendered by Edward G. TICHBORN. He said that he still felt that a similar survey, made a year or so after the first one, would be most helpful in assessing significant changes in the outlook of the various segments of Salvadoran society. Also discussed was the possible utility of an early April 1962 survey on the issues and personalities as they might develop during the forthcoming elections, presently scheduled for 29 April 1962. However, the Ambassador concluded that he was, of course, aware that there are other priority needs for TICHBORN's services.

2. While the Station would welcome another visit by subject, it does not appear that the need for a general survey is so pressing as it was a year ago. It is doubted that basic conditions have changed greatly, and the changes which have taken place have been fairly well covered in ODACID reporting. With regard to the pre-election estimate, mentioned above, it should be noted that there are no other parties to date in the field except the government party, the Partido Conciliacion Nacional (PCN), and only the PCN has thus far put forward candidates for President and Vice President. Unless postponed, the closing date for announcements is 12 March. In other words, at the moment it appears that the net result of the overwhelming victory of the PCN in the elections of last December has made the forthcoming elections a mere formality.

3. The Station will appreciate early advice of a second visit by TICHBORN, if his schedule permits.

SUBJECT: Availability of TICHBORN and REHLICH for JMTURA

ACTION REQUIRED - REFERENCES

HMMW-10859, 20 August 1962

1. Edward G. TICHBORN is available at any time for JMTURA travel. Trips of more than five weeks would be difficult, both for the Station and for TICHBORN. (He is currently handling operation [illegible], which is so sensitive that the Station would be reluctant to use an interim cut-out).

2. In the case of Leo C. REHLICH, he can of course be released as requested by Headquarters for JMTURA. His absence will, as previously noted, work considerable hardship on the Station's current KUWOLF program. REHLICH handles [illegible], which takes very little time; [illegible]-1, which takes considerable time; and LICOAX, which is almost a full-time job. In the latter project, for instance, he meets with his principal agents almost daily, and with his Station case officer at least five times a week. It would be extremely difficult to release him during the six-week period immediately prior to elections at the National University each year (usually September, October). Since REHLICH, in his cover capacity, is active as a professor, as much lead time as possible is requested prior to travel requests. As an example, REHLICH is already signed up to deliver lectures in Monterrey in November of this year. Reference dispatch says travel for JMTURA would require a minimum of three weeks, but does not mention the possible maximum. Primarily for cover reasons, and secondarily for operational reasons, the Station feels that any travel lasting more than four weeks would be almost impossible to accept. In spite of the above restrictions the Station will, of course, release REHLICH at any time for any period if Headquarters feels his contribution will be greater elsewhere.

SUBJECT	Political System Analysis for Election Planning - [illegible]

ACTION REQUIRED - REFERENCES

1. There are a number of countries where we want to begin detailed political systems analyses as a basis for election planning. We have in mind here a "nuts and bolts" examination of the building blocks of the political parties and the political systems ~~and~~ IN countries such as Peru and Chile among others.

2. While planning of the above is at this stage still tentative, we would like an indication from Mexico and San Juan Stations as to the availability of [illegible] and [illegible] (separately) in Mexico and [illegible]-1 in Puerto Rico to go on such survey missions for a minimum of 3 weeks sometime during the next 4 months. We understand that Mexico Station would much prefer that we use [illegible] rather than [illegible] for this type of survey but we would like to test the capabilities of [illegible] in this field if it is at all possible to break him loose from his current activities.

3. Addressees' comments are solicited.

DISPATCH

6 August 1962

The following information was derived from a transcription of a tape made during a meeting with Edward TICHBORN in early June 1962 in Washington, D.C. The purpose of the meeting was to debrief TICHBORN concerning his opinions and experiences gained from a recent trip to El Salvador. TICHBORN spoke from notes for the first part of his report (pp 1-6) and answered specific questions for the remainder.

TRANSCRIPTION

I would like to go into several of the things that I have previously covered in my report. First of all, I am happy to say that the radio schools started by DURON'S Group seemed to have gotten off to a very good start. There have been about 100 sets distributed so that there are about now something like 10,481 students enrolled in 1,000 of the radio schools. It's apparently had very good success. They publish books that go along with the radio classes. As you ~~probably will~~ remember, there was a literacy campaign that was fashioned after the idea that was promulgated by Father SALCEDO in Columbia. Interesting to me is the fact that the radio schools have received about 1,400 letters with suggestions and praise and various other commentaries. One of the problems they are having right now is there isn't a transmitter powerful enough to get much beyond the capital. I understand that a transmitter is on route and it would certainly be a big boon to them. It seems to me that the radio is probably the most effective way of getting out to the groups in the outlying areas. There are no newspapers to speak of, and once you get the listeners hooked on the radio, then of course, you can go from literacy campaigns into various other things we have in mind. Incidently, these radios as you probably realize are on a fixed frequency, and the program is lead by a priest, named Father Manuel MOLINA SIERRA.

Speaking about the priest, it is interesting to note that there has apparently been a considerable shift in the attitude of the Catholic Church with respect to reforms in San Salvador. It would not be surprising to note that this is probably a Hemisphere-wide, if not a world-wide attitude on the part of Pope John, the 23rd. You might even kind of correlate this to what is happening in Spain and also in Portugual. In El Salvador, itself, the Bishop issued a letter sometime back with the last several months calling for social reforms and for immediate changes within the social structure of El Salvador. As I mentioned to you earlier, it caused considerable consternation with the so-called ruling 14. As a matter of fact, the ambassador mentioned to me that they have been complaining recently that they have lost the big three pillars of strength that they had, the army, the Church, and the American Embassy. As was predictable and I think I mentioned this in my last report, the so-called 14 and some of the less wealthy people in El Salvador have looked askance at the Alliance for Progress. I think you will remember that in my last report I predicted that we would have problems with respect to many reforms if they were to be the sine qua non of aid from the United States.

With respect to the Church, I think it might be a good idea to give some very detailed study as to how we can exploit to the best possible extent, the apparent change within the Church not only in El Salvador but all over Latin America. I think that it might be a thing that we should sit around or someone sit around for a considerable time trying to analyze all the ins and outs, and how we can fit this into the whole program of action in Latin America.

Now you ask me in our informal chats about the structure of these as far as the nationalities of the people involved in the hierarchy. I think it's in the upper structure, Spaniards and Italians; but in the lower structures most of the people are from El Salvador and some from Guatemala and that their natural inclination would be to go with the people. I think I mentioned in my earlier report that very frequently the priests in their early Masses (say at 5:00, 6:00 or 7:00 a.m. would be attended naturally by the low-income groups) would ask for social changes and reforms. At the later Masses, they would change the attitudes of their sermons because of the different economic complex of the people attending church. It's interesting to note that the Bishop's letter that was issued with respect to reforms got a very angry reaction from the 14.

Now one of the things that I note with respect to the general political atmosphere in San Salvador is that there seems to be a considerable confusion among the people with respect to some of these reforms. Let's take for example, the minimum salary. It is one of the cornerstones of reform by the present ruling JUNTA, and it will be carried through by President-elect RIVERA. As of right now, there seems to be a very calculated campaign on the part of business and on the part of financiers to confuse the people, and they have done a good job of it. I remember talking to many people asking them candidly, "what is this minimum salary all about?" Many of them told me the government has decided that they can be paid only so much and no more. In other words, they have really converted it into an idea that this is maximum salary. Also there has been a considerable laying off of all people in certain factories and the reason being given, that the government now makes it impossible for us to keep a full staff, and therefore we are reducing. This, of course, could have very serious effects on any ability of the government to carry through its reforms with respect to minimum wage. Interesting enough, there are even people in the lower classes, who having been confused by what it means, are very definitely against the whole idea of minimum wage. I think, here again, it is a necessity for the government either to acquire a newspaper or to buy a considerable interest in one of them and also to do a job of publicizing and getting the message across with respect to the general class of laborers. However, I anticipate that this difficulty--that the people, with the economic power, are in a good position to at least partially sabotage this particular reform by the simple expedient of just laying people off and blaming it on the government. Let's face it, with respect to political reform in Latin America, the thing that is most meaningful to people is not political liberty, but "bread in the belly." We have got to constantly bear in mind that when we, with our own criteria of political liberties here in the United States, go into Latin America we have got to realize that sometimes the right to vote and the right to express our views is a meaningless concept to a peasant who really is worried about whether he gets one tortilla or two tortillas; it's the bread that is the biggest political factor in any part of Latin America. In this respect, it is interesting to note that whereas the last time I was in El Salvador there was a lot of talk about Fidel Castro that was just kind of spontaneous and extemporaneous on the part of some several hundred people that I talked to. This time I also went through many of the low-income barrios out in the countryside and talked to a great number of people, and a great number of them kept mentioning Martinez who was the president for about 10 to 12 years back, 1934 to 45, Many of them, particularly, the older people spoke rather nostalgically about the times of Martinez when there were jobs and when the prices were low and when even though the wages were low, you could buy a full meal and could get comparatively comfortable housing. Of course, it is known that Martinez is one of the worst tyrants that they have had there; and for a long time the thing they remember is not the repressive measures that he took, not the number of people that were slaughtered under his orders. The thing that is remembered now mostly is the fact that there were more jobs, that the prices were low, etc. We've got to constantly bear in mind that the things that are mostly meaningful to these groups of people is whether they are working, the price structure, and just the general bare economic needs that are met by any government. I want to talk now for a moment about the Alianza para Progresso and some of my impressions about how it's doing, not only in El Salvador, but in Guatemala and some of the other countries that I observed. One of the most immediate impressions that I get is during the last few months is that the Alianza para Progresso has been terribly over publicized. I think we made a serious mistake in arousing expectations in Latin America that may not be met. As a matter of fact, I know from talking with many of the people there that the expectations ~~they~~ have simply are not within the reckoning of what the United States has planned. I even think it's unfortunate if we have a slogan, that the Alianza para Progresso as a slogan is open to serious attacks both humorously and satirically. As a matter of fact, already many people even our friends are beginning to use the slogan by way of criticism. I have in mind recently, that the Foreign minister of Honduras was in Mexico and in a public statement said, "we have a lot of alliance but no progress." And of course in the schools in El Salvador, there are all kinds of turnings about twisting the words around by way of criticism.

What I mean by over publicizing and sloganizing is the fact that almost all over Latin America, the newspapers are reporting an outpouring of millions and millions of dollars, and as you might expect they convert the figures into pesos, or other local currency whatever you happen to be, so that there is an announcement saying that the Alianza para Progresso has allocated 10 million dollars and then they convert that into 120 million pesos; it sounds like an awful lot of money. Immediately people have grandioso ideas about what is going to be done with all this money when in effect it is only a request for that kind of money that has been done. We have, basically speaking, still some problems among Congress as to how much money is going to be allocated. Let me give you a specific case about what I feel is an over publicizing of the Alliance's program. In El Salvador there was an announcement in the papers that three million dollars had been allocated by the United States Government for the building of schools. Now, 3 million dollars converted into local currency is something like seven and half million colones. That's a big sum of money down there and, of course, it got tremendous play in all the newspapers. Well it turned out, what the Alliance had in mind, along with the Junta, was to build one hundred small schools. This would be 100 schools worth around $30,000 a piece. Well, one of the model schools, right now, is in the process of constructions in one of the neighborhoods in El Salvador. While I was there, there was considerable snide criticism by the press; by a lot of the population that this was a poor example of Alliance for Progress spending. It was a small school; it was within the desired $30,000 budget, but I am thinking that most of the people in El Salvador having talked about 7,500,000 colones, were expecting palaces to be built. Suddenly you have a very small school, and it was being criticized by the press; by the people at large. The next day, quite fortunately, the Minister of Education very ably took this issue and quieted it by saying: "We said we are going to build schools, not palaces." But I think that even this criticism could have been avoided had we announced rather that the expenditure of 3 million dollars or 7,500,000 colones, had we just announced that the Alliance for Progress, in cooperation with the El Salvador government, was going to build 100 small schools and say so without any more dressing it up, not even mention the amount of money that was going to be spent in total because then no one could expect more than a small school. Also I think it would have been better to have the first schools outside El Salvador, possibly in a little town like Santa Tecla or one of the other neighboring towns; and then build the school right next to the old school so that there would be a marked contrast in every way. You could see it immediately. Certainly there is always land available near all the old schools, and just destroy the old school when you've built the new one; and then really to do a public relations job, get statements from the teachers, from the students, and, perhaps, have the oldest school teacher in the neighborhood lay the cornerstone to the school. Really do a public relations job of it on a very personal basis rather than trying to stagger people with huge sums of money. This is what I mean by talking in huge figures when you can do a better job and arouse less expectation. When you have few expectations, almost anything is better; so I think if we talk little and act big, we're going to be much better off in the long run.

I think also a very highly over-publicized group is the Peace Corps. Here again, I think we're setting ourselves up for some possible difficulty. All of this publicizing is very good for consumption here in the United States; but in the world we're living in now, the same kind of propaganda gets outside the United States. Already there are all kinds of jokes about the Peace Corps. Its done a terrific job of publicizing here in this country. They get great coverage in all the big picture magazines. In time there's going to be a musical comedy about the Peace Corps. All this is great stuff as far as the United States is concerned, but I'm afraid it is going to create serious problems abroad. Actually the actual observable benefit of the Peace Corps in the various areas will be very minimal when you consider, for example, they have about 29 people that will be in the Peace Corp in San Salvador. They're not going to be able to make much of a dent in separate communities, because they are separated. As I understand it, from talking to the manager of the Peace Corps for the Central American area; most of these kids will be alone in the villages they are going to, and whatever they do is not going to be very observable as far as the general population is concerned. Unfortunately, one of the things that we haven't yet learned in our thinking about these under-developed countries is the fact that we do such naive things as this: there is an elderly lady about 63 years of age that has been assigned to one of the small villages in southern El Salvador and her expertise is home economics. If you have ever been to one of these small villages and if you have seen that they subsist, and I say subsist, merely on a small supply of beans and maybe one or two tortillas; and the difference between the supply of one or two tortillas is a very meaningful one. When you start talking about balancing the diet and varying the diet and having a home economics expert to teach them this, this gets pretty ironic. This is precisely the thing that could easily be open to criticism and easily open to satire. I can imagine if I were someone in a position of Dr. Jose Rodriguez RUIZ, who was a very left leaning Dean of the School of Economics in El Salvador--if I really wanted to cede on one issue and ridicule it, I would talk about this person who was an expert on home economics; balanced dieting; and how many vegetables you should have; what variety of vegetables, how much cottage cheese you should have; and the whole thing in the balanced diet. I could murder this whole thing in very short time and make it very ridiculous.

I think these are things that we've got to think about. We've got to think about all the possible weaknesses, how this thing can be turned around. I know that in the United States, I know that in the hometown of this woman (she's from Nebraska) it sounds absolutely marvelous and this home economics expert is going down to a little Latin American country and tell them all about home economics, but from the point of view of the Latin American it's sheer irony and it's susceptible to attack.

With respect to your question about the influence of the Church with the campesinos in other parts of the community; I think that it's probably true all over Latin America that the Church has great influence on the thinking of the population. It's interesting to note that in San Salvador and Mexico the real church goers are the women and not the men, but the men are very certain that their wives go to church so that they're their surrogates and that they take their children along with them. Although they are not great church goers, I think they are Catholics and are greatly influenced by the priests.

You asked whether the people in El Salvador are aware that there have been food shortages in Cuba and that the Castro program is undergoing serious difficulties and the answer to that is "yes". As a matter of fact I was interested in this when I talked to various people, including cab drivers and boys that shine your shoes, people working in the markets, and some of the campesinos. There is an awareness, certainly in the city, that Castro is having his difficulties. One of the things that is interesting and, of course, I think this may be referable to their Church influence, is that the word Communism per se still has a serious effect on people. I think it's one of the things they talk about--social reform, etc., etc., but, the tag Communism is still a very harsh tag in the Latin American mind. I think this is one of the serious errors Castro made from his point of view was to declare himself a Communist and a Marxist-Lenninist because many people that might have gone along with him at that moment got frightened off. There is an awareness that he is having troubles and that the Revolution hasn't gone along on the way it has. Also there was a lot of talk among a certain group of people that I talked with--these were some workers from a textile mill, that there had been an awful lot of killing that was done by Castro. Apparently, there had been pictures of a lot of executions in some of the Latin American newspapers; and this has had an effect on them.

With respect to the government prosecuting anyone for violation of the minimum wage law: As far as I understand, it's still in its infancy. I think the belief of the government is that if they start to impose any violations this might have a serious effect in getting the program across. But in this respect, I'd like to mention the seventh day wage that was passed about a year ago when I was in Salvador apparently is working fairly well. You'll recall that this was accepting with the Bible that if anyone worked for six days (this was referable to the campesinos) he was entitled to the seventh day pay. I was worried at the time and mentioned my worries to Chometic (Phonetic) and also the Minister of Economics who was at breakfast with us at that time, that one of the possible dangers of any reform is that it is not carried through intelligently and forcibly. It is better not to have a reform, not to announce a new idea, not to arouse expectations, if there is going to be violation of those expectations. At that time it was contemplated that the army would administer the program of the seventh day pay. Apparently they have changed their mind on that and have a civilian group that is administering the program; there has been no real scandal with respect to violations of this. I was a little fearful that a local army guy would get paid off by some of the big plantation owners and thus be permitted to do all kinds of violations. Apparently this has not happened, and they've been pretty effective in the administration.

My big objection at that time was that again the minimum salary thing was not properly publicized. They could have had all kinds of radio and television programs, interviews with the campesinos, and asked them what they felt about this and actually doing that kind of public relations job which they did not do. I think this is true with all these reforms. I think that they have got to be brought to the people where you get reaction from the people as to the extent of the change, any reform has on their personal existence. This again is a matter of attitude, a matter of technique in public relations.

Well, it is certainly true that there has been a considerable amount of publicity about the Alianza para Progresso. I was not aware that it was this specific group that was pushing the program of publication. However, harking back to a previous statement, I think that there is a serious possibility that over publicizing of the Alianza will cause more trouble than we can at present anticipate. As a matter of fact some of the problems are already beginning to arise. I had a long talk with Ambassador Williams on this, and I think we both agreed that we ought to soft pedal much of the talk about the Alianza; and certainly to stay away from these enormous figures of millions of dollars. As far as the people in Latin America are concerned they really think the world is going to change overnight and expect it to change overnight. When the changes aren't forthcoming, they are going to be very embittered and we may possibly create enemies we need not have had.

I have in mind talking with one man; he was a newspaper vendor and I happened to see a headline about the Alianza para Progresso, and this of course gave me an opening to talk to him about it. I said, "What is this going to mean to you?" He said, "I understand they are going to give me a new house." Someone standing close to him said, "What do you mean--they're going to give you a house," and they actually had an argument about the thing. The man selling the newspapers insisting that's what they were going to do--build him a new house, etc. The other man saying that's all propaganda, it's all demagogy; they say this all the time and nothing is going to occur. The chances are very strong that this man will not get into a house. The chances are almost equally strong that he won't even get an apartment because you cannot possibly meet the housing shortage in such a place in San Salvador, where I doubt more than 10% of the people have adequate hygienic dwellings. So here again, well at least, this newspaper vendor has gotten an enormously over bloated notion about what we're going to do. It may be that in his particular case, he is more aware of the Alianza and more aware of the million dollars because he is selling newspapers and magazines and he is reading about it all the time. Here again I think is one of the dangers with respect to the publicity about the Alianza.

I think I mentioned in my report about a year ago it might be a good idea to get some experts in public relations, and that they might be recruited from such places as Mexico and Puerto Rico where you have people who have worked with either government agencies, with some of our embassies, or with some of the public relations firms such as General Rubicam & Noble Advertising and other very widely-known public relations groups in Latin America. I think it might be a good idea for the government to have someone counseling him and particularly on any wide shifts of policy on how to present it to the public. I think it would be an enormously effective way in presenting the programs of the government, and it would be a good investment they could make at this point. And I don't just mean getting the ordinary Madison Avenue flack. I think it ought to be a person who has had some experience dealing with the Latin American temperament because any program has to arise out of the psyche of the people that are being dealt with.

Incidentally, I did see some of the pictures and some of the coverage that was given Rivera during his election campaign and whoever handled that, I think, was very effective; and I've suggested to the Ambassador that he might suggest that the same people or person be retained to accompany Rivera into his position as president.

I think one of the key persons with respect to the left in El Salvador is the Dean of the School of Economics whose name is Jose Rodriguez Ruiz. He is also the son of the president of the University. Now first a word about the young son--he gave a lecture on Marxism one of the nights I was there, and I went to the lecture. The hall was filled to capacity; there were people standing in the doorways, and I would estimate there were 400 or 500 people there. It was a rather interesting experience because from what I heard I had been led to believe that it would be kind of a rabble rouser and that he would try to instigate the people into action. Actually what I saw was--personally it was very moving, really: He has kind of the manner of a priest. His voice tends to tremble at first; but as he got more involved, he lost the tremor in his voice and sounded more like a very intense professor. The interesting thing was when he spoke about the United States, it was more in symbolic terms; there was nothing of real harsh personal rancor either in his voice, his manner, or in what he was actually saying; but it was almost as if he were referring to an abstraction of the United States. He didn't take off on the Ambassador personally. He just talked about American ambassadors and he was bitter, less inclined to be sarcastic than merely bitter. He is a very effective human being. I note as I sat there, he moved the audience that he had, emotionally. I could see one of them kind of swallowing and the tears running down eyes of the girl to the left of me. There was really no attempt to rabble rouse as such, there was no attempt to get the people out in the streets as it were. Toward the end he made a very interesting statement--he said: "We know that there are changes necessary, we know that we have got to free ourselves of the imperialist yoke of the United States, and we know that these changes have got to come through us; no one is going to help us but ourselves," but he says in making these changes come about, let us be careful that we do not ruin and that we do not set back our program by taking precipitous action, without plan. Suddenly, it came almost as a jarring note, he said--well perhaps we're not ready to act yet, but whatever we do, we've got to do it reasonably so that we don't lose the revolution as such. I don't know whether he had reference to the fact that maybe in Cuba the revolution did not work because certainly he was very pro Castro. I think that there was a kind of note of wariness in his talk, and it is interesting.

I suggested to the ambassador that it might be a good idea for him to set up a meeting with Guillermo Moscoso with the older Jose Napoleon Rodriguez Ruiz who was the (rector) of the University, and possibly ask this younger fellow, the Dean of the School of Economics to come along and try in effect to have Moscoso say, "Look, I know you probably disagree with a lot that we're doing and you are very skeptical about the Alianza para Progresso; you're very skeptical about the United States per se. Maybe in many senses you're right, maybe in the past you had reason to feel that there has been imperialism, but we want to indicate to you that we have a change of attitude and just give us a chance and I need your counsel and you're an economist and I want to know. I realize that we may disagree, but I wanted to meet you anyway." I think that there is a possibility that a person in his frame of mind and I say this is only a possibility and it may be very minimal as a possibility; but there is a chance that we may be able to recreate some kind of tie with him so that he is not as bitter and as antagonistic. I do not think, at least from hearing that lecture, that evening that he is entirely beyond the pale; and bear in mind that there were no Americans, there was no one in the audience (that I could detect at least) who were not from El Salvador itself. I realize that there may be various opinions with respect to this, but I did suggest it to the ambassador. He thought it might be a good idea and he may very well do that.

Apparently the father, Jose Rodriguez Ruiz, Sr. (Napoleon), is a person who is approachable. He is not as far to the left as his son. He is a liberal, but he is not considered a Communist. There is, I understand, something in the Embassy about him, but apparently it has been checked out and it is felt that he is not a Communist. In any event, there has been an invitation extended to him to come to the United States. I think, as a matter of fact, that with many of these people that if they were to come to the United States and given some kind of chance to observe the United States first hand, they would be less bitter about us. I think that they have adopted some very dogmatic notions about us; they believe some of what they see in the movies; kinds of snatches of newsreels about the situation in the South. Actually, they have a very distorted notion, and some of it is a very sincere distorted notion. They really believe some of the things they've heard. I think if they would see us first hand they might feel differently. Just as I think sometimes when a lot of these fellows go to Russia or Cuba; they come back disenchanted that it isn't what they have been told it is. I know that I've talked to some people in Mexico who have seen Cuba first hand during the last year and have had noticeable changes of mind as to what it is. It's one thing to hear all the good things that the leftists say about a thing, but it's another thing when you actually go there and observe some of the tyrannical atmosphere. I think the same thing is true on the reverse that you can disenchant people by sending them to Russia or to Cuba or behind the Iron Curtain. Just as sometimes you can rub away some of the malimpressions, erroneous impressions by sending people to the United States and having them live on a campus for example, such as Cambridge,Michigan, or any such place where they can see first hand that we're not the oppressors that they have been led to believe for a long time. Much of this is really lack of exposure.

During the time that I was in El Salvador about 10 days ago, there arose a serious problem of the deportation of Salvadoranians from Honduras; and it was all over the newspapers, and very strong statements were issued both in the editorials and by people over the radio about chasing out some of the Salvadoranians that had been working in Honduras for a long time. Apparently there has been a rapproachment; there were meetings between the foreign ministers and I think the problem may be resolved.

It's interesting to note that El Salvador is the most heavily populated country of Central America. I think they have a population of about 120 per square mile, whereas Honduras and Nicaragua have something like 15 or 17 per square mile. Therefore, you have a very definite problem of space and overpopulation in San Salvador. The other thing is traditionally the people of San Salvador are supposed to be the hardest workers in Central America. I remember that Antonio Rivera, a very well-known attorney in San Salvador, said that the Salvadorans were referred to as the Japanese of Central America because they're the tough workers. Also there is a considerable amount of Salvadoranian capital that is in various industries throughout Central America which is an interesting thing to me. The comparison to the Japanese seems to be very appropriate in this situation.

I think that the real focus of trouble, if there is going to be any, would be either the Labor unions or I think more particularly in the University. My feelings about Central America, generally, is that your revolutions do not come from the campesinos or they do not even come from the lower classes. They generally are the middle-class groups or the low-middle-class groups. I think in Havana, for example, Batista was overthrown, not by the campesinos but by the middle classes; and then the campesinos came in afterwards because there was very little doing outside of Havana even in the Sierra Madres, there was only Castro with a small group of people. When Batista really fell is when he had so damn much trouble inside of Havana. He fled and left because he was having problems of sabotage in Havana itself and not because Castro was seriously threatening him from the Sierra Madres, for he had actually withdrawn about a month before, if you recall.

I think with respect to the situation in Santo Domingo, here again Union Civica Nacional was made up by the intellectuals and by the middle classes and not by the campesinos. As a matter of fact, Trujillo has tremendous support and adulation among many of the campesinos and his real basic political strength was from the low economic groups. As a matter of fact the Secret Police was recruited from the lower barrios where he had the toughest little juvenile delinquents you could imagine as a Secret Police, and this was a real force. The interesting thing is that right after Trujillo died, the first big mass meeting that his son had was in the poorest barrio in Santo Domingo because he knew that's where Trujillo still had basic strength.

I think the same thing is true in San Salvador. I don't think it will be the campesinos that will give you the trouble; it will be the students. With respect to the student situation, I think they might borrow leaf from PRI's book in dealing with the students. I think the government ought to make a very strong attempt to form a liaison with the universitites and whenever they get some apt pupils to give them a job in the government, to bring them into the various positions within the government and the same thing with professors, to have them as economic advisors whenever they can. They're human beings--one, they'll be flattered and another thing, they'll need the money. I think one of the things that might be helpful with respect to the situation in the universities is to try and catch some of these students in the high school level. I suggested to the ambassador, a plan that would be something comparable to the Rotary Club's scholarships that are given in Colorado. I remember that when I was going through high school, I was given $10 a month by the Rotary Club and I was given a sponsor. I used to meet him once a month and we'd have lunch. I remember this very strongly because it was meaningful to me to have this kind of relationship. I think that many of the businessmen in San Salvador could get the bright young guys in the high schools who are actually the guys who become the effective leaders in the college. Get them on the high school level and become friends with them. Once they have gotten to know some of the people who are supposed to be the ogres that they later talk about, and have had some actual financial help from them; they are more apt to be approachable. At least the person who has been their sponsor during the time in high school can approach them. I think we have got to start working on this at a stage before they get to the university. Your leaders can be spotted, the people who are going to be your most effective in colleges can be spotted in the high schools. I think that is the time to start bringing some of the people in close contact with the government, also the business community. I talked to the ambassador about this and he said he felt it was a good idea and was going to talk to some of the people about it. I think, bearing in mind, that the universities are really power seats in many of the Latin American countries. We have got them to accept this as a starting point and then work with this and find out what are the elements that produce the leaders and when do the leaders first become observable and try to catch them at the earliest possible time. I think it would ameliorate much of the situation with respect to the students. The other thing (still on the university thing) I've observed in places that I have been is that the newspapers in these universities really are not newspapers. I think the leftist newspapers are really truly ineffective as far as appealing to the middle span. The same thing with the rightist, you have either the right or the left. The Catholics, generally speaking, have newspapers that are more costly; and they are very dogmatic to the right. Then you have the leftist students who have poorly printed or poorly mimeographed newspapers to the left. I suspect that the vast number of students who are in the middle never have any newspapers and here, I think, is a fertile field for us to get into the act. I saw a newspaper in El Salvador called the Daily News; it's an American newspaper. I don't know who is the editor of it, but it is really truly a newspaper and it's a good job. It is well edited; it is a newsy periodical and I think it could be used as a format for many of the newspapers in some of these Central American universities. In Mexico I think you would have to have a printed newspaper because there are more resources, but a lot can be done with mimeographed newspapers if they are made into newspapers. My suggestion would be that you have actual news, gossip columns in these newspapers about who is going with whom and all that sort of stuff, have student programs, have actual news about lectures that are given; and make it about two-thirds news and about only one-third editorial. Once you get people in as readers then they will read some of your editorial comment. Also it can become the organ to the middle because none of the middle groups in any of the universities I have ever seen have a newspaper that speaks for them. I think, for example, and I mentioned this to Dave Phillips and Bill Carlson in Mexico, that there isn't an effective student newspaper at the University of Mexico. This is a place where you have 83,000 students and this is the growing middle class, these are the spokesmen. They don't have a newspaper, and I think it might be a good idea, for example, to have some kind of symposium in El Salvador where you invite prospective editors of student newspapers to study the techniques of typography; to study the techniques of what makes a newspaper readable. Actually La Quincena that is published in Mexico, for example, is obviously a political tract. There isn't one single article that appears that doesn't have a political pitch, a very strong anti-leftist pitch. Frankly, it is a boring newspaper and typographically it looks very presentable; it's an expensive project. Interesting enough in the third issue of it they had a big editorial page saying we are not supported by the American Embassy. We have gathered our own funds, etc. Well, "Me thinkest thou protesteth too loudly," is certainly true in that situation. As I understand it we are not really sponsoring the newspaper, but it has the look of it. None of these newspapers have any ads or anything of this nature. I think that when you don't have any ads or you don't have any (parental where-withall) it is always suspected of being a paid-for newspaper. I think even in these little mimeograph sheets we could always find people who would give a nominal sum, say even a dollar a month, for just an ad just so you could use an ad advertising their book store or dry goods store to give it the appearance of a newspaper that is making its own go and it is not just a paid-for propaganda piece. I think there is a great need for these kinds of newspapers in all of these universities. I would be tickled to death, as a matter of fact, for I have a special interest in this thing, to give whatever help I can. I know that the Ambassador in Salvador is very interested in this. He is a former newspaper editor. He edited the student newspaper and of course it hit him immediately as a good idea. I edited a student newspaper and perhaps that is why I am especially aware of this kind of thing, but I think we've missed the boat many years in this. I think even if we have to edit the newspaper ourselves, these organs should be in the universities.

CONTACT REPORT

MEMORANDUM : of Contact and Conversation Date 5 June 1962

SUBJECT: Henry Lopez

1. Messer's Dick Ouderkirk and Porter Goss contacted Subject at the Shoreham Hotel in room 506 N on 5 June to debrief him on his current travel in El Salvador. Subject will be in Washington until Thursday, 7 June. At the Subject's request a further debriefing will take place Wednesday, 6 June at 0930 hours with the benefit of a tape recorder. Subject believed that there was sufficient material to warrant a detailed question and answer type discussion and stated that he preferred this form reporting.

2. During the course of luncheon, at which the majority of the meeting was conducted, the following items of interest were brought out in conversation. Most topics were discussed in generalities in view of the arranged formal briefing scheduled for the following morning with a recorder.

a) Subject feels that there is a chance for real stability in the Rivera government with the proper support from the US Government.

b) Subject stated that a slight disparity existed in the direction being taken between the State Dept (Ambassador) on the one hand and the COS on the other. Specifically, Subject believed that COS was supporting elements too far to the right.

c) The military is apparently a true "third force" and not aligned with the 14 families, but broken up into conservative senior officers and an emerging more liberal junior officer corps. Subject believed that there may be a possibility of getting to the campesinos through the liberal element of the military, but not to the 14 families.

d) 14 families are becoming isolated and have neither the full support of the church, the military, or the government. The attitude toward the minimum wage rate of the Rivera government seems to be "pay one half as many twice as much.". The cooperation of the 14 families is needed for the econom development of the country, but as of now they are all the way Right. As for the minimum wage concept, the campesinos apparently do not grasp it s meaning.

e) The church is not so far Right that it supports the 14 families and it is tending more towards the relative left.

f) The Alliance for Progress has been badly handled, as have some of the activities of the Peace Corps. Subject believes that too much has been promised through propaganda already without corresponding results. He believes the danger of the program falling into ridicule is great if the US continues to promise only, or continues its badly managed publicity ~~[illegible]~~ program.

g) Discussion of the student University papers yielded Subject's opinion that they are largely ineffective because they deal in polemics rather than fact and news items, and ~~[illegible]~~ because the ones with too good format are obviously US puppets.

h) Less conversation about Fidel Castro is evident in public, although the Fidel movement is still to be reckoned with. Recently there has been a resurgence stimulated by the Right of the Martinez - dictator of the 40's - good old days when everybody had a job - this sentiment was even expressed by some campesinos.

3. Subject mentioned that he had both high and low level contacts in El Salvador and had managed to get a reading of public opinion and private belief. Apparently it is a mistake for Rivera to delay the inauguration so long after the election, at which time a favorable image of the Col. was successfully kept before the public, but which is now wearing off.

4. Subject proposed the following courses of action in certain fields that were discussed in more depth.

a) Radio is the best means of communication with the campesinos. Subject was impressed with the results of the operation run by the Catholic priest in Bolivia, using pre-beamed radios. He considers that a similar operation would be extremely valuable if properly handled.

b) Recommends that the 14 families be approached on a millionaire to millionaire basis to cooperate with a reasonable reformist movement. Also that they be approached by the Church thru the women.

c) That the son of Rodriguez ~~[illegible]~~ Ruiz - son is head of the Economics Dept at the University- be approached by Moscoso ~~and himself~~ ~~[illegible]~~ (?) and asked to cooperate for at least a year's trial basis. The son is a very moving orator, but Marxist oriented, ~~and~~ skeptical about the success of the Alliance, but not an inflamatory type & would be a fair contestant in any issue.

d) That an effective student/ youth newspaper be developed which is a newspaper and not a propaganda sheet, which appeals to the student body.

e) That he use his newly formed contact- the Minister of Public Works- Julio Nottenius - to get an introduction to Rivera when he is in Washington. ~~Subject plans to develop his relationship with Julio and would like to have at least a cocktail relationship with Rivera.~~ Subject claims a very intimate relationship with Julio & is positive that Julio would ~~party~~ include him in gatherings while in Washington ~~that~~ would provide a close contact with Rivera.

SECRET DESENSITIZED

DISPATCH SYMBOL AND NO.: HMMA-19040

TO: Chief, WHD

INFO:

FROM: Chief of Station, Mexico City

DATE: 10 May 1962

SUBJECT: Qualifications of Lee C. REHLICH for Political Operations

ACTION REQUIRED: For your information

REFERENCES:

MARKED FOR INDEXING

XX NO INDEXING REQUIRED

INDEXING CAN BE JUDGED BY QUALIFIED HQ DESK ONLY

HMMW-10573, 11 April 1962

1. The Station had been aware of REHLICH's association with Congressman King. Quite frankly, however, the Station was not aware of the extent to which REHLICH engaged in political election activities until receipt of Reference and a discussion with REHLICH. Headquarters is correct in considering him qualified for political action operations involving elections.

2. Perhaps Station Mexico's comments were colored by the desire not to lose REHLICH's services even temporarily. His cover occupation as a professor at the National University makes it difficult for him to leave classes for TDY assignments. He is also handling two Station operations. One of them, [illegible], involves meetings with his Station officer at least three times a week. In some circumstances, such as the present student strike situation, REHLICH and the Station case officer must meet daily.

3. Also pertinent is the fact that Edward G. TICHBORN has qualifications in the election field which are certainly superior to REHLICH's. (See HR-00417 for Headquarters evaluation.) Furthermore, Station Mexico has understood that TICHBORN's assignment in Mexico was based on the presumption that he would be on hand for just such assignments. Although Station Mexico is using TICHBORN, it has constantly borne in mind that he may be called on to travel at any moment, as he is doing this date in San Salvador. Finally, the Station feels strongly that TICHBORN as a personality, is better suited to such assignments.

4. In summary: REHLICH will be available for any assignment in any area requested by Headquarters. At the same time, Station Mexico will appreciate Headquarters consideration of TICHBORN for such assignments, for the reasons stated above.

Mr. Miguel Tirado

Dear Friend,

Merry Christmas!

I regret that it has taken this long to settle the matter of your letter of September 22, 1968, but better late than never, I guess. Although your efforts in our behalf with Hank were not successful, we do appreciate the fact that you and your wife went out of your way to try to help us.

I referred the matter of your late moving bill to the appropriate individual. Unfortunately, this bill was received too late, as all your accounts had been settled. He has asked me to extend his regrets on this matter.

Please accept my best wishes for a Joyous Christmas and the hope that 1969 will indeed be a good year for you and yours.

Sincerely,

Gale

SUBJECT: Howard T. FAZZARE

REFERENCE: Your Memorandum dated 26 September 1968

1. In the reference you stated that DO will send FAZZARE a sterile check for his expenses incurred in his efforts to persuade TICHBORN's wife to agree to an assignment in Spain. You also forwarded a bill which FAZZARE sent for additional air freight expenses from Madrid for which he has not been reimbursed.

2. EUR does not wish to reimburse FAZZARE for this claim. When he resigned from the Agency he submitted his final accounting and signed a Quit-Claim for all expenses. In his note to you, a copy of which you forwarded with reference, he asked that you forward his bill "to the Spanish Section for reimbursement if not too late..." We would appreciate it if you could send FAZZARE a note when you forward his sterile check and state that we are sorry but this final accounting has been completed, that the books have been cleared, and that it is indeed too late to authorize additional funds.

MEMORANDUM FOR: RECORD

SUBJECT : Project WUBRINY - Termination Settlement with Edward G. TICHBORN (P)

1. The undersigned on 12 September 1968 went to New York to effect a termination settlement with Edward G. TICHBORN (P). A hotel room at the Shoreham Hotel, 33 West 55th Street, was obtained for a meeting place. There were two principal aspects to the settlement:

a. secure TICHBORN's acceptance of an amendment to his contract providing for a one-time lump sum taxable payment of $3311.00 and releasing the U. S. Government from any further claim and,

b. insure that TICHBORN had, as of 31 August 1968, administratively severed his relationship with WUSALINE, particularly that his accountings for expenses incurred in 1968 were submitted, recorded by WUSALINE, and certified correct and proper by both TICHBORN and WUBRINY/11.

2. The first part of the settlement went smoothly. TICHBORN on 12 September 1968 readily accepted the amendment to his basic contract. He brought along for the Covert Tax Unit a copy of his 1966 income tax return which the undersigned had stipulated as a requirement for settlement. He was given his one-time lump sum taxable payment of $3311 in two checks ($2833.62 and $477.38) drawn on a DO proprietary company (WUTACTIC) which will issue TICHBORN a Form 1099 for income tax filing. He readily endorsed and gave to the undersigned the check for $477.38 in settlement of the amount he owed WH Division from his tour in Mexico City.

3. Through no fault of TICHBORN, the administrative severance from WUSALINE did not go as smoothly. In spite of several requests by both TICHBORN and the undersigned,

WUBRINY/11 did not have ready a list of expenses incurred by TICHBORN in 1968 for checking by the undersigned and certification by TICHBORN and WUBRINY/11. WUBRINY/11 telephoned to say that his accountant was unable to locate some of TICHBORN's accountings. The undersigned then requested WUBRINY/11 to join him and TICHBORN. The undersigned had a partial list of TICHBORN's expenses previously submitted by WUBRINY/11. The undersigned enjoined TICHBORN and WUBRINY/11 to prepare a complete list of expenses for 1968. TICHBORN was asked to record the purpose of each expense. The undersigned emphasized in WUBRINY/11's presence that TICHBORN should ensure that no expenses chargeable to WUBRINY/1's private firm were charged to WUSALINE. Both TICHBORN and WUBRINY/11 were reminded that all expenses on the Venezuela project were chargeable to WUBRINY/1's private firm as well as one-half of the expenses on the Mexican Border project. TICHBORN said that he would get all of the accountings from WUBRINY/11's comptroller to determine which, if any, accountings were missing and, as requested, to note the purpose of the expenses. It was agreed to meet the following morning of September 13, 1968 on this matter.

4. On the morning of September 13, 1968, TICHBORN telephoned the undersigned to say that he was able from his records to supply the missing data. He also said that notations on the records obtained from the comptroller showed that he had, in fact, submitted the accountings that were missing. TICHBORN concluded from this that WUBRINY/1's private firm had lost the missing accountings. TICHBORN also said that a few of the charges on the partial list of expenses which the undersigned had given him to review should have been charged to WUBRINY/1's private firm. The undersigned then requested TICHBORN and WUBRINY/11 to meet with him at noon so that the undersigned could review the accountings and obtain certifications from TICHBORN and WUBRINY/11. Both agreed to the meeting. Subsequently, TICHBORN telephoned to say that he and WUBRINY/11 were all set to come to the undersigned's hotel when the unwitting comptroller took all the financial statements to review them again. TICHBORN and WUBRINY/11 were in no position to retain the statements and thus could not meet as scheduled. Both TICHBORN and WUBRINY/11 agreed that the accountings were now in order. The undersigned again informed TICHBORN and WUBRINY/11 by phone that each must certify that the expenses were proper charges to WUSALINE. WUBRINY/11 was instructed to mail the list to the undersigned as soon as possible.

5. Certain other administrative matters were taken up with TICHBORN and WUBRINY/11 during the afternoon of 12 September 1968. The undersigned secured agreement from TICHBORN and WUBRINY/11 that TICHBORN's services on WUBRINY/1's Venezuela project were as great as any other officer who worked on it and that, therefore, WUSALINE should receive for TICHBORN's services on this project compensation at least equal to that given any officer in WUBRINY/1's private firm. The undersigned obtained from TICHBORN the two credit cards (American Express and Pan American air travel card) issued to him under WUSALINE sponsorship. The undersigned asked TICHBORN if he had charged any expenses under these cards since 31 August 1968. TICHBORN said that he had entertained a movie producer who visited him as an outgrowth of his trip to California to develop a movie adjunct to his cover. For this reason, TICHBORN opined that the Agency should pay for the expense. The undersigned said that TICHBORN was not authorized to incur any further expenses after 31 August 1968. TICHBORN then readily agreed to pay the expense.

6. There is a possibility that WH Division may want TICHBORN to take an operational TDY in Chile. TICHBORN was alerted to this possibility. He expressed interest in the assignment, but pointed out that he now has to get a job and that, consequently, his availability will depend upon his job situation.

7. TICHBORN was extremely friendly and cooperative and the settlement was amicably effected.

MEMORANDUM FOR: The Record

SUBJECT: Project WUTACTIC - Funding Through WUGAMP

1. On Monday afternoon, the undersigned was requested by Mr. Gale Allen, DO/CO, to provide a mechanism for funding $3,311.00 to an Agent he was terminating (Edward G. TICHBORN (P). Mr. Allen is traveling to New York on Thursday, 12 September 1968 and would like to pay the termination bonus to TICHBORN at that time. Prior to our discussion, Mr. Allen had arranged for the funds to be paid by sterile check, However, Mr. Randall, DO/BF, suggested that he consult DO/CM for a funding mechanism in order to insure proper tax reporting by TICHBORN.

2. Mr. Allen explained to the undersigned that TICHBORN had been employed, until his termination, by one of the Project WUBRINY entities. Apparently, there is an unwitting Comptroller in the WUBRINY entity and there was no reasonable story that could be offered to explain the $3,311.00 termination bonus. Therefore, it is necessary to use another entity that can provide a Form 1099 for tax purposes.

3. Since WUGAMP has sufficient funds in its bank account to manage a $3,311.00 disbursement, it was decided to utilize this company. Mr. Allen was advised to stop the sterile check process and to have the $3,311.00 voucher approved and forwarded to DO/CM for payment instructions. At that time, the undersigned will prepare a Request for Advance of Funds (WUTACTIC) in the amount of $689.00 and Payment Instructions for $4,000.00 ($3,311.00 plus $689.00). This procedure is being followed in order that WUGAMP can show a slight profit as well as to prevent the exact same amount of money being received and disbursed.

WUINDIGO/1, who projects himself as a left-wing correspondent, is the representative of Italian, Swiss and Canadian publications, and is currently in contact with a number of U.N. representatives. He is available for temporary foreign assignments and is fluent in Spanish, Portuguese, German, French and English. It is doubtful that he would undertake [illegible] in Chile.

MEMO TO : AG

FROM : LH ([redacted]) TICHBORN

IN RE : Meetings with MT re Spain

I had several long conversations with FAZZARI MT regarding various aspects of potential assignment in Spain:

a) long confab over two drinks after our joint session Wednesday afternoon;

b) shorter talk on plane ride to New York;

c) extended conversation on Thursday evening, when we had dinner with our respective spouses - 6:30 PM to 2:00 AM.

Our many hours together (with and without our wives) produced two principal conclusions:

1. Reinforced my wife's objections to moving to Spain, also convincing me that it would be prejudicial for my children.
2. Convinced me that, even if there were no family objections to moving, it would be unwise to establish permanent residence in Spain because of the security risks involved therein. Both MT and I feel that several in-and-out trips would accomplish our purposes without running the risk of appearing implausible in that traditionally-suspicious country.

A. Family objections to moving:

1. Health hazards - My wife's fears about hepatitis and other diseases (originally aroused by Mike's casual reference to same) were ~~somewhat~~ reinforced by MT and wife's pointed cautions about food and water.

2. Negative effect on my children - When my wife explained Greg's school difficulties since moving from Mexico (he failed three subjects last semester and is attending summer school), both MT and wife flatly said that it would be risky and perhaps permanently-damaging to move him once again. Mrs. T, who is a professional guidance counselor for children, fully agreed with the child psychologist who has advised us against moving Greg out of the United States at this time. Having fallen behind in his reading skills while in Mexico (i.e., in relation to U.S. standards), he's now suffering certain psychological setbacks that are related to his scholastic difficulties.

B. Security risks of projected cover:

Even if there were no family objections to our moving to Spain, my conversations with MT have convinced me that our present "cover arrangements" will not support permanent residence in Spain.

intel services

As I had previously surmised, MT says that Spain is an inordinately suspicious country - that almost everyone suspects all foreigners of some ties with foreign banks. He himself was frequently told to his face that he was a bank employee, and he told us that at our two meetings last Tuesday and Wednesday. He says that government officials and the kind of higher-up business tycoons we're shooting for (he saw our list) are almost pathological in their suspicions.

> MT : "You're going to have to live like a rich man to have access to those people, and no rich man would move to Spain with his family unless he had already established the kind of business activity that would pay him enough to warrant such a move. Mere prospecting for business opportunities might draw such a man for short look-around visits, but he would look pretty foolish moving his whole family just to 'prospect.' Those sharp-nosed Spanish industrialists would smell you out within a few months, perhaps a few weeks."

MT agrees with all of us that the movie cover offers the best and least-expensive chance for penetration, but here again he argues against establishing perman residence:

> "My father and brother (president of Associated Distributors of Spanish-Speaking Films) have been in motion pictures all their lives, and I know from my peripheral exposure to the business that no producer would establish permanent residence unless he's actually filming a big picture. Until he actually starts shooting, the producer flits in and out of the country, rushing back to Hollywood or New York to work on other picture deals. Movie people are expected to be jet-setty; they don't travel with their goddamned families, certainly not kids. As a "bachelor" producer with a temporary suite at the Hilton or Ritz, where you could invite Mr. Tycoon to mingle with starlets and models, you could be quite plausible as a guy who's still looking for the right picture deal to jell (perhaps for a couple of years)......."

In view of our previous inactive relationship with our Iberian associate (and Mike's continued skepticism), I frankly agree with MT's reservations about establishing permanent residence while in the "prospecting stage." The over-all prospects and utility of PACI [illegible] (also TCA) could be compromised by an implausible cover at any stage.

MEMORANDUM FOR: RECORD

SUBJECT : Project WUBRINY - Edward G. TICHBORN (P)

1. At the request of Chief, DO/COG, the WOFIRM medical staff arranged for TICHBORN to be examined by a specialist in back disorders to check the nature of TICHBORN's back problem. TICHBORN had earlier injured his back when a bench on which he was sitting in the laundry room of his apartment collapsed. Since his injury, TICHBORN has, of course, been under the care of a doctor in New York. A back brace and physical therapy exercises have led to considerable improvement. However, in view of plans for TICHBORN's PCS assignment to Spain, a check by an independent specialist was deemed advisable.

2. TICHBORN's appointment was with Dr. Henry L. Feffer, 2520 L St. N.W., Washington, D.C. at 1115 hours on 19 June 1968. TICHBORN used the alias of Enrique Cortez with a New York post-office address supplied by the Office of Security, to wit:

P. O. Box 432
Church Street Station
New York, N. Y. 10008

He paid the bill of $38.50 upon leaving. The receptionist asked the name of TICHBORN's doctor and where the report should be sent. TICHBORN gave a fictitious name and address of a doctor in New York and said that Dr. Feffer knew where to send the report. (The report will be sent to Dr. Borscherding of the WOFIRM Medical Staff who will call C/DO/COG.)

3. At a luncheon meeting at Fort Myer after the examination, TICHBORN informed Chief, DO/COG and the undersigned that Dr. Feffer had been more positive than TICHBORN's doctor in New York that TICHBORN does not have a ruptured disc. Dr. Feffer recommended physical therapy exercises varying somewhat from those prescribed by TICHBORN's New York doctor. TICHBORN said that his back pains him toward the end of the day. Dr. Feffer opined that this condition should be cleared up within three months.

4. TICHBORN appeared to be in excellent spirits at the luncheon. He was very enthusiastic about movie deals as a substantial part of his cover arrangements. He obviously is at home in this field and believes it will give excellent access to operation targets in Spain. TICHBORN has contacts in the U. S. movie industry, one of whom is a friend interested in making a movie in Spain. TICHBORN plans to meet this friend and other contacts in Los Angeles the first week of July.

5. At the request of EUR/IB/Spain, the undersigned asked TICHBORN to be available in Washington, D. C. during the period 8-10 July 1968 to meet the contract agent whom TICHBORN will be replacing in Spain. TICHBORN agreed to do so and also to stay loose later in July for conversation with the Deputy Chief of Station, Madrid.

6. The undersigned informed TICHBORN that from the cover point of view, it would be desirable for TICHBORN, enroute to Spain, to view the operation of WUBRINY/E in Greece. While there, we would like TICHBORN to assess a Greek whom WUBRINY/1 considers to have good operational potential.

7. TICHBORN said that he has not received a reply from the IRS to his request for a copy of his 1966 income tax return (requested by C/DO/Pers). TICHBORN said that he is, therefore, writing another letter.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Chief, EUR/IB/Spain

SUBJECT : Project WUBRINY - Edward G. TICHBORN (P)

1. Forwarded herewith is the revised proposal from WUBRINY/1 to Edward G. TICHBORN (P) covering the latter's assignment to Spain. It differs from the original in that the journalistic feature is dropped in favor of strictly commercial endeavors. Added is the possibility of developing a movie deal for submission to investors.

2. TICHBORN had two meetings with QUSALT/1, both of which went well from the cover point of view. The first meeting involved TICHBORN and QUSALT/1, while TICHBORN brought his wife for the second in which QUSALT/1 was wined and dined. TICHBORN said that QUSALT/1 is all in favor of TICHBORN's proposed assignment. However, in view of past WUSALINE/Iberia inactivity, QUSALT/1 has an attitude of "I will believe it when I see it." QUSALT/1 was particularly intrigued with the possibility of a movie deal and said that Spain is by far the cheapest place to make movies.

3. The one disquieting feature of the meetings with QUSALT/1 concerned TICHBORN's wife. She took the occasion to query QUSALT/1 on all aspects of living in Spain. All went well until the subject of health came up. QUSALT/1 commented that everyone should expect to get hepatitis and said that he had a severe case. This comment shook TICHBORN's wife whose best friend in Mexico caught hepatitis and whose children subsequently got it.

4. The undersigned specifically asked TICHBORN if his wife's concern with hepatitis posed the possibility of a refusal to accompany him. TICHBORN said that he thought not, but that he was going to drop the matter for a week. The undersigned stressed to TICHBORN that the Agency views his assignment as very important as evidenced by the favorable terms offered him. We have done considerable staff work on his assignment and don't have another suitable candidate immediately available. Should TICHBORN not be able to go to Spain, it would be a severe blow. TICHBORN said that he appreciates our position and did not see any reason to worry. The undersigned said that we are preparing a contract for TICHBORN and would like to make it for at least three years. TICHBORN agreed, saying that he too prefers a long-term contract.

SUBJECT: Edward G. TICHBORN (P), 201-253203
Amendment of OA

1. European Division, with the cooperation of Domestic Operations Division, plans to assign Edward G. TICHBORN to Madrid, Spain under deep cover on a PCS basis in late summer of 1968.

2. Since October 1966, TICHBORN [redacted] DO Division, working [illegible] as a legal [illegible] proprietary WUSALINE in [redacted] and early July [redacted] sent TICHBORN TDY to Madrid to [redacted] access to priority targets in Spain which might be provided by the WUSALINE Spanish affiliate, WUSALINE/Iberia. The results of this trip indicated that such access did exist and could be exploited by the assignment of a qualified officer as the WUSALINE representative in WUSALINE/Iberia. This assignment was offered to TICHBORN in the summer of 1967 but he was unable to accept it for personal reasons at that time. TICHBORN is now available for the assignment and we hope to place him in Madrid by September 1968.

3. TICHBORN's new assignment will involve the following operational duties:

a. To identify, cultivate, and acquire intelligence from those individuals and groups within Spain who now play, and can be expected to play in the post-Franco period, a significant role in determining Spanish domestic and foreign policy.

b. To spot and assess individuals within the above group for possible recruitment by other Station assets.

201-253203

4. It is not anticipated that TICHBORN himself will attempt recruitments nor that he will be required to break his cover. Contact with the Madrid Station will be maintained under secure conditions at all times.

5. Upon his assignment to Spain, TICHBORN will fall under the operational and administrative control of Europe Division. DO Division will provide cover support. He will be supported under Project QUBLOOM.

6. [illegible] quested that Subject's OA be amended to [illegible] the above assignment.

22 May 1968

MEMORANDUM FOR: RECORD

SUBJECT : Project WUBRINY - Edward G. TICHBORN (P)

1. The undersigned met with TICHBORN at 1630 hours on 19 May 1968 at the undersigned's room in the Shoreham Hotel, 33 West 55th Street, New York City. TICHBORN was still suffering from an injured disc and either stood or lay down on the bed during the course of the meeting. He said that he had been fitted for a back harness which he would get the following day. If his back did not improve with the harness, going into traction would be necessary. TICHBORN said that his back injury occurred when a bench on which he was sitting in the laundry room of his apartment collapsed. He said that he is meeting with a representative of the insurance company with which his apartment owner is insured to seek compensation. He had previously asked for and was mailed a list of benefits under his Agency hospitalization policy. TICHBORN can sit down, but once sitting, it is very painful for him to get up.

2. Per agreement with Chief, EUR/I/Spain, the undersigned offered TICHBORN a fee of $25,000 out of which TICHBORN will have to pay his own housing and educational expenses. Inasmuch as the normal housing allowance for Spain is $3,680.00 a year and the educational allowance for two children $1,120.00 or higher, the offer to TICHBORN amounts to a $20,000 base salary. TICHBORN was informed that additional benefits outside his basic fee would include:

a. Round-trip transportation less than first-class for him and his family to Spain and return to New York,

b. Cost of shipping and storage of household effects,

c. Temporary lodging allowance of $9 per day per adult and children over 11 up to 90 days with an additional $5 per day per child if the lodging has no kitchen facilities (TICHBORN has two children, a boy age 13 and a girl age 11).

SECRET

d. Transportation allowance of $50 per month,

e. Operational expenses

TICHBORN is satisfied with his basic fee, commenting that [illegible] is [illegible] better than Mexico. He then added that money doesn't mean as much to him as it did, because his agent thinks that TICHBORN's book will be a good seller and earn a lot of money. TICHBORN opined that the temporary lodging and transportation allowances are low. The undersigned pointed out that these allowances are applicable to staff employees and that they have been found adequate.

3. The undersigned noted that TICHBORN, by virtue of his association with WUSALINE and WUSALIFY and his 1967 trip to Spain, is in an excellent cover position for this assignment. He has also had the opportunity to meet the Agency representative in Madrid with whom he will be dealing. The undersigned gave TICHBORN a copy of WUBRINY/1's letter outlining TICHBORN's cover assignment (unamended copy attached). The undersigned noted that the senior officer of the firm participating with WUSALINE in WUSALINE/Iberia in late 1966 had suggested that a developer of new business be obtained. This overture was followed by TICHBORN's exploratory trip in June 1967. Subsequently, a WUSALIFY company for which TICHBORN is a legal consultant, followed up on TICHBORN's trip by sending a geologist to assess several abandoned silver properties. In this way, the stage should be well set for TICHBORN as outlined in the cover letter prepared by WUBRINY/1.

4. At 1800 hours, WUBRINY/1 and WUBRINY/11 joined the meeting to discuss cover arrangements. The undersigned emphasized that the arrangement would not only have to be plausible, but, in due course, there would have to be commercial results. TICHBORN was also emphatic on this point. He suggested that the cover letter also include the possibility of putting together a movie deal. TICHBORN said that he is thoroughly at home in the movie field and finds it a good access to targets of operational interest. WUBRINY/1 seized eagerly upon TICHBORN's suggestion, stating that he had always wanted to finance a movie deal. WUBRINY/1 said that he would amend the cover letter to include this possibility. Both the undersigned and WUBRINY/1 stressed the importance of TICHBORN's obtaining U. S. clients to represent in Spain. Some further training for TICHBORN was recommended by WUBRINY/1, including visits to certain WUSALINE affiliates. The undersigned concurred, stating that a visit to WUSALINE's affiliate in Greece would be particularly useful because TICHBORN might also do an assessment there on a Greek associated with WUSALINE's affiliate.

5. WUBRINY/1 said that QUSALT/1 is coming to the U. S. the third or fourth week in May 1968. It was agreed that WUBRINY/1 and TICHBORN would gear up to get QUSALT/1's endorsement of TICHBORN developing business for WUSALINE/Iberia.

6. Both TICHBORN and the undersigned informed WUBRINY/1 that employment terms have been agreed upon and opined that these terms might be more liberal than WUBRINY/1 would privately extend. The undersigned said that the Agency would embody TICHBORN's employment terms in a contract from which commercial terms could be drawn. The undersigned added that all of the funding of TICHBORN would not necessarily have to be accomplished through WUBRINY/1.

7. TICHBORN owes the Agency $199.99 on an old loan. TICHBORN promised faithfully to send the undersigned a check in this amount prior to 31 May 1968.

8. The Covert Tax Unit desires a certified copy of TICHBORN's income tax filing for 1966. TICHBORN said that he had been unable to locate one and had asked the IRS for a copy.

9. TICHBORN's wife is concerned about schools in Spain. The undersigned gave TICHBORN information on schools in Spain as obtained from EUR/I/Spain and from a friend who spent three years in Spain.

10. TICHBORN said that he would like to go alone to Spain in August so as to be able to make arrangements in advance for his family.

11. An amended cover letter is awaited from WUBRINY/1 as well as QJSALT/1's response to TICHBORN's assignment.

NEW YORK, N. Y. 10022

PLAZA [illegible]
CABLES [illegible]

CAPITAL FOR DEVELOPMENT
FINANCIAL CONSULTANTS

May 15, 1968

Henry P. Lopez, Esq.
5900 Arlington Avenue
New York, N.Y.

Dear Henry,

I have carefully considered your most interesting idea of activating our relationship in Madrid.

Your operations with us here have been entirely satisfactory from our standpoint, and indeed, the volume of client business that you have been able to develop exceeded our expectations. On the other hand you say that some of these clients will follow you to Spain, and it would appear that the market in Spain for consulting services is somewhat less competitive than is the case here, so the eventual prospects could be good.

As you may know, our operation in Athens, which has worked out extremely well (although it involved a lot of hard work and trouble) came about in just the same way: after a year or so in the office here George Economakis one day suggested that he might be able to start a similar operation in Athens, to which we eventually agreed; it has all grown from there, and has been a most satisfactory business.

In considering your idea I have thought of two categories into which your work might be divided: things which can be done through the medium of ICAP [illegible], which certainly needs [illegible] up, and things which can be done separately from it. [illegible] take up each category in turn.

1. [illegible] ICAP Iberia.

[illegible] formed the joint venture with BAYP, S.A., [illegible] the name of ICAP Iberia, the understanding was that [illegible] a serious long-term effort to get business for [illegible] systematic prospection on their behalf of [illegible] clients.

To date we have not found it possible to carry out this prospection owing to budgetary limitations and a lack of spare time. Also, the other ICAP offices abroad have been too busy with their own affairs to think too much about getting business for each other.

As you may know, part of the original idea was that George Train would carry out this representative function with the American business community, but in the event, he developed a close relation with a Spanish bank, and devoted most of his available time to their concerns.

BANIF has become restive as a result, and in fact yesterday I received a letter from them which raises the issue of winding up the arrangement.

The first activity, therefore, which I feel you could most advantageously carry out on our behalf in Spain would be that of seeking new business for ICAP Iberia. After an initial familiarization with the work of the office, I would suggest that you might call on the U.S. firms operating in Madrid and offer the services of ICAP Iberia. You can get a list of such firms through the Department of Commerce. There is also an American Club in Madrid (of which George Train was a founder) whose members would certainly be appropriate for such prospection.

After you have prospected the American business community, you could go on to the European firms operating in Spain, in the same way.

I doubt if ICAP Iberia has the time for such extensive prospection, so your work here would be valuable to them, I would think.

Another related area in which your services could be of help would be in helping in client relationships with U.S. clients that have begun working with ICAP Iberia or BANIF or are on the point of doing so.

To the extent that your existing Latin American or U.S. clients would need your services in Spain, you would naturally want to have prime responsibility for their affairs yourself. You would want to determine which of their needs could best be served by ICAP Iberia, using BANIF S.A. and other possible sources of support, and which you should handle separately or through New York.

As you know, ICAP Corporation and BANIF own approximately equal shares of ICAP Iberia. ICAP Iberia, in turn, gives first refusal on all consulting work to BANIF, but receives what amounts to a 30% override on such work. In other words, our indirect interest in consulting work which we get for BANIF through ICAP Iberia is 15%, which comes off the top.

We would be pleased to allocate to you a share in our interest in any such work brought in through your efforts (and recognized for fee purposes by ICAP Iberia and BANIF) as follows: 7½% (i.e., half of our indirect interest) of all fees during the first year after the actual commencement of billings for each client; 5% during the second year; and 2½% of all subsequent business.

Another sector where you could work directly with ICAP Iberia is related to the foregoing, and is simply U.S. law. To the extent that you could provide an in-house U.S. legal capability for them, particularly with respect to U.S. corporate practice and tax matters, I am sure this would be helpful.

Finally, correspondence is essential to international business. We do not hear from our Spanish friends as we do from George Economakis or Giovanni Manes. The result is that we do not know what is going on in Spain, and do not have them on our minds. I am sure that if you were there you would keep us informed of opportunities, and as a result we could do a more effective job for them. In addition, you could act as the point of liaison between ICAP Iberia and the other ICAP affiliates.

(This would of course involve your knowing the strengths and weaknesses of the other ICAPs, so as a first order of business I would request that you spend two or three weeks in ICAP Hellas, ICAP Italia and on a general prospection in France, Germany, and Benelux.)

2. Activities outside of ICAP Iberia.

By far the most important of these is generating a placement capability for investment opportunities developed by ICAP Iberia. I do not think we expected when we started ICAP Hellas that the most important figure in this company would be one who was not even on the masthead at that time, namely Tony Lykiardopulo. The really profitable side of our business is, as you know, the entrepreneurial one, not the professional one.

It is fine to have good ideas and to carry out thorough feasibility studies, but if you do not have a client who will go into these plans, they will not do you much good. Until Tony came along, ICAP Hellas did four or five studies a year for their own account, which they did not consummate. Now they seem to be in about the same position we are, which is that before we proceed with the full study we have sold the deal, and the study is mostly by way of documentation and background. Most investors come in on our say-so on the telephone, not in response to any documents. Tony has this power, and the others in ICAP Hellas, for some reason, generally do not. If you personally could carefully study every aspect of deals that BANIF might work up, and then present them to individuals whom we might suggest, there is a fair chance that we can do a real job of merchandising, which we can never do on writeups.

The second capability you might be able to develop for us outside the ICAP Iberia channels is related to the foregoing, namely to generate securities business for this office, just as Tony Lykiardopulo does. Our Special Account has the best performance record of any readily available investment medium that a foreigner is likely to see, and it has been getting better as time has gone on. It makes an excellent illustration of our capabilities in the investment management line. You would not be required to actually place our services with individual investors whom you might meet, but if you could identify them, and determine their needs in a preliminary way, on one of my periodic trips I could discuss our operation with them, and in the course of time there is little doubt that we would develop a slowly growing clientele. In addition, Tony Lykiardopulo can come to Madrid from time to time and maintain contact. Alternatively, you might eventually discover a customer's man in a brokerage house who would like to join us in the rather more elegant world of investment counsel, and we could make an arrangement directly with him.

You have spoken from time to time of your desire to increase the proportionate amount of time which you spend on creative writing and your interest in collaborating on a book on the "Establishment" in Spain, which in fact I agree with you is a fascinating subject that I have never seen well written up. Certainly, there is no case I know of where a quite tightly-knit aristocracy (or oligarchy) really runs things the way it does there. Anyway, making contact with some of the figures in that group could certainly tie in nicely with the various activities mentioned above.

Finally, of course, we have your existing clients and their various interests in Spain, to which you have referred. You would need to allocate your time between these various activities as at present, letting us know where we stood.

All in all, it adds up, in my opinion, to a workable package, with, I would say, perhaps even more upside potential than the arrangements under which we are operating in New York now.

After consultation with our directors, therefore, I am happy to tell you that we are willing, in principle, to go ahead with this plan, and to negotiate a detailed understanding at your convenience.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Chief, DO

VIA : Chief, DO/CO

SUBJECT : Edward G. Tichborn (P)

1. The undersigned on 23 May 1967 reviewed in WH Division Tichborn's 201 file (4 folders) and related operational files. Particular attention was given in this review to Tichborn's security.

2. The files reflect that Tichborn is very security conscious. There is no evidence that Tichborn was ever suspected of being a WOFACT operative.

3. Tichborn practiced law in California and was active in state and national politics. He was recruited as a political advisor on a part-time basis in 1959 by the CA Staff. In 1962, he was taken on full-time under contract by WH Division and assigned to Mexico City. His cover for this assignment was publishing and movie interests in Mexico and elsewhere in Latin America. In Mexico City he published a magazine, Dialogos aimed at left-wing intellectuals. The CI/OA staff review in 1965 stated that Tichborn's cover story was completely accepted by his friends and associates. The [illegible] of Tichborn in 1965 revealed that he had informed only his wife of his association with WOFACT.

4. The files reflect that Tichborn is very sensitive about security. He balked at working with a WOFACT officer in Mexico City, because a friend told Tichborn that the WOFACT officer not only was WOFACT but had openly admitted it to the friend. A proposed trip to Bolivia was aborted because Tichborn felt there was no suitable cover.

5. Tichborn has traveled extensively in Latin America on training and election assignments. Three countries in which he worked are Chile, Dominican Republic and Puerto Rico. On these assignments Tichborn used his legal, publishing, and movie cover. It is understood that he also used aliases and disguises, although this was not noted in the quick review of the files. He can, of course, be debriefed in detail on this aspect.

SECRET

6. The files show that Tichborn's magazine, Dialogos was funded through Tichborn by various individuals through arrangements made by CCS. The AC/WH/6 interrogated Tichborn on any foundation funding. Tichborn could recall only one instance of foundation funding, some $2-2,500 given Dialogos Editor Susan Hirsu by the Fairfield Foundation. There is also a reference in the files that one, Louis Mercier, was informed that ODACID also supported Dialogos.

7. The files reflect very favorably on Tichborn's performance - two reports by the Mexican Station and one from COS/Santo Domingo are most commendatory. On the negative side, administrative details bore him.

8. The undersigned has confirmed with Chief, WH/CA that if DO will take over Tichborn's contract, WH will pay Tichborn's salary and expenses for the first quarter of FY 1958. Chief, WH/CA is awaiting DO's decision.

9. The undersigned is very favorably impressed by Tichborn. By 1 October, it is believed that Tichborn will be sufficiently well-trained in commercial and investment banking matters to do legal-business consulting on a fee basis for WUBALINE. He should be able, depending on the number of operational requirements, to earn a part, if not all, of his salary. On this basis, it is recommended that DO assume administration of Tichborn effective 1 July 1957, under WUBriny, with the understanding that WH Division will defray Tichborn's salary and expenses during the first quarter of FY 1958.

ACTION REQUIRED - REFERENCES

Reference: OSMA-23350, 11 January 1968

Action: Your comments are requested.

1. We regret our delay in responding to Reference and preceeding correspondence on this case. We will attempt below to answer the questions posed and comment where pertinent, keyed to paragraph 2 of Reference.

a. WUSALINE Iberia can, in principle, be used as an information collection mechanism. The type of requirements to be levied via WUSALINE would have to be consistent with that organization's past and present dealings with WUSALINE Iberia, i.e. commercially logical and feasible. Operating on this assumption, we believe that both general and specific requests for information could be levied and could cover a wide range of economic and commercial topics. We solicit your ideas on such requirements.

b. This subject was investigated with TICHBORN during a visit he made to Headquarters during the week of 29 January 1968. There seems to be little doubt that TICHBORN could obtain the necessary interviews, write an article, and have it published in a publication such as Life International. In considering this proposition, however, we wonder just what a trip would accomplish. We foresee that TICHBORN would obtain biographic and limited assessment data on certain high-level economic figures. He might also obtain some positive intelligence information by elicitation. But, given TICHBORN's background and talents, the most important gain, especially should a favorable article subsequently appear in print, would be in his establishment of viable personal contact with those persons interviewed. Therein lies the problem, that of transferring the relationship established by TICHBORN to someone else in the Station. We feel that you will agree that this is a difficult thing to do. In short, will the benefit to us from a short (possibly two/three weeks) foray by TICHBORN be worth the necessary investment in time, money and effort. Included in the latter would be Chief/LOLACE approval. Such approval always requires solid operational justification and such justification would be especially necessary in this case, due to the probable publication outlet involved, Life International. We are inclined to think that such a trip would not be worth it, unless, and this is a possibility discussed below in paragraph 2, TICHBORN were to be assigned PCS to Spain for a period of a year or more.

c. Also discussed with TICHBORN during his recent visit was the subject of his contacts with Spaniards in his home city and of his use in assessing and developing visiting Spanish contacts of the Station who might be steered to him. In the former category, we determined that TICHBORN has not yet been active in making new contacts but would be willing to do so, on a selected basis. The question here is, whom would we wish him to meet and develop? (TICHBORN's immediate reaction was to suggest he meet the Spanish ambassador to Washington.) Unless the Station has some specific candidates in mind, we believe the most profit to be had from this exercise initially, would be to give TICHBORN the task of assembling a spotting report on Spaniards in his home city engaged in commercial activities to whom, presumably, TICHBORN would be able to logically develop access. We feel that to give him a broad assignment of reporting on any and all Spaniards he meets would be self-defeating. On the latter category of targets, those selected Spaniards visiting TICHBORN's city who might be steered to him by the Station, we feel that cover considerations will have to be carefully handled in order to protect TICHBORN's now solid cover. TICHBORN currently is covered as a business consultant and attorney under Identity A. He is specifically identified with Identity B and, when required, as on his trip to Spain, with WUSALINE. We would be perfectly willing to consider using TICHBORN in this way provided the targets were carefully selected and could be steered to TICHBORN without endangering his cover.

d. In answer to paragraph 2d of the Reference, we are forwarding under separage cover copies of the reports which TICHBORN submitted to Headquarters after his return. We can find no indication that these were sent to you at the time, although that was our intention. In any event, they appear to constitute additional detail to verbal reports provided to the Station by TICHBORN while he was there last year.

2. As the Station notes, the question of a PCS assignment to Madrid for TICHBORN was shelved last year due to a variety of reasons, both personal and professioanl. Recent discussions with WOPLAY, however, indicate that such an assignment should not be ruled out. It is possible that TICHBORN would be available for PCS assignment to Spain in 1959, assuming that suitable cover arrangements can be worked out. In this regard, his assignment to Madrid as WUSALINE's man in WUSALINE Iberia might be a logical extension of his past and present activities. In view of the Station's comments in paragraph 3c of Reference, we would appreciate your thoughts on this and on any other cover possibilities which come to mind. Granted that such an assignment is presently no more than a long range possibility, it is nevertheless an attractive one, worth an exchange of views.

3. Developments cited in paragraphs 3a and 3d of the Reference are welcome as both appear to constitute potential access of value. We will be most interested in your progress.

4. The case of QUSALT/1 is, as ever, a thorny one. We will comment on it by separate dispatch.

5. To sum up, Headquarters is also impressed with TICHBORN's potential as indicated by his all-to-brief visit to Spain last year.

Judging from his performance there it appears that he would be a valuable addition to the Station effort against the unilateral target, if he were to be assigned to Spain. His utility here, or on a brief TDY assignment from here is, we feel, far less and can only be taken advantage of by a realistic selection of any tasks we may ask him to perform. There is little doubt that he can meet Spaniards of interest, the problem lies in how to follow up at long range, of how to transfer a relationship established by TICHBORN to someone else who could take operational advantage of it. Otherwise, we will end up with a long list of names and little else. On this basic point, a summation of the specific items dealt with above, we would welcome an exchange of views with the Station.

SUBJECT: Land Development Project - Valencia, Venezuela

1. Contract Agent Edward G. TICHBORN (P) under Project WUBRINY has a major role in subject project which is being developed by a consortium of private and Venezuelan businessmen who have retained TICHBORN's services. The two principal Venezuelans involved financially in this project are Luis Ramon Bigott and Pablo Henning. Through these individuals, either socially or on a professional basis, TICHBORN has access to:

a. Eugenio Mendoza - businessman

b. Pedro Tinoco - lawyer and advisor to IBEC and David Rockefeller.

c. Luis Ignacio Mendoza - lawyer

d. José Cordido Freytes - lawyer and partner of ex-foreign minister Arismendi.

e. Diego Cisneros - owner of largest television station; has Pepsi Cola franchise for Venezuela, Brazil and Central America; owns ice cream manufacturing plant; is largest distributor of U.S. films.

f. Irwin Klein - good friend of TICHBORN's who works for Cisneros; formerly worked for the American Broadcasting Company.

g. José Mayobre - Minister of Petroleum; formerly head of ECLA; close friend of Pablo Henning, and also known personally by TICHBORN.

SECRET

201-253203

h. Pila Henning - wife of Pablo Henning; daughter of one of Venezuela's richest men whose name TICHBORN could not recall; studied at the Maryknoll College, Tarrytown, New York; was sympathetic to Perez Jimenez.

2. TICHBORN has also met Mr. Harold Horan who is Executive Secretary of the American Chamber of Congress.

3. It is anticipated that TICHBORN will be meeting the contacts noted above as well as additional contacts in the event the project continues to move ahead favorably. Should any of TICHBORN's contacts merit operational assessment and development, DO personnel concerned with Project WUBRINY would be glad to work with WH/3/Venezuela.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Chief/E/IB/S

SUBJECT: Project WUBRINY - Possible Operational Support of Madrid Station Objectives by Edward G. TICHBORN (P)

REFERENCE: OSMA 23,350 Dated 11 January 1968

1. Per Mr. Long's request, the undersigned on 30 January 1968 discussed with Edward G. TICHBORN (P) possible support of Madrid Station objectives as raised in ref. It was confirmed that:

a. WUSALINE/Iberia can be used as an information collection mechanism in cases where information requirements can be couched in plausible economic and commercial terms for contractual surveys.

b. TICHBORN can assess and develop selected Spanish contacts of Madrid Station who may be visiting New York and who desire introductions in US commercial circles.

c. TICHBORN can develop Spaniards in New York as may be of operational interest to the Madrid Station. TICHBORN has not made an effort to develop Spaniards in New York but is willing and able to do so for any designated as operational targets. If desired, TICHBORN thinks he can meet the Spanish Ambassador to the U.S. through a friend, Senator José Montoya of New Mexico.

d. TICHBORN feels that he could write an article concerning leading Spanish industrialists and bankers for publishing in a prominent publication, such as "Life International." TICHBORN believes that he has excellent bonafides for such a task because he previously published in "Life International" a four-page spread on birth control in Latin America. This article was favorably reviewed. TICHBORN suggested a related article on the population explosion in Europe and its effect on business as a possible topic for interviewing leading Spanish businessmen. TICHBORN, as a result of journalistic collaboration with Katherine Anne Porter, is represented in New York by a top literary agent, Monica McCall. TICHBORN thinks that it would take him two to three weeks in Spain interviewing top Spanish industrialists and bankers. He would send letters in advance to these targets informing them of his proposed itinerary, the purpose of his trip, and enclosing copies of his previous articles with favorable reviewer comments. He could be essentially a free lance journalist or have a business purpose as well. In the latter connection, it is of interest that following TICHBORN's trip to Spain, WUBRINY/1 sent a geologist to WUSALINE/Iberia to look into acquisition of silver properties in Spain. This purely commercial development appears to be a direct result of TICHBORN's trip and thus enhances TICHBORN's commercial bonafides.

2. It is understood that E/IB/S has a copy of TICHBORN's report for dispatch to the Madrid Station per ref.

3. Personnel concerned with Project WUBRINY will be glad to work with E/IB/S in any follow-up to the possibilities noted above.

SUBJECT
Operational/Edward G. TICHBORN Trip to Madrid

ACTION REQUIRED - REFERENCES

Reference: OSMA 22,778

1. Madrid has awaited a report of TICHBORN's trip to Spain and some response to the various proposals made in Reference Dispatch. SHERIDAN carried back the message that TICHBORN would not be assigned PCS to Madrid as suggested he might be in DIR 32794. We have a high opinion of TICHBORN's talents, so this was a disappointment.

2. Regarding the proposals we made about how TICHBORN might continue to be useful in his target "Study on Dynamics of Spain As an Economic Entity" (see DIR 13385), there are several that we would like Headquarters to review:

a. Can WUSALINE Iberia be used as an information collection mechanism? [illegible], yes

b. Has further thought been given to TICHBORN's writing an article (possibly for "Life International") on leading Spanish industrialists and bankers?

who does he know

c. Can TICHBORN develop Spaniards in his home city for Madrid Station? Can the Station ask selected Spanish contacts, who will be travelling to TICHBORN's city, to look up TICHBORN as a means of assessing and developing them? yes

d. Is TICHBORN preparing a report or contemplating any follow-up action to Reference trip?

3. Reference provides sufficient details to make all these questions clear. If Headquarters can give us a status report on the above questions and where we now stand with TICHBORN and WUSALINE, we can in turn make suggestions on how we believe TICHBORN's talents can be used in the future. As mentioned above, we have a high opinion of his ability and we hope we can benefit from it. In the meantime,

MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: Project WUBYZAS Status Report

REFERENCE: Memorandum for Record, dated 23 January 1968, Same Subject

1. Ref. noted that John A. BLENKISOP (P) had suggested certain changes in his proposed contract and that these suggested changes had been referred to the OGC for comment.

2. Attached are the OGC comments on BLENKINSOP's suggested changes. In brief, the OGC stood firm on the proposed contract as written and rejected BLENKINSOP's suggested changes. One change suggested by BLENKINSOP, i.e. to allow interim hotel expenses greater than $1000.00 in Instanbul, if necessary, was considered administrative by the OGC and left to DO for decision. In view of the rejection of BLENKINSOP's other suggested changes, it was decided to accept BLENKINSOP's request for interim hotel expenses to exceed $1000.00 if necessary. BLENKINSOP's suggested change reads "Barring extraordinary circumstances, these /expenses/ are not to exceed the amount of $1000.00." In his justification for this change, BLENKINSOP notes that time in transit for furniture could extend to six weeks and that in this case hotel expenses could be closer to $2000.00.

3. WUBRINY 11 was advised on 24 January 1968 of our position on the contract. He will relay it to WUBRINY 1 and/or BLENKINSOP. BLENKINSOP's reaction is awaited.

MEMORANDUM FOR: RECORD

SUBJECT : Agreement with WUBRINY/1 to Defray a Portion of Edward G. TICHBORN's (P) $17,000 Annual Contract Fee

1. Chief, DOCO, DC/DOCO, Mr. Ed Welch, and the undersigned met on 3 January 1968 with WUBRINY/1 and WUBRINY/11. WUBRINY/1 had previously agreed in principle to buying a portion of TICHBORN's time. He was asked at the 3 January meeting to make a specific proposal on this matter. It was pointed out to WUBRINY/1 that the Agency does not have at this time any operational requirements for TICHBORN and that, ideally, TICHBORN's $17,000 annual contract fee would be offset completely by commercial fee income.

2. WUBRINY/1 said that he is forming a development company in Venezuela for a land development project in which TICHBORN could be very useful the next six months. He proposed that the development company retain TICHBORN for six months at $5,000. If the project is continued, TICHBORN will be retained for a higher figure for the next six months plus a bonus if the project is successful. The company will, of course, also defray TICHBORN's expenses incurred on the land development project. For the Agency and Project WUBRINY, the agreement with WUBRINY/1 means that WUSALINE will expend $3,500 to retain TICHBORN for the next six months.

3. The Venezuelan Desk was advised that TICHBORN will be going to Venezuela on 10 January 1968 and will be spending considerable time there during the next six months. The Venezuelan Desk was very receptive to exploiting TICHBORN operationally and prepared a detailed cable for COS/Caracas. However, this proposed cable was modified by WH Division upper Should there be any question concerning the data which you will find on the attached sheet, please let me know, and I shall be happy to submit any clarification you desire.

At the moment I am devoting all my time to the Sattelite City project in Venezuela, and have consequently let matters ride with respect to the Mexican border development program.

I. Can ICAP-BANIF serve our operational needs?

a) Present status:

As we all undoubtedly realize, our relations with BANIF have been rather loose and underdeveloped due ~~[illegible]~~ to budgetary limitations. We have, in effect, a nice-sounding relationship called "ICAP IBERIA S.A." - with a rather impressive board of directors - but we have generated almost no business to date. As Miguel Echegaray so wryly observed: "After all, Hank, we've had less than $200 income for ICAP IBERIA, and that wouldn't even pay one day's overhead in this office." As a consequence of our limited business activity with their office, I doubt that ICAP figures very prominently in the over-all plans of the BANIF people. Nevertheless, they have explicitly stated that the ICAP-BANIF combination has considerable potential "if you people in New York would devote a little more time and money to certain Spanish projects." They apparently feel that we have access to American business firms who could actively engage in joint ventures with some of their Spanish clients - or that ICAP itself could invest therein.

The BANIF people also feel that we should be able to "feed" them clients for market surveys and feasibility studies. I've read two of their more impressive studies, and I'm inclined to believe that this particular suggestion has some merit. With this thought in mind, I suggested that Echegaray send me a copy of the study they did for Olin Mathieson, so that we might duplicate it on the Xerox and thereafter show it to prospective clients.

There should be a number of other ways in which we can strengthen our ties with BANIF - all of them requiring time, effort and money - and I strongly suggest that we do so because I am also fairly well convinced that ICAP IBERIA (through its association with BANIF) can be developed into a viable channel to the target people. I discussed this at great length with our link representative in Madrid, and we have agreed: a) that there is a considerable operational need for close contact with the target businessmen, and b) that BANIF offers at least one channel to these people. (I'll discuss at least two other channels later on in this report.)

3) ICAP IBERIA (BANIF) [illegible]

Most of the officers of BANIF are also officers of ICAP IBERIA S.A., but I should like to discuss their background and contacts as they relate to BANIF.

1. Miguel Echegaray:

Echegaray is the number-three man at BANIF and the person most directly involved with [illegible]. He is generally a very pleasant and intelligent person, but if we should ever consider recruiting him for the bank, I would recommend against such a move. Aside from certain personal traits (a tendency to be a glutton and general untidiness), Mike is often excessively outspoken and indiscreet. In a strongly-Catholic country he frequently blasts the Church without bothering to ascertain the religious inclinations of the person he's addressing - and his political views are bruited about with equal abandon. Furthermore, I have a feeling that Echegaray wants to get out of Spain and perhaps out of the investment business. Perhaps he's one of those perpetually-dissatisfied human beings who are always bitching about their jobs or resident countries but never make the move - quien sabe?

2. Alvaro Alonso-Castrillo, Marques de Casa Pizarro

Although frankly skeptical about hiring Echegaray for the bank, I am intrigued with the notion of recruiting his colleague Alonso-Castrillo. As a permanent legal adviser to the Spanish Government at cabinet level (Letrado del Consejo de Estado), he is obviously wired-in to the threads we're interested in. Moreover, he seems to have a penchant for a bit of intrigue. Some time ago he acted as a "bag man" for George Brown, the labor leader, who gave Alonso-Castrillo a large bundle of greenbacks for certain Spaniards who were engaged in combatting commie influence in labor. And in recent years he has served as the "secretary" of the shadow cabinet of Don Juan de Bourbon, attending periodic meetings in Lisbon even though he "knows it's a lost cause." I rather suspect he would enjoy a little extra cash, but his principal reason for helping the bank would be the ~~psyxxhlogixxl~~ psychological satisfaction of being involved in something with an international flavor and political hanky-panky. In addition to his duties at BANIF, Alonso-Castrillo is a member of the board of directors of the following firms: Farmabion, S.A. (ethical drugs), Peniberica, S.A. (antibiotics), Inmobiliaria Centro, S.A. (real estate), Artes Graficas Aren (printing), Artes Graficas Clavileno (printing).

He's a lawyer with a taste for scholarly pursuits as evidenced by his having worked for Master's Degrees in International Law at Harvard and at Paris University. Moreover, he's an associate professor of international law at the University of Madrid and has published several books and articles.

[illegible] A. Ruiz de Alda

I was unfortunately unable to get much of a "line" on this gentleman. During my several visits to BANIF he was heavily involved in negotiating what Echegaray characterized as "a very big and complicated deal with some French and American financiers." In any event, we saw each other only briefly - but I got the impression that ICAP-IBERIA has not developed sufficiently to engage his interest.

For the record we might note that Ruiz de Alda is on the board of directors of the following firms: Algodonera de Castilla S.A. (cotton ginning), Energia e Industrias Aragonesas S.A. (power producer and chemical manufacturer), Hilaturas Alda S.A. (a family company engaged in cotton spinning).

Echegaray informed me that Ruiz de Alda has close personal ties with Luis Usera, managing director of Banco Hispano Americano; Alfonso Fierro, president of Banco Iberico; and Pedro Careaga Basabé, Conde del Cadagua, president of Banco Vizcaya.

CASILDA USSIA FIGUEROA - A most useful friend:

One of Bob Rooney's chief associates is CASILDA USSIA FIGUEROA, a member of a distinguished family headed by Luis Ussia y Gavaldá, Conde de los Gaitanes, the owner of Minero Siderurgica de Ponferrada. His company is listed as one of hundred largest enterprises in Spain.

As a preface to my remarks about Casilda, I should like to point out that I had previously met with George Train and Miguel Echegaray, and I had asked them to name some of the outstanding figures in banking, manufacturing, utilities, chemicals, construction, etc. Except for two or three of the better-known names, neither Train nor Echegaray seemed to have such information at the tip of the fingers, but they both took my previously-prepared check list of categories and volunteered to fill in the blanks during the next few days.

That same afternoon I dropped in at Bob Rooney's office and casually mentioned that I would like to identify Spain's top business leaders for a possible moonlighting-on-the-job article for FORTUNE magazine. "Well, that's easy," said Bob, "My two associates know all about them." He then introduced me to Casilda Ussia Figueroa and Gloria de las Barcenas, both about 23 years old and quite attractive in their miniskirts. Having glanced at my list, Bob said, "Would you please tell Senor Lopez the names of the leading bankers in Spain?" Without a moment's hesitation, they named the ten leading banks and then told me who owned or directed them, also adding such tidbits as "Alfonso and Ignacio Fierro really have more say-so at the Banco Iberico than their brother Arturo" or "Don Ignacio Villalonga is rather old now, so Luis Escamez will probably take charge of the Banco Central pretty soon."

When I asked about manufacturing, construction, food processing, automobiles and accessories, utilities, etc., they reeled off scores of names (plus intra-family marital connections) like two chatty IBM machines, not once referring to the several boxes of index cards they had previously prepared for Rooney. After they had finished their amazing ad-lib performance, Bob and I checked the notes I had taken against the information listed in his "file of Spain's 500 outstanding busines and society people," and they matched perfectly - not one error. I later checked their data with the information published in LAS PRIMERAS IMPRESAS ESPANOLAS, edited by the Sociedad Editorial de Economia y Finanzas, and here again it proved correct in every respect. At no time did Miguel Echegaray, Alonso Castrillo, George Train, Anthony Cefaratti (or anyone else I met) demonstrate such an encyclopaedic knowledge of names and businesses related thereto.

Aside from the consideration of future marital prospects, I simply can't imagine what has motivated these girls in their accumulation of such data, but I was further flabbergasted by Casilda's IBM-ish mind during the next several days. Soon after our initial meeting I escorted Casilda to a party given by [illegible] Gonzalez, having both been invited to accompany the Rooneys. During the party she introduced me to twenty or thirty people, many of them friends of her family, and after each introduction she would give me a thumbnail sketch of the person we had just met: profession, family background, marital status, relatives, schooling, name-of-mistress, etc. On the following night she took me to a pre-dinner cocktail party at the home of Jaime Clozabal, whose family controls Kelvinator de Espana. There I met the Marquez de Casa Tremanes, Graciela Abelló (of the Abelló drug products clan), Juan Huarte (head of Huarte y Cia. construction company), a playboy member of the Domecq family, Benito Perojo (an independent movie producer), Malu Navarro de Zubillaga (young sculptress who is apparently a close friend of Princess Beatriz de Saboya), and an actress named Rosanna Yanni, who was accompanied by a young yeh-yeh playboy whose name was mumbled by Casilda. Incidentally, she speaks with a Madrileño lisp that is often confusing to my Mexican ear.

At the urging of CD (and with my willing assent), I spent considerable time and moola cultivating Casilda - dinner dance on Saturday, to the bullfights at Toledo with an American movie crowd, and a brief visit with Casilda and her off-and-on fiance in Paris, where he presumably studies at the Sorbonne. Casilda had planned to go to Paris for Bastille Day (the Spanish ambassador, Carlos de Miranda Quar, is a family friend), and she suggested that I stop there on my way to New York "to meet my perhaps-fiance." [illegible] ascertained that this would involve no extra plane fare. CD advised me that a Paris stopover would probably strengthen my ties with Casilda, whom we both feel will prove to be a valuable source of information. xxx During my brief stay in Paris I realized that she was probably "cultivating" me for a very specific purpose: the maternal (Figueroa) side of her family has some silver mines which have not been in production since the Civil War, and Bob Rooney had told her that I represented a group of New York investors who are looking for silver properties. She broached the subject on the day I left Paris, and I asked her to forward any and all available information on the said mines. If, in fact, the Figueroas do have economically-operable mines, we could then establish genuinely firm relations with the Ussias, Figueroas, Oriols, et al.

In any event, I would suggest that we maintain close ties with Casilda Ussia Figueroa and her friend Gloria de las Bardenas.

[illegible] INDUSTRIALISTS AND FINANCIERS OF SPAIN

In the following pages is a list of the largest business enterprises in Spain and the names of the persons who own or control them. Whenever possible I have noted the [illegible] for each company, bearing in mind that Spanish businessmen are not always totally candid in their financial statements. But aside from the accuracy or inaccuracy of these reports, one soon realizes that certain individuals and/or families control two or more of these companies and perhaps many others of lesser magnitude. And in my conversations with several Madrileños (Echegaray, Ussia, Alonso-Castrillo, Cefarrati, Garrigues, et al) some of these same names kept popping up time and again, thus leading me to conclude - at least tentatively - that the following individuals or families are the leading industrialists and financiers of Spain:

1. Juan March Cervera
2. Pedro Careaga Basabe, Conde del Cadagua
3. Ignacio Villalonga Villalba, Marques de la Vega Inclan
4. Alfonso Fierro - and brothers Ignacio and Arturo
5. Jose Maria Oriol, Marques de Casa Oriol
6. Marques Deleitosa (Gomez-Acebo family)
7. Luis Urquijo y Landecho - and other Urquijos
8. Joaquin Reig Rodriguez
9. Eduardo Aguilo [illegible]
10. Eduardo Barreiros (close to Franco)

Note, the Spanish banks, especially the "Big Five", are heavily and directly involved in the commercial and industrial life of the country. Several of them tend to be family banks and various members of these banking families actively manage or serve on the boards of the largest companies in Spain.

During our last session in Madrid, our bank representative (CL) and I discussed the possibility and advisability of recruiting ROBERT ROONEY as a bank advisor on a part-time basis. Bob has a public relations office which specializes in publicizing motion picture productions during the shooting phase and therefore has good contacts with producers, directors, actors, etc. In countries like Spain movie people are much sought-after by local businessmen and their spouses, and they frequently hobnob with the top echelons of society and government. (The Spanish government, incidentally, frequently subsidizes motion pictures which "portray the better aspects of our country.") Bob took me to a party hosted by Cesario Gonzalez, largest movie producer and distributor in Spain, and there I met the following: the Marques de Viesca de la Sierra (BANESTO bank), Joaquin de la Rosa (Mallorca ship-building family), Florentino [illegible] (Madrid's principal theatre owner), Ted Richman (producer of the Yul Brynner film), Lee J. Cobb, and several other people from Madrid's high-titled business community.

In addition to his open-sesame publicity job, Rooney has another big asset: his wife, [illegible], who is the most beautiful and charming woman I saw during my entire stay in Spain. Judging from the attention she received at the Gonzalez party, several of those upper-crust guests seemed to know the Rooneys quite well - I would guess that Barbara opens many doors for Bob. On one particular evening when I took the Rooneys to dinner at one of the better restaurants, we ran into Mr. and Mrs. Felipe Huarte (he's one of the brothers who own Huarte y Cia., one of Spain's largest construction companies and a client of Bob's), and both the Huartes gushed over Barbara and begged her to drop by for a Sunday brunch since Bob would be out of town on business.

I first met Rooney in Mexico City when he was handling publicity for the production of VIVA MARIA, a movie starring Brigitte Bardot and Jeanne Moreau. You may recall that I interviewed Moreau for DIALOGOS and was invited to spend several days with the company when it went on location near Veracruz. Well, during those few days Bob and I became rather close friends, and I had a good opportunity to observe him under a variety of circumstances, professional and otherwise. He's intelligent, discreet, holds his liquor well, and has the kind of inquisitiveness that could be useful to the bank. He seems rather nonpolitical to me, but I would assume that he probably votes Democratic.

Since he has just expanded his office, thereby increasing his overhead, Bob would probably welcome some additional cash and might therefore be amenable to recruitment. And, of course, we must bear in mind that his two associates are Casilda Ussia Figueroa and Gloria de las Barcenas, the two well-connected women I have mentioned elsewhere. It would be most helpful for us to have access to Rooney's cross-referenced list of "Spain's 500 top business and society people," which was prepared for him by the [illegible].

CD has asked if I could approach Rooney to work for us, and I very emphatically pointed it out that it would be much to risky. If he should turn us down - or even if he should accept - I would be fully exposed to him and to some of our mutual friends. Consequently, I think he should be approached (if, indeed, we decide to do so) by someone totally unrelated to me or to ICAP.

OPUS DEI AND THE INSTITUTO DE ESTUDIOS DE LA EMPRESA:

The INSTITUTO DE ESTUDIOS DE LA EMPRESA (generally known as IESE) is located in Barcelona and is a graduate school of the University of Navarre, which is directed by OPUS DEI. The director of this most impressive organization is Profesor Antonio Valero, who is also currently President of the European Association of Management Training Centers, of which IESE is an active member. The Instituto's work is carried out in several directions: basic and applied research, management training and executive development programs, education in business management for university students, international programs, documentation and information services, etc. Moreover, most of IESE's professors are engaged independently as consultants to private firms.

Top management officials from all parts of Spain attend the annual seminars of the Instituto, and there is little doubt that IESE is having and will continue to have a considerable influence in the business life of the country. An indication of OPUS DEI's direct influence is the fact that the Instituto's prospectus clearly states that "IESE [illegible] to cultivate, through its activities and its graduates, a professional [illegible] based on a Christian concept of the business [illegible] [illegible]." Although many Spaniards are apt to characterise the OPUS DEI as "overrated," two or three businessmen told me that "any young man who attaches himself to Opus Dei will have a head-start in business."

What surprised me most about the IESE is its close tie with the Harvard Graduate School of Business. A considerable proportion of its [illegible] faculty is Harvard-educated and many of the advisers and visiting professors are also from the "other side of the Charles River." On the detached sheet I have listed the names of IESE people who have attended Harvard's business school.

One should also note the practicality of the IESE directors in selecting Barcelona as its headquarters, even though the parent institution (the University of Navarre) is located in Pamplona.

[illegible]:

Most of our contacts in Madrid feel that JUAN MARCH is probably the wealthiest and most influential industrialist in Spain, and I'm happy to note that I might be able to meet him on a casual social basis through an old friend and Harvard classmate, PAUL TEMPLE. Formerly president of Esso Iberica S.A., Paul is now president of Gas Natural S.A., a subsidiary of Catalana de Gas y Electricidad, which is principally owned by Juan March. I spent considerable time with Paul during my brief stay in Barcelona and I gathered (from certain remarks between him and an associate) that he has a close personal relationship with Juan and Bartolome March. He, in fact, offered to introduce me to Juan March on my next visit to Barcelona - probably for lunch or dinner. Moreover, Paul expressed great interest in my projected FORTUNE-style article on Spanish financiers and industrialists and has offered to advise me on the technical aspects and to introduce me to some of his business friends in Barcelona and Madrid.

By Courier

Colonel William J. Donovan
Office of Strategic Services
Washington, D. C.

Dear Colonel:

You may have heard already about Mrs. Luce's campaign of political warfare in respect of the British Empire, but it's so interesting and so relevent to our operations that I am taking a chance on boring you with a repetition:

When Mrs. Luce went to the Middle East some time ago she had an interview with Auchinleck, among others, and obtained from him some extremely important and previously confidential information. According to one account, she even learned the date on which the British offensive in North Africa was due to begin. She wrote this information down in her notebooks -- and also inscribed her opinion of Auchinleck and of the British Administration in that part of the world and elsewhere, all of this in extremely uncomplimentary terms.

Previous to her return to America, she persuaded Monckton to put her notes under some kind of an official British seal with the idea that this would clear them without inspection, through any British posts she might be passing on her way home. In addition to these notes under seal, Mrs. Luce also had further notes in her possession which she wrote after the earlier material was sealed. When she arrived at the British censorship in Trinidad, a British official looked through her unsealed papers and found among them the notes in which she had expressed herself with considerable feeling on the British. The official was moved by this discovery to break the seal which Monckton had placed on the earlier material, and send that too. Mrs. Luce felt very strongly about this action, and protested with great feeling, but the official at Trinidad was not deterred.

So grave a view was taken in Trinidad of Mrs. Luce's notes, and most particularly of the information she had obtained from Auchinleck, that all the papers were sent to London. According to one version, they even went to Mr. Churchill himself. They were then sent to Washington--apparently to the White House. It was only after these several examinations that they were returned to Mrs. Luce.

This history is supposed to explain the disciplinary action taken against both Monckton and Auchinleck some time ago, and it's firmly believed in at least some quarters that Mrs. Luce's experience was not altogether unconnected with the "Open Letter" to the British people recently published in Life Magazine.

Shortly after Mrs. Luce's return to this country, she spoke at an off-the-record meeting of the Overseas Press Club in Washington about her travels and took a very strongly anti-British-Empire position. The meeting was more or less informal, and the atmosphere was friendly to her, so there seems to be no reason to suppose that she was provoked into saying anything she did not really mean. Among other things, she said at this meeting that the Suez Canal should be turned over to the Egyptians.

"When do you think this should be done?" she was asked.

"Right now," she replied.

"Does that go for the Panama Canal too--do you think that ought to be given back to Panama?" another correspondent present asked.

"Yes," Mrs. Luce replied. "It goes for Panama too."

I cannot guarantee this account of the latest stages in Mrs. Luce's political career, but it comes from extremely well informed and sober minded persons who are without prejudice.

Hope to see you again soon.

All the best.

Yours,

Wallie Deuel

From: W. J. D.

Please have your people read the attached memorandum from Dr. Mason. What I am interested in is the suggestion from Perry Jester that we might win over various Vichy agents in Africa. I would like to have your views as to whether Jester should be talked with and that suggestion of his explored.

MEMORANDUM

TO Colonel William J. Donovan

FROM Edward S. Mason

SUBJECT J.I.C. Sub-Committee Meeting, May 12, 1942 (W.W. Rostow attending)

The Sub-Committee is undertaking three new papers:

German Manpower Losses

French Capabilities as an Active Axis Ally

Russian Capabilities

The first paper is assigned to COI for preparation. Responsibility for the preparation on Russian Capabilities is also assigned to this office, it being understood that the military section on the Western front will be undertaken with the cooperation of Colonel Montague and that the military aspects of the Siberian area will be covered by Commander Kenney. A Sub-Committee consisting of Commander Foskett, Dr. Hornbeck, Col. Meloy and Col. Fortier will undertake the preparation of the paper on French Capabilities as an Active Axis Ally.

Mrs. Clare Luce then addressed the meeting and a report of her remarks is appended.

COORDINATOR OF INFORMATION

J.I.C. Meeting, May 12, 1942 - Statement of Mrs. Clare Luce

I Background

Mrs. Luce travelled to the Middle and Far East via the Trans-African ferry route, visiting Burma, India, and the Middle East. She had extensive opportunities for formal and informal conversation with the major military and political figures, as well as various operating airmen, soldiers, and correspondents. She carefully distinguished the quality of her sources, indicating where her views were based on observed facts, official statements, or gossip.

II Burma and China

Mrs. Luce arrived at Lashio at the time of the visit of Chiang and Madame Chiang. Their intervention was required not only to facilitate cooperation between the British and General Stillwell's Chinese forces, but also to enforce discipline on the Chinese generals nominally under Stillwell. It was rumored that a major opportunity to defeat the Japanese was lost at Tongou due to the unwillingness of the Chinese generals to obey Stillwell and attack. The arrival of the Chiangs was immediately known to the Japanese who bombed the Headquarters area for the first time in force. Mandalay, which Mrs. Luce saw immediately after the main bombing attack early in April, was leveled and deserted, with two to five thousand dead left in the ruins.

In a long conversation with Madame Chiang great bitterness was expressed against the British. Madame Chiang went back to Hong Kong, the Treaty Ports, and the Opium War, ending up with Wavell's failure to accept Chinese assistance in Burma. Madame Chiang indicated, however, that she would not accept a negotiated peace under any circumstances with the Japanese, recalling the Japanese occupation of Nanking. Under questioning Mrs. Luce stated that she did not believe the Japanese would move in force against China. All Intelligence sources in Chungking believe that the Japanese will move against Russia before June of this year. As for India Mrs. Luce stated that a full-fledged invasion by land forces seemed unlikely in the immediate future, but that bombing attacks on the Calcutta area were very likely -- these designed to exploit the political instability there and the concentration of Indian industrial strength.

In general Mrs. Luce believes that the British in Burma fought as well as their resources permitted. The R.A.F. was bombed out of Magwe early, leaving the main operations without air protection. The British claim that their radio directional finders were sabotaged by the Burmese Fifth Column; elsewhere gossip stated that the finders had been withdrawn prior to the Japanese attack. The one hundred British tanks proved ineffective as the main highway, on which they could operate, was flanked by forests through which the Japanese filtered. The presence of American technicians in the Burma oil fields probably guaranteed thorough destruction. Elsewhere there was "no earth worth scorching". The British General Alexander expressed the general belief that the failure in Burma was, in the long run, unimportant; that after the defeat of Hitler the Japanese could easily be driven out. This blandness seemed to characterize the view of almost all Britishers in the Far East, although the Viceroy of India expressed regret that, for the sake of the Indians, British control in India would "not survive another fifty years".

Mrs. Luce visited the headquarters of the A.V.G. She expressed the hope that they would not be kept alive as a unit, but that their experience in fighting Japanese planes would be transferred to American pilots in training, especially at Karachi. She felt that neither the A.V.G. nor General Stillwell should return to China, despite their obvious value in maintaining and American link and American prestige. General Stillwell has apparently distinguished himself, under most trying circumstances, by his comradeship with the Chinese and his willingness to share front-line dangers and hardships. At a time when the Chinese are extremely sensitive, General Stillwell's attitude and action were of great importance.

III India

Indian morale is extremely low, lower in fact than before the Cripps Mission. The net result of the Mission appears merely to have strengthened Gandhi and the policy of passive resistance. Mrs. Luce believes, however, that, in a short run at least, there is nothing wrong with the morale of the Indians and the Chinese that could not be corrected by a couple of substantial victories. Wavell, in a letter to Mrs. Luce expressed himself as more concerned about Indian morale and possible military consequences of that situation, than with the strictly military aspects of defense. Mrs. Luce spoke very highly of General Brereton as a member "of that new race, the air man". It is Brereton's view that no important action should be taken by the air force under his command until they are in a position of local superiority; he did, however, "leak a little", by bombing the Andaman Islands and Rangoon. Mrs. Luce believes that a first-line air force maintained at 300 planes in India could defeat the Japanese in any move in that direction.

IV Middle East

General Maxwell is reported to be extremely popular in the Middle East; while General Adler was unpopular, possibly due to his forthrightness in criticising the British methods. Mrs. Luce visited the most advanced tank station in the British controlled desert area. She found numerous complaints, not specified, about American equipment. In general, however, she holds that the British have done a good job in the desert.

The British in Cairo have had extensive and chronic difficulties with their various allies. A Jugoslav revolution almost took place in Cairo while she was there. The Poles, Jugoslavs and French appear unwilling to enter British air units but hold out for independent air squadrons. The one hundred thousand Poles, "dumped across the border by Russia" were reported by gossip to have been turned down by Wavell and Auchinlech, successively, and then shipped to Britain. Mrs. Luce stated that the British have been trapped by their own propaganda on behalf of their minor allies; and that the allies now overestimate their contribution to the war effort and steadily make trouble.

The biggest problem, however, throughout Africa and the Middle East, is that of inducing a shorter turn-around for shipping. At every port the complaint is the same, the blame being distributed between British administrators and the American Maritime Unions. The flow of planes over the Trans-African route was, at the time of Mrs. Luce's passage, very thin. She reported heavy fighter plane losses by crack-up; and a total lack of preparedness against air attack (in Liberia, Takoradi, Lagos, Fort Lamy, etc.).

Mrs. Luce passed along a statement from a Free French administrator in Lagos that extensive air preparations are under way in Morocco; and she quoted Perry Jester, American Consul at Lagos, now in the United States, as believing that it would still be possible to win over various Vichy agents and territories in West Africa.

Report by Mr. Jester, Consul at Lagos

In the early part of April the attached abstract of file 1896 (accessioned about April 1) was prepared at the request of Mr. Shapiro. There subsequently came to the attention of the African Section the attached memorandum to Colonel Donovan from Mr. Kimbel on the same subject. It would appear that (1) Colonel Donovan must have seen Mr. Kimbel's memorandum of March 12 already and (2) that the present abstract of file 1896 is now possibly inappropriate.

Lest this very important matter may have become sidetracked or mislaid through some accident of routine, I send you herewith all the pertinent data of which I have knowledge.

R. B.

ABSTRACT OF FILE 1896

Subject: Report of Perry N. Jester re Organization of Consular Service in West Africa

To: Frank Mauran

1. Mr. Mauran believes that "American activities (presumably all activities besides shipping) must be coordinated."

2. Mr. Jester believes his reports and recommendations to the State Department are filed without adequate study.

3. Mr. Jester remarks that "one of our most important and urgent needs.....is a better set up of our consular representation (in West Africa)". He is "firmly convinced" that:

a. The Lagos office should be a Consulate-General.

b. That other consular representatives in British West Africa should report through and coordinate with the Lagos office.

c. That independently reporting consuls at other posts in British West Africa should not be appointed.

d. That the Consul General should be a ranking Foreign Service Officer (of Class 4) middle-aged and experienced.

e. That the U. S. Consular organization in West Africa should be set up in accord with the controlling economic and political factors on the coast.

f. That the best organization would be as follows:

Lagos - Consul General (to be concerned with "larger issues of our over-all policy, our trade policy, our relations with West African governments, the effect of British Colonial policy on our interests and the relations (in cooperation with an independent American Consul at Dakar) of British and French colonies and policies."

Two Consular officers (to be concerned with Nigerian problems alone.)

Accra - One Consul (to be concerned with Gold Coast problems, Accra being the military center of B.W.A. and of importance principally for the shipment of bauxite, mahogany and manganese).

Freetown - One Consular Agent (because of the Naval importance of Freetown).

Bathurst - One Consular Agent (because of the importance of this point to air communications). This would be welcomed by the Governor of Gambia.

These recommendations and opinions and the irregular method used of bringing them to attention are arrived at from a consideration of the following points:

a. Mr. Jester has no personal interest since his tour of West Africa is almost finished.

b. Lagos is the political and economic center of British West Africa with a larger territory, larger population, and larger commerce than any other colony.

c. Lagos is the seat of the British West African Governor's Conference and this arrangement after the war is believed certain to continue anddto develop into a Governor Generalship of British West Africa.

d. The headquarters of the principal oil, shipping and trading companies is at Lagos.

e. Lagos was the site of headquarters of the Franck Economic Mission.

f. Not only now but after the war West Africa will be of increasing importance to the U.S. since British discrimination against U.S. trade will nevitably decline and development of our opportunities could now be implemented by strong and efficient consular representation.

4. "The official U.S. activities in the Gold Coast are in an uncoordinated mess", as a result overlapping of function and activities and division of authority of the

2. U.S. Military Observer
3. U.S. Ferry Command

Lou Scherer ([illegible]) phoned to say that he had to see Levitas, editor of New Leader, in connection with a new project, and with several other matters. Would like to see him for about an hour. CSP had suggested I ask Boris Shub to arrange the appointment.

I phoned Boris Shub, and phoned Scherer back that Shub would meet him at 10.30 a.m. tomorrow in the bookstore below (?) the NL office at 7 E. 15 St. Shub will introduce Scherer to Levitas at 11.

Boris said there are 3 matters which "we can live without, but it would distinctly strengthen the book if you could perhaps get them at the Library of Congress."

(1) It is conceivable that there exist photos of crowds being fired upon in Nov.—Jan. 1917-1918, in connection with rioting on the dissolution of the Constituent Assembly. (See Shub's Lenin).

(2) Fighting in Moscow, Nov. 1917 (There was no fighting in Petersburg).

(3) Collectivization. Some think it is conceivable there exist photos of peasants being shipped north to Siberia during Collectivization.

Re RUSSIANS AS ALLIES

Boris has just heard from a Russian friend, and has sent to London for confirmation —seen nothing in the papers about it here— that there has been formed in London a BRITISH SOCIETY FOR A FREE RUSSIA, with Major Hilton (author and ex-military attache in Moscow) as president and the Duchess of Atholl as vice-president. Encouraging, he thought.

DICK

Our man "can live without, but it would help greatly to tie the book together."

(1) Photos of crowds being fired upon during rioting, Nov. 1917—Jan. 1918, in connection with the dissolution of the Constituent Assembly.

Page 282 of Lenin by David Shub says: "The Assembly was scheduled to open on the morning of January 18, 1918. In anticipation of the long-awaited event, Lenin ordered a detachment of Lettish sharpshooters to PETROGRAD (St. Petersburg, now Leningrad; might be listed under any one of these names in Graphics files?).

(2) Fighting in Moscow, Nov. 1917. (There was no fighting in Petrograd, he says).

(3) Photos of peasants being shipped north to Siberia during Collectivization. Some think it "conceivable" they may exist. That would be around 1932, 1931 I guess.

He suggests trying:

1. CIA Graphics, Bldg 14. (Mr. Kessinger; used to be ex-2657
Mr. Beattie too).

2. LIBRARY OF CONGRESS.

You could ask Chuck Vetter whether he could arrange for you, without too much trouble to get into the place and borrow any photos they have, in the name of CIA, for a month or a couple of weeks (longer, if possible of course) for our man to make copies of.

I think it really would improve the book if you could get #(1) for them.

Many thanks.

(also KMFUNNY "Communist Zoo)

We sent in report on 17 May.

SDG saw MUNSON from 11 to 12.40

A thorough review of the whole set-up. Munson stressed two points:

(1) "The book must be locked up by July 31." Otherwise it couldn't be printed in September. And in that case it might be necessary to wait till about next March.

(2) "It must bex the sort of book that Doubleday might be putting out." Firstly, because if it is "too propagandistic" the retailers just won't handle it (cf details re C.Zoo). Secondly, "Swen is still secure, stands up well under Dun & Bradstreet examination, and has been a great success in the FE. It has the NY reputation of a Far Eastern firm which does unusual things in the US. Swen as a going concern is more important than any one book: the book shouldn't be allowed to jeopardize Swen by being too obviously propaganda."

I returned the layout to him. (He has not seen the text either, nor I think the other 60-odd pages). He doesn't plan to tell Shub we've seen it. He recommended that we give Shub another week to continue on it. Then that, about Monday, May 28, Sims and/or Brynn go down to NY for 2 or 3 days and work with Shub on it.

NB: He said that, later, it might be possible for Shub to introduce me to his collaborator as an informal consultant whom he'd called in. In other words, in attempting to sell our views of it to Shub, we have also the problem of whether Shub could sell them in turn to his collaborator. And Security.

We both gave our views of the book at length.

Lyle's views included: that with the text it may be better than it looks; that there's 66 pages to come; that it is better to get out something than nothing; that we can always do a 2nd or revised version; that we must face facts and not put out a book which a high percentage of retailers simply won't handle; He also, at the start, said something along the lines of what I regard as Shubian erroneous doctrine: that we should show the responsibility that the USA and Germany (Hitler?) had for the state of affairs in the USSR; I said all such things might be sub-themes, if they could be tucked in without detracting from the main themes, but that I thought they were very dubious: 172 pages isn't enuf to show what a bad man and regime it is.

Omit all this

My views, agreeing with much he had said, included: that we ought to put out something that the man in the barber-shop, anywhere in the world, would leaf through and couldn't turn over more than 3 or 4 consecutive pages without beginning to think: "This really must be a bad man, killing that many of his own cabinet." That we should not attempt either an exhaustive or even consecutive chronological treatment of the 71 years since 1879 or even since 1905 or 1917. Just hammer home main points, such as that they had a Constituent Assembly, until Lenin killed it by force and fraud, etc.

[illegible]

SECRET

That the main themes should be such as: SECRET anti-Christianity + all other religion

He kills & kills & kills
He lies & lies & lies
They defect & defect & defect
The worshippers return disillusioned, in droves
The top CP men get liquidated as soon as Stalin takes over, in:
Bulgaria
Hungary
Czechoslovakia (Clementis trial coming up), etc etc

That what we should include is the things that differentiate them from us, after everything that can be said against us has been said: The things they DO DO, that we don't do.

That we are putting ourselves behind the 8-ball, to invite interminable arguments in re diplomatic history. Historians are still arguing about whether England, Austria or Russia was most responsible for W W I. It is folly to waste space attacking Stalin because he fought the Finns in order to get better defenses for Leningrad, —as we might fight anyone who threatened the Panama Canal. Or even to try too hard to pin WW II on him. (It is still at least arguable that it wd have taken place, in some form, even if Russia had still been Tsarist. After all, there has been much carnage long before Stalin was even born.)

We should, to be sure, touch the War and Peace theme, which means so much the world over. But the way to do it is to establish beyond doubt that the man is and always has been bad, ditto the regime; they both tolerate no opposition: therefore they are, in "self-defense" expansionist. But let us do this with broad, repetitive strokes, not get bogged down in the details of Munich, the Finnish War, Pearl Harbor.

We agreed that the best we can do, in all the circs, is to ~~ax~~ try once more to sell this view to Shub, and content ourselves with whatever result we can get.

NO

In view of past failures to sell Boris on the subject (at least on many points), I'm not too optimistic. I think we should:

(1) Devil's advocate him on the pictures we think should be scrapped;

(2) Get a promise from him that he will give some space to certain topics such as the SLAVE LABOR MAP and a display of, say, a dozen of the "11 Years in Soviet Camps" type of authors; a display of the "God That Failed" ~~man~~

I stressed that JBIII and self would be only too delighted if Boris can convince us it is better than we fear.

RE $90,000. I asked what about this figure, which I had heard mentioned yesterday. Lyle said that Swen's investment in it would be amounting to about that. I asked if FE or SP would have to produce that sum. He said NO, Swen's budget is sufficient to cover it, as is.

Doubt

RE ROYALTIES FOR SHUB. He said the collaborator would be getting 7½%, which he thought might bring him in $60,000. He thought it might be justifiable —"discuss it with Legal and Joe"— that Boris's contract should be amended so that he would get a portion of the royalties that nominally come to him, insofar as they exceed his annual salary. I asked "What portion?" and Lyle said "oh, perhaps ¼ or 1/3," which, if the excess were $12,000 —a figure Lyle suggested as possible— would bring him in an extra $4 or $6,000.

Shub's contract with CIA expires 31 Dec. 1951. His contract with Swen, Lyle pointed out, would still be in effect after that. / But his contract with ~~Xxxx~~ CIA would still no doubt obligate him to return royalties to CIA, i.e. Swen, even after 31 Dec. 1951. /

I said this mightn't be a bad idea, as Shub may tend to go somewhat sour, seeing his collaborator getting his much larger salary and 7½% royalties on top of that. On second thoughts, however, it is doubtless a very poor precedent —and we could perhaps obtain and quote to Shub CIA Legal's opinion to that effect— that OPC employees should take royalties from commercial enterprises with which they happen to be connected.

I believe he is paid quite a generous figure, which ought to keep a married man with no dependents ahead of the Collector of Internal Revenue. If not, or if it is thought he is really worth more, the possibility of suggesting to him a salary raise, when his contract as Agent comes up for renewal, could be considered. At any rate, in the interests of keeping his morale up during the final phases of work on the book, I suggest the whole matter should be handled not too brusquely.

RE "COMMUNIST ZOO", and refusal of many US retailers to handle it, see attached Memo of Record of what Munson told me.

Munson: "We have to face plain facts. My experience with "CZ" shows that we have to mix in glasses of orange juice with the castor oil. "CZ" is about as vicious as the traffic will bear. If the "Stalin" photo-book smacks too strongly of propaganda, a lot of retailers just won't even handle it."

CONCLUSION. We should stay in NY long enuf to

✓ (a) Hear everything Shub can say in defense of his version;

✓ (b) Do a strong debil's advocate job against the pages we think he should delete

✓ (c) Insist that, in the remaining 66 pages, certain topics must be adequately dealt with: Slave Labor, Defections, Cultural Purges, Purges of top Communists in Iron Curtain countries.

Hm (d) Hope for the best and be prepared to accept what may be a not too satisfactory bargain, —especially in view of what Lyle says about retailers, and about maintaining Swen's reputation.

["Those were awful and terrible years. Years of intrigue and deceit, of betrayal and calculated evil-doing.] Hitler and Stalin were at once creators and products of this epoch. From these new glimpses into the secrets of their political affairs we see once again Adolf Hitler, single-purposed and resourceful, and Josef Stalin, ruthless, perhaps for a moment gullible, but in the end unswervable. [And what a dark witches' brew emerged from all of this— the German militarists trained and equipped a Soviet Army which was later to destroy them and annex a third of Germany— the Soviet reared the German military power which was later to lay waste to all of European Russia."]

Rather vividly put; some such phrases might be useful in your text? Whole article, with which you're doubtless familiar, of interest in re the biography.

MUNSON saw Sims, Smith, Loebs at his hotel 16 April 1951

Munson went through the complete book last Wednesday and Thursday evenings, April 11 and 12. He is sure it will be "one of the really important books of 1951."

He has asked for 3 photostat proofs of the layout, which we can look at down here. He agrees with me that no useful purpose would be served by my going to NY to see it, as B Shub had suggested. He thinks it inadvisable that "a stream of people" should go to Shub's collaborator's apartment.

They are now aiming at a book of 175 to 195 pages, the pages to be of Vogue size; which, on an average of 7 to 8 photos per double-page, will come to some 600 or more photos.

It is more than the personal career of Stalin; it could better be called something like "The Rise and Rule of Stalinism."

He is pressing for a SEPTEMBER 10th PRESS DATE. That may be too optimistic, but he has located a Chicago press which prints either Vogue (Conde Nast) or a Vogue-size magazine, and which, if they stick to that format, can handle it with dispatch. Munson will be going to Chicago to investigate.

PRICE. "I could be 100% wrong on this estimate," but: it should cost a minimum of $1.25 to print, and, if we want to make 25¢ net, $2.95 or $3.00 would be the minimum at which Brentano could retail it. / I'll bet it will come to more than this. WSS /

Shub's collaborator, "absolutely wonderful; the book is now 75% his", will get 7½% royalties. Shub's nominal royalties will revert to Swen.

Munson feels strongly that it is very bad policy to sell a book at less than obvious cost. He says he is completely certain that this is true in the Orient, and gave us a chapter-and-verse example (which escapes me) to illustrate it.

By "obvious" cost he means that it may be OK to count on the public's not guessing how much it may have cost you to pay a Barnes and to do, e.g., seven prints of some of the "C.Z." photos; but it is bad to price a book at less than what the physical components must obviously have cost.

He is dead sure this applies to the Orient, and strongly suspects that it would hold good for Western Europe also.

MEMO OF RECORD

SECRET

SIMS saw MUNSON in his hotel 19 March 1952

In addition to the details which he gave about "Communist Zoo" and the "Stalin" photo-book, Munson said:

Re Swen. "Tell Joe I need a man who knows the book publishing business, as a "consultant" or part-time helper. To be paid something like $300 to $400 a month, for which he would give, say, a week of his time each month."

I asked if he would like to have any CIA man detailed to do liaison with and be part-time helper of Swen; Munson said he didn't think a staff man would be very secure. He'd need to travel, deal with other publishers, etc.

Swen offices are established in Taipei, Tokyo, Manila, Hong Kong, Bangkok.

Swen will reproduce material in any language, in any format. If anybody wants him to do a job, let them contact him.

I asked how about getting material translated; he said you can always get it done in New York.

The finished product would be cargoed out to the field.

Re ROCKPORT, the artist. Munson has been paying him ($350 a month I think), and now feels he has gotten about as much material out of him as he will need. "Why not suggest to SCHILLER that The Challenge employ him on a regular basis?"

I said that the editors of The Challenge (all Russian-speaking) must already know him, since they have used his drawings. That when he finds himself unemployed he can, and quite likely will, approach them anyway. Why not let them decide whether they want to employ him, rather than for us to complicate matters, through SCHILLER, by forcing this extremely "difficult" man on them? Munson agreed we should let it ride.

If the editors themselves want to employ him, we can then decide whether and how much of the DTEXCISE funds should be used to pay him. As he is very difficult and dilatory it might be better to stipulate that he be paid on a piece-work basis.

Re "Great Swindle" and Swen's distribution problem in general.

Munson said that, while the photo-books should pay their own way, it was never contemplated that The Great Swindle would be a commercial success. Distribution of such material is Swen's great problem.

SCHILLER wrote Munson that he (FTUC) couldn't use The Great Swindle. Munson thinks professional jealousy entered into this. SCHILLER made some criticism to the effect that the booklet bears no Trade Union logotype, whereas he should know perfectly well that lithographed material never does.

SCHILLER should simply be told: "Put out so many copies of the Great Swindle." Alternatively, the geographic Divisons should give indigenous Anti-Communist groups $25,000 or $2,500 and say: "This is yours if you mail out umpteen thousand copies of the booklet with it."

Re State Dept. and Great Swindle. Munson suggested my giving a copy of the Great Swindle to Mrs. Crosswell or Col. Stubbs and asking them to recommend it to MacKnight as something they had come across, with the suggestion that the State Department buy copies of it for all their Reading Rooms.

SECRET

I asked whether MacKnight or anyone in State knew of CIA's connection with Swen. He said he did not know, though he dared say MacKnight might. He said he would be willing to call on MacKnight to discuss State Dept. assistance in getting Swen stuff disseminated, representing himself merely as a private citizen.

I said I hadn't and wouldn't make any mention of Swen to anyone at State.

Horace Eng is as much [redacted] as anyone Munson's main CIA contact, but, he said, Horace of course doesn't have time to concern himself actively with dissemination outside the FE area.

I told him about recent State publications, in their "gray" program, such as "Glossary of Soviet Terms", and pointed out that State and Swen are now putting out similar material.

I said I hoped some sort of set-up might be arranged whereby State would help disseminate some of Swen's publications.

Suggest that the initiative towards any such set-up has to come primarily from Munson himself, but that it will be potentially an important matter requiring careful working out by CPW, Col. Stubbs, Munson and State Dept.

Thanks for y ours of the 22nd, reached me Saturday evening, crossing mine of the 23rd to you.

It is all wonderful news, and the more you think about it the more amazing it is that "nothing even remotely resembling it has ever been done— anywhere in the world". And I know what a hell of a lot of work and worry it is, and what a relief it will be when it is safely done.

Twelve pix [Katyn] go to you this morning by registered mail. These are my all at the moment. You will find them a great deal better than none. In fact, you may think they are enough to do the trick. Reflect that no one of them —fakery in photos having a long history since WW I— can in itself constitute conclusive proof, nor any photo that could be.

For that, your text will carry more weight: the undisputed facts of geography and chronology; the depositions; the TACIT ADMISSION OF GUILT IN THE DAMNING FAILURE OF THE USSR TO RAISE THE MATTER AT NUREMBERG (here see Churchill's last volume, and perhaps quote a sentence or two from him; "names make news"; see also Mikolajczyk, from whom you may cull a juicy quote or two.)

It seems that "about a dozen" photos were given to all who attended the 21 Nov. 1949 press conference. So you may find Ep and/or the HL has one or two more. But there is not much more. Just one or two others of layers of corpses.

Your impact will come from the skilfull addition of citation of facts to the pix I'm sending, don't you think?

On your second request I'll do what I can. But you know one of the main reasons why it may not be much. My friend who will know returns from out of town tomorrow.

"Baltic Review" has no pix. "Estonian Magazine" has only scenic. However I may be able to do something tomorrow.

Here again I suggest you consider capitalizing on the very absence of pictures, remembering that y ou have a great gift for the trenchant phrase. E.g., life in Riga pre-1939 was not too bad; now, as you can quote from the press, there is deportation after deportation; partisans; exploitation; almost universal hatred of the "people's democratic" regime. Edmund Stevens in This is R, Uncensored you'll recall said nothing so gave him the impression of the living-death-under-Stalin as Riga, which he revisited. Therefore, just show a RIGA PEOPLE-IN-MARKET SQUARE SCENE, PLUS QUOTE FROM STEVENS, and a bit of biting Shubian prose contrasting 1939 and 1949. Don't you think there is a place for a few "peaceful" pictures of this sort? Pix of partisans in action are few and far between, and often fuzzy, and there can anyway be, as you were saying, such a thing as too many atrocity pictures.

Pari passu, why not use some ordinary, peaceful UKRAINIAN scenes, plus RECENT QUOTES FROM PRAVDA, repeat PRAVDA, OFFICIALLY ADMITTING ACTIVE RESISTANCE THERE. I can't give you said quotes, but you or some of your friends very likely can lay hands on them.

After all, no "resistance" photo, what with fakery, will carry conviction to those who won't be convinced. But a PHOTO OF THE FACE OF PRAVDA, with the sentences underlined, must shake even the faithful.

On Lubianka I can't help. If the NY Times won't help, and there is nothing in any agency files —can this be?— I guess you've had it. Here again you might capitalize on the absence: can they be ashamed of this historic edifice, which plays so vital a role in the national life? E.g., Herblock today has a "cartoon" which has merely a black border around a white space, with the mast-head of La Prensa above. Needless to say, it is eye-catching in the extreme. Why not do the same with Lubianka?

Alternatively, you might have a photo of 60 Andrassy Ut, and perhaps combine same with the above "empty space" treatment.

I grant you that if this technique were carried to the extreme, you would be making history with a photo-less photo-book; but rest assured the Herblock cartoon is a 100% attention-catcher.

Couldn't agree more with your last paragraphs. However, there has been marked progress.

I expect, d.v., at long last to be absent from Friday the 30th till Monday the 16th, and mail probably won't be forwarded. Therefore please write J if need arises.

Best regards,

Bill

Dear Bill:

Picture book now in high gear as layout is beginning to take shape. New pictures of both historical and photographic pricelessness still coming in (e.g. a shot showing a wildly cheering crowd of Russian peasants greeting first German troops---before latter went in for mass murder) This picture never used in this country. Could multiply by many examples but prefer to have you come down and see for yourself. If you could be here about three weeks from now, you could get a fairly good notion of what the finished product will look like (although there will still be a lot of polishing, caption writing and final checking to do). I am now certain that the book will be a major political event. Nothing even remotely resembling it has ever been done--anywhere in the world.

Need help on two sectors promptly:

1. Katyn massacre pictures. Saw lots of them your neck of the woods. Please send them soonest, properly packed in cardboard to prevent folding or cracking. This is a must, since for some odd reason this is missing from the otherwise bottomless archives which we've unearthed.

2. Any decent shots of anti-Communist resistance behind the Iron Curtain. We have a few of the East German things with the "F" painted on walls. But Joe mentioned others. Cant have too much of this, since it constitutes an essential element in the closing part of the story.

Will be difficult to incorporate such stuff unless we get it fast, because would mean dislocating the layout, which is now designed toflow like a motion picture recording of the whole big story. Hope this presents no obstacles. Joe thought your end could send stuff to me. Registered mail sufficient precaution, it seems to me.

The Acheson letter in today's NY Times re friendship with the Russian people a step in the right direction though still a long way even from the speech delivered at Town Hall by McMahon day before yesterday. But somehow, someone must teach Acheson to cut out this sort of humbuging:

> "If the Men of the Kremlin could but conquer their inward fears and resolve their contradictions, if they could but bring themselves to the comity which is the foundation of peace, great burdens would be lifted from the shoulders of people everywhere."

What is the purpose of this rubbish? I know lots of professional diplomats think this is very "cute" and arch stuff, really meant to "embarrass" people like J.Stalin and G. Malenkov. Actually, the only thing it can arouse, bothnamong the Kremlin war criminals and among their victims is ---utter contempt. If anybody in Moscow takes that drivel at face value, they conclude that the U.S. is still too frightened of the boogey man in the Kremlin to call a spade a spade. That silly stuff must end! Please end it. The inward fears of Stalin-Malenkov-Beria will only be resolved on the gallows. Best regards.

Dear Boris,

Thanks for the clippings. All to the good.

Will do what I can to help, but, for reasons that will re-occur to you, y ou shouldn't bank on its being a great deal.

Suggest you might well get excellent results by following the trail, via phone and taxi, of the AMERICAN COMMITTEE FOR THE INVESTIGATION OF THE KATYN MASSACRE, INC., which was, at the time of its founding circa Nov. 1949, at Room 1209, 470 Fourth Avenue, NY 16, MU-6-4468.

Chairman, Arthur Bliss Lane. Vice-chairmen: Max Eastman, Dorothy Thompson, Treasurer: Montgomery M. Green. Executive Secretary: Julius Epstein.

Why not contact Lane, or Epstein? Why shouldn't they be glad to help with their material, both textual and photographic.

Others listed as Committee Members: Constantine Brown, G. Creel, W. J. Donovan, A. W. Dulles, Farley, B. F. Gunther, Sol M. Levitas, [illegible]. B. Luce, Charles Rozmarek, Sokolsky, V. S. Freedom, Jas. A. Walsh.

I mailed him some of our Katyn photos.

New Leader, 30 Sept. 1950, had an article "New Light on Katyn Massacre." "The Defense Dept.'s release of a top-secret report on the mystery-shrouded Katyn massacre has shed new light.....The release of the Van Vliet report, written by an American Lt.-Col. held captive in Germany who reluctantly fixed the guilt on Moscow after a Nazi-sponsored visit to Katyn is the first major break in the conspiracy of silence which has surrounded the affair ever since.

"In 1943..the NL carried an exclusive article by Kerensky..directly charging the Kremlin..Last year the NL published a special 4-page supplement on Katyn by Julius EPSTEIN. (See your local phone-book)....

"It was only as a result of the Committee's persistent efforts that the long-suppressed Van Vliet report was finally released..."

If you haven't you should glance at Mikolajczyk's account in The Rape of Poland. Because it contains a verbatim alleged account of "how it came about" by a shame-faced Russian officer in London, which you might find quotable. "So they asked 'Father' (Stalin) and 'Father' said..etc.."

/Churchill in his latest volume, in an oddly restrained account, makes it clear he knows Stalin was responsible, and refers to the books by M. and Anders./

Photos. The NY Times, serializing Churchill, 9 Nov. 1950, had, if you are interested in irony or impudence or whatever, a rather blurred photo, "released at the time by SOVFOTO," which Sovfoto described as showing members of the Polish Corps of the USSR holding memorial services at "the common grave of the Polish officers and men brutally shot by the Germans."

Some of the corpses show marks made by the four-sided, peculiarly Russian bayonet, and others had hands tied with the MVD-type knot. Surely Epstein can help you here?

Please let me know how you make out with Epstein and/or others, and don't hesitate to ask me again. I Just think he's a better, quicker bet. I'll do what I can re the other pix and let you know. It sounds a masterpiece.

Sincerely,

Bill.

1. I spent three hours with Boris Shub today, two of them in looking over his collection of photographs with his associate, Mr. Quint, of Life. Boris and Quint hope to have their book ready for publication by the end of May, when they will have reduced their collection to 500 photographs, which they estimate will fill about 200 pages. I have no doubt that the book will be a commercial success; my only wonder is why it has not been done before. Boris asks our help in obtaining certain photographs. (Bill Sims please note.) He wants all procurable photos of the Katyn Massacre, all resistance photos (Bill: Is there a magazine called the Estonian Review, which prints a good many of these?) and a certain photo of Lubianka prison, in Moscow. The New York Times had a photograph of Lubianka in its issue of Saturday, 12 November 1949, to illustrate installment 7 of General Smith's Memoirs, and ISB should be able to discover where the original came from. No! Boris has a letter from the Vanguard Press expressing hope that his biography of Stalin would be ready by 1 May; he will notify Vanguard that it cannot possibly be ready for another seven months. Finally, he told me that he was meeting Colonel Kintner on 20 March, for several conferences on BRAINWAVE. He signed his secrecy agreement, which I will deliver to John Shields on my return.

2. a. Corey Ford informed me that his story about General Smith (originally written for Flair) had been rejected by both Look and This Week and is now awaiting a decision from Harper's. (I reported

Re: ROBERT H. HEADLEY

At lunch today Munson said that HEADLEY has finished his part of the work on the photo-book on the career of Stalin; he has completed the text part; his collaborator is "1000%" better qualified to select the photos and do the lay-out.

/ Re security the collaborator's employers told Munson "brutally" firmly that while the collaborator's name can appear on the book (along with HEADLEY's) and it will be revealed that that magazine was the source of the pictures, and they may help "syndicate" it, if it is blown that they are making the pictures available free, the deal is off.

Munson thinks the book will be a world-beater, but that it may take till August to have it ready.

I said that we have $40,000 still untouched in KUFUNNY , which was appropriated for "similar photo-books at the discretion of CSP", and suggested helping Swan out with some of that. He said he wasn't worried about money; that he thought OPC was if anything too ready to spend the taxpayer's money; that Swan's products should be able to pull their own weight. The book might have to sell for $3.50 or more in the US; in Hong Kong it would be a $1 or $2.

He will pay both HEADLEY and the collaborator royalties. HEADLEY's will be returned to Swan./

KSACLAY wrote me recently that the book was now at a stage where most of the work had to be done by his collaborator. Since his name is to appear on it, I imagine he will still have to put in quite a bit of time on it, from time to time. [illegible] He is [illegible] also —or was when I last heard— doing "part-time" work on loan to HB in connection with BRADEWAVE.

Conclusion: except for the above, he is not occupied, and Munson suggests we should give him another job to do.

March 3, 1951

Dear Bill:

Good to hear from you, even though your letter, as usual, too brief for my appetite. From "our mutual friend William" you know more about my activities than I do about yours.

My collaborator [a top Life lay-out man] is working like a fiend, with the assistance of a sub-fiend (female) who digs up pictures by the hundreds (literally). Last night I worked with him until 2 oclock in the morning (with a brief intermission for a prize fight on his television set). In that long stretch we went through over 400 pictures which he had just combed out of various labyrinths. Out of this batch we discarded about one-third, tossed away a couple of dozen poor substitutes for the real thing which the new haul corrected, and filled the present 40-odd chapter folders (provisional) with the cream of the crop.

As you will gather from the above paragraph, the illustrated book on the man and his international network --and the forces all over the world arrayed on his side and against him--- ain't no ordinary picture album. It will be, I am quite certain, a major work. There is little point my attempting to describe it in a letter, but I am quite confident that it will be read xxxx--and even more important--looked at, with absorbed interest this year, next and ten years from now. What is more important, it will make convincing, I am certain, what no words, written or spoken, can ever make completely convincing.

As far as the "date when it will be wrapped up"--- I can only say that I am acting the role of the slave-driver and the speedup man right now. It is, however, a ticklish role, which would have undesirable results if overdone. [illegible] [illegible] Both my main collaborator, who is certainly one of the best men in the country in the field--and the best man for this particular book, is giving it every free moment, as is his fantastic research assistant. But a good picture book--as I told you xxxxxxxxxxxxxxx when we discussed the idea originally, is as much of a job as any good book. I think we have broken the back of the job, and I am confident that the product will excel your fondest dreams. As far as pinpointing the date, I think I'll be in a better position to do that in about three weeks, when the haul will be substantially in, xxxx and when we will have pared down our present mountainous collection to the essence. I should imagine that xx when our friend ~~the publisher~~ [Swan] returns from his present jaunt, my collaborator and I will be able to give him a fairly full draft. At that point we'll have to settle with him the major technical questions in connection with the actual printing job. The largest single question we see is this: Price of book versus quality and lasting value. What I mean is that the book as now shapes up is a major work--a complete pictorial history not only of the man, but of the setting that produced him, the international ramifications that are so much a part of his life, his intrigues and his machinations. ~~Yo[illegible]xxxxx~~ But what is even more intriguing, we are reaching the stage where the pictures illustrating all this will be of thrilling pictorial quality. ~~How is we do all this and still [illegible] a book that~~ to ~~[illegible] yet [illegible] [illegible] abroad?~~ is priced ~~[illegible] we have that question licked, the rest will move fast.~~ We are agreed that it would be a serious mistake to sacrifice either quality or essential elements of the over-all story. The trick now is to do all that and yet turn out a book that, by ~~xxx~~ one means or another, will sell at a price likely to make it a mass-circculation job.

For further details, please board first available train or plane and join me over a drink at 510 West 110 Street. Perhaps I've already put too much of this on a typewriter. I wish you could have seen the pictures we worked on last nite. You ~~xxxx~~ would then realize that the original stuff you saw was so much fourth rate stuff by comparison.

(I guess the last two sentences are really intended as a lure. But I really would like to see you soon)

Best regards to the gang. Will give you a more exact timetable as soon as it is feasible.

STATUS OF W.S.S. PROJECTS

This has not yet been formally written up as a project, because it has been being implemented, de facto, by our salaried contract agent HEADLEY in conjunction with the publisher Swen Publishing Co., who has been meeting the bill and will continue to do so.

Nevertheless I think it will shortly prove desirable for me to write it up, since (a) it may prove desirable for SP (under KMFUNNY) to subsidize Swen on it, in order to make possible a somewhat lower selling price, and (b) it will be more convenient to have it wrapped up as a named project, which can be referred to by name, and for which SP can have credit in its status reports.

HEADLEY has completed the text part of the book. He and a top-flight Life lay-out man, of whom he has a very high opinion (and an assistant who helps the Life man dig up photos) have been through a very large number of photos. HEADLEY is confident that the book will be a first-class job.

If all continues to go well on the Life front, —i.e. if they make no objection to the use of pictures from their files— the main remaining problem will be: how to combine retention of high quality, i.e. adequate reproduction of as many photos as they need to tell the story the way they feel it should be told, with quantity, i.e. sale at a low enough price to make possible wide dissemination.

Too heavy a subsidy (by OPC) would blow the Government-inspiration of the book. Perhaps, if the book proves to be as good as we feel it should, the State Department's ILI Information Program or Book Translation Program might get behind it in a big way?

We should go energetically into this problem of selling it at a low enough price as soon as Swen's president returns. In the meantime HEADLEY and I are of opinion that quality should not be sacrificed. If it is of really first-class quality and PW effectiveness, quantity can be achieved, sokehow, by subsidy.

HEADLEY will appear overtly as the author. Possibly the A. F. of L. might help give it world-wide distribution, as they have done in the case of the maps of the Slave Labor Camps in the USSR.

If all continues to go well, it looks as though the book might be getting into shape for the printer in April or May.

When this is written up as a Project, it will be a Sub-project under KMFUNNY. KMFUNNY, approved long ago, includes a Recommendation (para 5) "...that...the sum of $40,000 be appropriated for the development and distribution of simiolar photo-books at the discretion of Chief, SP." The Sub-project requires only the signature of Chief, SP, as I understand.

EXPENSES. Small sums were paid to HEADLEY, summer 1950, duly recorded in Ray Millard's office, for payment in connection with photos obtained from New York agencies. These sums were charged either to KMFUNNY, or to DGHOUSE, to be transferred to KMFUNNY when KMFUNNY should be approved, or when the "STALIN" SUB-PROJECT under KMFUNNY should be written up and approved.

Dear Boris,

Delighted!

And I have circulated the good news around.

Yes, when our pal returns —which I gather should be somewhere round about March 15— we will have to address ourselves in a big way to the problem of achieving both quality and quantity. As time goes on, I imagine he will get better and better able to cope with that problem, and I think he should be helped in a big way to do so. In the meantime, I agree with what I'm sure is your view (your letter is not at hand at the moment) that any conflicts between q. and q. should be resolved in favor of quality. The quantity can follow. (Build the really quality mouse-trap, and sooner or later, preferably sooner, the world will beat the path).

Just a detail: you've undoubtedly seen the De Custine in the March 5 LIFE. Could you use:

> "To live in the Kremlin is not to live; it is to protect oneself; oppression creates revolt; revolt necessitates precautions; precautions increase the danger; and of this long series of actions and reactions is born a monster, despotism which has built itself a house in Moscow —the Kremlin!" (p. 124) ?

I still agree with you the thing as a whole is marred slightly by the phrase "..this essentially aggressive nation.."

I haven't any immediate plans to go to N. Y., but we must certainly foregather before long.

Best regards,

Bill

Dear Boris,

Glad to hear from Dee-dee that you are still alive and kicking. And, especially, that there is some prospect of your getting down this way. I sure hope you do.

Also glad to hear from our mutual friend William that He's seen you, and to get some news of you from him; and that you will have got some news in general from him.

How is your collaborator coming, and is he squared away with his bosses? What is your best current guess as to the date when it will be wrapped up?

Joe got generally overworked and came down with grippe, and left for two or three weeks or more to recuperate. A lot of people round here have been or are laid up; I was for a couple of days and am still somewhat under the weather. However, even if I haven't written I've thought of you often.

Drop a line, and don't delay your visit to the Nation's Capital too long.

At request of Mr. Winston I phoned ~~x~~ Shub (AC-2-0164) to ask about progress on the Photo-book, and what is the earliest date at which he may be thru with it. No answer.

RAW says Kintner is asking for him for BRAINWAVE. I suggested not interrupting him till he has finished the photo-book. RAW consulted LST, who said to say Shub might be made available on a part-time basis. RAW understands he would do his work for BRAINWAVE in NY. I said this seemed OK, if it were to be only part-time.

On the assignment in question, Piernie gave up any attempt to utilize the man they have on Life's staff and has sent another man to cover the assignment instead."

Shub, who is preparing a photo-book on Stalin's career for Swan, is getting (or hopes he is getting) the help of "one of Life's top lay-out men" (only Shub knows his name; Hunson didn't want to ask him who it is), at $35 per diem.

Shub, of course, is doing the book ostensibly as a private citizen, so if security is maintained it doesn't seem to involve a Life man's being "connected with any intelligence organization."

As they get ready to publish (perhaps April), the Life man will have to decide whether he wants his name to appear on the book as collaborator, in which case he will probably have to (a) get Life's permission. And (b) if they use any photos from Life's files, as well as from agencies, he will have to get permission for that too.

It should all be OK if Shub keeps up his cover as private citizen.

Mr. Richards asked if doing the photo-book was to be H[illegible]'s main activity. I said yes, for a month or two, after which he would have some new assignment. He said all the better.

5. Shub replied November 13:

> "I am anxious to get the picture book rolling and done as quickly as possible. The loose ends connected with ~~him~~ THE CHOICE (radio appearances, sticking pins and needles into Donothing, Sloth and Fierce, etc.) while nerve-racking, do not take so much of my time any longer, so that I am in a position to devote my full time to the picture book....

Biltmore recently / with LST_/. But your letter of November 8, 1950 had this footnote:

> 'Please be sure not to say anything at all to anyone about the mutual friend who was mentioned at lunch / Munson_/; very important; he'll explain why when and if he sees you, perhaps within a week or two.' / This was just that Munson was anxious about security for Swen_/.

"Without a final decision on type of publisher it is exceedingly difficult to determine character, size, tone and scope of the book. It would help me a great deal to know what's up on that score. Simon & Schuster presents one type of problem —and suggests one kind of approach. The mutual friend, who I assume (without being 100% sure) is the publisher you referred to in the note you sent to the Biltmore— suggests something quite different —perhaps much simpler and direct— and more outspoken.

"If this question cannot be clarified by mail, please arrange for us to get together soonest. Once this is out of way, I hope to move fast. I'd be a four-flusher and liar if I pretended that I had made notable progress until now. I've been held up not only by the above, but —being painfully human— by a lingering desire to keep THE CHOICE from being embalmed in the Doctthing, Sloth & Pierde Funeral Parlors. I've now given it about all I've got and will do my darnedest ~~to~~ not to allow it to cause me any further loss of sleep or diversion of energy from the job on hand.."

6. Munson had a long phone conversation with Shub November 17, at Sims's request, and planned to see him November 21.
November 20 Munson told Sims that Swen will publish the book.

7. A Contract between Shub and CIA was drawn up by Joe Kelley and Sims, and signed Sept. 16, 1950, whereby "the Government" will own all rights to the book, and Shub will return his royalties "to CIA".
Now that Swen is to be the publisher, I have asked Joe Kelley whether it will be OK that the rights should be owned by Swen (a CIA-controlled corporation) and the royalties returned to Swen; or whether he wants to amend the contract.

8. Progress on the book. Last summer Shub and I got some 150 photos from CIA Graphics, of which I sent him sterilized duplicates to New York. He also got 75 excellent ones from New York photo agencies. I have from time to time sent him a lot of suggestions for photos and captions, and if he wants anything done down here he will let me know.

Shub wrote me, December 14:

"This is just a brief note to give you the latest on the picture front. I won't fill you in on the details because our mutual friend / Munson_/ will be in Washington early next week and will give you all the dope. ~~[illegible]~~

"Suffice it to say that my collaborator / whom Swen has authorized him to pay $35 per diem_/ is one of the top lay-out men on at Life, one of those $25,000 per annum men. For the present he doesn't want his association with the picture book known to his employer for several good and compelling reasons. (Including the fear that they would plagiarize the idea). But in the final stages he'll have to tell them in order to get their cooperation on digging into their files as well as their official permission for the use of his name as a collaborator.

"Needless to say, all of the above is a deep dark secret, but then what isn't these days? More important than all of the above is the fact that the gentleman in question / Munson purposely didn't ask Shub who his collaborator is /, in addition to being a top-flight picture man, is deeply interested in the subject and— miraculously— knows a great deal about it.

"I hope nothing happens to make him back down on his decision. Impossible to get anybody nearly as qualified. Our friend will fill you in on the rest: what remains to be done, how to do it, etc.

"Of one thing you may be sure: If my collaborator stays with the project and if no act of God intervenes, the final product will be the picture book of all time. He wants to see it sold on newsstands among other places.."

9. Munson told me January 8 he had seen Shub about a week before, and "he should be rolling pretty soon."

10. FLASH! Shub just phoned. He said I had proved correct on the point that "Having the book all pictures, without words, is rubbish." He has found it necessary to do a brief written Life of Stalin, bringing in all his major misdeeds, and keeping it as simple & clear-cut as possible.

The MS of that is now being typed. That was the hardest part of the job. Now it should go fast, if the mechanics can be done fast. Namely, the Life collaborator will get the extra pictures from the files needed to fill in the story.

Shub thinks it is really pretty good.

I asked if the Life man's name will appear on it. We both agreed there is no reason why it shouldn't. It will depend on whether the Life man wants it, and whether he thinks it would go down with his bosses.

I told Shub Munson was planning to be away 3 to 4 weeks from about Jan. 28, possibly earlier. Shub will contact Munson before then. We agreed Shub should be able to carry on with Munson's printer in Munson's absence.

11. CONCLUSION. Depending on (a) how much time the Life man can give to it, and (b) how fast Munson's printer can handle it / he is just starting in on the printing of [illegible] Animal photo-book / the book should, with luck, be ready about 6 or 8 weeks from now, —say about March 15.

SECRET

12. Re Shub & other SP work. JBIII, a week or two ago, was about to phone Shub about some job he wanted him to do. I suggested he leave him to concentrate on the photo-book.

13. Re Boris Shub's & David Shub's "BIOGRAPHY OF STALIN". Last summer, OLMSTEAD having raised the matter, I was told to draw up a project to give David Shub $3,000 for 6 months leave-of-absence from his job, to complete the biography. This was killed because, I was told, you had instructed Shub to work on it himself, during working-time.

Shub and his father had a contract with a publisher for this biography, on which they were already overdue. When JBIII wrote to needle Shub about the picture book, I wanted to clear up the status of the biography, —how they stood with their publisher now that we had instructed Shub to work on the photo-book instead. JBIII said, "Leave Shub to raise the matter if he wants to;" this turned out fine, as Shub's enthusiastic reply of November 15, above, didn't mention the biography.

If there is nothing more pressing for him to do, perhaps Shub might be asked to work again on the biography when he has wrapped up the photo-book. Or the project to subsidize his father for 3 or 6 months work on it might be revived. Judging from the 18 Chapters that were seen here, it should be a very good book, highly readable and fit to give pause even to fellow-travellers and Stalinists.

Mr. KELLEY

RE: Agreement (16 Sept. 1950) between CIA

You will recall that in the agreement, which you drew up and which was signed 16 Sept. 1950 by Mr. Echols and ROBERT M. HEADLEY, it is provided that HEADLEY "will be required to transfer the gross royalties to CIA."

Swan Publishing Co. is now to be the publisher of the book. I saw Munson Dec. 19, who told me he has already advanced money to [illegible] HEADLEY for expenses, and has authorized him to pay his collaborator (a Life lay-out man) on a fixed fee basis, i.e. not more than $35 per diem.

Swan plans to pay all the expenses of production. It is his understanding that

(a) Swan will, on paper, pay HEADLEY standard royalties, which HEADLEY will return to Swan, and that

(b) Swan will own all rights in the book (which will facilitate Swan's putting out foreign editions).

In other words, it is Munson's hope, and mine, that, as he put it, Swan, being a wholly CIA-controlled corporation, "will simply step into the shoes of 'the Government' and 'CIA' in the agreement."

Munson said you had drawn up the papers for Swan. We both hoped this way of handling the matter, whereby the financial details would all be handled in Swan's books and not occupy the time of OPC personnel, will be legally acceptable?

When I mentioned the matter to John Bischoff, Jan. 5, he said he thought we should check with you whether:

(a) we can simply let the 16 Sept. 1950 agreement stand as is, or

(b) whether the agreement should be amended to read "to Swan" instead of "the Government" and "CIA".

Re: KMFUNNY.........and "STALIN" PHOTO-BOOK;

SIMS saw MUNSON in his hotel, Dec. 19, 1950

Munson leaves for NY this evening. OK to leave messages for him to phone.

Re JOKE-BOOK. He mentioned a contemplated pocket-size book, collecting anti-CP jokes. I said I would contribute what we had in PB II and add from time to time. For further details see my folder JOKES.

He gave me post-card (Sw) by Rockport illustrating joke about "Who Owns the Automobiles". (He got this from a 13-yr-old boy in Germany in 1947, and he and an Army man each put $20 of their own into having it ~~xxx~~ printed and spread).

Re KMFUNNY. Barnes was to have met him Friday (Dec. 15), but had to go out of town to a funeral.

He expects to see Barnes tomorrow (Dec. 20), when Barnes is to deliver about 60 of the photos with his own captions. Munson will then let CHAPPELL look it over for a couple of days. He will then bring it down here and ask Messrs. Bryan. Nadler and Sims look at it. (I told him not to hesitate to leave me out).

Barnes has been OK. I said I would check how his clearance is coming. It was requested Nov. 2 and should be ready, says John Shields, about 3½ months from Nov. 2

Re "STALIN" PHOTO-BOOK. See Shub's letter to Sims, Dec. 14, in file. Munson also thinks it is coming well, and should be good, if the Life man continues to prove a good collaborator.

Munson does not know the name of Shub's Life collaborator: he did not encourage Shub to tell him. [Munson says he is sure SWEN is still secure, and there is no reason why it shouldn't continue to be, "if everyone in CIA will keep their big mouths shut; too many know about it"). SWEN may be suspected of Government-inspiration, but it should not be blown.]

Munson has advanced Shub money to pay expenses, and has authorized him to pay his collaborator not more than $35 a day. The collaborator will definitely be paid on a fixed fee basis, i.e. per diem, no royalties.

SWEN can pick up the tab for Shub's expenses in procuring photos, etc That will appear in Swen's accounts, but, happily, there is no need for KMFUNNY's files to be cluttered up with the details.

Re contract

MUNSON knows of the agreement, re disposition of royalties, which SHUB (HEADLEY) signed with CIA. He "has seen" it; i.e., presumably has seen the sterilized notes Shub made of it, —since Shub retained no copy.

MUNSON understands that SWEN will own all rights to the book. I.e., "SWEN will simply step into the place of CIA in the above agreement." I.e., SWEN, on paper, will be paying Shub standard royalties, but Shub will return them to SWEN.

I said that, as far as I could see, this sounded OK, SWEN being 100% a CIA corporation. Munson said that Joe Kelley had helped draw up the papers setting up SWEN, and was therefore fully cognizant of it and sympathetic to it. Only an excessively legal-minded bureaucrat would quibble over having the royalties re-absorbed by SWEN, rather than disposed of according to para. 4 of the above-mentioned agreement (16 Sept. 1950), according to which "You will be required to transfer the gross royalties to CIA..." (This agreement was also drafted by Mr. Kelley). There doesn't seem to be any difficulties of substance there.

There has been no decision on the size, format, etc. of the book. I mentioned that I had written Shub, mentioning that Simon & Schuster is able to offer its $3.95 FDR a Pictorial History —"260 photos with commentary"— at only $1.50 in cloth.

I said Shub had written some time ago that it would be a help to know the approximate number of photos as soon as possible, and Lyle said he of course agreed. He thought Shub and his collaborator should have something to show in, say, 30 days.

I mentioned that the "STALIN" PHOTO-BOOK, when written up, which I will do shortly, will merely be a sub-Project of KMFUNNY, and will therefore require only Mr. Thompson's signature. Lyle queried whether it was necessary to make a formal project of it at all. I said that, for purposes of Status Reports, etc., it would be more or less necessary to have a formal title for it, and he agreed.

Shub has about 150 sterilized CIA Graphics photos, which we selected last summer. None of them could actually be printed, published, without a release from CIA Graphics. I therefore urged Munson to urge Shub to work up a good cover story about them, vis-a-vis his collaborator. Munson said he would advise him not to use them at all. (They are run-of-the-mine; they could all be duplicated with ease from agencies).

I told Munson that Mrs. Poland, of CIA Graphics (of whom he knows) had personally made an arrangement with Roy Larsen, whereby he supplies them with photos from Time-Life files, but not for publication. And that she had told me she is particularly anxious to do nothing that would undermine her relations with Time-Life.

We agreed that, if Shub's collaborator gets permission to use photos from Life's files in the book, it will still be a book being prepared for the overt SWEN Company, and that Life will not know the Government is involved. Munson thinks Shub is being very circumspect about all this.

Dear Boris,

Re your book. I went fully into the question of ordering copies, and it is clear that it is not policy anywhere to do anything official to promote the distribution of it. There is just nothing in the charter that would authorize officially promoting a book of that very wide scope, —except for limited internal circulation.

That leaves it, as I imagine you gathered at lunch the other day /with IST/ that you should work on it only during weekends and other free hours.

That in turn leaves the question of the current status of the "Stalin" biography and of the Stalin photo-book.

Re the photo-book. On the one hand, (1) Joe is very keen to get the photo-book finished as fast as possible, and (2) the friend who was mentioned to you at lunch the other day /Munson/ is interested in it, and (3) we have already got a good deal of it done, —the some 225 photos already on hand, etc. and (4) perhaps most important: it could be completed in less time than would be required to complete the biography.

Shubs [illegible]

/JBIII: I wrote him yesterday, when sending him the Pocle paper, to be particularly careful not to say anything at all to anyone about "the friend who was mentioned to you at lunch" (Munson)/

/JBIII: Please note the security angle in what follows. Also, the project to have one or both Shubs complete the "Stalin" biography, in re which I have the full file, has been batted around from Olmstead to Kelley to LST, and there is or was a contract with Vanguard.

First, I was instructed to draw up a Project to subsidize David Shub to complete the biography. Later I was told that Boris had been sent to NY, with instructions to complete it himself.

LST, a few days ago, told me he was under the impression that you had worked out arrangements with Boris in re the biography. But you haven't. Neither has Kelley, nor Kramer. And Bill Rowland (to whom LST referred me) knows of no one else in OIC from whom Shub should be receiving directives.

Therefore, let's take time to get it cleared up, on paper, what is the status of Shub pere et fils re "Stalin".

Re "Stalin" biography. On the other hand, we are not clear what is the current status of the biography, (1) do you have any written directives from us about it, and (2) what are your and your father's current obligations to Vanguard as to completing it?

An important question is: if you complete the photo-book first, are your obligations to Vanguard such that you would have security difficulty in explaining to them why, and on whose behalf, you were delaying two months (more or less) to finish it, before resuming work on the biography?

(esp. if Swen were to be the publisher)

Since the photo-book and the biography have deal with the same subject-matter, I suppose there is a bare possibility that you could work on the photo-book during "office" hours, while collaborating with your father on the biography evenings and weekends. But that does not seem a happy arrangement. We are called on for weekly Progress Reports, and Vanguard would be wanting to know what gives, and why. Much better to concentrate on one job at a time, and be under obligations to only one crowd at a time.

Status of the biography. As far as anyone here knows, you have only oral instructions to complete it. According to my rough notes of a talk we had July 31, you had a contract with Vanguard, July '49, calling for a book "by David & Boris Shub" to be completed March 1, 1950. And as of June 10, your father had had a $900 advance on it.

Would the copyright be in your name, or both? I think it would be simplest to have the actual copyright in your name alone (he could assign his share to you), so that any arrangements for foreign publication could be made with the minimum delay over the legal and security aspects.

If I got it right, as of July 31 you had about 100 pages in pretty much finished form, about 70-80 pages in rougher draft, plus Chapters IV & V the typescript of which was circulated here (and which I mailed back to you Oct. 5). Anyway, you thought there would have been an absolute minimum of 3 solid months more ~~xxxx~~ full-time work in it for your father. All in all, if you were working on it whole-time and your father part-time, would a minimum of 3 and maximum of ~~8~~ 6 be about the right estimate?

(It's so much better, and better reading, than the Deutscher, it ought to come out as soon as possible. Incidentally, have you considered that the "Atlantic" or "Harper's" might print chapters of it in advance? Chapters IV & V are certainly highly readable.)

Re completing photo-book. What time do you estimate it would take you, whole-time, to do a photo-book worth doing? (Say between 100 and 200 photos?). I should think an absolute minimum of a month, and much more likely 2 or 3 months in actual practice, wouldn't you?

You probably noted that "Life's WW II Picture History" occupied "the fused talents of 'Life's' entire photographic and editorial staff." ~~XXXX~~ But yours would be only 150 or 200 photos, and you have almost all the caption material in your head or on your desk, so perhaps, with a cooperative publisher and cooperative photo agencies, 2 or 3 months full-time work would do it?

Please give all these details in writing, so we can make a decision. You could leave your carbon with NY/CO for safe-keeping, and arrange with them to consult it ~~fxxx~~ when and if necessary. Fully sterilized letters, about details of work-in-progress, we can exchange direct.

The friend who was mentioned at lunch said he may be free to come and see you in a week or two. But please be extremely careful about mentioning him to anyone. He'll explain why that's important.

Best regards,

Re "The Choice". I hope the Overseas Press Club panel was a success. Nothing in the "NY Times" about it, but they don't usually write up those affairs. —I've seen nothing further in the "Post", ~~xxxx~~ since the mention in the ed I sent you; will send you anything I see.

I have a complete file, "The Choice", here, with all the reviews, etc. in it. I went fully into the question of ordering copies, and it is clear that it is not policy anywhere to promote the distribution of it (or for that matter, equally clearly, any other book). After all, if the head man himself / Bedell Smith / had written "The Choice", there is nothing in his official charter that would authorize him to promote it in his official capacity; on the contrary. Nothing anywhere against you personally or the book; it's just that there is no policy to promote any book of that wide scope.

Therefore, as I imagine you gathered at lunch the other day / with IST / work in connection with "The Choice" should be during weekends and other free time.

I hope Winchell's mention of it, and the good "NY Times" review, etc., will help sales, and that if it hasn't gotten off to a fast ~~stop~~ start, it will develop as a ~~"creeper".~~ "sleeper"

Re "Stalin" biography and/or Stalin photo-book.

That leaves the question whether you are supposed to be working on completion of the "Stalin" biography or on the Stalin photo-book, or on both. What is your own preference?

On the one hand, (1) Joe is anxious to get the photo-book done, and (2) the friend who was mentioned to you at lunch the other day /Hinson/ is interested in it, and (3) we have already made a beginning on it, and, perhaps most important, (4) it could be completed in less time than would be required to complete the biography.

(Incidentally, please be particularly careful not to say anything to anybody about the publisher who was mentioned at lunch. /Swen/. It could raise a really first-class stink. /Hinson thinks other publishers would raise hell if they found out the Government had gone into competition with them/. Very important).

On the other hand, what are your and your father's current obligations ~~xx~~ to Vanguard, in re the Stalin biography, and would you have security difficulty in explaining to Vanguard why and on whose behalf you were taking two months (more or less) to do the photo-book, before resuming work on the biography? If so, that might be an argument for completing the biography first.

Please give me all relevant details as to the current status with Vanguard. As far as anyone here knows, you have only oral instructions to complete the biography. According to my rough notes of a talk we had July 31, you had a contract with Vanguard, July '49, calling for a book "by David & Boris Shub" to be completed March 1, 1950. And as of June 10, 1950 your father had had a $900 advance on it.

The copyright would be in your name, or in your father's also? I think it would be simplest to have ~~them~~ it in yours alone from the start (or he could assign his to you), so that arrangements for foreign publication / ~~perhaps by Swan~~ / could be made with the minimum delay ~~[illegible]~~ over the legal and security aspects.

If I got it right, as of July 31st you had about 100 pages in pretty much finished form, about 70-80 pages in rougher draft, plus Chapters IV & V the typescript of which was circulated here (and which I mailed back to you Oct. 5). Anyway, you thought there would have been an absolute minimum of 3 solid months more work in it for your father. All in all, assuming you were working on it whole-time, would a minimum of 3 and maximum of 8 months be about right? (It's so much better, and so much better reading, than the Deutscher, I think we ought to get it out as soon as possible. Incidentally, have you considered that the "Atlantic" or "Harper's" might print chapters of it in advance? Chapters IV & V are certainly highly readable).

What time do y ou estimate it would take you, whole-time, to do a photo-book worth doing? (Say between 100 and 200 photos?). I should think an absolute minimum of a month, and much more likely 2 or 3 months in actual practice, wouldn't you?) I have been keeping a file of everything done in the photo-book line, such as "Life's Picture History of World War II" and to produce ~~[illegible]~~ the 1,000 photos of "The Life of F.D.R. in Pictures", and note that/the former occupied "the fused talents of Life's entire photographic and editorial staff". Yours would be only 150 or 200 photos, and you have almost all the caption material in your head or on your desk, so perhaps, with a cooperative publisher and cooperative photo agencies, 2 or 3 months hard work would do it?

SECRET

I have written you care of Littauer, whom we have asked to keep a file for you, of letters of this sort — and you could deposit carbons of your replies if necessary with him — which you could consult when and if necessary.

Sterilised letters, ~~[illegible]~~ about details of work-in-progress, we can exchange direct.

The friend who was mentioned at lunch said he may be free to come and see you in a week or two. But please be extremely careful about mentioning him to anyone. He'll explain why that's important.

Best regards,

Bill

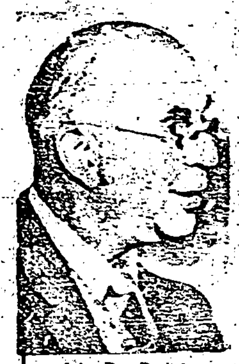
Books of The Times

19 Oct.'50.

By CHARLES POORE

"LIFE'S Picture History of World War II"* is decorated with salvos of interpretative prose by John Dos Passos. "The Prospect Before Us"† is a wide-ranging, deeply pondered discussion of what's going on in the world and what may loom, by John Dos Passos. Our main guide this morning, then, is Mr. Dos Passos, as we look at the embattled present, future and past.



John Dos Passos

In ordinary life when you are being shown through picture galleries, you sometimes get so interested that you lose sight of your guide. And much the same sort of thing happens while Mr. Dos Passos is leading you through "Life's Picture History of World War II." There are fields and towns and seas and beaches that may interest you, for personal reasons, far more than they can ever interest many other people. You stop and look again and again at these: in the Mediterranean, the North Atlantic or the South Pacific, say, and let the rest of the party, guided by Mr. Dos Passos, go on.

The whole book, though, is a magnificent and impressive performance. It will probably become our day's equivalent of the Brady Civil War albums, unless someone finds a better way to keep a planetary conflict in human scale. Hundreds of black and white prints are supplemented with maps and color plates of photographs—and dozens of those curiously immaculate war paintings.

The seas churn, the continents blaze, the new, improved, economy-size superhomogenized Bikini bomb raises its cauliflower head. But the measure of it all is man. The measure of it all is a submariner reporting by intercom from the engine room. An American citizen dead on a Leipzig balcony where he fell covering the Second Infantry's advance across a bridge. An Englishman called Tedder giving a light to an American called Spaatz. A German called Rommel who hit our side so frequently and so hard in North Africa that we are apparently hell-bent on endowing him, posthumously, with supernatural powers.

Pictures Not to Be Forgotten

There is a picture of the beaches of Namur on Kwajalein atoll that you won't soon forget. The air seems to be made of the substance of death. There is a picture of Nazi troops—garrison troops, at that—goose-stepping through the Arc de Triomphe that you won't want to remember. There are pictures of Japanese suicide planes, late in the war, coming in on American ships that should be printed with all articles explaining how completely we had beaten the enemy long before the Enola Gay sailed over Hiroshima.

One of the most dramatic pictures in the book shows half a page of a typewritten letter. Man named Einstein is writing a man named Roosevelt, on Aug. 2, 1939. The letter begins: "Sir: Some recent work by E. Fermi and L. Szilard, which has been communicated to me in manuscript, leads me to expect that the element uranium may be turned into a new and more important source of energy in the immediate future. * * *" The free world's "immediate future" has been immeasurably lenghtened because Einstein wrote that letter.

Winston Churchill, who is writing the greatest continued story of our day, said in THE NEW YORK TIMES last Thursday that "it is easier to infuriate Americans than to cow them." He was speaking of the havoc the U-boats made along our coasts in 1942, when the war came very close to America, as you can see by this book's picture of an American tanker torpedoed off the Jersey shore. You can also apply Churchill's observation to many other pictures, particularly those of the black days after Pearl Harbor. The book's last shot shows a combat veteran who might be in Korea today. The final text by Mr. Dos Passos is: "The Pacific phase of the second of the world wars of the bloody twentieth century had ended, but its ending brought no peace."

In his own new book, "The Prospect Before Us," which contains stuff he first wrote for Life and for Harper's Magazine, Mr. Dos Passos expands on that. He takes us all over the wartime and post-war map, to Akron and Argentina, England and Brazil, Lima and Kansas City. He arranges his bursting briefcases full of material into a series of lectures complete with hecklers and other askers of penetratingly troublesome questions, that become light-heavyweight bouts with the leading problems of the world. What shall we do about capitalist cartels and Communist trusts? How can the institutions of democracy be safeguarded in a world where security is in short supply? What must we do to be saved? Little man, little world, there's little time. The battle is still on.

Lessons at Hand Everywhere

If we want to get a notion of the price of failure, Mr. Dos Passos says, "all we have to do is to visit the ruins of Berlin or to imagine the lives men live in Prague or Bucharest or Moscow." If we want to get an inkling of the cost of survival, all we have to do is to read Mr. Dos Passos' recollections of his wartime experiences in Britain. And now they've passed from their ordeal by fire to what Mr. Dos Passos calls their "ordeal by government." At all points he maintains his faith in man. Free man.

All over the world he chats easily with men and women of all degrees. There seems to be a breezy and unconstrained flowering of Mr. Dos Passos when he leaves New York. In Coon Rapids, Iowa, he drops into a coffee shop and finds that "Bob Garst was sitting in his accustomed corner laughing like he'd split about the difficulties of getting seed corn detasseled." In Peru a puffing fellow says: "A curious thing about Lima * * * the only history that has remained in our minds * * * is that candlelit colonial romance of the aged viceroy and the actress La Perricholi."

That "candlelit" romance, as a matter of fact, had such far-reaching influences that it eventually led to the broadening of the Pulitzer Prize conditions, so the 1928 decoration could go to Thornton Wilder's novel about La Perricholi, "The Bridge of San Luis Rey."

KMFURTY: This project is to produce a book of animal photos with satirical anti-Communist captions for publication in France. It is being developed with the assistance of Clarence A. Barnes, author of the best-selling "Home Sweet Zoo" and other photo-books. Twenty-one captioned photos have been submitted to a French publisher, who has indicated willingness to publish. These photos have been recalled, so that a final selection may be made from among them and 59 further photos supplied by Mr. Barnes. If the French edition is successful, editions in other areas are contemplated. $6,000 has been allotted to publishing this book, with approximately $600 obligated to date; and an additional $40,000 has been set aside for publishing similar books. / Earliest publishing date 6 weeks; latest estimated at Jan. 1, 1951 /. If there are editions in other countries, this project will be active for more than one year, and it may be necessary to subsidize the publishers in order to obtain the desired distribution.

This project, which will be a sub-project of [illegible], has not been formally drafted, but is being developed. The project is to prepare and publish in the U.S. a book of photos and text on the career of Stalin, with the expectation of very widespread foreign distribution to follow. Mr Robert M. Headley, CIA contract agent, is at work on the book; more than 200 photos have been assembled; a legal agreement concerning copyright and royalties between CIA and Headley was signed Sept. 16. Cost of 150 photos at $6 would be $900; any profit in the form of royalties will be returned to CIA.

John Shields: there has already been some expense for (a) travel by Snowden to NY to take contract to Headley for signing, and (b) about $150 paid to Headley's agents to pay the agencies for photos obtained, and (c) $100/down paymt to them for their services in obtaining.

"STALIN" PHOTO-BOOK PROJECT (to be named KMKNOUT)

Is a project for preparation of a book of photographs-plus-text on the career of Stalin.

When formally written up, it will be titled KMKNOUT, and will be a sub-project of KMFUNNY, requiring only the approval of LST.

Some photographs have been assembled, from CIA Graphics and from agencies in N.Y., and a legal agreement has been drafted and signed, between ~~[illegible]~~ CIA and Robert H. "The Soviet major and the American colonel personified two worlds, two worlds between which I was to choose.

"One was my country where everything was infinitely dear to me: her breadth, her limitless abundence, her simple, kindly folk who can sing in times of sorrow as in times of joy.. Scores of friendly faces flashed across my mind, scores of people I should never see again.

"But then all of that was blanketed in mist and all I saw was the sleek mask of the Soviet major sitting across from me. The cold, rigid features expressed all I detested: cruelty, contempt for the sufferings of others, the fear and sham of everyday life, the cheerless toil, and the perennial threat of tyranny..

"The alternative was an alien ~~land~~ America where I should be a stranger,.. but where I should at least be free..

"But I did know that I could no longer live in the land of my birth, live as a slave among slaves, conscious of my impotence to help them or myself.."

Comment: this quote could of course be pruned, retaining little more than the underlined bits.

Here is text which, joined to a photo of a particularly repellent MVD type, will do something to put across how the MVD is detested.

/ Sure, he's an anti-Stalinist, but that's Stalin's fault, not ours, You could add, if it seems necessary, as he and Ada Siegel point out, that there are thousands like him, and the only reason we don't hear from them is that it's a rare & lucky & plucky man who has a plane handy for escape./

Comment: several photos and quotes of this sort to expose the myth of one-big-happy-family life among the Communists, whole-souled in their adoration of Big Brother. A Trotsky quote such as the above could be used in conjunction with the Stalin quote on the "ordinariness" of Lenin, and the Lenin quote on the "roughness" of Stalin. And throw in two or three more and you have a striking (and amusing) little

Section on: the Politburo as just a Band of Brothers, happy home life among the Communists; the CC (circa 1924, anyway) a snake-pit; band of backbiters and backstabbers

3 x 2 equals 6 photos would give an exhibit of each of the three Lenin, Stalin, Trotsky backbiting each of the others.

Then these could be followed with the photo of Trotsky dead after stabbing bt Stalin's assassin, which in turn could be followed (or the whole preceded by) photo of Dostoevsky with the quote:

"Brothers will begin to cut each other's heads off in order to obtain brotherhood".

Just FYI

"As Russia Sees It", MARCH OF TIME, Aug. 1950

Presents an analysis of the world situation today, from the viewpoint of the Kremlin. It evaluates the opportunities for conquest as Stalin and his henchmen see them, and shows why the Soviets chose to take action now in Korea rather than elsewhere.

It also shows how the U.S. is meeting the challenge in Korea: the mobilization of manpower and industry; the reactivation of planes, tanks, and ships laid up since the end of WW II; and the actions which the US is taking with other members of the UN to check permanently the aggressions of Stalin and his Communist satellites.

Running time about 22 minutes.

Of course through someone such as Jensen, Time and/or Life could provide stills from this.

As you probably saw in yesterday's "N. Y. Times Book Review", SIMON & SCHUSTER will be the publishers this fall of "The Life of FDR in Photographs and Text" (sic) by Stefan Lorant, and of "LIFE's Picture History of World War II".

Also Boris Shub has a book coming out on "the cold war and propaganda".

Are you sending complimentary copies to Drew Pearson and to Bernard Baruch? The latter's recent article in "Look" had a sentence or two faintly, but only faintly, along the lines of "the choice."

Re your MS. P is in bed with some kind of fever. He got Dick today to take the MS to Floyd McCaffery, chief of research for Republican Nat'l C'ee, who will give it to the Col. Fellers who wrote the "How to Beat the Russians" article in the current "Colliers".
Elliston (Washington Post) has had the MS, at any rate of the last chapter. P rang Kay Halle, his sec'y, to ask her to tell him it should get all possible publicity.
Don't worry too much (except in your capacity as a tax-payer, etc.!)
about the sales. One Elliston reading it means more than the thousands reading the "Worlds in Collision" tripe,—which even Churchill can't dislodge from #1 on the Best Seller list.

Re photo-book. Please keep such screeds as I sent, for any possible future cross-reference.
They are mainly grains of sand dropped in to contribute to the production of the pearls. (That simile seems better, the more you think of it, don't you think?).
Re Slave-labor: J suggests possible use, lacking photos, of drawings such as the enclosed from Sept. 18 NY Times Book Review by Korolkov (Stalin Prize Winner!) and said to be artist of very high calibre. Don't throw it away. Wait & see. A number of his drawings appeared in Life a year or two ago; I've seen them, but there is no clue to the date, so you'd have to ask Life.
Important: J says "Ask Littauer to tell Jenson about it". Of course Littauer will know to what extent you can sound out two different publishers simultaneously, should you already have approached Doubleday or another.
Jensen's still being on Life ("leave of absence") sounds fine, but Littauer will know whether he (Picture Press) could handle production & advertising as well as Doubleday?

Scratch my stuff about a possible Hiss photo in my screed of Sept. 15; had no time to proof-read it.

Enclosed what look to me offhand 3 or 4 highly possible quotes from Karsmev & Zinoviev, from frontispiece of Murder in Mexico.

Think that Korolkov idea is worth keeping in mind. You could play up the angle: there are no photos, and they bleat about the "worker's paradise" and refuse all UN inspection committees, make survivors swear to say nothing about the camps. It is Joe's fault there are no photos on this page, but this gives an inkling of what it's like, etc.
Korolkov being a Stalin prize-winner adds greatly, it seems to me.

Item. Photo of SHOSTAKOVICH, name familiar in every country, with just as caption the three lines of his abject, comical recantation.
Bedell Smith's book, p. 298. You could also quote PROKOFIEV.

Thanks for postcard. Best regards.

Why shouldn't there be photos also of PROKOFIEV and KHACHATURIAN, world names, much more living than Zinoviev et al, with as captions quotes from the incredible "resolution" by the Central Committee, condemning the "degenerate, formalistic, bourgeois" music, Bedell Smith pp.296-8.

If you were given complete license to ijvent anti-Stalin material on the fate of the Arts in the USSR, how could you better this?

Will send brief suggested quotes from those pages shortly.

"To choose the victim, carefully prepare the blow, satisfy an implacable vengeance, then go to bed. . . There is nothing sweeter in the world."

"You think that Stalin is worrying himself trying to find a reply to your arguments? You are mistaken. He is only considering in what manner he can suppress you without danger to himself."
(Kamenev to Trotsky in 1923.)

"He would have got rid of you at any moment since 1924 if he had not feared reprisals from the youth section in the form of terrorist activities. Lev Davidovitch invited Joe, who was near to me, to write in his notebook what was, I learned later, his farewell to life: "I am sure of the triumph of the Fourth International. Forward!"

The working-class writer, Ciliga, after having worked several years in the U.S.S.R., has called it "the country of the great lie."

Time, Sept. 11, 1950

"...interpretation of Stalin's personality, doctrines and aims are pregnant with tragic misunderstandings between Americans and the Russian people— the best potential ally in the struggle for freedom.

"The Russian people were the first victims of the totalitarian yoke. They dream not of expansionism but only of the restoration of human freedom...As to Stalin, he "spits" as Lenin once said, on Russian interests, because Russia must merely be "used as a base for world revolution."

"Stalin...and all his international henchmen fanatically believe that 'the capitalist system as a whole is already ripe for revolution.' They fanatically believe, as Lenin proved, that 'the importance of war as a midwife of Revolution can scarcely be exaggerated'..."

Alexander Kerensky

I imagine the "spits" is a correct quote from Lenin, but referring to someone else (perhaps himself) rather than to Stalin. J. was wondering.

15 Sept. 1950

To Boris Shub.

Just thinking out loud. If you care to call it thinking. Call it "revolt in the provinces", "Trotskyist deviationism" if you like. But don't let it upset your digestion.

This will be a wonderful book. Really well done, it should sell several hundred thousands in the U.S. alone (and Canada). At $1 the 3 "Zoo" books sold 700,000-plus. Even at $2.50 or $3., —I very much doubt that you could do the job as it should be done for $1— it should have a big sale. There is a crying need for it, in the U.S. alone. It is almost fantastic that there hasn't long since been a "Stalin-in-pictures" book. (But then there was no "Life", to parallel the "London Illustrated News" until circa 1932). There is a great thirst for really readable, believable information on what makes Stalin and the USSR tick. You are ideally set to fill it.

Just tell the story of "Stalin" (the biog) in pictures, —with as much wordage as is necessary and no more. The sovereign virtue of photos is that people who wouldn't crack a book of solid print will read a page or half page of print, if need be, if there's a photo alongside it. (Cf. the book "The Photographs of Lincoln", where I found myself reading the entire printed parts, which I wouldn't have bought nor read without the photos). Let's add to your favorite axiom, "The Best Photograph tells its Own Story" the corollary "An arresting photo will carry reader-interest for quite a bit of caption".

"THE STORY OF JOSEPH STALIN". Just tell the story. What he did. What he is doing. Properly done, that will leave the reader with the feeling of revulsion & distrust as to what he will do next; "Who sups with the devil must have a long spoon".

All the world loves a story. And what a story this is. As a reviewer of Deutscher said (the "NY Times", I think) "After all, it's the 'success' story of the 20th Century. From cobbler's cottage ~~xxx~~ to the Kremlin where he is still pulling the wool over the eyes of an aimed-at 400 million signers of a Petition in the name of "peace" (with the largest standing army in the world's history) and mouthing "democracy" (while holding down more than 15,000,000 slave laborers in his own country alone). And your readers won't learn (millions of 'em don't know) he has more than 15,000,000 slave laborers unless you tell them. Not screaming at the top of your voice, —but tell them. And no harm in giving the figure "15,000,000" more than once, if it proves convenient. Repetition is no sin.

In fact repetition can be dandy. Witness the world-wide best seller (second only to the Bible,(a mighty repetitive book itself) Andersen's fairy tales. Plenty of repetition in them. If the sh story is good, the theme gripping, the reader laps up the repetition: if the Wicked Uncle is wicked, it's more than OK to keep on saying (or, in your case, showing) it. And you've certainly got a story, and the Uncle is wicked. Let's show it, by any and every truthful means that doesn't detract from readability.

Re Repeition. I'm sure there is a lot in what J says. That when you are writing for mass readership, you ought to use a good deal of repetition: "I am going to tell you the story of how.......So here is the story.....So that was the story." After all, that is the time-tested fairy story technique, and they are the world's best sellers.

So why should we shy away from (a) repetition, or (b) calling the spade the spade, dotting the i's and crossing the t's. ⌈If you don't/~~xxx~~ cross your t's pretty vigorously & regularly, a lot of woolly-minded readers are going to have a breathing space in which to say: "Still, he had his dear old mother up to stay with him in the Kremlin, so there must be some good in the man; and Byrnes (a Catholic) writes that he is undeniably a 'likable' fellow." Of course, y ou will an ticipate & counteract that with photos of Big Brother accepting bouquets from schoolgirls, juxtaposed with photos showing Big Brother in a much less happy light.

The Uncles were Wicked, and Grimm said so. Stalin is history's greatest slave-master. Say so. It's not an adjective. It's a fact. Throw the book at him. Dallin. Kravchenko. Pirogov. Anything and/or everything that it takes to ram home the fact. If you can do it without Kravchenko or any other "avowed anti-Stalinist" so much the better, I entirely agree. But let's do it. Stalin keeps the 15,000,000 hidden, so we've got few photos. So if you have to use a photo of a few slave-laborers and caption that "there are millions like them", OK. Or use a "There is all this smoke, and it's because there is all this fire" argument, OK. I.e., if you have to use the cumulative technique of quoting a few sentences from Tchernavin and Dallin and Kravchenko and any others, let's do it. The fact of the slave-camps has got to be in there. If it isn't made credible you haven't told the story.

For example, re-read "Seeds of Treason". Chambers says that what made the scales fall from his eyes was "I SPEAK FOR THE SILENT" by Tchernavin. (I've never read it, and had forgotten it; you'll do no harm if you mention it somewhere. Of course Tchernavin is an anti-Stalinist). If that was good enuf for Chambers, it should be good for other CP readers, even, too.

What I'm getting at is: I DON'T [illegible] CRAMP YOUR STYLE BY ARBITRARILY RULING OUT THE USE OF "ANTI-STALINIST" WITNESSES. Let the motto be: ANY truthful means that tell's Stalin's story is OK. He made the story, we didn't. It's his fault if you have to say: Pirogov was only one airman who escaped, and a mere lieutenant, but there are thousands like him.

PIROGOV. Just a random suggestion, but I see no reason of principle why you shouldn't have, say: Photo of Stalin, sounding off about the worker's paradise, juxtaposed with Photo of Pirogov (a nice clean-cut looking type, smiling), and a quote from Pirogov (he's definitely eloquent, as you say) to the effect that he didn't like to leave his native land, but couldn't stick it living "as a slave among slaves". Cf. Ada Siegel, to the effect (in Preface) that there are thousands like him ("The Choice") and he is unusual only in that he had few close living relatives, and a plane, and enterprise.

If it could be done without the Pirogovs & Kravchenkos, fine. But I'm sure you'll find when you chain yourself to your desk and start sweating blood over it that you just can't do justice to (a) SLAVE-LABOR and (b) MVD's EVERYBODY-AN-INFORMER with just a photo of Beria, —even if he looked like a two-headed baby in a bottle. I just don't see how it can begin to do justice to the subject. It wasn't any photo (though his first sight of Rykov in the flesh shook him badly) that took the scales from Chambers eyes, but the Tchernavin story.

Also he was shaken by (a minor news item in the New Masses) the proof that the Kremlin were liars, bent on systematic, petty denigration of Trotsky. Anything —preferably out of their own mouths, as you say— that builds the THEY ARE LIARS theme is good.

There is so much to choose from, and it seems to me that repetition is so good and, probably, so necessary, that I should say, as you do, that a $1 book couldn't do the job. "White Collar Zoo" is 80 pages in all, of which 74 pages have photos. 74 photos won't be enuf, by a long shot. The story is so absorbing, properly told, that 150 or more photos wouldn't be a bit too much. Ask K what about the economics of "The Cardinal", where Simon & Schuster got out more than 400 pages of close print for only $1, with paper cover. Perhaps we could get by for $2.50, if they felt assured of a large sale. And why shouldn't there be a large sale. You've got the real dirt on Stalin, and the prestige of "Lenin". Give them "Stalin" in pictures, with the minimum wordage, but enuf wordage. It will make Deutscher (and Prof. Carr) look like moral lepers.

The quote from Lenin, "any dodge, ruse, etc", should definitely be in there, and I should think offhand would be an excellent one as a frontispiece. Right out of his own mouth.

Just another offhand suggestion: buy "Why I Escaped" and ask I. to re-read it, and see if she doesn't think there are some good brief anecdotal quotes in it. I.e., you could have a photo of a couple of ordinary USSR air-men, sitting at mess-table, or what have you, and a few sentences of conversation from Pirogov, --where the SMERSH man tells him he'd better inform on his pals, or else, --with the subscript: --Peter Pirogov, "Why I Escaped", page so&so. It wouldn't do any harm to advertise Pirogovs & Kravchenkos & Tchernavins anyway; all in the same good cause.

Item. On the left-hand page a photo of Alger Hiss montaged (or alongside) one of Mrs. Hede Massing (cf. her book)(she's quite photogenic I think) with caption quoting her on how Hiss & she agreed, after squabbling good-naturedly about interfering with each other's apparatuses, "We're both working for the same boss". Then on the right-hand page, a photo of Roosevelt, Stalin, and Hiss, with quote from "Seeds of Treason" on how, at Yalta, at one point FDR, JVS and Hiss (and one interpreter) were closeted together in the same room. (Roosevelt allegedly emerging saying, "I don't know how they persuaded me to give in, but I did"). There is probably a Yalta photo showing Hiss standing behind some of the others. Just an idea, but when you stop to think what may have been passing thru (a) Hiss's and (b) Stalin's mind at that little tete-a-tete, it might make a dramatic set of photos. But perhaps wouldn't really buttress any of the main themes.

"VERDICT OF THREE DECADES". I'm getting it today. There may be some good caption material in it.

ILLUSTRIOUS DEFECTEES. No one of them, perhaps, is important enuf to deserve a photo. But how about devoting two or three pages to photos of the 2 or 3 dozen most illustrious figures who have been admirers of the Soviet system & then become disillusioned? Taken all together, they ought to make a pretty impressive gallery: Gide, Koestler, Mann(??), Silone, etc. etc. etc., and you could have a quarter-page of caption giving a one-sentence quote from each of them (..."a spy-ridden slave-camp"...."more totalitarian than any Hitler"...etc), or a single caption to the effect ex-admirers of "The Light that Failed". After all, when one Gide "defects" it may not be much, but when they all do, sooner or later, it makes a pretty telling point, and a point which will have a multi-national and racial appeal (Silone, Gide, Richard Wright, etc). Throw the book at the bastards. Don't miss any tricks. If you have a good brick right at hand, why not throw it. ("Any stigma is good enuf to beat a dogma", as someone erroneously said).

"LENIN": a wonderful book, and perfect for selling by the thousands to the Karnoviches & Bullitts & Bedell Smiths. But remember the photo-book editions should total in the millions, for the ordinary reader everywhere. That's why, if I may harp on it, I think it should lean towards the tone & style of Grimm's fairy tales, where you don't read very far before you know the Uncle is Wicked, or strongly suspect it. Therefore the photo of Lenin with the quote "use any dodge, ruse or deception" would be an excellent frontispiece. Offhand I should say "YOU CAN NEVER AFFORD TO TRUST, BELIEVE THIS MAN" is the main theme, with "The more people let this man dupe them, the more this man means slavery and WAR" perhaps a close second. It's their propaganda you're combatting, and if you can show the reader "HE'S NEARLY ALWAYS LYING, and for his sake not yours" you've just about done it.

Re "The STORY of Joseph Stalin". Got to tell it. There's got to be a story, a more or less chronological narrative. But I don't see, do you, how you can begin to tell the whole story! there's too much of it; you could put the war against Finland in, or you could leave it out; there are too many areas and episodes of that order to put them all in. At any rate not with photos; i.e., if you decided to mention Finland at all, it might have to be just with literally 2 or 3 words sandwiched in somewhere in a caption, where (and if) they would heighten the effect. E.g., you might show photos of the taking over ("welcoming back") of Latvia and/or Est. & Lit., and then add that "..since 1945 the USSR has been expanding at the rate of 65 sq. miles (or whatever it is) per day." (Since 1939, I think it is 65 sq. m per day. Can dig it up, —and let me know any other research you might want to have done). Then juxtapose it with Stalin's statement (1942) about "not wanting an inch of anyone else's territory". / And throw in "This is my last territorial demand" of Hitler, if it wouldn't clutter things up /.

Item. Alongside the frontispiece quote from Lenin, re "any deception", underneath it you could put Hitler's famous quote about the "big lie". Just because the idea of making the whole book a Hitler-Stalin parallel has been shelved, is no reason why you shouldn't draw the parallel wherever you see fit, if it heightens the effect.

More re: not telling the whole story, namely:

The Problem of the BIG FAMINE. Your telling the story of the Wicked Uncle, and heaven knows this is an important ~~x~~ "episode" in it. Hard to see how it could be omitted entirely. And yet to deal with it is a problem. It is just the sort of problem that has been leading me to think you've got to lean on Text to do part of the job. I.e., the book is a PHOTO-book, and the pictures are the piece de resistance. But the beauty of really effective photos is that they heighten the effect, and carry you through patches where, unavoidably, no really arresting photo is available, —in which patches, I'd say, you're going to have to be content with an ordinary photo and lean at that point on your caption. Which doesn't worry me too much, because, after all, anti-Stalinist literature (and your own malicious mind) are ~~[illegible]~~ not lacking in pithy & sizzling texts, such as alone will make the given page readable and memorable. (E.g., to pick at random a mediocre sample: "If the U.S.S.R. is a democracy, then Leavenworth Prison is a democracy"; nothing to write home about, but, with brevity, it paints a picture, after a fashion.) After all, words alone can paint _pictures_, and evoke emotions, and as your basic aim is to evoke an emotional response, there's no need to cramp your style with a self-imposed restriction banning the use of words. I should think the test would be: If the reader wants to stop reading it in the middle, the caption, however true, is bad; if you've held his interest to a pitch where he really wants to read on, _and_ is painting _pictures_ in his own mind as he reads, then it's OK. E.g., if you have the photo of the three purgees Rykov, K., & Z., and then continue in your caption to the tune "there was a bullet in the back of the head for X, _and_ for Y, _and_ for Z too" it will be, _faute de mieux_, OK if the reader is already gripped to the point of picturing to himself all these Comrades being ground thru the mill of "opposition"—demotion—arrest—"confession"—death.

E.g. also, I'd strongly recommend, offhand, inclusion of the striking photo of Mindszenty, circles under his eyes, at the trial, and then you could add to the effect that he is merely the highest-ranking of the, e.g., more than 12,000 Catholic clergy who have been imprisoned in Czechoslovakia since 1948. (I have the figures).

Re THE FAMINE, to get back to it. The best I can suggest is that you could have either (a) one of the rare, if existing at all, photos, of a famine scene or (b) a photo of a normal Village Scene, Harvest Scene, with the caption: It could have been like this, but Big Brother wanted an ORGANIZED FAMINE, plus the most devastating quote you can get from the highest-ranking _non_-anti-Stalinist source; and/or plus brief but human-interest quotes from Pirogov and/or Kravchenko, whereby you translate into human-interest terms the cold statistics of several million dying of famine.

More re FAMINE, It's a problem, how to do it justice, and I'd suggest you have to do at least two things: (a) make it believable & believed, and

(b) heighten the emotional effect. If you succeed in (a), it will automatically help with (b). And I should think it would help toward (a) to put in the points you were mentioning. Namely, to make a flat, quiet, sober statement to the general effect; "At first glance it passes credibility that the rulers of a great country would deliberately plan the mass-starvation of several millions of their fellow-citizens and potential arms-bearers. But this is exactly what they did, and they did it for two reasons (1) to break the political power of the peasants, and (b) to get grain for valuta for machine tools."

The same method would be good (I think almost obligatory) in doing justice to SLAVE LABOR. I.e., you just quietly state that, whereas it may seem too nightmarish that a regime could keep 15,000,000 slave-laborers ~~xxxxxx~~ like cattle, it's not the nightmarish product of an Orwell's imagination, it's a fact, and it is done for the following coely ~~thoughout~~ reasons...." Then quote, either in substance or, preferably, verbatim, from I Chose Justice, bottom p. 238, where Kravchenko's NKVD school-mate gives the ~~xxxxx~~ reasons for segregating potential trouble-makers and working them to death to get their products for 1/5 the cost in the free market. A verbatim quote is by no means essential (though I think quotation marks always liven a page) but I think the EXPLANATION, unblushing proffered by you, the author of the photo-book, is an almost essential ingredient. When you explain how the FAMINE and the SLAVE-LABOR go ~~make~~ sense, to the Kremlin ~~mind~~, ~~you have~~ (a) enhanced the credibility, (b) gratified your reader, to them, in many cases, ~~xx~~ one or more of these things (the TRIALS, e.g) may for years have been a source of puzzlement, and (c) heightened the horror and the emotional response.

Cf. how "1984" builds up to quite a pitch of nightmare, but it is only by dint of a good deal of explanation and repetition. (There is a great deal more artistic ~~xxxx~~ economy in "Animal Farm", of course, and if you can make use of it and/or its technique, more power to your elbow.) E.g., how "Animal Farm", perhaps the best brief anti-Stalin literary effort (isn't it?) is just a fairy tale, and yet has a good deal of repetition in it.

Sorry to go on at such length. Luckily the postman knocketh now. Hope there is some value in it. Let me know anything I can do to help.

RE: AGREEMENT TO BE MADE BETWEEN OPC and ROBERT M. HEADLEY (pseud.)

in re publication of a book.

(1) Headley is a covert OPC employee. He is either a staff agent or a contract employee; Mr. Millard (ex-2798) can verify which.

(2) Headley —who is now engaged in preparing the book— is to approach a publisher in his own name, and as a private citizen.

(3) The book to be published under Headley's real name; with perhaps the addition of "...in collaboration with Blank / Headley's lay-out man, yet to be selected, if Headley feels the lay-out man deserves such credit/"

Copyright to be held by Headley, both US and foreign.

Royalties to be received by Headley.

(4) Headley to have discretion in selecting a lay-out assistant, whom he will offer to pay either

(a) a fixed fee, half down and half on publication; or
(b) the fixed fee, plus a percentage of royalties; or
(c) a percentage of royalties.

Probably Headley will offer (a).

(5) The book to be published initially in the U.S. It is hoped that there will later be editions in many foreign languages, possibly subsidized.

(6) Royalties over a given period will be either smaller or larger than Headley's salary.

Headley is to turn over the gross royalties to OPC —submitting the royalty statements or copies thereof— less the difference between Headley's income tax including royalties and the tax as it would have been if he had not received royalties.

Headley should submit also a copy of his Income Tax return(s).

(7) Copyright to be assigned by Headley to OPC.

(8) Arraignment re royalties to be terminable. Royalties might continue to dribble in for several years, after Headley might have severed his connection with OPC.

Therefore a claise is suggested to the effect: "at such time as the Government in its discretion may decide, the obligation on the part of Headley to turn over royalties may be cancelled, and thereafter any royalties shall be received by Headley for his own use."

(9) Headley should submit itemized/written statements of all expenses chargeable to the project; receipts from his collaborator for payment of fixed fee; etc.; of the contract with the publisher

(10) Headley to submit the final dummy for approval by an OPC representative.

Saw Mr. Joe Kelly, 224 Admin. about this Sept. 6th. He will call Sept. 8th

MEMORANDUM FOR RECORD

SUBJECT: Conference of JBIII, Shub and Sims, Aug. 25, re "STALIN" photo book.

(1) Some 202 photos were examined; the best, about 67, obtained by Shub in NY, the others furnished by CIA Graphics; plus some magazine articles with photos, supplied by Jim Williamson.

(2) Sims is to do utmost to get clearance by CIA Graphics for maximum use of their photos by Shub: clearance, if possible, for Shub to take the photos to NY (probably not possible); and/or duplicates minus CIA markings; and/or lists of the sources from which CIA got them.
/ Failing these, I can make descriptive list of the CIA photos.
It should not be difficult to duplicate most of them in NY agencies, and the Shub pictures are in any case the kernel of the book //.

(3) Length of book. Not much discussed. More important to set the tone and decide the main theme. Thirty-five pictures would almost certainly be too few; 150 might be OK.

(4) KMFUNNY? Sims to clear with Mr. Thompson and Millard whether the "Stalin" photo-book could be done under KMFUNNY, which reads:
"5, b. That the purposes of this project / animal photos, with satirical captions, in many languages / be approved in principle and a sum of $40,000 be appropriated for the development and distribution of similar photobooks at the discretion of Chief, SP."

/ Anyhow, let's get on with the book and, if necessary, amend KMFUNNY or write up a new project, later /.

(5) Book to be prepared by Shub, working in NY. Period of 6 months work by Shub, as co-author with David Shub of biography of Stalin, to begin after completion of work on photobook.

(6) Shub to approach publisher as private citizen; to hold copyright, take royalties, for transmission to the account of KMFUNNY presumably. / Presumably CIA's legal eagles are equipped to handle the income-tax xx angles of this overt-covert set-up /.
Book to be published under signature "Boris Shub".

(7) Collaborator for Shub in lay-out. JBIII will give Shub a list of possible helpers. JBIII: mentioned Dick Lyon; "See Littauer; ask him for a good layout man; the best is the New Yorker's man, but he doesn't specialize in photo media; you want a Life-type man, they have better layout than Look.
"Pay him on a one-shot basis, a fixed fee. Tell him he gets a certain amount down, and the same again if the book is published." / Jim Williamson says he would be glad to help on layout, if there is difficulty getting anyone else /.

(8) Publication to be in the US first, with a view to subsidisation (if necessary) of editions (possibly abridged) in Western Europe and elsewhere.

(9) Publisher. JBIII: "Duell would be lousy. You'd get no advertising. Simon & Schuster would be excellent if you can get them to do it. Ask Littauer to shop it around."

Sims mentioned Picture Press, which was described in the "NY Times" of 25 June 1950:

> "PICTURE PRESS is the newest shingle on Publishers' Row, hanging from 270 Park Avenue. Editors are Joseph J. Thorndike, Jr., former managing editor of "Life", and Oliver Jensen, on leave of absence from the magazine. The firm will concentrate on serious, inexpensive photo-text books with a general interest and news slant."

JBIII to Shub: "Ask LST what he thinks about Jensen"."

(10) What type of book? Shub: It should be called "Joseph Stalin", and to the casual reader it should look, at first glance, non-propagandistic. Then, as you look more closely at it, you see the degeneration of the system, in the faces, down to its present "tertiary phase", —the evolution from the early revolutionary dream of a better life for Russia to the present monster regime. The less captions in it the better.

JBIII: The main theme should be "Where are they now?", —all those individuals and countries that have been outmanoeuvred and taken over and liquidated by Stalin.

When you are writing for mass distribution, your technique should be: "I will tell you this, I am telling you it, I have told you it".

Sims: The thread running through it, starting with Lenin, could be: Cunning, plus "Ruthlessness" (one of Lenin's favorite words), plus complete Intolerance of any opposition to a very narrow and constantly-being-purged Kremlin clique. Moral: (1) "Nobody can trust these people", and (2) "Because they tolerate no opposition, they mean War".

/ A possible title, or sub-title might be "Half slave, half free?", the quotation from Lincoln, which would tie in with the campaign to expose the USSR as the true "reactionary" and the US as the true "revolutionary" champion of freedom. /

Shub: As far as possible, the photos, and the sequence in which they're arranged, should tell the story. OWI's war-time, 32-page photobook on Hitler ("I am not crazy enough to want a war") relies too much on captions. We should make a book that Molotov & Stalin would squirm when they read it, and have no answer to. Then it will be good for publication anywhere."

(11) Shub to move to NYC September 1.

WSS

W.S.S.

(12) Shub to pay this summer in addition NYC associates $100 for the photos they have already obtained, plus $100 on publication of the book.

Cover of book:

STALIN

~~as in Room 2412~~

a) cover of NY Times Bk Review on Deutscher.

Caption: JOSEPH STALIN

1917—195?

Comment: The "195?" (a) arouses curiosity;

(b) suggests he, —and to that extent the Stalin regime— will come to an end in the 1950's;

(c) carries the implication(?): Couldn't his regime be overthrown?

Alternative cover: might be, tp put on the cover whichever photo proves most telling; the same photo to be printed also in its proper sequence in the book, at which point its meaning will become clear; e.g. the splendid photo of Stalin walking with, but apart from, Rykov, Kamenev & Bukharin, with its message: "this man bides his time, then treacherously strikes down all these 'comrades' who have ceased to be useful to him".

OVER THE RUSSIAN LANDSCAPE

Caption: "The existence of the Soviet Republic side by side with imperialist states for a long time is unthinkable.. A series of frightful clashes between the Soviet Republic and the bourgeois states is inevitable."

To which might be added: (1) Stalin's statement, circa 1945 that the bourgeois & Soviet states can co-exist, and

(2) Stalin's statement of 9 April 1947 to Stassen: "Lenin is our teacher, and we Soviet people are Lenin's disciples".

Comment: Somebody's lying.

Photo suggests the peaceful Russian landscape, dominated by this founder (Lenin) of a dictatorial clique, whose dogmatism, intolerance and ballicosity are suggested by such words as "unthinkable", "inevitable", "frightful clashes".

seated at his desk, or in any inactive pose.

Caption:

"I had...fancied Lenin as a giant, stately and imposing.

"How great was my disappointment to see a most ordinary-looking man, below average in height, in no way, literally in no way, distinguishable from ordinary mortals."

—Stalin.

Comment: Crankshaw says: "This impression of a man so great that he could afford to appear ordinary was one which Stalin found it necessary to obliterate from the consciousness of Soviet citizens.

Therefore let's revive it.

This will tie in, of course, with Lenin's Testament: "find a way to remove this man.."

photo of

(we haven't got; can be obtained)

Caption: to the effect: "Georgi Plekhanov, one of Lenin's oldest disciples and collaborators, of whom Lenin said in 192_ 'No one is a true Bolshevik who does not know Plekhanov' (or words to that effect which I've read somewhere), and who told his wife, when the Red Guards forced their way into his house, November 13, 192_:

> 'How little you know these people! They are capable of hiring an assassin to kill me and shedding crocodile tears after my death to arouse people's emotions.'"

Comment:

We want to drive home the fact, unknown to most readers, that Lenin was bitterly opposed by some of his oldest collaborators; that there were (and are?) schisms even in the inner core; that what fastened itself on the back of the Russian people was a clique that was "capable" of all "ruthlessness"; ~~[illegible]~~ of anything that would serve its main end: to remain in power.

The quotation also brings out Soviet "crocodile" hypocrisy.

Caption: to the effect: this is the island fortress off Petrograd, from which the Bolshevik's own creme-de-la-creme marched against Kerensky in July 1917; stormed the Winter Palace in November to put Lenin in power.

Here, on March 1, 1921, 15,000 Bolshevik sailors and soldiers revolted against Lenin's regime, and dispatched a radio message to the world:

> "The first shot has thundered. But the entire world knows of it. The bloody Field Marshal Trotsky who stands up to the waist in the fraternal blood of the workers was the first to open fire against revolutionary Kronstadt, which rebelled against the government of the Communists in order to re-establish the real power of the Soviets. We will rise or fall under the ruins of Kronstadt, fighting for the bloodstained cause of the laboring people. Long live the power of the Soviets! Long live the world Socialist Revolution!"

Marshal Tukhachevsky described the outcome:

> "I was in the war for five years, but I cannot remember such a slaughter. It was not a battle; it was an inferno. The sailors fought like wild beasts. I cannot understand where they found the might for such rage. An entire company fought for an hour to capture one house and when the house was captured it was found that it contained two or three soldiers at a machine-gun. They seemed half-dead, but they snatched their revolvers and gasped, 'Too little did we shoot at you scoundrels.'"

Comment: shows it has been done, —a revolt of 15,000, nearly four years after Lenin came to power.

The average reader knows nothing of the fact this revolt occurred, and should be reminded.

Tukhachevsky, incidentally, adds an item of "continuity" to the story, since further on there is a photo of him, as one of those executed.

Note: the above would admittedly make a lengthy caption; but a vivid one; and necessary, because there is no photo (presumably) in existence of the actual revolt; and the fact it occurred should be driven home.

Target: Stalin.

Basic theme: Stalin means WAR.

For publication in: to be suitable for publication in any country. France to start with.

Item: BS: "It should be so good that Stalin himself couldn't answer it. Captions to be as far as possible genuine quotes from Marx, Lenin, Stalin, Molotov, under photos showing undeniable facts such as the assassination of Trotsky. Nothing phoney. If we have a book that no one in the Kremlin can pick holes in, it will be good for publication anywhere in the world."

Item: BS: Target is Stalin and his regime. "It should not contain a line that would offend any non-Communist Russian".

Item: BS: "Don't use any quotes from avowed anti-Stalinists such as Kravchenko."

Title? "Joseph Stalin", "This Man Wants 'Peace'", "This Man Talks Peace"
"Thirty-three Years of Peace", "The Trojan Dove".
BS: Don't let's worry about the title now.

Item: BS: K says there is a very striking contrast between photos of the Politburo leaders in the 20's and unretouched photos of them now, e.g. in the official 20-minute news-reel of May Day 1949 in Red Square, bloated fatcats. BS: It looks (28 June) as tho this news-reel, and stills from it, may be available. ~~BS~~ JW: If it's technicolor, so much the better.

Item: ~~BS~~ JW: "Pictorial History of Russia" by John Stuart Martin.

CONTENTS, suggested by BS:

(1) Photo of Tsar & Kaiser together.
Be-medalled.
(There are many of these "Willy—Nicky" photos).

(2) Photo showing Devastation of World War I.
Corpses, refugees.
BS: preferably in what area? France?

(3) Photo: Lenin (genuinely) urging Peace.
Lenin on soap-box, with crowds carrying banners "Peace"
Caption indicating translation of Russian for "peace".

(4) Close-ups of Lenin & his Politburo in power.
Including one of Lenin & Trotsky (& Stalin?) together.
They wanted peace; what became of them? Followed by:

(5) Trotsky reviewing troops.

(6) Trotsky dead, with head bandaged.

Caption: quotation from Stalin to the effect "We owed much in 1917-18 to the organising genius of Comrade Trotsky".

(7) [or (4)?]

Lenin "a most ordinary-looking man".

Caption: Stalin's "How great was my disappointment to see a most literally ordinary-looking man, below average in height, in no way, in no way, distinguishable from ordinary mortals." (From Crankshaw article, "The Battle for Lenin's Mantle", in NYTimes mag., 25/6/50).

(7½) Photo Stalin.
Perhaps the unshaven one in Deutscher, or the one from his/Tsarist police dossier.

Caption: Lenin's 4 Jan. 1923 postscript to his Testament:
"Stalin is too rough...Therefore I propose that the comrades find a way to remove Stalin..." (Crankshaw article).

Title for BOOK?: "FIND A WAY TO REMOVE STALIN"—V.I. LENIN

(8) "Photo of USSR being put on a war footing"

NB: the argument here is: The real purpose behind Collectivization was (a) to break the peasants as a political force, and (b) to put the country on a war footing: to get the grain, in order to get foreign exchange, in order to get war machinery.

NB: this will need a cogent caption, to make the argument convincing.

20 June 50.

"Flattery will get you everywhere"

MR. SHUB--

(1) Re "STALIN IS HITLER" PHOTO BOOK, suggested by you 16 June.

(2) I have asked ISP to supply us with all available personality photos of Hitler & Stalin, i.e. "photos in which they appear in close-up /—we might also have one of Red Square & Nuremberg?/ receiving bouquets from little girls, visiting wounded soldiers, voting, pinning medals on generals, receiving visiting statesmen from dominated areas, —with emphasis on photos showing the two dictators engaged in similar activities."
I have my doubts as to whether they will come up with a large number. It will probably also be necessary to draw on the big New York photo agencies.

(3) THE PROJECT. The book to be published, first, in France; then in other countries: Italy, West Germany, Holland, Belgium, Norway, Sweden, etc.

Russian edition essential (for DP camps at first)

(4) OBJECT. Discredit Stalin. Reveal him as the ruthless master of a "spyridden slave-camp". Show him as worse than Hitler. More dangerous, because his poison is more exportable; more ruthless; more cunning.
Much more important to show he is planning aggressive war

(5) BOOK TO BE COMPILED BY Williamson, in conjunction with SP. Williamson to be paid his fully daily rate, to enable him to neglect his regular work. q

(6) BOOK TO BE SIGNED BY? Howard Hunt suggests, in France, some organization such as the Polish National Liberation Committee, or Federation of Iron Curtain Journalists; or NCFE? or Force Ouvrière? (the last is the best)

N-

It might be signed with some pan-European pseudonym such as "Stefan Mueller"?

No! —

(7) IS AMERICAN INTEREST IN THE BOOK TO BE CONCEALED?

[illegible]

(8) TO BE PUBLISHED BY? In France, a French publisher.

An excellent literary agent might be Gérard Boutelleau, Kravchenko's literary agent, described on page 22 of "I Chose Justice".

(9) SUBSIDY. Estimates of production costs for this type of book have been made in connection with KM FUNNY. To insure widespread sale, a considerable subsidy would be necessary.

But with no author

SECRET

(10) SIZE OF BOOK? A maximum of 75 pages of photos. This would give some 36 or 37 two-page sets of Hitler-Stalin photos.

(11) CAPTIONS? I think we will need them, and should have them; at least for a good many of the photos. (I think this will prove to be the case when you come to make up any actual dummy).

(12) Something a good deal more eye-catching and forceful, as a TITLE than the tentative "Stalin Is Hitler" should be forthcoming?

"Your Leader?" "Do you want this man?" "Slave-master", NO "Man of Steel, —and Blood", NO NO "This Man Wants War!!"?

(13) CAN 36 SETS OF PHOTOS SHOWING PARALLELS BETWEEN H & S BE PRODUCED? Undoubtedly yes. But:

(14) HOW MANY PARALLEL CLOSE-UP PHOTOS CAN YOU SUGGEST?

I.e., we can have parallels showing each dictator receiving a bouquet from an awe-struck child; parallels of each of them "voting", — with suitably biting captions under each; parallels of Hacha on the carpet at Berchtesgaden, alongside some Satellite minister summoned to Moscow.

But how, with any close-up photos of H & S can you deal with such matters as Slave Labor, the Gestapo, the MVD. For these, it seems to me, it will be necessary to have non-close-up photos, i.e., photos in which H & S do not appear. But the parallel between the two regimes can be emphasized (a) in the Captions, and (b) by some such typographic device as:

Hitler and Himmler — Stalin and Beria (Gestapo & MVD parallel)

(15) OVER-PRINT A SWASTIKA & HAMMER-SICKLE in the upper corner/s of each set of non-close-up photos.

"The first & greatest misunderstanding about the Purges has to do with their duration. To most Americans / also Western Europeans, he says elsewhere: Kravchenko, "I Chose Justice", p.145 /, a Soviet purge is something exceptional, a violent phenomenon which they vaguely understand has happened once, or several times perhaps, but is then over and done with. This is a basic error. Purges are part of the permanent machinery of the Soviet regime. They are continuous and never-ending. There have been periods of intensification....But there has never been a period free of purging..."

How can we possibly do justice to Purges-under-Stalin, as described by Kravchenko in the ten pages 145-155, with a few photos? (Even more so, how do justice, with photos alone, to what it is like to live under a regime where "one person in every 7" is an MVD informer"?) — [illegible] [illegible] [illegible], too — if we don't want to [illegible] [illegible]

Therefore why not something such as:

(17) PURGE PHOTOS PLUS TEXT?

Have one or two good, gruesome gallows photos: plus photos (perhaps a half-dozen or more to a page) of several dozen major figures who have been killed: Tuchachevsky, 6 out of 7 of the 1924 (wasn't it) Politburo itself, the Jan. 1937 purgees ("all shot except Radek"), the Trial of the Twenty-one (March 1938: "all shot except Rakovski"), etc etc., plus Kostov, Rajk, etc.

Then, between pages of photos, have a page of text, to drive the Purging-is-continuous point home. We could, e.g., reprint the above-quoted paragraph from Kravchenko (whose name every French reader would recognize), and some of the lists of purgees he gives on p. 148-9.

Then the gruesome photo (available?) of Trotsky sprawled across his desk after Stalin's assassin had been at him with the meat-cleaver, which would lead the reader on to perhaps one more page of text. And eye-catching text, not hard to read, in display form:

Yes

Need not be gruesome

Much more effective picture — the corpse with bandaged head -

POLITBURO	Pyatakov........................	shot
	Rykov........................	shot
	Bukharin........................	shot
	Trotsky........................	assassinated
	Kostov........................	"deviationist": shot.
	Rajk........................	"deviationist": shot.
	Dimitrov........................	?
	Voznesensky........................	?
	Thorez........................	195? ? ETC ETC ETC.

(18) A "SPY-RIDDEN" REGIME.

To put this point across, in photos, seems offhand difficult. However, it might be possible simply to have an ordinary photo of an ordinary citizen, looking somewhat apprehensive, with underneath it a Caption consisting of a single sentence from, e.g., Kravchenko:

"....Finally Donenko escaped. He found his wife and three children living in the Donets Basin under a false name.

"'No one except my wife,' Donenko said, 'could know who I really was. I took lodging in their house as a stranger. My own children called me uncle, and grew up without knowing that the man who boarded in their house was in reality their own father.'" (I Chose Justice, p.506).

(19) KATYN & OSWIECIM, etc. We can of course have parallel photos here.

But a map of the USSR with a large black dot for each place where there is a labor-camp, with Caption underneath in very large type, "15,000,000 and more!" might help to drive home the extent of slave labor under Stalin. I can't see how any single photo of slave-laborers can make the point.

There is such a map of the labor-camp locations in Dallin, but it is typographically a very poor one, and it is devoutly to be hoped that CIA Cartographic can come up with a better one.

(20) TUESDAY, June 27. WILLIAMSON is making a trip to Washington, and should be in the office early in the morning. Could you meet with him then?

Yes

In preparing these photo books there seems to be nothing like actually getting down to the preparation of a dummy. Could you prepare some sort of rough Dummy or List of Contents to submit to Williamson, indicating the Themes ~~in~~ which you would like to have the photos illustrate?

WSS
W. S. Sims

(19½) My tentative view in re this Photo Book might be summed up as the "Seydlitz powder" theory. I.e., (1) a page of printed statistics of purgees, alone, is no good; (2) a page with a ~~gruesome~~ gallows photo alone is not good enuf, but (3) put the two together, and you have something "graphic" to bring home to the reader what it would be really like to live under Stalin.

CONGRESS FOR CULTURAL FREEDOM

Berlin, Germany
26 to 30 June, 1950

I. Origin and Purpose

Early in 1950 a plan was conceived to gather together in Berlin, in the heart of Soviet Germany, a representative group of the Western World's intellectual leaders and to provide them with an instrument to repudiate the totalitarian concept of intellectual subservience to the state. OPC planned to convene the Congress of Cultural Freedom in June 1950 at a moment most advantageous to counteract the psychological effect of the Soviet-sponsored Whitsuntide Youth Rally. The meetings and pronouncements of the Congress were to be widely publicized by press, radio and printed material not only to the Western World but by sustained clandestine distribution in communist-controlled areas.

II. Development

To achieve maximum effect and credibility, it was apparent from the outset that the actual sponsorship of such a convention should not be permitted to appear. Accordingly, the Congress for Cultural Freedom ostensibly sprang into being as the inspiration of a meeting between Ernst Reuter, Lord Mayor of Berlin; Dr. Otto Suhr, Rector of the Berlin College of Political Science, and Dr. Redslob, Rector of the Free University of Berlin. Melvin J. Lasky, HICOG editor of the intellectual periodical, Der Monat, was introduced into the formative committee and nominated Acting General Secretary to steer the operation for OPC.

SECRET

In the name of an international sponsoring committee(1), invitations to the Congress were extended to prominent intellectual, cultural and labor figures of the Western World or in exile from communist-dominated Eastern countries. The complicated task of gathering together these widely-scattered individuals at the site of the Congress required the closest coordination with and cooperation of official and private United States agencies and individuals of many nationalities. The delicate matter of covertly financing the travel and expenses of delegates for example, had to be accomplished with the assistance of three American committees with established interests in international affairs. An enormous amount of organizational detail was handled in Berlin and elsewhere on the continent and in the U. S. under OPC sponsorship and direction. Provision of interpreters, press and radio coverage, an elaborate book display, accommodations for personal comfort and security of the delegates and facilities for the official business of the Congress, were among the problems which had to be solved.

OPC is particularly grateful to the State Department which, through the office of Mr. Bruce Buttles, rendered exceptional and sympathetic cooperation throughout the progress of negotiations and arrangements. This cooperation extended to letters from the State Department to invitees, backing up Committee invitations, a general to be supported by funds of CIC and delegates were characterized as American police spies and war mongers. In the U. S., considerable coverage was given by the N. Y. Times, N. Y. Herald Tribune, Baltimore Sun, Washington Star and other papers. Additional coverage is expected in periodicals in the form of reviews and feature articles. In recording the opening of the Congress, the Christian Science Monitor referred to the fact that it was being held just one month after the Communists had staged the greatest totalitarian youth meeting ever held in Europe. The Monitor went on to say:

(1) The Committee included such names as:

Bertrand Russell, Arthur Koestler, Great Britain; Charles Plisnier, Belgium; David Rousset, Andre Gide, and Andre Malraux, France; Haakon Lie, Norway; Ignasio Silone, Italy; John Dewey and Arthur Schlesinger, U. S.; Carlo Schmid, Germany; Dennis Rougement, Switzerland.

> "There is as much difference between these gatherings as can be imagined. The one emphasized numbers and blind obedience to collectivism. The other will be composed of a select company of noted public leaders and scholars from the Western World and will stress the all-importance of freedom of expression and of human rights."

In its deliberations, the cultural and intellectual slavery imposed by the Soviet Union and her satellite states was emphatically and repeatedly denounced. The attack by North Korea was immediately seized upon by delegates and made the subject of vigorous repudiation. In this connection, it is significant that the delegates were not bound, limited, or instructed in any way.(1) It was well known that one delegate, Dr. Hans Thirring, Austrian atomic scientist, had prepared a speech which contained a considerable amount of criticism of the Western democracies. The speech had been printed and distributed to delegates in advance of the session. When the Korean news broke, he stood before the Congress and, amidst cheers, openly repudiated his prepared document, stating that in view of the cynical Korean aggression he would confine himself to a denunciation of communist despotism.

(1) While no control was exercised over papers and statements of delegates, it was necessary that the general course of business and tenor of the Congress be held within the bounds of the original concept. This was accomplished by an informal steering committee the key member of which was a highly respected, internationally famous delegate, who was also an OPC agent.

The Congress delegates represented many divergent backgrounds and philosophies. They were free to express any opinion. Yet at no period during the five days of discussion, debate and oratory was there any critism of the U. S. or of its policy in the Far East. U. S. policy was, in fact, vigorously defended by a number of delegates, including Haakon Lie, noted Norwegian labor leader.

The Congress unanimously approved the following "Letter to the East", a message to writers, authors and scientists behind the Iron curtain:

> "The great conflict now raging in the world is not a conflict between East and West. It is not a conflict between peoples. We definitely reject the accusation that we who have come together from many countries and different parts of the world are hostile to the peoples of Russia and the countries subjected to the domination of the Stalin dictatorship. Quite the reverse: we have amongst us representatives of those peoples.
>
> "We are deeply convinced that the problem of the freedom of the peoples who are today enslaved under the Stalin dictatorship and the problem of ensuring freedom and peace throughout the world are inseparably linked.
> "All those who fight for freedom against oppression can be assured of our unlimited solidarity."

Deliberations of the Congress concluded with a unanimous manifesto (see Tab A) in which the delegates rejected the idea of neutrality in the struggle between freedom and tyranny and stated that intellectuals should not stand silent on the sidelines but should adhere to the defense of freedom and indeed to the expansion of freedom.(1) Acting on a joint proposal of the Congress, and the Assembly of the City of Berlin, Lord Mayor Reuter announced a resolution to establish a memorial in honor of all those who have fallen under totalitarian tyranny, the monument to be erected in the British sector near the Brandenburg gate.(2)

The final action of the Congress was self-perpetuation in the form of a Standing Continuation Committee which in turn selected an Executive Committee, consisting of:

Ignazio Silone
David Rousset
Arthur Koestler
Irving Brown
Carlo Schmid

Francois Bondy was elected Field Secretary of the Executive Committee, which will maintain offices in Paris and Berlin.

---

(1)Among the supporting statements were those of:

Arthur Koestler: "The Congress has unified all intellectuals who are not communists around a program for cultural freedom. We are prepared to take the offensive."

Ignazio Silone: "We men of the resistance propose to form a new league of resistance to totalitarianism everywhere."

Robert Montgomery: "There is no neutral corner in the field of freedom. If an artist shrinks from the fight for freedom he dies twice. For he dies as an artist before he dies as a man.

(2)The idea of a permanent monument was "suggested" to Mayor Reuter by one of the delegates. Reuter, himself a victim of totalitarian oppression, pushed it through enthusiastically.

IV. Future Plans

The first meeting of the Executive Committee, which will be controlled by OPC, is scheduled for Paris, in September, at which time arrangements will be made for future sessions of the Congress and the continued exploitation of its activities and the anti-communist declarations of its members.

OPC plans for the exploitation of this operation called for clandestine dissemination of the output of the Congress, especially its resolutions, speeches and manifestos, throughout East Germany and the Soviet satellites. East Germany has already been covered once, through a special edition of the Neue Zeitung and reports carried by other papers which the OPC mission subsidizes and secretly distributes in Soviet Germany.

Plans are now being perfected for circulation, in a number of languages, of millions of copies of the speeches, declarations and resolutions of the Congress. Much of this material has already been carried by the Voice of America and by Radio RIAS. Since the Congress has determined to perpetuate itself through a Continuation Committee, OPC will encourage additional statements and declarations by key persons, these also to be distributed throughout the satellite area. Many millions of people, some of them cut off from any news of resistance to communist tyranny over the thoughts of men, will be informed that not only are the philosophers and scientists and cultural leaders of the world outraged at the attempted obliteration of intellectual freedom, but that they propose to fight it.

The project is a continuing one. There will be other sessions of the Cultural Congress and further dissemination of the voices of men who are free to say what they think and thus bring to those still enslaved the message that they too may hope to be free.

State telegram requesting priority cooperation of all Consular officers in providing entry permits for delegates, several cables expressing overall interest and extraordinarily complete arrangements to cover the Congress by VOA. To accomplish this latter mission, VOA's special representative in Berlin made elaborate arrangements for re-broadcasting from New York.

III. The Sessions of the Congress

The Congress convened in Berlin on 26 June 1950 and consisted of more than 100 representatives of 16 nations.(1) It was officially welcomed by the City of Berlin and was greeted with an outpouring of publicity in the European and American press.

The impact of the Congress on the press of Europe cannot be recorded fully at this time. Clippings and a complete operational report have not yet been received from the field. There are many known indications, however, that it was furiously opposed by the communist press. Soviet-sponsored papers and Radio Berlin denounced delegates as the hounds of Wall Street and even accused Congress members of setting fire to the House of Soviet Culture. The Congress was said

ATTN: Joseph K. Stribling

1. For the reasons outlined below, we have been forced to take emergency action on the following matters.

2. During the period of preparation for FDQUICK, Mallison had in hand a project which involved bringing the American Ballet to Berlin for a brief series of performances in both the east and west sectors of the city. We encouraged him in this idea, since the performance dates coincided with FDQUICK, and would have added substantially to the culture surrounding the central event. Mallison, however, was faced with a complicated financing problem, since the business manager of the ballet company wouldn't accept marks, and Mallison had no dollars for such purposes. At that time we indicated, because of the advantage to FDQUICK, that we would resolve his difficulty by exchanging his money for him.

3. For a variety of reasons, the ballet was delayed and couldn't include Berlin during the period in question. We regarded the deal as dead and put it out of our minds, but not Mallison. He chose to regard our commitment as open, and without consulting us until today, has obligated himself to pay 3050 green dollars to the ballet company, which is arriving in Berlin tomorrow, and whose business manager expects to be paid immediately on arrival. Both Mallison, and indirectly Balster, have appealed to us to take him off the hook. We have informed him that such deals are contrary to FJCAPE policy, and anyway our original reason for considering such assistance is no longer operative. But because he and his shop are extremely useful to us in a variety of ways, we have told him we might perform the service of exchanging his marks on the open market, citing a six-to-one rate as probably the best obtainable.

4. Regardless of what Mallison has been told, we do not wish to involve this mission in local open market transactions. We are, therefore, exchanging from our funds here 3050 green dollars for 18,300 Deutsche marks from Mallison. He will, of course, obtain a mark receipt from the ballet company's business manager in order to keep his books straight, and no paper outside FJCAPE files referring to this matter will exist. We believe this operation secure and not disadvantageous to FJCAPE from either a financial or influence standpoint.

Gearing saw & approved this deal

1. For the reasons outlined below, we have been forced to take emergency action on the following matters.

2. During the period of preparation for PDQUICK, Mallison had in hand a project which involved bringing the American Ballet to Berlin for a brief series of performances in both the east and west sectors of the city. We encouraged him in this idea, since the performance dates coincided with PDQUICK, and would have added substantially to the culture surrounding the central event. Mallison, however, was faced with a complicated financing problem, since the business manager of the ballet company wouldn't accept marks, and Mallison had no dollars for such purposes. At that time we indicated, because of the advantage to PDQUICK, that we would resolve his difficulty by exchanging his money for him.

3. For a variety of reasons, the ballet was delayed and couldn't include Berlin during the period in question. We regarded the deal as dead and put it out of our minds, but not Mallison. He chose to regard our commitment as open, and without consulting us until today, has obligated himself to pay 3050 green dollars to the ballet company, which is arriving in Berlin tomorrow, and whose business manager expects to be paid immediately on arrival. Both Mallison, and indirectly Balster, have appealed to us to take him off the hook. We have informed him that such deals are contrary to FJCAPE policy, and anyway our original reason for considering such assistance is no longer operative. But because he and his shop are extremely useful to us in a variety of ways, we have told him we might perform the service of exchanging his marks on the open market, citing a six-to-one rate as probably the best obtainable.

4. Regardless of what Mallison has been told, we do not wish to involve this mission in local open market transactions. We are, therefore, exchanging from our funds here 3050 green dollars for 18,300 Deutsche marks from Mallison. He will, of course, obtain a mark receipt from the ballet company's business manager in order to keep his books straight, and no paper outside FJCAPE files referring to this matter will exist. We believe this operation secure and not disadvantageous to FJCAPE from either a financial or influence standpoint.

MEMORANDUM FOR: ADPC

VIA: EE

SUBJECT: Unclassified HICOG report on Congress of Cultural Freedom

REFERENCE: ADPC memorandum of 21 August, same subject

1. In regard to the recommendations contained in paragraph 6 of reference memorandum, an inquiry was sent to the Chief of the German Mission to determine the author of subject report and the circumstances surrounding its preparation. On 6 September the German Mission Chief replied as follows:

a. Subject report was one of three requested by Mr. Shepard Stone from Mr. Kenneth Downs, Mr. Melvin Lasky, and Mr. Ralf Von Eckart, the latter being Deputy Chief of the Editorial Projection Branch, ISD. Subject report, sent to State Department, is verbatim as prepared by Mr. Von Eckart.

b. Mr. Von Eckart was present throughout the Congress and required no assistance or guidance in preparation of this report. It is considered unlikely that he had in mind promoting the interests of Mr. Lasky, with whom he had a sharp disagreement concerning press relations. Mr. Von Eckart originally went to the Congress expecting to handle the press but was abruptly cut off by Lasky to make way for another individual.

c. The document was not classified by HICOG because it was considered to contain nothing of a classified nature; there was no internal HICOG distribution of it outside of Mr. Stone's Public Affairs Division.

d. The original report bears a notation by Mr. William J. Egan, Chief of ISD, to the effect that he considered it "relatively objective". The Chief of our German Mission himself considers the report a fair summary of HICOG's quite enthusiastic reaction to the Congress as a whole.

e. It is known to the Chief of the German Mission that Lasky is not aware of the existence of subject report.

2. This report was handled in a quite routine manner upon receipt by the State Department here, getting neither highly limited nor highly wide-spread distribution. In addition to the Office of German Affairs, it went also to United Nations Affairs, Office of Libraries and Institutions, Mr. Barrett's division, and the division concerned with international organizations and conferences. So far as Mr. Bruce Buttles, who has been most discreet and helpful to us throughout the Congress matter, has been able to find out the report created no particular stir one way or the other.

PDCWICK

3. There have been no recent incidents involving Mr. Lasky, and it appears at this point that control of him is well in hand.

4. Mr. Lasky's own report of the Congress is written in narrative rather than editorial style. It emphasizes primarily the favorable aspects of the Congress but does not go completely overboard and makes no mention whatever of Lasky's own part in it. It does not appear at all to be an ax-grinding document but simply one which was written in a flush of enthusiasm.

5. EE-3 is retaining subject report in the PDQUICK file.

Enclosed is a memorandum describing the activities of Boris Ivanovich Nikolaevski, head of the socialist League of New York, who has been in Germany for the past six weeks. It will be noted that Mr. Nikolaevski has been endeavoring to establish a bloc of left and center groups within the Russian emigration and that he is hopeful of obtaining the support of the executive committee set up by the recent Congress for Cultural Freedom in Berlin for a congress to be held in Paris attended by representatives of so-called "democratic" groups within the Russian emigration and by democratic figures from Western Europe and the United States.

XR 861.411

It is recommended that the Department give serious consideration to the position which it should take with respect to Nikolaevski's proposal. If plans are proceeding to create a unified front within the Russian emigration which would receive American support in accordance with the recommendations set forth in the Halley report, it would appear inadvisable at this stage to give any official encouragement to a congress of Russian groups which would not be fully representative and would therefore tend to emphasize divergent trends within the emigration rather than minimizing differences and endeavoring to enlist broad support within the emigration for a program of anti-Communist activity.

Enclosure [illegible] to HICOG Frankfurt
Despatch [illegible], July 26, 1950

ACTIVITIES IN GERMANY OF BORIS IVANOVICH NIKOLAEVSKI

Boris Ivanovich Nikolaevski, the well-known Russian historian and journalist and head of the New York socialist League, has been in Germany for the past six weeks attempting to line up support for a bloc of Russian groups of the left and center and to promote a congress of "democratic" elements within the emigration which he hopes to convene in Paris in the fall under the sponsorship of the executive committee created at the recent Berlin Congress for Cultural Freedom.

Nikolaevski is a man of great energy and of very considerable stature among the Russian refugees in Germany. By virtue of his long-standing record as a social democrat he has excellent contacts with German social-democratic and trade union circles and has been personally acquainted with many of the present leaders of these organizations since his residence in Berlin in the early 30's. He also enjoys wide confidence among Russian refugees by virtue of the fact that he was the first old Russian emigre of any stature to come to Germany after the war in an effort to give encouragement and assistance to members of the new Russian emigration.

Nikolaevski has divided his time between Munich, Berlin and Frankfurt and has talked with a constant stream of visitors.

He has also made numerous side trips to seek out refugees in whom he is interested. His principal objective has been to unite as many of the progressive or, as he calls them, "democratic" Russian groups as possible in an organization which will concentrate on the struggle against Communism. He has succeeded in establishing close personal relations with Boris Aleksandrovich Yakovlev, head of SBONR (Fighting Union for the Liberation of the Peoples of Russia), and has also interested SVOD, the military twin of SBONR, and the Solidarists (NTS) in his plan. As far as I have been able to discover, however, no agreement has been reached between these groups for the formation of a united organization, and NTS, following its customary practice, has indicated a willingness to cooperate but has not committed itself beyond that point. Nikolaevski anticipates some opposition to his project from the left wing of the New York League by virtue of the Vlasovite antecedents of these organizations, but feels that he can eventually gain the support of his own organization. It is presumed that final negotiations for the establishment of the new organization will take place only after Nikolaevski returns to New York and gains League endorsement of his activities in Germany.

SECRET

After the Berlin Congress for Cultural Freedom, in which Nikolaevski played a prominent and enthusiastic role, he conceived a new project, namely the convocation of a conference in Paris under the sponsorship of the permanent executive committee created at the Berlin Congress. The Paris congress would be attended by "democratic" Russian emigres, both old and new, as well as by "democratic" leaders and intellectuals from Western Europe and the United States, including a number who attended the Berlin conference. The principal purpose of the Paris congress would be propagandistic; it would, in Nikolaevski's words, constitute a demonstration of the solidarity of anti-Communist sentiment among the Russian emigration and the democratic forces of the Western world.

Nikolaevski is a convinced and doctrinaire socialist and is firmly opposed to cooperation with or apparently even exposure to those groups within the emigration which are not ideologically sympathetic to him. His particular antipathy is directed toward the Supreme Monarchist Council (VMS) and its president, Yuri Meyer, who, he claims, is manipulated by the sinister behind-the-scenes figure of Colonel Baranovski. He can produce no evidence beyond rumor to support his allegations regarding the role of Colonel Baranovski who himself has personally denied to me in the most emphatic terms that he plays any political role whatsoever. It is a striking coincidence that Colonel Neryanin, the head of SVOD, one of the organizations which Nikolaevski includes in his proposed union, is one of the principal assistants in the intelligence network of Colonel Baranovski, who expresses the highest regard for him.

I suggested to Nikolaevski, and discussed with him at considerable length, the desirability of broadening the proposed Paris congress to include representatives of all the principal groups represented in the emigration. I pointed out that the propaganda value of a congress in which the principal elements in the emigration were represented would be substantially greater than that of a meeting with only fragmentary representation; that a meeting from which certain influential groups were excluded might result in a rival congress which would merely underline the diversive trends within the emigration and tend to crystallize them; that a congress meeting under the banner of democracy should be prepared to permit a democratic expression of opinion; and that participation in a meeting of this kind with rival groups would in no sense constitute endorsement or approval of their programs. To these arguments Nikolaevski turned a deaf ear. He stands firmly on the position that the social democrats, whom he consistently refers to as "democrats," cannot afford to compromise themselves or endanger their standing with the Russian people by the slightest evidence of cooperation with the right wing.

Nikolaevski is extremely anxious to gain the blessing of the United States Government for his Paris venture. I told him frankly that while I was in no position to express an official opinion and could not venture a guess as to Washington's' reaction, it seemed unlikely to me that the American Government could afford to take sides in the internal political struggle within the Russian emigration, and that until the emigre groups succeeded in reconciling their own differences and were prepared to concentrate their efforts against the Soviet regime rather than against each other, the American Government would hardly be in a position to associate itself in any way with them. Nikolaevski replied that the anti-Communist struggle itself was an inadequate program and that something positive must be offered to the Russian people. I agreed to this position but suggested that a united program on which the emigration could agree would probably have much greater impact than a variety of programs offered by competing groups. Nikolaevski, however, stuck to his ideological guns.

Nikolaevski was considerably perturbed by news he received just before his departure from Frankfurt to the effect that Yakovlev had been approached by Colonel Kromiadi, who is nominated in the Kelley memorandum as the leader of the united front organization, to lend the support of SBONR to an emigre congress to be convened in Munich. Yakovlev had gained the impression that this project had American support, although Kromiadi had apparently made no explicit statement to this effect. He had based his arguments on the broad concept of united emigre effort against the Soviet regime and had indicated that it would be a congress of Russian patriots rather than of representatives of emigre organizations. This appeal had obviously made a considerable impression on Yakovlev, who is much less ideologically minded than Nikolaevski and much more inclined to ally himself with any activity which he feels can effectively bring pressure against the Soviets. Nikolaevski, while expressing high personal regard for Colonel Kromiadi, immediately attributed this project to the machinations of Meyer and Baranovski and adopted a completely negative attitude toward it. I told him that I had had no previous knowledge of the project and that I felt reasonably sure that it did not enjoy American support.

Nikolaevski plans to proceed to France and attend the first meeting of the executive committee established at the Berlin Congress in an effort to interest them in his project for a congress of Russian emigres.

COMMENT

If Nikolaevski in his intransigent position is supported by his organization, which I assume will be the case, it will present a serious obstacle to any plans for uniting the forces of the Russian emigration in the anti-Communist struggle. Nikolaevski's ideological principles are so firmly enrooted that it appears unlikely that anything will shake them or that he can be persuaded to cooperate with groups whose political views differ markedly from his own. Nikolaevski's name and pen carry great influence among Russian emigres and it is most desirable that they be utilized to the utmost. It would be neither realistic nor practical, however, to accept Nikolaevski's position and thereby eliminate other influential groups within the emigration. One solution for this dilemma might be to ignore the extremist groups, right and left, which refuse to participate in the common effort and concentrate primarily on the new emigration who are more flexible in their political ideas and whose understanding of the Soviet regime is more recent and more profound. The extremists will then be faced with the alternative of carrying on alone or of making peace with their conscience and joining the common cause.

QZ/224

The following views of LEIGOVNOW on the Berlin Congress have been reported as of interest to the sponsors of the Congress.

1. The Berlin Congress is regarded in France as a movement exclusively of the extreme left, of former Communists and present non-Stalinite Marxists. Observers regard with disfavor the fact that the Congress was extremely mild in its attack against the Soviet regime. They point out that:

   (a) The Soviet regime as such is not mentioned in a single resolution, which limited themselves to the condemning "totalitarian regimes."

   (b) The issuance of an anti-Franco resolution in the absence of an anti-Stalin resolution is significant.

   (c) The refusal to recognize the representatives of the Russian NTS group present at the Congress as "listed delegates" confirms the extreme leftist nature of the Congress.

MEMORANDUM OF CONVERSATION

SUBJECT: Congress for Cultural Freedom

1. On 15 August, I discussed the Berlin Cultural Congress with Kenneth H. Hambley, with particular emphasis on the problem of bringing the continuing Congress organization under control and, at the same time, expanding it into an effective anti-communist weapon.

2. I expressed to Hambley our concern over the manner in which Charles A. Skeggs had conducted himself during the Congress, and Hambley replied that he had been equally concerned. He said, however, that while Skeggs activities had caused an unfavorable reaction on the part of a number of the delegates, that reaction had been more directed against Skeggs personally than against him as a representative of the government. Hambley agreed with my suggestion that two bits of silver lining could be found in the Skeggs cloud, namely that he had taken most of the opposition heat himself, thus sparing some of our other people, and that he had conducted himself like anything but the "Polizeispitzel" the communist press of Germany made him out to be. In fact, said Hambley, Skeggs general attitude was such as to cause some of the delegates to disremember that Skeggs was attached to the government in any fashion or presumably subject to any discipline at all.

3. Hambley said that most of the delegates with whom he had talked were perfectly willing to accept the explanation that the Congress was smiled upon by the United States Government to the extent that some official funds were supplied for the physical staging of the meeting (as indeed they were) but that the rest of the money came from somewhat vague unofficial sources in the United States. Those who suspected something more, with the exception of the Trevor-Roper group, were generally happy that the United States was doing something of this kind and were in no mood to ask any embarrassing questions or raise any delicate points.

4. I asked Hambley what he thought his future role in the Congress should be. He replied that he was perfectly willing to undertake any activities we asked him to undertake but personally felt he should retire into the background as rapidly as possible.

SECRET

I told him that feeling coincided entirely with our own views and that we would expect him to conduct himself in that fashion. It was agreed that he should continue as a member of the International Committee of Twenty-five but should take no active overt part in organizational or policy matters and would operate behind the scenes only when so directed.

5. I discussed with him the problem raised by the presence of David Rousset and Ignazio Silone on the Executive Committee. Hambley agreed that neither of these individuals could be considered fully reliable but explained it had been impossible to exclude them from the Committee because of their prominence and the interests which they represented. He said he ~~liked~~ thought of Rousset as a person who considered himself basically on the American side even though from time to time he had to make noises of a sort to satisfy his leftist constituents. He also described Rousset as a bit of a bluffer who could be handled by a combination of firmness and tact, particularly so long as he continued to desire to be an American ally. Hambley described Silone as a more complex case--a vain, egocentric person of strong intellect but weak will and an inept politician who insisted on engaging in politics solely to satisfy his ego. Hambley said Silone probably would have been lost to the cause entirely had he not been given a prominent role including a position on the Executive Committee but that, as it was, he appeared on the surface now to be a convert, albeit a dubious one. Hambley expressed belief, however, that Silone could be controlled if handled expertly and that, if worst came to worst, he could be separated from the Committee without disastrous effect. Hambley said that in his opinion Arthur Koestler and Carlo Schmid were altogether reliable politically and could be depended upon to counterbalance Silone and Rousset even though it would be unwise to take them fully into confidence as to the nature of the Congress' backing. Irving Brown, of course, is considered completely reliable.

6. Inasmuch as the Executive Committee is a creature of the Committee of Twenty-five and draws its membership from that Committee, the latter constitutes the real point of control in the Congress organization. The Committee of Twenty-five, as it stands, is reliable on balance. If necessary, it could be weighted more heavily in our favor by exercise of the privilege of co-opting additional members on whom we could depend, Hambley said. He suggested that it might be well to establish a principle either of rotating members of the Executive Committee or of conducting regular elections of the parent Committee of Twenty-five, probably preferably the latter. This mechanism would provide means whereby obstreperous Executive Committee members might be sidetracked. Hambley agreed that this might prove a workable scheme.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. BRECKINRIDGE

SUBJECT: Berlin Congress for Cultural Freedom; activities of Melvin Lasky.

REFERENCE: Memo fr EE-3/Glaser to CEE dtd 4 Aug 50 w/atts (TSL2928).

1. I continue to be very disturbed about the manner in which this entire matter has been conducted, including the non-observance of my original memorandum of 7 April 1950, in which I approved this project, subject to the condition that Lasky would not be permitted to figure publicly in this operation. The memorandum of Mr. Glaser and the conversations which I have had with Messrs. Lindsay and Baker have done very little to relieve my apprehension on the score that no effective action to exclude Lasky from continuing to play a blatantly conspicuous role either has or will be taken by us.

2. I submit that paragraph six of the reference memorandum, in both tone and content, is entirely unsatisfactory for the following reasons:

a. It fails to reveal any appropriate acknowledgment or comprehension of the damage which has resulted from Mr. Lasky's conduct. This was a major blunder, has been branded as such by our best friends in the State Department, has been revealed as such by the publicity which is analyzed in the reference memorandum itself and must be acknowledged by the responsible members of our staff both here and in Germany.

b. It betrays an unfortunate tendency, apparently more deeprooted than I had suspected, to succumb to the temptation of convenience (doing things the easy way) and irrespective of security and other technical considerations of the utmost importance.

3. I have stated to Mr. Lindsay orally and I want to make myself completely clear on this point that unless means can be found to sanitize this operation by the removal of Lasky, Burnham and other persons of known or traceable official significance from overt roles in the proposed continuing organization, then I am unwilling to have OPC continue its backing. I repeat my request that this be delivered to the field as an instruction and that it be so regarded and acted upon within this headquarters. I do not wish to create the impression that I am in any way opposed to the continuation of the operation, provided it can be sanitized and handled with a greater degree of sophistication and technical expert-ease than has characterized our performance up to date. However, I do not wish to be associated with any repetition of what we have seen thus far.

F.G.W.

FGW:lgw

P.S. Since dictating the foregoing, I have just learned from General Magruder that he showed our report on this Congress to Secretary Johnson, together with his own very complimentary appraisal of the operation.
Secretary Johnson was so favorably impressed with this report and General Magruder's comment that he took the papers over and showed them to the President, who expressed himself as being very well pleased. I can only hope that the very rough edges which have recently appeared are not brought too sharply to the attention of these lofty officials. In any case this development underscores in red everything which I have said about the necessity for tidying up this operation and eliminating all of the "Irish pennants".

MEMORANDUM FOR: MR. BAKER

SUBJECT : PDJUICK; Conference with Mr. Burnham

1. In the first of a series of talks with Mr. Burnham, following his return from Europe, a broad coverage of the Cultural Congress was explored as well as post-Congress plans and proceedings.

2. I went into very little detail with Mr. Burnham as to the eventual setup of the Congress as a permanent institution except to suggest that it had very broad and far-reaching implications and would be carefully studied and pursued within the next few weeks. Mr. Burnham, however, expressed his point of view (which is to be further explored in other meetings this week) as follows:

a. The continuation of the Congress as a going concern of intended permanence is now a fact. (We know that there is an executive committee, an operating committee and that the institution of a Paris Office has been authorized.) Overtly, a permanent Congress for Cultural Freedom can vastly improve the climate of opinion throughout Europe, at least, to the extent that it may considerably counter Soviet propaganda and may very well affect large groups of people far beyond the point of neutrality, perhaps to resistance. Also overtly, the Congress can utilize its participants in various forms of writing, speaking, and political action. Covertly, the Congress can perform a number of useful functions, including maintenance of contact with various resistance groups, forwarding money to such groups, spreading of clandestine propaganda and other purposes. No great pretentions are necessary in connection with the establishment of the Congress as a permanent institution, though a small office in Paris and another in Berlin are indicated. The sponsorship of a French Intellectual Periodical seems to be one of the most pressing and one of the best ideas, and Aron is enthusiastic about it and is willing to work for such a magazine as editor. Other members of the Congress, Yakevlew, for instance, are willing to work on Congress publications and both Koestler and Buber-Neuman are very anxious to take part in the literary and political activities. Bondy is a very useful man, apparently entirely reliable and a good writer and organizer; he knows languages and knows European politics.

Yes

This I doubt very much

b. The impact of the Congress on Berlin was terrific and Reuter's part magnificent. The whole city was very eager and receptive and paid an extraordinary amount of attention to all of the Congress activities. The book display at the Congress itself was only fairly effective, but was extremely telling in the book stores throughout Western sectors, which made special displays of the books and photographs of the authors. Broadcasting by radio RIAS seems to have been more or less nominal, although RIAS cut tapes of all of the Congress speeches, but the Voice of America team did a first-class and absolutely outstanding job. The Congress was given big coverage by VOA in several languages. In addition to the records of European publicity that are on hand, a considerable additional amount was produced. For instance, there was daily broadcasting of a French radio station and sporadic broadcasting coverage by other stitions. There was a large amount of publicity in France and England and a substantial amount in Italy, Sweden and other countries. Special articles are still appearing in the European press and periodicals. The influence of the Congress on a number of important literary and political leaders appears to be very significant. This was especially true in the case of Frenay and Silone, both of whom under-went an apparent conversion due to the operations of the Congress. On the other hand, the composition of the Congress was unbalanced nationally and also because it was too leftist, too radical.

c. The irritation caused by the Trevor-Roper article in the Manchester Guardian was a reflection of the attitude of three members of the British delegation, Trevor-Roper, Ayer, and Peter de Mendelssohn. Actually, Mendelssohn (an old buddy of Lasky's) was the cause of the trouble. He is a second-rate writer, a neurotic, frustrated intellectual, who had a chip on his shoulder and unquestionably inspired Trevor-Roper and Ayer with his spirit of antagonism. Another complication was the fact that Ayer and Koestler have been intellectual rivals and bitterly dislike each other. Ayer was infuriated by Koestler's prominence and communicated this antagonism to Trevor-Roper. The letter is an excessively conceited man (Burnham added at this point that almost all intellectuals are excessively conceited) and was openly annoyed because he did not figure in the proceedings with sufficient prominence. ("Incidentally," says Burnham, "Trevor-Roper's description of Koestler as a 'rootless European' follows Pravda, which uses that term as a general description for Jews.") The annoyance felt by Trevor-Roper and Ayer at their relegation to minor roles in comparison to Koestler found its outlet in articles which both of these men have written, (Note: We have only seen the one by Trevor-Roper.) and the situation was complicated by the desire of Trevor-Roper to maintain a high and academic objectivity in relation to world affairs, whereas the delegates to the Congress insisted on making it a realistic denunciation of the Communist strangle-hold on culture and intellectual freedom. Koestler epitomizes the lofty philosophical viewpoint by saying, "Do you want partial liberty or total slavery?" Lasky has written a reply, over his name, to Trevor-Roper.

d. Melvin Lasky is granted the qualities of ability, courage, hard work and political intuition but he is, at the same time, the most vain and egocentric individual imaginable. In addition to which, he is an intellectual snob and a publicity hound. Also, he definitely is not reliable, cannot be counted upon to do things that he should do unless they work in with his own ideas. He has the Russian Menshevik point of view which is simply that of useless intrigue for the sake of intrigue. His intellectual snobbery was indicated in his process of meeting delegates. If they were very important, he went to meet them with his personal car and driver--along with newspaper photographers. If they were reasonably important, a private car was sent for them. If they were ordinary delegates, they was given transportation on a bus. At least one delegate was contacted by Burnham and arrangements were made with Lasky to invite him but no invitation was sent. In the case of Max Yergin, Lasky succeeded in humiliating him and in the case of Yakevlew, Lasky at first refused to print his name on the program at all. Lasky has done a wonderful job with Der Monat and there is no question as to his natural ability and capacity for hard work but it is difficult to see how he can be used in any outstanding position in connection with a continuation of the Congress unless it is in an advisory capacity, possibly in charge of the Berlin office and with a strong hand to subdue his self-advertising proclivities.

3. The above represents Burnham's general views, in some cases expressed spontaneously, in others drawn out by questions, and it is now proposed to have a further meeting and ask him to talk about the development potentialities and techniques.

SUBJECT: FDQUICK - Existing Organization

1. Pursuant to your oral request of this morning, there are set forth below the elements of subject organization. As you are aware subject is in a fluid stage but, as of 7 July 1950, the following steps had been taken (except that the action described under "a" was taken at the end of the month of July):

a. A small Paris office was opened with M. Louis Gibarti as Secretary, on trial for a two-month period.

b. Letters had been sent out to the honorary Chairmen requesting them to continue to serve in that capacity. These chairmen are: Croce, Dewey, Maritain, Jaspers, and Russell. This action was taken by the Congress in session.

c. An Executive Committee of five had been nominated. This committee consists of Ignazio Silone, David Rousset, Arthur Koestler, Irving Brown and Carlo Schmid. This action was likewise taken by the Congress in session.

d. Also at the Berlin session of the Congress an International Committee of twenty-five was nominated. All but the last five of these were also confirmed. The last five had not been confirmed as of 7 July 1950. The names of these twenty-five individuals follow:

✓ Ignazio Silone

MEMORANDUM FOR: MR. R[illegible]ER

SUBJECT : PDDICK; Conference with Mr. Burnham

1. In the first of a series of talks with Mr. Burnham, following his return from Europe, a broad coverage of the Cultural Congress was explored as well as post-Congress plans and proceedings.

2. I went into very little detail with Mr. Burnham as to the eventual setup of the Congress as a permanent institution except to suggest that it had very broad and far-reaching implications and would be carefully studied and pursued within the next few weeks. Mr. Burnham, however, expressed his point of view (which is to be further explored in other meetings this week) as follows:

a. The continuation of the Congress as a going concern of intended permanence is now a fact. (We know that there is an executive committee, an operating committee and that the institution of a Paris Office has been authorized.) Overtly, a permanent Congress for Cultural Freedom can vastly improve the climate of opinion throughout Europe, at least, to the extent that it may considerably counter Soviet propaganda and may very well affect large groups of people far beyond the point of neutrality, perhaps to resistance. Also overtly, the Congress can utilize its participants in various forms of writing, speaking, and political action. Covertly, the Congress can perform a number of useful functions, including maintenance of contact with various resistance groups, forwarding money to such groups, spreading of clandestine propaganda and other purposes. No great pretentions are necessary in connection with the establishment of the Congress as a permanent institution, though a small office in Paris and another in Berlin are indicated. The sponsorship of a French Intellectual Periodical seems to be one of the most pressing and one of the best ideas, and Aron is enthusiastic about it and is willing to work for such a magazine as editor. Other members of the Congress, Yakovlev, for instance, are willing to work on Congress publications and both Koestler and Buber-Neumann are very anxious to take part in the literary and political activities. Bondy is a very useful man, apparently entirely reliable and a good writer and organizer; he knows languages and knows European politics.

SECRET

b. The impact of the Congress on Berlin was terrific and Reuter's part magnificent. The whole city was very eager and receptive and paid an extraordinary amount of attention to all of the Congress activities. The book display at the Congress itself was only fairly effective, but was extremely telling in the book stores throughout Western sectors, which made special displays of the books and photographs of the authors. Broadcasting by radio RIAS seems to have been more or less nominal, although RIAS cut tapes of all of the Congress speeches, but the Voice of America team did a first-class and absolutely outstanding job. The Congress was given big coverage by VOA in several languages. In addition to the records of European publicity that are on hand, a considerable additional amount was produced. For instance, there was daily broadcasting of a French radio station and sporadic broadcasting coverage by other stations. There was a large amount of publicity in France and England and a substantial amount in Italy, Sweden and other countries. Special articles are still appearing in the European press and periodicals. The influence of the Congress on a number of important literary and political leaders appears to be very significant. This was especially true in the case of Frenay and Silone, both of whom under-went an apparent conversion due to the operations of the Congress. On the other hand, the composition of the Congress was unbalanced nationally and also because it was too leftist, too radical.

c. The irritation caused by the Trevor-Roper article in the Manchester Guardian was a reflection of the attitude of three members of the British delegation, Trevor-Roper, Ayer, and Peter de Mendelssohn. Actually, Mendelssohn (an old buddy of Lasky's) was the cause of the trouble. He is a second-rate writer, a neurotic, frustrated intellectual, who had a chip on his shoulder and unquestionably inspired Trevor-Roper and Ayer with his spirit of antagonism. Another complication was the fact that Ayer and Koestler have been intellectual rivals and bitterly dislike each other. Ayer was infuriated by Koestler's prominence and communicated this antagonism to Trevor-Roper. The latter is an excessively conceited man (Burnham added at this point that almost all intellectuals are excessively conceited) and was openly annoyed because he did not figure in the proceedings with sufficient prominence. ("Incidentally," says Burnham, "Trevor-Roper's description of Koestler as a 'rootless European' follows Pravda, which uses that term as a general description for Jews.") The annoyance felt by Trevor-Roper and Ayer at their relegation to minor roles in comparison to Koestler found its outlet in articles which both of those men have written, (Note: We have only seen the one by Trevor-Roper.) and the situation was complicated by the desire of Trevor-Roper to maintain a high and academic objectivity in relation to world affairs, whereas the delegates to the Congress insisted on making it a realistic denunciation of the Communist strangle-hold on culture and intellectual freedom. Koestler epitomizes the lofty philosophical viewpoint by saying, "Do you want partial liberty or total slavery?" Lasky has written a reply, over his name, to Trevor-Roper.

d. Melvin Lasky is granted the qualities of ability, courage, hard work and political intuition but he is, at the same time, the most vain and egocentric individual imaginable. In addition to which, he is an intellectual snob and a publicity hound. Also, he definitely is not reliable, cannot be counted upon to do things that he should do unless they work in with his own ideas. He has the Russian Menshevik point of view which is simply that of useless intrigue for the sake of intrigue. His intellectual snobbery was indicated in his process of meeting delegates. If they were very important, he went to meet them with his personal car and driver—along with newspaper photographers. If they were reasonably important, a private car was sent for them. If they were ordinary delegates, they was given transportation on a bus. At least one delegate was contacted by Burnham and arrangements were made with Lasky to invite him but no invitation was sent. In the case of Max Yergin, Lasky succeeded in humiliating him and in the case of Yakovlev, Lasky at first refused to print his name on the program at all. Lasky has done a wonderful job with Der Monat and there is no question as to his natural ability and capacity for hard work but it is difficult to see how he can be used in any outstanding position in connection with a continuation of the Congress unless it is in an advisory capacity, possibly in charge of the Berlin office and with a strong hand to subdue his self-advertising proclivities.

MEMORANDUM FOR: CEE

THROUGH: MR. SCHREYER, EE 3

SUBJECT: Activities of Mr. Melvin Lasky in connection with Congress for Cultural Freedom (Project PDQUICK)

1. This is in response to your request that we examine our files and submit a statement concerning the undue prominence given to Mr. Melvin Lasky in connection with the Cultural Congress.

2. Lasky was publicly identified, early in the preparations for the Congress, as the spark plug and leading light. This unsatisfactory position was anticipated by Mr. Wisner, who, in his approval of Project PDQUICK, cautioned against emphasis on Lasky's participation. (Attachment A).

3. From the beginning, the home office was cognizant of the danger of a spotlight being thrown on any overt U. S. employee, and, in addition to previous warnings, on 7 April cabled specific instructions for the retirement of Lasky to the background. This and other admonitions, from the home office and the OPC German Mission chief, will be found at attachment B.

4. However, a review of the publicity which the Congress received shows an unfortunate amount of concentration on Lasky. In Berlin, for instance, where the Congress received its greatest publicity output, out of 180 newspaper clippings which are available, approximately 15 specifically featured Lasky, some of them photographically. Of the U. S. and British press clippings which were available, several featured Lasky prominently. In a feature article in the New Leader, the subject of which was the Cultural Congress, Lasky was referred to as the initiator of the Congress and he was featured in at least two of the formal press releases which were given out in Berlin. Of the 73 photographs which covered the Congress and which were released for press and historical purposes, Lasky is prominently featured in 6. (a large amount of this publicity material, including photographs, press cuttings and press releases, is available in our files.) While Lasky's part as General Secretary was over-emphasized in a number of newspapers and periodicals, the most damaging article appeared as a review of the Congress in the Manchester Guardian, written by the prominent historian, Mr. H. R. Trevor-Roper in which Lasky was described as connected with American Information Services and the organizer of the Congress. The statement was unfortunate because this was the only critical article of the Congress known to have appeared in the Western press. In passing, it might be mentioned that the London Economist also picked up Lasky's appointment as General Secretary, as suggesting U. S. sponsorship. Its review, however, was laudatory and pointed up the sincerity and usefulness of the gathering. The holding of the Congress in Berlin was described as "a gesture of defiance"; the meeting was called an event of "considerable significance" (strong words for the London Economist) and it was referred to as marking, or at least reflecting "a turning point of the western counter-attack in the cold war." "Korea," said the Economist, "made the fortune of the Congress and crystallized the real issue before the delegates." Trevor-Roper, in a letter to the Economist, commenting on its article, was much more temperate than in his article in the Guardian. For example, in the Economist he declared, "We were almost all united against Communism from the start."

~~TOP~~ SECRET

COPY 1 OF 6 COPIES

5. At this point, it should be specified that from the time the Congress was first discussed, it was recognized that the Communist press would indict it as a fascist, war mongering, propaganda group operating under the intelligence auspices of the U. S. and that this accusation would be broadcast by the Communist machine (as it was) whether or not, in fact the Congress had been under any external controls. It was also recognized that the General Secretary of the Congress would inevitably receive a certain amount of attention from the press. It seems to be clear, however, that this amount of attention was unnecessarily large.

6. Notwithstanding the undue personal publicity achieved by Mr. Lasky, it is significant that:

a. He played a most important role in the conception, development, organization and control of the Congress. Without his active interest and support the launching of the Congress would have been most difficult.

b. The Congress was a highly successful operation. In its stand against intellectual neutrality in the struggle against Communism, its "Letter to the East," its final "Manifesto," and its deliberations and intellectual discussions, the Congress has proven its propaganda value which will be extended and expanded to a greater degree in the future.

LINDSAY

SUBJECT: Project PDQUICK

1. With reference to my conversation with Mr. Baker concerning the project outline covering the subject project, I have approved this project subject to the following condition. It makes no sense to me that we should state in paragraph 6 under the heading of security that all practicable measures will be taken to disguise the official U. S. interest, financial and otherwise; and at the same time to provide that one of the two active sponsors will be Mr. Melvin J. Lasky, editor of the overt HICOG monthly magazine "Der Monat." I understand that Mr. Lasky is needed as one of the principal organizers and operatives but I think it quite unnecessary for his name to be flourished about as a sponsor. After all, he is officially employed by HICOG--he is, therefore, an acknowledged member of the U. S. apparatus in Germany. Why then should his name be used? Reuter is an excellent sponsor and surely it will be possible to find one or more others--non-American or at least non-official American--to serve as sponsors.

2. Generally in the same connection I assume that our consultant, Mr. Burnham, will operate in the wings and that his name will not be too prominently displayed. As the result of his recent book and the furor of communist commentary, he is a "sitting duck" for hostile propaganda in my opinion. I am entirely in favor of his participating extensively in the arrangements, but the more his participation can be in the form of "off-stage whispers" the better.

T. S.

The decision on this is not up to me. I will appreciate opportunity to discuss it with you.

My point of view is that ALL of this current PDQUICK stuff is premature and a case of a lot of hungry actors smelling easy money and wanting to get into the act and get the show on the road.

We have no budget for PDQUICK for this period - and literally are living on borrowed funds. We can't make up a budget because we have no accounting from the field, do not know where we stand.

Here are some other questions in my mind:

What were the publicity accomplishments of the relatively expensive NY office?

What happened to the Berlin news coverage by US correspondents?

What happened to the bright and sanguinary forecasts of tremendous amounts of publicity, special magazine articles, radio broadcasts, etc. which were to emanate from the attendance at the Congress of Messrs. Montgomery and Conant - a little matter which cost the US about two thousand pieces of lettuce ? (It seems clear that their attendance was absolutely worthless otherwise.)

What happened to their efforts to obtain delegates from the Middle East?

Why did Lasky proceed with a dozen last minute invitations to innocuous persons (these were supposed to be 'a few' and to extremely important people) including several wives.

A cablegram was sent urging that a press conference be arranged for Franz Mehring? Did it take place?

There were no photographs of the book displays. This book display was an expensive item. Did it take place?

Now with all these questions in my mind, adding up to a realization that if the Congress was a success, it was only a success as far as it went, and it has a long way to go to completely justify itself - the next steps NOT being spending a lot of dough for the support of deserving intellectuals who have no other source of income, but in getting a distribution of a million pieces of literature, and other publicity, in Satellite areas - I would hesitate (which is a euphemism for blankly object) to blandly appropriating an extra ten thousand bucks to support an innocuous group of Russian exiles who want to air their grievances, NOT under our control.

MEMORANDUM FOR: CKX 3

SUBJECT: 229-[illegible]U, Special Report on PDQUICK

Glaser and Kroller have discussed the attached paper and are agreed as follows:

a. We think that in the preparation of the paper, Josselson was acting as a reporter rather than fundamentally expressing his own ideas.

b. In our opinion, the whole scheme, as described in the special report, is much too grandiose, ambitious and cumbersome.

c. We agree that the Congress should continue in existence but we do not think that it has to have any legal establishment.

d. We see the functioning of a continuing organization as providing the basis for future Congress meetings, providing members with a focus of interest, providing a logical source of information, propaganda, publications, and publicity, and as a cover for certain F[illegible] operations.

e. We think the organization of the Congress could follow the outline in paragraph 4 of the Reference down to, and including, the General Secretary, with the addition of an Executive Assistant, a stenographer, and a typist, and elimination of the rest of the suggested personnel.

f. We think it advisable that the Congress have one office, possibly, though not necessarily, in Paris, and that its other "offices" (which in actuality need be little more than letter drops) would require no personnel and no administrative machinery except arrangements for the forwarding of mail. Any other sporadic use to be made of such "offices," such as localized press releases, for instance, could be accomplished through a resident member of either the Executive Committee or the International Committee.

g. We think that it need not cost more than $25,000 for the next year to maintain the Congress organization, pay for administration, traveling expenses, including the salaries of personnel, which would assume a General Secretary who would be an OPC agent. (This latter concept may not be absolutely necessary; but if not, then provision should be made for OPC contact some other way.) In addition to the $25,000, specified above, there should be an allotment of $50,000 for the holding of the next Congress. Another $25,000 should be added for special purposes largely connected with publicity. The major part of the expenditures for the next year for collection, printing, and dissemination of Congress material and which could conceivably amount to as much as $250,000 as a top figure, would be provided, it is hoped, by ECA funds.

h. The activities mentioned in Part II of subject report could very well be handled under the setup outlined above with certain exceptions which seem to be too broad in scope to be justified at all.

SPECIAL REPORT: Situation and Perspectives.

I ORGANIZATION

1. At the conclusion of the Berlin sessions of the CONGRESS FOR CULTURAL FREEDOM, the basis for continuing work was created by the appointment of several committees. Some confusion and uncertainty reigned at this period; these need to be clarified. The following is suggested:

a. Honorary Chairman: Letters will go out this week to the Five Philosophers -- Croce, Dewey, Maritain, Jaspers, and Russell -- requesting them to honor the CONGRESS by continuing to serve with the permanent commission.

b. Sponsors: A great many distinguished men in the field of art and science had given their support to the Berlin Congress, although they were unable to come. Their names would be most useful in the Congress' continuing activities. If, as seems only appropriate, the final International Committee of 25 should consist only of "active members", then some of the nominations originally included should be transferred by the working Executive Committee to this special list of Sponsors. These (before the Congress) included -- and permission here will also be requested -- Andre Gide, Ralph Bunche (important, for no Negro was nominated in Berlin), Carl Zuckmayer, Salvador de Madariaga......among many others.

c. International Committee of 25: At the Berlin sessions the following were nominated -- (1) Ignazio Silone; (2) David Rousset; (3) Arthur Koestler; (4) Carlo Schmid; (5) Irving Brown; (6) Julian Amery; (7) Haakon Lie; (8) James Burnham; (9) Sidney Hook; (10) Nicolas Nabokov; (11) Eugen Kogon; (12) Theodor Plievier; (13) Herbert Read; (14) Denis de Rougemont; (15) Lionello Venturi; (16) Boris Nicolaevsky; (17) Karel Kupka; (18) Josef Czapski; (19) Margarete Buber-Neumann; (20) Andre Philip..... These were all present and are confirmed. The following were nominated and still have to be informed, and confirmed; (21) Richard Crossman; (22) Francois Mauriac; (23) Pablo Casals (for the "Sponsors"?); (24) Thornton Wilder; (25) Oskar Pollak; and (26) Salvador de Madariaga ("Sponsor"?).

d. Executive Committee of 5: This consists of the first five named above -- Silone, Rousset, Koestler, Brown, and Schmid (who has definitely accepted, and thus taken the place of Kogon).

2. It was decided to hold the first meeting of the CONGRESS Executive Committee during the first week in September in Paris. It will probably be desirable to hold several informal meetings before then in order to work out the outline and details of a functioning CONGRESS plan.

3. Urgent problem facing the CONGRESS by September is the working out of a legal or constitutional basis of the permanent CONGRESS organization. Who are "members"? How is the International Committee to be maintained; how are additions, substractions, changes in this and the Executive Committee to be made? Who invites to the next Congress, and who "votes"? A number of proposals should be considered before a final Memorandum is presented. This should be done in conjunction with the man who will probably be General-Secretary and/or Executive Director of the CONGRESS.

4. It is suggested that the original title be kept and made permanent — namely, CONGRESS FOR CULTURAL FREEDOM/KONGRESS FUER KULTURELLE FREIHEIT/CONGRESS POUR LA LIBERTE DE LA CULTURE. The use of the word "CONGRESS" in such connection has its parallel both with the CIO (Congress of Industrial Organizations) in the USA, and with the Congress Party in India.

5. A provisional plan for the organization of the CONGRESS should be worked out, less in the expectation that it will be immediately set up than in the hope that within the next six months it can be more and more realized. The following sketch is submitted:

CONGRESS FOR CULTURAL FREEDOM

Honorary Chairman
Sponsors

International Committee of 25

Executive Committee of 5

General Secretary

Executive Director
Editorial Director
Research Director
Paris Bureau Director
Berlin Bureau Director

Exec. Asst.
Edit. Asst.
Research Asst.

Stenographer Translator

Typist

In the light of this table of organization, several provisional appointments could be made in order to get CONGRESS activities working immediately, e.g. appointment of Frau Buber-Neumann as executive of the Berlin bureau; appointment of Francois Bondy as Editorial Director; appointment of somebody like Richard Loewenthal as Research Director. The urgencies will become clearer below.

II ACTIVITIES

1. Publications Project: the immediate editing of a volume on the founding Berlin CONGRESS. Most of the material is already available in three languages: French, English, and German. This will be completed in the next month by the transitional CONGRESS Bureau in Berlin. Norbert Muhlen is assisting in putting out the special double number of "Der Monat" on the Congress, which may be a kind of "experimental model". Francois Bondy is returning to work out a table of contents and an editorial approach to the Congress volume.

2. Pamphlet Project: the immediate preparation and publication in many languages of a simple straight forward brochure (12-24) pages on "What is the Congress for Cultural Freedom?" It should be illustrated; should tell the story of the Berlin sessions; should print the Manifesto of Intellectual Liberty (and possibly a revised improved Message to the East); should outline a plan of Congress work to be followed and point to the future. This is essential for CONGRESS sympathizers, for the press, for the public in general. The Editorial Director (Bondy) can be assigned to prepare a draft for revision and approval in September.

3. Investigation Project: the first of a series of White Book reports on the situation of cultural freedom. Silone has recommended, and the CONGRESS has announced, a documented account of the Writer, Artist, and Scientist in the countries behind the Iron Curtain (an account which the UNESCO, because of its governmental connections, cannot do). An immediate beginning should be made with the appointment of a Research Chief for this project, responsible for working out an editorial plan, contacting sources for information; this project chief should have the sociological and journalistic qualifications of men like Loewenthal and Muhlen (and Peter de Mendelssohn).

4. Protest Project: the CONGRESS should, with the specific signatures of its leading supporters, keep in the forefront of public attention by taking up via the press, open meetings, debates, etc., cases of flagrant violations of the principles of the CONGRESS as stated in the Manifesto and other documents. The CONGRESS cannot, to be sure, become an international civil-liberties union, but it can speak out on special issues (purge of a University, liquidation of a scientist, arrest of a writer, etc.).

5. Break-away Project: the CONGRESS should by means both of information and agitation keep alive the difference between those who are choosing freedom and those who are willingly or unknowingly supporting totalitarianism and its deceptions. The dramatic defection of Prof. Alfred Kober during the Congress Berlin session from the Soviet-controlled Academy of Science is an example of what can be done; this specific German movement is gathering strength; there have been another half-dozen resignations, and the news is spreading in Eastern Germany. This has also involved the world-famous Charite hospital in Eastern Berlin, almost 3/4 of the distinguished medical specialists are ready to break away, and we are now hoping to reach some constructive arrangement by which they can maintain themselves in West-Berlin. This type of activity — ranging from welcoming prominent individuals from the East, to sheltering groups and institutions, and beginning with initial private contact — can transform the CONGRESS from a group of spokesmen for the libertarian ideal into "activists for freedom".

6. Radio-Broadcasting Project: inaugurating a special series of radio programs to be prepared by the CONGRESS. Liaison should be established with RIAS, the Free Europe network, the French, Austrian, German and British stations, including the Voice of America. Plans have been started for the first series — namely, "Dialogues Across the Curtain"; a dozen 'open-letters' — Koestler to Seghers and Brecht, other to Becher, Eisler, Lukacs, Lysenko, Tarle, Ehrenburg, et. al. -- personalized messages of five-minutes (less in hateful opposition, more in open-hearted pity). This would be a practical follow-up to the CONGRESS' "Message to the East". These could be published in various newspapers; later in small book-form.

7. Annual Prize-Award Project: the CONGRESS should award each year a number of CONGRESS prizes to various personalities for distinctive services and contributions to the cause of Cultural Freedom. This could be given on the basis of a new book, a career, or some special activities. Two types can be distinguished: the Nobel-Prize model, and the University Stipend. The latter would enable the recipient (an American, a Frenchman) to spend four weeks in Berlin, giving a series of 5 CONGRESS lectures at the Free University, later to be printed as a special CONGRESS volume. (This is equally true of an English recipient at Heidelberg, a German at the New School in N.Y.C., a Frenchman at the London School of Economics, etc.)

8. Publishing-House Project: this could be a modestly-conceived annex to the CONGRESS Berlin-Bureau, which would actually bring out the CONGRESS volumes (indicated above). It would also publish the pamphlets and brochures mentioned. It would consider the popular cultural-political library (the Birkenfeld proposal). It could be the house to which "Der Monat" would go, if and when this monthly becomes completely independent. It would gradually build up its own list of authors from among prominent CONGRESS writers (Koestler, et. al.) The Publishing-House could be started from the existing transitional CONGRESS bureau now functioning in Berlin; the Bureau-Director, or the Executive Assistant, could be charged with the responsibilities of a normal international Publisher in Germany (incorporation as a G.m.b.H., and the like).

9. News-Letter Project: immediate plans for a fortnightly communication to all CONGRESS sympathizers, the press, etc. should be started, completed. A 2-4 page mimeographed information-bulletin will keep alive CONGRESS interest.

III SOME LARGE-SCALE LONG-RANGE PROPOSALS

1. Film Proposal: a series of CONGRESS documentary films, possibly produced in connection with other organizations. Suggestion for a first film: a full-length feature on World-Communism, a script for which (The Hammer & The Sickle") has been outlined by M.J. Lasky and Stuart Schulberg (one of the leading U.S. documentary-makers, who would most probably be available in Europe for it). These could have normal commerical distribution, special schools, and universities distribution.

2. Lecture-Tour Proposal: building up a circuit throughout western-Europe, the United States, and elsewhere, for political and cultural CONGRESS speakers.

3. Research-Institute Proposal: this could be a normal and logical outgrowth of the first CONGRESS research activities. It would mean the establishment of a "Chatham House" on an international basis for serious studies of the cultural-political problems of our day. Scholars and journalists, on the basis of specific assignments and awards, could be associated with CONGRESS activities. This would be linked with the Paris and Berlin bureaus of the CONGRESS, with such international reviews as are affiliated with the CONGRESS (Der Monat", etc.), and with the CONGRESS Publishing House.

4. University Proposal: a centre for Eastern exile professor and students, either in the form of an independent academic institution (the Czapski resolution) -- or perhaps in the more practical form of scholarships for the exiled students, and university chairs for the scholars — both is existing European and American academic institutions (Berlin Free University, Sorbonne, Zurich, Oxford, Cambridge, Harvard, etc.).

5. School-for-Freedom Proposal: the organization, at first on a very modest summer-school-type basis, of a "George Orwell School for Freedom" (Hochschule fuer Freiheit), in which special courses and seminars in the political and cultural problems of our day could be given. Students could be invited (and thus give the youth some measure of intellectual training): leading publicists and officials could participate. This could be associated with the Research Institute (whose researchers become teachers and participants in the School Sessions), and with the University Project. "Congress cadres" could be developed here.

6. Proposal for Other National Bureaus: expanding into other European capital cities -- Stockholm for Scandinavia, Vienna for the Balkans, Rome for the Mediterranean, New York and Havana for North and South America. It will, in any case, probably become imperative to establish a sub-Bureau in New York City for the next period, so that American public opinion is not neglected.

1. Thank you for obtaining the attached copy of General Magruder's estimate of the above mentioned operation which I note was given in a memorandum of transmittal to Secretary Johnson. I have furnished a copy of this estimate to Mr. Joyce who I understand will show it to certain significant people in the State Department.

2. I think that all persons concerned with this operation are entitled to the heartiest congratulations and if you have not already done so, I should appreciate your passing on the substance of General Magruder's appraisal to the field. I am sending a copy of this memorandum to Mr. Thompson, who I assume will pass on the word to the members of his staff who played a role in this operation.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE SECRETARY

SUBJECT: Congress for Cultural Freedom - an OPC organized accomplishment.

This is an Operational Report of an actual accomplishment. It is a subtle covert operation carried out on the highest intellectual level. It is unconventional warfare at its best in which the objectives are men's minds. It is the opening operation of a continuing campaign.

The origin and purposes are stated in Section I. The details in organizing a delicate operation of this nature are only hinted in this report, but enough is expressed to arouse admiration for the principal operatives.

The report is already too condensed for briefing. I urgently recommend that you scan the whole of it.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Messrs. Bumstead, Stribling, and Ragsdale

FROM : Charles Olmstead

SUBJECT : Confidential Report Received By Schiller on Berlin Congress for Cultural Freedom

1. When Mr. Stribling's shop requested me, at the behest of a cable request of Mr. Hambley, to attempt to appease Schiller in connection with his indignation for the manner in which Max Yergin, the American Negro, had been handled in Berlin, Schiller reacted in the manner described in my earlier memorandum on this subject, which was on the whole satisfactory. He has since received a complete report from a reliable and competent observer at the Berlin Congress which I am quoting below:

"On the whole, the Congress has achieved some useful results. In my opinion, the best thing about the Congress was that it was held in Berlin. A Congress in Paris, in Switzerland or in any other place would have had neither the same political significance nor would it have received the same publicity. For the Berliners, the fact that Berlin was chosen as the meeting place was renewed proof of Western solidarity with their resistance against the Russians. They need such proof again and again, especially in view of the fact that they have a definite and justified impression that the Bonn Government is not inclined to manifest any particular fervor as far as help for the Berlin population is concerned.

"The Congress, moreover, has been a success inasmuch as it showed the determination of an important group of intellectuals, scholars, and artists to leave no longer unchallenged Communist attempts to dominate the scene through their various "cultural" front organisations. The permanent machinery established by the Congress for the purpose of continuing its work may be of great importance provided that certain conditions are observed in its activities.

"The following critical remarks regarding certain phases and features of the work of the Congress should not be construed as an attempt to deny the fact that the Congress has achieved a useful purpose. Nor is this criticism made from a perfectionist point of view. However, while it is admitted that in a gathering of artists, scholars, and writers, many of whom tend to display prima-donna attitudes and a spirit of coterie, a certain amount of friction is inevitable, it cannot be said that everything was done to reduce such frictions to a minimum. As a result, many delegates whom I had an opportunity to ask for their impressions of the Congress, left Berlin with mixed feelings, some of them not without a certain amount of disappointment.

[illegible] file

"While the organisation of the Congress was excellent as far as the technical side was concerned, (hotels, public meetings, receptions, press interviews, etc.), the debates of the Congress took place under conditions which showed a considerable lack of imagination and ignorance of parliamentary procedure on the part of those responsible for the way in which the business of the Congress was transacted. Skeggs, Muhlen, and Bondy are certainly nice fellows with the best intentions. However, they seem to have had no previous experience at all ~~on~~ how to run a conference.

"All delegates had been asked to prepare papers on various subjects. It was obviously impossible to have all those papers read in the public meetings of the Congress (they were mimeographed and will be distributed). It was necessary to make a selection of topics and speakers. The best method would have been to appoint a steering committee which would have made this necessary selection with the maximum of objectivity. Unfortunately, this was not done. Instead, the question of who was to speak and how long was decided by Skeggs and his associates who did it in a rather arbitrary and haphazard manner. To explain what I mean let me cite a few examples: First, the case of our friend, Max Yergin. Together with Max we worked rather hard on his paper (one night we had no more than two hours sleep). The final product received rather favorable comments from Hambley and Arthur Schlesinger. I tried to make Skeggs understand the importance of having Communist propaganda regarding the Negro problem answered and refuted by a competent person who is a Negro himself. Skeggs first promised me that Yergin would have fifteen minutes speaking time. When we arrived at the meeting where Max was scheduled to speak, he was told that he would not get more than ten minutes. We went to work again, and deleted some passages so as to have a ten-minute text. However, when Max was about to take the floor, he was informed by Bondy that he should not speak longer than five minutes. As a result, Max got confused and delivered a completely inadequate version of what he originally wanted to say. Similarly, Sascha Schwarz was prevented from making a report on the situation of the working class in Russia. Nor did the delegate from Spain and the one and only representative of Latin-America to the Congress have a chance to speak.

"On the other hand, Koestler spoke four or five times and there was generally a marked tendency to build him up as a kind of praeceptor mundi. He seems to have enjoyed himself in the role of a task-master censoring and lecturing the delegates. As far as I gathered from a conversation with Skeggs, Koestler was given this prominent place because, due to the fact that as a well-known writer, his pronouncements were supposed to attract public attention in a greater measure than speeches by other delegates. The same consideration was evidently applied in the case of Silone. However, Silone seemed to be anxious to be as non-committal as possible, quite in line with his ambiguous political attitude. While Skeggs' preoccupation with problems of publicity is understandable, I do not think that the method of treating authors according to the sales of their books is apt to promote a lasting cooperation among writers, scholars, etc. For once, scholars will never be able to sell as many copies of their books as Koestler.

"At a certain moment, the debates took a very unfortunate turn. On one of the frequent occasions, when Koestler was given the floor, he read a paper wherein he attacked Socialism in general and the British Labor Government in particular. Considering 1) that about 70% of the delegates were people who professed socialist opinions; 2) that the purpose of the Congress required that a unity of all democratic intellectuals, both socialists and non-socialists in the struggle against totalitarianism be emphasized and 3) that the chairman of the Congress was Ernst Reuter, head of the social-democratic city government of Berlin -- Koestler's attack was absolutely out of place and should not have been made regardless of whether he was right or not. As a matter of fact, the paper in question proved that Koestler is mistaken in assuming that a brilliant journalist and a successful novelist is eo ipso qualified to play the role of a philosopher, historian and sociologist. In addition, mistaken statements by British Labor regarding the problem of European unity do not justify in my opinion the kind of vitriolic all-out attack against the British Labor Government which was made by Koestler who seems to have forgotten, that, regardless what one may think of some of its policies, British Labor is today one of the principal pillars of the world democratic front.

"Evidently Koestler's attack provoked immediate reaction on the part of the Socialist Congress delegates, beginning with Reuter who was in the chair. In my opinion, this entire discussion was completely unnecessary. The British conservative M. P., Amery, showed much better judgment than Koestler by studiedly avoiding in his pronouncements, any criticism of the Labor Government. If an attitude similar to that of Koestler would have been adopted in the trade union field, the I.C.F.T.U. could not have been created. As in the labor movement, the organization of intellectuals for the defense of democracy cannot be successful unless it is understood that democratic socialism is a powerful influence among the best intellectuals of Europe and Asia and that, therefore, everything should be done to secure cooperation of all democratic forces in spite of all ideological differences. I was rather astonished to find that Irving seemed to like Koestler's discourse on socialism. I spoke with quite a number of delegates and found that they didn't like it at all.

"Instead of appointing on the first and second days of the Congress a resolution Committee which would have been able to work seriously on any draft resolutions, proposals and suggestions made by the delegates, a draft manifesto and draft resolution were submitted to a plenary meeting which had to decide on them within a few hours. That meeting appointed some committees who had exactly one hour's time to amend the resolutions. Of course, no serious work of re-writing and completing the resolutions could be done under such circumstances. You will notice that the manifesto treats the question of cultural freedom principally from the point of view of the journalist and less from that of the scholar and the artists. At least this is my opinion. A draft appeal to the intellectuals behind the Iron Curtain, which was submitted by Skeggs, evoked an immediate sharp criticism on the part of the Polish and Russian delegates. The committee on which they were represented, amended it. However, later on not the amended text which was adopted by the Congress but the original draft was released to the press, thus creating additional resentment.

"Yergin was not in a happy mood when he left. A public meeting had been arranged for him and Schyler where they read their papers in full. However, they did not like the way they were treated insofar as speaking time at the Congress meetings was concerned and Max made remarks to the effect that now the Communists will say they had been jim-crowed since they had to present their case in a special meeting. They also resented the fact that the permanent committee elected by the Congress does not contain any representative of the colored race. It would, of course, have been difficult to appoint one of them to the committee since the representation of the United States was limited on purpose so as not to create the impression of American domination. However, the right of cooptation granted by the Congress to the permanent committee should be used to introduce as soon as possible in the committee intellectuals from India, Japan and other non-white areas.

"Some of the papers read at the Congress were excellent, for instance those of Prof. Muller (Schiller's man) and Arthur Schlesinger to name only a few. As far as the future work of the movement initiated by the Congress is concerned, certain things should be taken into account to make possible the full use of existing possibilities which are quite favorable. 1) Representatives of Asia and possibly Africa should be drawn into the work of the committee. 2) All due respect for literary fame, the organs of the new movement should not become a platform for the peculiar ambitions of certain individuals whatever their gifts and talents. 3) While among the intellectuals it will probably be impossible to avoid discussion of so-called ideological problems, the purpose of such discussions should not be the struggle of rival ideologies, but the finding out of the points and areas where advocates of different ideologies may meet for cooperation in the defense of democracy against totalitarianism. 4) Establishment of contacts with other movements engaged in the struggle against totalitarianism, especially in the labor movement. 5) Better organization of the work of future congresses and conferences.

"The Congress undoubtedly reflected the progress made during the last year as far as the attitude of European intellectuals is concerned. There is no trace of neutralistic attitudes in the resolutions of the Congress. The same cannot be said of all the speeches. However, no openly neutralistic speech was made at the Congress. The only paper advocating a neutralist attitude was withdrawn by its author, the Austrian physicist, Thyrring, when he heard of the Russian attack on Southern Korea. I wouldn't say that people like Rousset and especially Silone are quite clear about the present world situation, particularly as far as military defense against Russia is concerned, however, they wisely refrained from any openly neutralistic statements.

"On the whole, it can be said of the Congress that all is well that ends well. The criticism made above is not intended to contradict this general favorable impression."

2. I find on reading and rereading this criticism, that it is, in general, sound and sensible. I should like to request that particular attention be paid to the latter part of the memorandum in which five recommendations are made with regard to the future work of the movement initiated by the Berlin Congress. I should also like to draw particular attention to the reaction to the behavior of David Rousset and Ignazio Silone. This is one further indication for justification that Rousset must be constantly and thoroughly watched with a critical eye.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Messrs. Thompson and Glaser

FROM: Charles Olmstead O.

SUBJECT: Berlin Intellectual Congress

1. I wish to refer to Mr. Glaser's informal memorandum with regard to the mishandling of the American Negro, Max Yergin, at the Berlin Intellectual Congress.

2. When I informed Schiller that I wished to discuss this matter with him he proceeded to read to me a letter which he had just received from Berlin giving a rather full report on the Berlin Congress and which contained a great deal of information. Among the items reported on therein was the incident regarding Max Yergin. I explained to Schiller that it was a most difficult task to control the group of assorted Europeans who attended the Berlin Congress and sufficient time was not given, therefore, to United States delegates, but that Yergin's excellent speech, which had been cut off the radio at the microphone, was being widely used in press, radio, book and pamphlet form.

3. Schiller accepted this explanation, but in closing our discussion of this subject, wise-cracked that our boys in Berlin did not include Yergin on any social doings and closed his remarks with the statement that "even intellectuals like Burnham don't like to sit down and eat with Negroes." I chided him briefly and there the matter was closed.

SECRET

SE..F [redacted]

Informal memo.

Can you communicate this information to C.O. - as soon as practicable? (I will do so, if you prefer.)

A cable from Jim Burnham, states that Max Yergin was not satisfied with the way he was handled at the Cultural Congress in Berlin.

His complaints:

His speech - described as "excellent" - was cut off at the microphone.

He did not, apparently, receive the kind of attention he thought was due him.

He is expected to make an adverse report to Schiller.

Burnham would like Offie to appease Schiller by assuring him that the staff of the Congress had their hands full trying to control the bunch of assorted Europeans there, and could not give sufficient time and attention to US delegates. And that they intend to use Yergin's excellent material in press, radio, book and pamphlet form, giving it wide distribution. In comparison to this, Burnham considers the actual promulgation at the sessions of the Congress a minor matter.

Dear Colonel Glaser:

Walter Mehring finally got off last night. There was no room on Saturday's plane for which he stood by, but he was scheduled to take a Sunday morning plane. Due to some mechanical difficulty, that plane did not leave until last night. The American Express Co. was unofficially informed that as a result of President Truman's intervention all other planes were chartered for the stranded students. I even spoke to Mr. Buttles about getting Mr. Mehring on one of the chartered planes if the scheduled flight did not get off last night. If Mehring, too, did not turn up our counter-Grosz campaign would have looked bad. I therefore felt that he mustleave even if it meant being present at only part of the Congress.

I received a letter from George Grosz which I requested when I spoke to Mrs. Grosz:

"Here is my statement:
I regret not to be able to attend the Congress for Cultural Freedom. My reasons are entirely personal. I am delighted with your efforts to mobilize Art and scientists of the world for Freedom and Peace."

I cabled the text of the statement, signed with his name, to Berlin; and airmailed the letter and envelope to them.

Unfortunately Middleton of the Times is on vacation from Berlin. We seem to be getting better coverage in the Herald-Tribune, which has a by-line correspondent on the job.

Adolph Berle, as Chairman of the Liberal Party, cabled greetings to the Congress.

If anything goes wrong with the fruit crop in Berlin or anyplace in Europe for that matter, they'll probably blame it on Muller's fruit flies.

Dear Mr. Williams:

Re: CONGRESS FOR CULTURAL FREEDOM
Mr. Elliot Cohen, Editor
Commentary Magazine

On May 22 the Foreign Service Educational Foundation authorized American Express to provide round trip transportation between New York City and Berlin to Mr. Cohen. The delegate advised us that air transportation would be unacceptable and that, because of commitments in New York, the only steamship sailing to which he could agree was the S. S. QUEEN ELIZABETH due to leave New York after last midnight.

Space on eastbound sailings at this season is at a premium, and on this particular one has been sold out for a considerable time, being actually under ticket. We exerted our best efforts in behalf of Mr. Cohen, but were unable to come up with the desired space. Mr. Cohen, on the recommendation of the line, we understand, attended the departure of the ship in the event that a passenger would be unable to sail and space be made available at the last moment.

An odd berth did become available in this manner and it was allotted to Mr. Cohen. The passenger borrowed from accomodating friends and made payment directly to the line. Will you authorize us to reimburse Mr. Cohen for funds he expended for his eastbound passage?

It would be of great assistance if we could have your reply on Monday.

Sincerely yours,

G. J. Gilmore

P. S. Since dictating the foregoing letter, I have been advised by Miss Kluger of the local New York office of the Congress for Cultural Freedom that it is Mr. Cohen's wish that reimbursement be made to Mrs. Cohen. I presume this arrangement will be agreeable to you should you find the reimbursement in order.

Dear Colonel Glaser:

Report from Berlin: The story is Groszly exaggerated. The Stalinists have not even mentioned the Congress for the last two weeks. Berlin is seething over the Congress; the city is plastered with it.

Report from New York: Harold Lavine of Newsweek, at our instigation, spoke to Grosz who said that he is an artist, that he received numerous communications from the Eastern section of Germany about the Congress; that he is an artist and that he can't be bothered getting involved in so much correspondence. Newsweek will carry the story next week. Will Lissner of the Times is also interested.

Kempton did not carry the story; he was sidetracked by the distressing tale of the young girl Progressive Partyite who discovered the PP is not exactly democratic (her branch refused to hear Rogge on Tito). But the fruit flies made Lyons' column (enclosed). Did you see yesterday's N.Y. Herald-Tribune? There was a good story on the Congress by Joseph Newman from Berlin. I have only one copy; if I can get another, I will forward it.

Walter Mehring has his military permit for Berlin; I hope that by this time he has cleared his income tax statements for the last three years with the Treasury Dept. (he is an alien), but as I haven't heard from him for the last three hours, presumably things are going well. The American Express Company is working on his ticket.

Tomorrow the last of the delegates are off. I will be around to answer any press inquiries during the week of the Congress and then will close the office. I think the delegates can do their own worrying about the rubbers they left in Berlin.

I feel just like Cinderella — who never got to the ball.

Sincerely,

MEMORANDUM FOR: RECORD

SUBJECT: OPC Operations in Connection with Whitsun Communist Youth Demonstration in Berlin

1. At the request of the Departments of State and Defense, we had asked the Chief of the OPC German station to obtain a statement from General Maxwell D. Taylor, U. S. Commandant in Berlin, as to the effectiveness of the subject operations.

2. The cablegram from Lawrence De Neufville, Chief of OPC German Mission, dated 22 June, stated that General Taylor had asked Mr. De Neufville to convey his appreciation in the following terms:

a. "It has been of most positive value to my headquarters to know that lines of action outlined by our propaganda authorities have been disseminated throughout the Soviet Zone by a group such as yours." The success of the OPC mission in distributing over one million pieces of propaganda material before and during the Deutschlandtreffen is an achievement upon which the organization should be congratulated.

b. "Your mission is a delicate one in that you are specifically charged with avoiding attribution of your activities to any U. S. Government source or agency. This you have evidently succeeded in doing and it has been a matter of satisfaction to me to know that various matters that it was in our interest to accomplish could be performed by OPC without disclosing American interest or activity.

c. "If judgment from Berlin is of value to your organization, let me say that OPC work has proved its value during the Deutschlandtreffen. We are relying on similar or increased help from OPC in the future."

3. The German mission has advised that the original communication from General Taylor was pouched on 22 June 1950.

Congress for Cultural Freedom

AP Berlin June 23

While the Communists planned their youth peace rally, the Soviet-controlled press railed at a western-sponsored International Congress for Cultural Freedom assembling in this city 100 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

A vanguard of more than 100 anti-Communist intellectuals arrived today for the five-day congress which is to open Monday. Writers, scientists and political and trade-union leaders are to attend from a score of countries.

Called "Center Of Spies"

The Communist press called the delegates "chained dogs of Wall Street," "an elite of renegades and Trotskyites," and said the congress was a "center of spies" and a "congress of warmongers."

Communists also claimed supporters of the congress were to blame for a fire which swept an East Zone Communist clubhouse yesterday.

James Burnham, American author, said the congress "must proclaim positively that the Kremlin-controlled 'partisans of peace' movement, which met at Stockholm, is an utter fraud. It must show that there is only one way to peace, and that is the freedom road."

Barge Detention Denounced

Other Americans coming are David Lilienthal, former chairman of the United States Atomic Energy Commission; Tennessee Williams and Carson McCullers, playwrights; Robert Montgomery, actor, and Irving Brown, trade-union leader.

Meanwhile, the Russians accused British occupation officials of apparently trying to stoke up the cold war by "aggressive provocations" in the detention of 76 barges on canals in West Berlin.

Dear Doctor,

Very happy news given in your call of yesterday. I found when I got here confirmation of our room at Hotel de la Tremoille, 14, rue de la Tremoille, scheduled for July 15-[illegible]. (The rue de la Tremoille is a short street off Ave. Francois 1er.) We shall expect to see you there and then.

I enclose from yesterday's H-T an item that you may not have seen. Our man seems to be doing just right so far.

I had last night a lengthy telephone call from William Phillips (the editor of Partisan Review who was in Paris last autumn, and who was concerned in the plan for a French edition). When Mel Lasky was here, Phillips was ill; and Mel invited Philip Rahv (his co-editor) to go to Berlin, more or less as representing Partisan Review. Rahv later turned the invitation down. An official invitation was never given to Phillips, but he had been approached informally, I believe. Last night Phillips was concerned both with Berlin and (especially) with the French magazine setup. He understands that the original idea for a French edition of P R is out, but that there is now in process a French magazine which would have a special relation to P.R. (He made a few points, in confidence, about who is supposed to be concerned in this magazine - and I, for one, am not altogether easy in my mind on the matter.)

In any case, Phillips thinks that if a special P R connection is thought of, he probably ought to be involved a bit. Specifically, if the French magazine affair is going ahead, he would like to be in Paris; and he would also like to be in Berlin. He evidently thought that if he were officially invited to Berlin, then he could go afterwards to Paris on the magazine; and he suggested that if something were going on, I could also work on it when in Paris in July.

I bring this to the attention of you and your friends. (I told Phillips that I would see in Berlin as soon as I got there how things stood. He said that he would be ready to leave at once if he were invited.)

My own opinion tends to be: 1) Phillips should not be invited merely for Berlin, since there are enough Americans; and if there are to be more, another type is more important; 2) however, Partisan Review - that is, the American connection - should be in the French magazine setup thoroughly from the beginning; 3) if, therefore, the French magazine is now going ahead, then P R should be represented before these unreliable French characters twist matters up; 4) a combination trip of Berlin and the French magazine might justify an invitation for Phillips - I gather that if he is invited to Berlin, he will finance the Paris part of his trip; 5) it may, however, be that I, as a member of P R's Advisory Board, can sufficiently represent P R at this stage, if it be in order for it to be represented.

Well, I bring this to your attention, and through you to whomever else's relevant. You might see that a comment on the matter reaches me next week in Berlin. My own hesitation in giving a definite opinion on it comes from the fact that I have not heard for many months anything about the French magazine prospect and plan.

Our friend whom Davron saw in New York seems worth pursuing at least a step or two farther. I have more or less arranged to get together with him in Paris. He apparently has one quite precise idea that, in the not too much I know about it now, sounds useful and possible.

We were delighted that Katherine and John were here.

We shall see you.

JEB   16 June

Present at conference in office of Asst. Secretary of State McKnight at conference today:

Messrs: McKnight
Grundahl
Kalorek
Buttles
Huddle
Neilson
Glaser

I have a complete, practically verbatim record of the meeting, but am setting down an extract of what took place.

Mr. McKnight stated that the meeting had been called to discuss ways and means of taking advantage of the Cultural Congress in Berlin by widespread dissemination of the product of the Congress, speeches, declarations, etc. Why would it not be a good idea to have Buttles communicate with Lasky and have latter send the material to Paris for publication in France, as well as here.

Mr. Neilson (ECA) said that speaking for ECA, they have a liberal view as to spending ECA funds and are anxious to cooperate with State, subject to limitations which are relevant to the present case, which are (a) expenditure to be approved on a project basis (b) a finger to be kept on the progress of expenditure (c) within certain totals (d) keep away from the flamboyant and spectacular. (For instance, no large gobs of ECA money to send US symphony orchestras touring through Europe.) Said Mr. Neilson, the Cultural Congress would fall within the zone of probable acceptability and should be a cooperative enterprise with State, to be cleared with ECA financial and legal advisers, but do not anticipate difficulty because the Cultural Congress is clearly related to the approved ECA policy of countering the Soviet peace offensive.

Mr. Buttles suggested that the best thing to do with product of Congress was to get local people to publish it; we furnish translations, paper, ink, etc.

The above suggestion led to one by Neilson that a Dissemination Committee might be formed, backed with our money. Buttles added that in addition to a more profound type job, there might be one for the unwashed public with illustrations - and extracts of speeches.

Mr. McKnight concurred, thought we needed to work out the distribution problem by use of a committeewhich would take charge of publication and distribution - in many languages. Buttles added that we should use Germans and German facilities to see that manuscripts and photos are made available.

(At this point I suggested to Buttles that there would be a question of sponsorship of material.)

McKnight and Buttles agreed that Lasky should be contacted and put in a position of discussing the matter with Neilson who is returning to Paris tonight, Neilson added he would like to get together with Cody and other State people in Paris.

At McKnight's suggestion, Buttles said he would communicate with Lasky and ask him to come to Paris to talk about the matter with Neilson.

Following are actual quotes:

Neilson: "I don't know a great deal about this Cultural Congress, is it apt to produce a major offensive against the USSR and against the peace offensive?"

McKnight: "Yes, I think so. They are a very important bunch of people."

Kelorek: "They are big names. Very high calibre, very impressive; their discussions could be dynamite in putting over telling ideas."

Neilson then pointed out that ECA was going to be in the business of using very important organizations of all kinds in Europe (gave some Italian references) but thought that because of the temporary character of ECA such a thing as develmopment of the Cultural Congress should be turned over to State or CIA to handle and continue. (Somewhere previously I had asked Buttles, in order to make a point, whether the Congress was going to be self continuing - Bruce said he thought so.) Neilson said we should develop a full head of steam on the proposition and then should not drop out, should be continued by State through Lasky, or by CIA. (Actually was a plea for CIA to take notice of the Congress and take it over.)

McKnight then asked me if CIA was interested in the proposition as a whole. I replied it seemed very interesting. He then said if a conference was arranged in Paris would we like to have a CIA representative there, I answered I thought we might like to have someone. I then asked Buttles if he was sure Lasky would go to Paris - Buttles said he would try to arrange to have either Lasky or Josselson (which was the reply I hoped for.) He said they were both State department people, both familiar with the Congress.

In effect, that was the end of the conference. McKnight again said that CIA should certainly be cut in on the proceedings from now on because of their future interest in the Congress.

Neilson's name: WALDEMAR NEILSON

Paris address: HOTEL TALLEYRAND

Time of meeting: NEILSON REQUESTS THAT IT TAKE PLACE AFTER WEDNESDAY OF NEXT WEEK.

I suggest that a cable be sent to Mike explaining exactly what is in the wind (info to Larry.) Personally I would decide to send either Lasky AND Mike, or Mike, or Lasky and Larry, or Larry alone. They wought to be advised at once. That ECA is willing to provide funds for production of a million copies of the speeches of the Congress and other publicity. Neilson said that labor committees and other cooperative groups might be used for dissemination. However, the greatest caution must be exercised to see that a committee on publications, or words to that effect, is appointed during the sessions of the Congress, and in my opinion it should be an unwitting group, except for one member; it should NOT have more than one US representative. It MIGHT be entirely German. Again it looks as though Lasky might have to be the secretary of such a group. I think all they have to do is start a quick 'fund raising campaign' for publications - and won't they be surprised at the speed with which French, Italian, British and US organizations respond with lots of money for the purpose! Buttles and I had a quiet talk after the conference this afternoon and he is entirely in sympathy with my point of view, anxious to cooperate and not entirely sure that Lasky is the right man to go single handed to Paris. This guy Neilson is a peach. Sharp, keen, responsive and a worker - sticks out all over him.

I feel like a sheep killing dog not to stay on the job and see this through, but I've only got one son and I hope he'll only be married once. Please let me know if you need me; I will be at Hotel Fensgate, Bay State Road, Boston.

L. G.

Also — I think we should see that Burnham — or some other delegate — or several — touch on the Peace Offensive, exposing it as a swindle — which would endear the Congress all the more to State and ECA — and is well worthwhile in itself,

Sol

Memo of telephone conversation with Jim Burnham in New York

10 a.m. Thursday morning 15 June, 1950.

a. Contact with Burnham. In reply to my suggestion that I stop in New York Sat. morning to see him, discuss Congress affairs and deliver a pistol, Burnham replied that he was leaving this afternoon for his camp in Connecticut, would not return until Saturday night, was flying on Sunday morning. He suggested that there was little necessity for additional discussion of the Congress, that if any papers or articles (the pistol) were to be delivered to him, they could be sent by mail or otherwise to his NY address, care of Mrs. Claude Burnham, 3 E 69 St., telephone Rhinelander 47890; the address is a safe one, he says, with a trusted doorman on duty and a maid in the residence. (Not safe from our point of view - but presumably nothing classified is to be transmitted.) Discussed this with Smith who says he will arrange to get pistol to Burnham.

b. Between now and Sat. night, Burnham will be at his camp in Connecticut, telephone: Kent 78, Ring 1 - 2 .

c. Matter of extra expense to be allowed Pearl Kluger for gather signatures for cablegram to Congress, and for certain other incidentals connected with travel of delegates, Burnham's estimate this would not amount to more than $100. I authorized him to spend up to $150 for this purpose.

d. Matter of closing N.Y. office. I authorized continuation after July 1st only in form of one week's part time employment of Kluger, couple of hours a day and use of telephone.

e. Matter of permanent continuation of Congress office (presumably in Berlin); I said this should be discussed in Berlin, that we would expect a cablegram of recommendation before first of July, would immediately respond with a decision, possibly as to project amendment calling for funds for support of continuing office. (Impossible, I think, to anticipate decisions now as they would depend on success of Congress in attracting world publicity, furnishing base for continuing propaganda and arousing communist opposition.)

Berlin-Charlottenburg, 12 June 1950

Dear Jim,

Thanks for letter of the 6th. Good to know that you and Marcia are due here so nice and early. Four more shoulders on which to unload the awful burden of this hard world.

What's this about not accepting the brilliant Aron-Koestler-Burnham Memo? That is now our working gospel. The International Committee lives on? No, no. It's been killed, it's dead. The five philosophers reign. The alphabetical order has come into new glory. Under separate cover you will receive the latest news from A to Z. New Correspondence paper is being printed. The program of the Congress will be the revised printed booklet which you already have.

As for the names, pretty kettle of fish you chaps fished together. We extended invitations. A few came up with affirmatives. Ayer from England, etc. Also--Jules Romains. Now that he's coming, Koestler -- via telephone yesterday -- says, oh, oh. Well, why in the world was he put on the list when he's so wishy-washy? You can't have him without letting him speak. And he's tentatively scheduled for about 10 minutes on the opening Monday program. Also, by the way, Koestler informed he won't be able to turn up even for a day before the Congress. I am writing today to ask him to plan a short opening address to round off the somewhat too ceremonial opening program with a political-keynoting speech. You might write him too, if it won't be overdoing it.

Also under separate cover, some papers that we have been sending out.

See you soon.

SUBJECT: Letter of Instruction for Kenneth H. Hambley

1. Accompanying the approval of subject letter of instruction, it was requested by AIFC that I prepare a memorandum of my conversation with Mr. Richards covering arrangements for the travel of Hambley's wife.

2. On 31 May I saw Mr. Richards of Confidential Funds Division and explained the situation to him. Mr. Richards gave the following opinion:

> Mrs. Hambley may travel to the Cultural Congress, at the invitation of the Congress, in her own right, drawing money from the travel fund for the purpose of such travel without consideration of Hambley's status vis-a-vis CIA. This on the theory that whether or not Mrs. Hambley is a delegate to the Congress, her travel may be considered necessary because of services she will be expected to render, and also because her presence will protect her husband's cover. The Cultural Congress is ostensibly financially independent. It would, therefore, make any such arrangements without consideration of CIA rules regarding the travel of employees and agents.

Bericht Nr. 12.

Die Veranstaltungen im Haus der Kultur der S.U. zeigen eine aufsteigende Linie. Den Gästen wird ein immer vielseitigeres Programm dargeboten. Immer mehr Besucher, davon viel Stammgäste, stellen sich ein. Damit steigt auch die Wirkung, der Einfluß im Sinne der sowjetischen Gastgeber bei deutschen breiten Volksmassen.

Anläßlich des dreijährigen Bestehens des Hauses gab die Geschäftsführung auf großen dekorativen Wandtafeln bekannt, daß 1947 105 Vorträge stattfanden; 1948 waren es 197 und 1949 schon 328 geworden. Gegenwärtig gibt es in einer Woche mitunter etwa zehn Vorträge, meist mit anschließendem Film, daneben zahlreiche musikalische und künstlerische Vorstellungen und die eigentlichen Filme, im Monat annähernd zehn verschiedene. Berücksichtigt man dazu noch die ständigen Ausstellungen, die stets lebhaft besucht werden, und häufige festliche Versammlungen, so kann man schätzen, daß mindestens zweitausend Menschen täglich (mit Ausnahme eines Ruhetages in jeder Woche) das Haus der Kultur betreten. Sie werden auch durch die repräsentative äußere Aufmachung und die kostenlose Betreuung beeindruckt. Solche Räume kennen manche (wohl die meisten) Besucher nur aus Film oder Bildern, und auf seidendamastbespannte Polstermöbel aus Schloß Sanssouci können sie sich sonst auch nicht setzen.

Die Vorträge kann man ihrem Inhalt nach in einige Kategorien aufteilen. Da gibt es solche, die das Grundsätzliche und Dogmatische der Parteilehre erläutern. Hierzu gehört etwa "Die marxistisch-leninistische Lehre vom Staat" oder "Klassen und Klassenkampf" oder "Materialismus oder Idealismus"; ferner Vortragsreihen über Lenins Werke oder über die Geschichte der Partei der Bolschewiki.

Andere Vorträge haben außenpolitische Fragen zum Gegenstand, z.B. ein Vortragszyklus über die Außenpolitik der UdSSR, ferner über den "Sieg der Volkskräfte in China", über den "Freiheitskampf der kolonialen Völker" oder die "Hintergründe der amerikanischen Außenpolitik".

Weitaus die meisten Vorträge befassen sich mit inneren Zuständen der UdSSR. Es ist selbstverständlich, daß alle Einrichtungen der Sowjetunion im günstigsten Lichte dargestellt werden. Der Hörer erfährt von Macht und Reichtum, Fortschritt und Rekorden der Sowjetunion und von den vorbildlichen Leistungen ihrer Einwohner. Einige charakteristische Themen lauteten: "Bodenschätze der S.U.", "Der Nachkriegs-Fünfjahrplan", die "Stachanow-Bewegung" und "Der Plan zur Umwandlung der Natur". Auch über den "Lebensstandard der Werktätigen" wird berichtet, über den Staatshaushalt der UdSSR, über Volksbildung, Sport, Leben der Frauen und dergleichen mehr. Das Programm ist vielseitig und findet immer eine interessierte Hörergemeinschaft.

Hieran reihen sich auch deutsche Themen. Während die vorgenannten Vorträge vorwiegend von sowjetischen Offizieren oder Funktionären gehalten werden, holt man zur Behandlung der Deutschland betreffenden Fragen meist "prominente" Persönlichkeiten der S.E.D. und der ostdeutschen Regierung oder solche, die bekanntermaßen mit deren Ideen sympathisieren (z.B. Minister Rau, Prof. Gerhart Eisler, Dr. Kurt Fischer, Wilhelm Koenen, Arnold Zweig u.s.w.). Gegenwärtig steht die Politik der "nationalen Front" im Vordergrund. Soweit Musik von hervorragender Qualität geboten wird, ist sie meist auf die gleiche politische Tendenz abgestimmt. Auch den verschiedenen volksdemokratischen Ländern sind bestimmte Vorträge und Filme gewidmet.

Die Ausstellungen gehen ständig nebenher. Jetzt gibt es u.a. eine solche über sowjetische Architektur, die meisterhafte Riesenphotos der größten und schönsten modernen Bauten der UdSSR enthält, Regierungspaläste, Theater, Arbeitergroßwohnhäuser, Sanatorien, Bahn- und Hafengebäude, Parks. Eine über die sowjetische Armee steht vor der Eröffnung. Andere Ausstellungen zeigten oder zeigen Leistungen der sowjetischen Malerei, Graphik, Plakatkunst, Bücher und Kinderbücher, Bühnenbilder, Material zum Leben von Lenin, Stalin, Gorki und Puschkin, Filmwesen, 800 Jahre Moskau, Fünfjahrplan, Geschichte der kommunistischen Partei/ und Kampf um den Frieden u. dgl.

Stets gewinnt man den Eindruck, daß der Betrieb im Hause mit Hilfe reichlichen Personals sorgfältig organisiert ist.

16. März 1950.
Bericht Nr.13.

Über die "Nationale Froht" des "demokratischen" Deutschlands im Tageskampf sprach Wilhelm Koenen am 16.3.50. im Haus der Kultur der S.U. Der Theaterrraum war voll; viel Polizisten als Zuhörer. Koenen, prominenter SED-Bonze, linientreuer Mann des "Volksrats", ist ein typischer Agitator und Demagoge. Er spricht mit lauter, geschulter Stimme, lebhaft und einprägsam. Dabei reiht er Phrasen und Schlagworte aneinander, ohne eigene Ideen zu entwickeln. Aber der kritik- und urteilslose Hörer erliegt leicht seinem Wortschwall. Scharf und heftig sind seine Ausfälle. Adenauer ist der "skrupellose Vertreter amerikanischer Monopolinteressen" und nebenbei ein " Schwager zweiten Grades von Mac Cloy" und hat Westdeutschland leichtsinnigerweise mit mindestens 35 Milliarden Westmark Schulden belastet, während die "Deutsche Demokratische Republik" schuldenfrei dasteht. Elend, Verfall und Hoffnungslosigkeit herrschen in Westdeutschland. "Bei uns (d.h. im glücklichen östlichen Teil Deutschlands) geht es schrittweise voran, während es im kolonialen Deutschland (gemeint ist der Westen) sprungweise zurückgeht!", rief Koenen aus.

Der Redner forderte, daß die politische Agitation in ganz Berlin sowie in der Ostzone planmäßig verstärkt werden solle. Überall sollen Agitationstrupps geschult werden. Sie sollen z.B. in kleinen Gruppen in den Berliner S- und U-Bahnen durch laute Gespräche im Sinne der "nationalen Front" die Öffentlichkeit "aufklären". Im Ostsektor und in der Ostzone sollen sie Verständnis wecken für die (von der SED und ihren Auftraggebern) geforderte vorfristige Erfüllung des Zweijahrplanes sowie für ein neues Gesetz, das die Ablieferungspflicht der Landwirtschaft erhöht. Auch das Einsammeln von "Buntmetallen" soll durch die politische Organisation bis herunter zu den Hausobleuten gründlicher betrieben werden. Daneben soll die "Wachsamkeit" (auch ein Wort typisch moskauer Prägung) gegenüber den Lauen und Widerspenstigen verschärft werden. Zur Erläuterung, wie und wo die Gefahr von "Saboteuren" droht, wurde anschließend der Defa-Film "Der Auftrag Hoegners", der schon oft im Hause gelaufen ist, nochmals gezeigt.

Die deutsche Bevölkerung steht, wie Koenen ausführte, vor einem entscheidenden inneren Kampfabschnitt. Es gilt, die Schranken zu beseitigen, welche die "nationale Front" noch von ihrem Ziel trennen, ihre Grundsätze auf ganz Deutschland auszudehnen. In diesem Sinne soll das Pfingstreffen der deutschen Jugend zu mehr als einer Demonstration werden. Ganz Berlin soll damit gewonnen werden.

Vortrag W. Koenen am 16.3.50., Blatt 2. 00 - 55432

"Cuno" - Bericht Nr.13. /Fortsetzung/

Berlin ist (laut Koenen) ~~[illegible]~~ der Mittelpunkt nicht nur Deutschlands, sondern des Blocks der Volksdemokratien und ganz Europas! Ohne Berlin kein Friede, keine "Freiheit", keine Einheit Deutschlands. Der jetzige Zustand, daß Westberlin sich dem Herrschaftsanspruch der "nationalen Front" entzieht, muß beseitigt werden.

Etwa die zweite Hälfte des Koenenschen Vortrags beschäftigte sich mit den Vorgängen bei der Demontage in Watenstedt-Salzgitter und enthielt drastische Kommentare zu den Pressenachrichten der letzten Tage. Koenen schilderte den erfolgreichen Widerstand der deutschen Arbeiterschaft gegen die Zerstörung ihrer Arbeitsstätten, gegen aggressive Pläne der Westalliierten. Am Schluß des Vortrags meldete sich zur Diskussion nur ein Mann aus dem Publikum mit dem Vorschlag, der Belegschaft in Watenstedt-Salzgitter die Sympathie aller Versammelten telegraphisch auszusprechen. Die Resolution wurde in Abstimmung einstimmig angenommen.

"Cuno" Bericht Nr.14. NB-05432

" Die Sowjetarmee – das Bollwerk des Friedens und der Sicherheit in der ganzen Welt " ist das Motto einer Ausstellung, die am 17.3.50. im Haus der Kultur der Sowjetunion eröffnet wurde.

In einer blumengeschmückten Vorhalle und drei Räumen sieht man Bilder, Landkarten mit Erläuterungen und großplakatierte Zitate. Das ganze könnte man als einen kriegsgeschichtlichen Schnellkursus der sowjetischen Armee bezeichnen. Waffen, Uniformen und dergleichen, was sonst in Heeresmuseen zu finden ist, werden hier nicht gezeigt. Auch technisch ist über den heutigen Stand der Armee nichts Neues zu entnehmen. Die Ausstellung trägt mehr ideologischen Charakter und eine bestimmte politische Tendenz. Die äußere Ausstattung ist dekorativ sehr sorgfältig und künstlerisch gemacht.

Die Bilder beginnen zeitlich mit Gemälden aus der Revolutionszeit im Oktober 1917, als die ersten Trupps bewaffneter Arbeiter sich zur "Roten Garde" zusammenschlossen. Stets stehen schon hier Lenin und Stalin Seite an Seite.

Auf mehreren Landkarten werden sodann die Feldzüge des Bürgerkrieges illustriert, in deren Verlauf die Rote Armee nacheinander die fremden Invasionstruppen sowie ihre inneren weiß=russischen Gegner besiegte. Von März bis Oktober 1919 ging es gegen die von Osten anrückenden Truppen Koltschaks, nachdem schon 1918 britische Expeditionstruppen von Murmansk aus vergeblich ins Land einzudringen versucht hatten. Bedrohlicher für die junge Sowjetmacht wurden damals (1919/20) die Vorstöße Denekins von Süden her, die jedoch Ende 1920 mit einem vollen Sieg der Roten Armee und Vertreibung der Gegner aus der Krim endeten. Auch des polnischen Angriffs erwehrte sich die Rote Armee. Schließlich gelang es ihr auch, in Kämpfen, die sich bis Oktober 1922 hinzogen, ihre Macht von Irkutsk bis Wladiwostok im Fernen Osten wiederherzustellen. Die Rolle Stalins bei der Leitung dieser Unternehmen wird besonders hervorgehoben. Eine auf einem großen Tisch montierte Kartenskizze zeigt z.B. durch Fähnchen und Daten Stalins Fahrten durch das ausgedehnte Operationsgebiet zwischen Nordrußland und Kaukasus.

Der größte Raum wird durch Bilder aus dem letzten Krieg gefüllt. Darunter ist kaum Material, das nicht schon durch Zeitschriften früher bekannt geworden wäre. Wieder zeigen große Lage= und Bewegungs=Skizzen die Zerschlagung der Hitler=Armeen in groß= angelegten, für die Sowjetarmee siegreichen Schlachten. Man kann sich deutlich vorstellen, wie die Schlachten vor Moskau Dez. 1941, bei Stalingrad Sept.-Dez. 1942, bei Kursk und Charkow im Sommer 1943 und schließlich im Raum um Berlin sich abwickelten. Unter einem Bilde von einer sowjetischen Waffenfabrik steht: " "Die sowjetische Armee errang ihre Erfolge mit Waffen, die von sowjetischen Konstrukteuren gebaut sind." In einer Inschrift zu 10 großen strategischen Bewegungen der Armeen im Jahre 1944 heißt es: "In der so entstandenen Situation war es klar, daß die Sowjetunion auch ohne Hilfe der Verbündeten im Stande ist, ganz Deutschland zu besetzen und auch Frankreich zu befreien".

Auf diese eigentlichen Kriegsbilder folgt eine Serie unter dem Leitspruch "Befreiung der Völker". Man sieht, wie einrückende sowjetische Truppen in Prag, Budapest, Bukarest und auch im Fernen Osten von der einheimischen Bevölkerung jubelnd begrüßt werden, und gewinnt aus Bildern von der Parade im Jahre 1947 vor dem Kreml einen gewissen Eindruck von der heutigen Stärke und Einsatzbereitschaft der Armee. Bilder von besonders verdienten Militärs finden sich in allen Abteilungen.

Im Moskau und in anderen sowjetisvhen Städten gibt es auch besondere Armee-Theater, deren Aufführungen Themen von Siegen, Feldherren und Heldentaten der sowjetischen Armee verherrlichen. -

In diesem Rahmen mögen noch zwei Filme erwähnt sein, die kürzlich im Haus der Kultur der S.U. gezeigt wurden.

Der eine behandelt den 2. Teil der Stalingrad-Schlacht. Kein eigentlicher Kriegs-Dokumentarfilm, d.h. keine im Kriege an der Front gemachten Aufnahmen, sondern später mit Schauspielern und Statisten-Truppen gestellte filmische Handlung. Die Persönlichkeit des Generalissimus Stalin steht im Vordergrund der Idee. Der deutsche Beschauer erfährt, in wie sinnloser Weise der wahnsinnige Hitler Hunderttausende deutscher Soldaten in aussichtsloser Lage dahin opferte. Das Publikum nahm den Film mit Ernst und Ergriffenheit auf.

Ein anderer Film "Die von Kronstadt" heroisiert den erfolgreichen Widerstand Roter Marinetruppen im Jahre 1919 vor Leningrad im Kampf gegen weißrussische Judenitsch-Truppen. Je heftiger gekämpft und geschossen wird, desto lebhafter reagieren die zahlreichen Jugendlichen unter den Zuschauern. Der Film läuft in russischer Sprache mit deutschen Unterzeilen.

Dedicated to the cause of Peace Through Freedom — NOT "Peace Through Slavery" — We, as citizens both of free countries and of countries suffering Soviet tyranny, Hereby hail the initiative of the Berlin Congress For Cultural Freedom in joining together intellectual leaders who cherish the freedom of the republics of the West, and seek the freedom of the peoples of the East;

And declare our hope that those nations which now temporarily endure Kremlin-imposed spiritual and physical bondage shall soon, by man's unconquerable love of liberty, be restored to the fellowship of free men, free thought, and free expression; [and that the cultural leaders of those nations will, after their liberation, take upon themselves the responsibility of enlightening their fellow citizens so long held in darkness.]

The Warden of St. Antony's

One bright afternoon in the fall of 1948, a big car made its way through the streets of Oxford, England, bearing a tubby little old man with a scraggly mustache, who had come to take his first look at the university. At that time few Oxonians had ever heard of 70-year-old Antonin Besse. Nor did they know that he was the mysterious, anonymous French millionaire who had just given Oxford one of the biggest gifts in its history—$6,000,000 for a new college (TIME, Jan. 31, 1949). But by last week, the whole university was buzzing with preparations for Oxford's first new college in 13 years.

To house the students of the newest college, Oxford authorities had acquired a small group of buildings once used as an Anglican convent. These they renamed St. Antony's, in honor of Benefactor Antonin Besse. Then they began laying plans for the curriculum which St. Anthony's students would follow.

At that time few Oxonians had ever heard of [illegible]-year-old Antonin Besse. Nor did they know that he was the mysterious, anonymous French millionaire who had just given Oxford one of the largest gifts in its history—$6,200,000 for a new college (TIME, Jan. 31, 1949). But by last week the whole university was buzzing with preparations for Oxford's first new college in 13 years.

To house the students of the newest college, Oxford authorities had acquired a small group of buildings once used as an Anglican convent. These they renamed St. Antony's, in honor of Benefactor Antonin Besse. Then they began laying plans for the curriculum which St. Anthony's students would follow.

Explosion in Yugoslavia. Antonin Besse had laid down only one stipulation. He wanted both Frenchmen and Englishmen to be admitted, to study in an atmosphere of Anglo-French cooperation. To create that atmosphere, Oxford picked as St. Antony's first warden just the sort of independent-minded, well-educated Englishman Besse had learned to admire during the years he had traded and traveled all over the world. Slim, trim Frederick William Dampier Deakin was the man.

OXFORD'S DEAKIN
"Just six files and me."

A Fellow and tutor of history at Oxford's Wadham College, he had worked with Winston Churchill on Churchill's monumental life of Marlborough. Right after Munich, he joined the army. He was the first officer to parachute into Yugoslavia,* worked so closely with Tito that the two were once wounded by the same bomb explosion. After the war, a lieutenant colonel with a D.S.O., he returned to Wadham, also began helping Churchill with his famed war memoirs. Last week 36-year-old Bill Deakin took over as Warden of St. Antony's.

Trouble in the Drains. So far, Warden Deakin had neither staff, students nor furniture—"just six files and me." He still had a great deal of remodeling to do to get ready for Michaelmas term in October. Then, "after getting all the drains

As Besse had suggested, a third of those 50 students will be French. Though their pattern of study will be much the same as that of other Oxonians, its emphasis will be on European history and economics. And now & then, after things get started at St. Antony's, M. Besse himself will drive up in his big car to offer his advice. "I shall welcome it," says Warden Deakin. "He's an extraordinary man . . . a genius."

Right at Home

When pretty, brown-haired Martha Lucas, 37, resigned as President of Sweet Briar College for women (TIME, Oct. 17), she caught the colonnaded Virginia campus a bit off guard. Nevertheless, the trustees set right to work hunting for a successor. Judging by their choice last week, they had apparently kept as their model Martha Lucas herself.

Walter McCardell

ANNE PANNELL
Women and the world.

The new president is pretty, brown-haired Anne Gary Pannell, 39, the mother of two sons. Southern-born (in Durham, N. C.), like her predecessor, she went to Oxford for her doctorate in history (Martha went to the University of London), eventually became academic dean of Baltimore's Goucher College for women (Martha was a dean at Radcliffe). In recent years, while global-minded Martha Lucas became a UNESCO delegate and started a Junior Year Abroad program for Sweet Briar, global-minded Anne Pannell has spent much of her time arranging international student scholarships.

Incoming President Pannell will take over her new post July 1. For the 450 girls at fashionable, forward-looking Sweet Briar, her appointment meant that everything would go right on running just as smoothly and amiably as ever.

Re - Schlaesinger.

He is a German Jew, US citizen, lives in New York, in construction business, makes trips to Germany, knows German industrialists and politicians. About 55.

Offie kept his paper - is having it copied, will send us a copy.

S. was in Germany five or six weeks ago and was commented on critically and unfavorably in HICOG cables. Offie says this is because S. is disgusted with entire State and HICOG handling of German affairs, says people are either uninformed or incompetent or vicious, meaning by vicious the group of German Jews who were disciples of the Morgenthau plan, who hate Germany and Germans. He has let his antipathy to the HICOG crowd be seen and has avoided them. Offie suggested that Kellerman and Rheinstein probably were examples of the type that S. referred to.

L. G.

Re - Yergin (and Spero)

C.O. was under some misapprehension as to the formula for drawing funds for delegates. He is now straightened out and has agreed that he will advise JL to add Yergin's name to his list and notify Am. Express. Yergin then simply draws his money from Am. Express. CO was under impression that the amount would be designated and Yergin given an order for it, or words to that effect. Spero also will be on FTUC list.

Re - paras. 4 and 5 of Brln. 2887.

Para. 4 does not require answer - though Hambley and I think they are wrong in rejecting Thompson.

I would like to send attached draft in answer to para. 5. Had to consult Hambley before I could prepare this.

Re: HJ Mueller. He will be added to NCFE list.

Re: Robt. Montgomery. He has been pressuring Hambley for more funds, wants to take assistant along. Hambley will advise him no dice. (Lasky evidently painted glowing picture to Montgomery of valuable reporting and press relations services.)

MEMO: PDQUICK

Conversations with Mr. Carpenter (25 May) and with Mr. Richards (31 May with reference to attendance at Cultural Congress of Mrs. Burnham:

Both Carpenter and Richards agree that Mrs. Burnham may travel to the Congress, at the invitation of the Congress, in her own right, drawing money from travel fund for that purpose, without consideration of Burnham's status vis-a-vis CIA. This on the theory that the travel is desirable because of services she may render to the Congress (not as a delegate necessarily) and because of the protection of Burnham's cover. The Congress, as ostensibly independent financially, would make any such arrangements without consideration of rules of CIA regarding travel of employees and agents.

Subject: Information From Mr. MELVIN LASKY Concerning the Berlin Congress

1. I attach (a) a copy of the letter received from MELVIN LASKY, (b) a list which he prepared of the expected American delegates at the Congress, (c) together with three additions to the British list.

2. LASKY evidently means the American list to be definite as of this date. However, according to my information, at least two or three of the delegates whom he lists are still uncertain; for example, SIDNEY HOOK and DAVID LILIENTHAL.

3. The idea of a strong Soviet delegation, gathered from Western Germany seems to me excellent, and capable of major exploitation as we noted yesterday. However, it does not seem to require SHUB's presence in Germany.

4. I don't know exactly what arrangements LASKY has in mind for continuing the payments necessary to maintain the New Y.k office. One sentence in this letter suggests that he plans to make payment from Berlin. This matter ought to be clarified immediately.

5. You will note in the LASKY letter the address and telephone number of the New York office.

Copy of letter from MELVIN LASKY dated 21 May 1950, New York City

"Dear Jim,

"I have just finished with the press conference here at Freedom House. I think Beichman managed a nice turn-out -- Hartrich of the Herald-Tribune, David Anderson of the Times, Henry Beckkett of the Post, et.al. I won't be able to see the clippings tomorrow; doubtless much will be asked. But publicity won't hurt, and may do much much good. I have given Beichman two hundred dollars for now; another two hundred has already gone in phone calls, telegrams and the like. Spoke to Upton Sinclair again; can't come. Silone is writing the piece for the Times. Hook is doing an opening piece in the NL; with Levitas promising a nice spread. Beichman is writing letters, sending out releases. Pearl Kluger is working in the little office, hired out from George Field of Freedom House (20 West 40th Street, Tel: Chickering-4-3060). I have instructed him to consult you and refer all problems to you. I think he can do a most useful job with the press. I have done my best to keep all such expenses down, but in the end this job will be more important than the expensive presence of many of the delegates in Berlin. Do keep in touch with him until your departure.

"On the Russian matter, I think it would be an almost criminal waste of opportunities if there weren't the strongest possible Iron-Curtain delegation there on the platform in Berlin. Nicolaevsky and Shub have come up with the proposal to smoke out the professors, deans, scientists, poets now secluded in Western Germany; five or six of these worthies (Russians, Ukrainians, Asiatics) would indeed be a most appropriate bombshell. If they -- Nicolaevsky to give them Russian-political-confidence, Shub to give them American-diplomatic assurances -- could have a week together working out from Frankfurt and Munich ten days or so before the Congress begins, this might turn the trick. I think that's the way, and probably the only way to do it. God knows I won't be able to round them up. In any event, -- although I have been reluctant to raise the issue for fear that my motives might be misinterpreted -- I think that Shub's presence in Berlin would be of immeasurable value, handling the radio and Russian angles; and he's not considered there another "American outsider". Which is important.

" On the book matter, it would be wonderful if we could go ahead with our project of book exhibitions of all works of Congress authors. I have asked Pearl Kluger -- she can be reached at the above number in Freedom House -- to go ahead with a limited amount of orders from the publishers. I trust there will be money to cover it; although some of the bills will go out to me in Berlin.

" I am leaving tonight for Westover Field. It was a big mistake not to get commercial air travel on my orders. No planes to London, none to Paris. First stop tomorrow -- Frankfurt! And there I turn around again. But then my contract calls for no breakdowns until the first of July. See you in the sanitorium at that time.

" Best regards to you and Marcia, and remember me to your children, who fascinated me.

"Yrs,

/s/MELVIN J. LASKY "

You will proceed on or about 24 May 1950 to Frankfurt, Germany, reporting by telephone upon your arrival to the Chief of the VIKiva Station. From Frankfurt you will proceed to Berlin in accordance with orders of Chief of Station. You will procure your own travel facilities and hotel accommodations at the cities in which you stay.

Your cover is that of a student and tourist visiting Europe to improve your language proficiency and for summer travel. Your general appearance and conduct at all times must be in keeping with this cover. You will not carry any classified material while traveling. You are not to recognize other employees of this agency unless arrangements have been made in advance or unless you can do so in full keeping with your cover. While in Germany you may be asked to volunteer to work on the staff of the Berlin Cultural Congress. Acceptance of such an offer by you is considered to be in keeping with your cover. Permission will be requested of Home Office for any type of duty required of you which would tend to break your student-tourist cover.

Subject: Report on Distribution of Der Monat through an Exemplary Outlet

While in Berlin I acquired a copy of the report dated March 13, 1950. I do not know whether it has been made available. The information in it seems to me interesting in itself and valuable for what it suggests in terms of further activities.

KBH

13 March 1950

Report on Distribution of Der Monat through an Exemplary Outlet

1. This describes the distribution activities of a single outlet, with connections primarily but not exclusively to students in the Soviet Zone. Since December 1949 the outlet has been supplied 1115 single copies and several hundred separate articles. At first single issues were supplied in numbers of 100, but because of rapidly increasing demand was later increased to 150 copies. However, the popularity of Der Monat has spontaneously led to a broader range of possibilities and a total of at least 300 copies per issue has been requested. To provide a total of so many copies from number 8/9 to 16 inclusive will mean a further delivery of 1575 copies. A few copies of numbers 5, 6 & 7 have been delivered as well as stapled single copies of George Orwell's "Animal Farm" and other articles taken by breaking up these same issues. Distribution has been free of charge and this has been emphasized to the contacts. It has been decided, however, to permit contacts to ask a nominal East Mark price when distributing a copy to an employed person. This would help cover the travel expenses of contacts to and from Berlin.

2. Reactions to Der Monat delivery through this outlet has been overwhelmingly encouraging. Each copy is said to change hands "at least" eight or nine times and as many as twenty times is considered usual. The result is that Der Monat has become widely known among students in the Eastern Zone. It is reported that it is even read openly in the mess-halls; SED students procure it and read it, although when on their own they are said to be more secretive than the non-communist organized student. Certain articles have become widely known, particularly Orwell's "1984". An explanation of where the magazines come from is given in the following terms: they are bought for SOVZON students by the Free University. It is generally accepted in the Soviet Zone that the Free University is the source of "anti-communist student agitations" etc. Persons connected with the Free University who come in contact with East Zone students state that they are being continuously asked for copies of Der Monat, in the sense of "I've been getting it seventh hand; I'd like to get it first hand."

3. Attention was continuously drawn to the popularity of Orwell's "1984". Hence the outlet asks whether it would be possible to make-up from broken numbers single stapled copies of "1984" - recalling that this had been done for them in the case of "Animal Farm" and other articles.

4. The outlet operates through an apparatus of couriers to all universities of the Soviet Zone. Universities are supplied by as many as four and an average of three different couriers, unknown to one another. Leipzig, Halle, Jena, Greifswald, Dresden and Rostock are thus covered. There are a large number of delivery contacts at the Humboldt University. Also there are contacts to the "Landes Hochschule" in Potsdam which is designed especially for training SED functionaries, teachers, and key occupations. Couriers from other academic institutions and circles are also supplied, as well as to a number of non-academic circles of significant strategic value, as described below.

5. The following examples are cited:

a) At a recent four-zonal meeting of evangelical student-ministers from all zones fifteen copies were distributed to several SZ delegates. More could not be furnished because of lack of supplies at that time. The recepients subsequently expressed such interest that regular delivery with a large number of copies has been established. The Karl Jaspers article was considered popular in this circle, and strong curiosity was expressed regarding "1984" which was being discussed in the zone.

b) A professor of journalism at one Soviet-Zone university approached a contact for two copies, promising to make good use of them. He asked that they be supplied regularly and sent a student from Leipzig to confirm this and pick them up. Both students and professor were checked upon and the delivery made.

c) A group of liberal and social-democratic students organized in the SED cooperate in a closed working-committee is recognized by the university as an academic activity of the faculty to which these students and professor belong. Monat articles are read and discussed and then translated into non-German languages and passed on as reading matter to trusted students in other sections of the Philosophical faculty.

d) The CDU executive in a city in Saxony receives the magazine, using it as discussion material regularly at closed educational forums for training party functionaries. Three weeks ago the article Tito contra Stalin was discussed.

e) Until recently a FDJ school for higher functionaries in Mecklenburg near the zonal border was supplied with copies of Der Monat which were read officially as the basis for working out counter-arguments. The connection was broken by the arrest of the courier, who was carrying Telegraf leaflets.

f) Twenty copies are regularly supplied for distribution to and through a Volkspolizei unit in Thuringia.

6. The outlet expresses great satisfaction with Monat distribution, considers it the ideal kind of reading for equiping oppositional students in the Soviet Zone with relatively safer and strategically suitable weapons, e.g. "ideas" and the "spirit of Europe". Der Monat is often contrasted with the Telegraf in this sense: Der Monat is not considered to exaggerate, is not the other pole, "with the truth somewhere between", but is respected and trusted for itself.

Notes of conference at the home of Mr. Burnham. Present: Messrs. Baker, Burnham, Lasky and Glaser.

1. Attention called to article in current issue of LIFE, mentioning the Cultural Congress in Berlin.

2. Memo from Stone states that JJ McCloy is not going to write special letter of invitation to Eleanor Roosevelt - apparently because of press release in which she stated she had changed her mind about attending. Lasky will take up with State the matter of special letters going to Roosevelt, Lilenthal and Conant, attempt persude them attend.

3. Some kind of pressure to be used to insure attendance Sidney Hook, possibly letter from Asst. Secy. of S. to Chancellor of U of C requesting leave of absence for 10 days.

4. Discussion of centralizing publicity releases from US. Lasky of opinion that Pitzele and Beichman would handle, requiring only small amount for expenses; decided to authorize this and Lasky will be given $200 to add to $200 which he already has (not having delivered same to Hook because Hook did not require it) with which he is sure he can lay proposition on.

5. Discussion of Am. Express technique of handling transportation. Agreed that interest of Foreign Service Ed. Foundation, FTUC and NY Com. should not be emphasized or revealed unless necessary.

6. Recital of steps being taken currently in Berlin.

7. List of delegates left with Burnham and Lasky in order that addresses may be filled in and returned. Will then be compared with list expected from Berlin. And final lists (up to this point) organized for delivery, through money sponsors, to Am. Express.

MEMORANDUM OF CONVERSATION

SUBJECT: OPC Liaison with the Department of State

PARTICIPANTS: CPP, PS-II, Chief ABB, Chief FEB, and EAD

1. Mr. Frank stated that recent cables from the OPC representative in Germany concerning the Berlin rally in May and the Congress in June had raised policy questions which required State Department coordination. He stated that as a result of these cables he had requested Mr. Harrison to discuss these policy questions with Mr. Joyce and had requested Mr. Joyce to arrange for the necessary liaison with the Office of German Affairs.

2. Mr. Harrison stated that Mr. Joyce had arranged a meeting in his office where Mr. Batirbov and Mr. Baker of OPC had discussed these problems with Mr. Kellerman and Mr. Strauss of the Office of German Affairs, together with Mr. Schwinn. As a result of this meeting, the Office of German Affairs dispatched a State Department telegram to Hicog indicating that the Department was coordinating with CIA on a program designed to combat the effectiveness of the Berlin rally in May. This telegram received a wide distribution in Washington as well as in the headquarters of Hicog in Frankfurt.

3. Mr. Frank said that although he recognized the insecurity of the Office of German Affairs as evidenced by this telegram, he felt that it was essential for OPC to maintain liaison with the Office of German Affairs on policy matters. He proposed to recommend to Mr. Joyce that either Col. Byroade or Mr. Geoffrey Lewis be designated as the liaison officer for the Office of German Affairs to deal with OPC on policy matters subject to clearance in each instance with Mr. Joyce.

4. The undersigned agreed with Mr. Frank's proposal subject to the understanding that such liaison would be exercised under the existing policy laid down by ADPC, namely: that OPC liaison with the Department of State will be conducted only by ADPC, SADO, or CPP, and that if this authority is delegated it will only be done so when the individual authorized is satisfied that it is essential and can be controlled, and subject to the further understanding that such liaison will not involve operational details of OPC plans and operations.

April 24, 1950

Berlin Congress for Cultural Freedom, June 26-30, 1950.

Professor Sidney Hook, Head, Department of Philosophy,
New York University.

Mr. Bruce Buttles, GAI.

GER - Mr. Henry A. Byroade
S/P - Mr. Robert P. Joyce

The undersigned called upon Professor Hook at his home, 696-A Third Street, Brooklyn 15, N. Y., at 3:00 o'clock on April 22, 1950 to discuss domestic arrangements in support of the Congress, for which Professor Hock has been designated American representative. There were no other persons present.

Professor Hook opened the conversation by emphasizing the need to minimize the Government's interest in the Congress. He felt that it was essential to retain the appearance of a completely private venture. I assured him this was also the Department's view. Referring to the status of Melvin J. Lasky, secretary of the Congress in Berlin, as an employee of HICOG, Professor Hook then said he thought Mr. Lasky should be given a leave of absence in order to carry through the project in a private capacity. I promised to look into this problem, and commented that it could not be done readily without Mr. Lasky's cooperation. I also suggested that since Mr. Lasky to my knowledge was spending some of his personal funds on preparations for the Congress, it would only be fair to look for some other source of income for Mr. Lasky during such time as he might be on leave from Government service.

On continuing

SECRET

On continuing the discussion, it was clear that in working alone Professor Hook had as yet been unable to make any considerable progress on behalf of the Congress, and that there was urgent need for (a) a minimum staff to handle the program in this country and (b) a small allocation of funds to pay for telephone, stationery, publicity, etc. Until the present time, Professor Hook has been carrying the entire expense and work himself, and apparently has had to be extremely careful about such items as long distance telephone calls. For example, he felt he could afford to telephone Professor John Dewey in Florida and ask him to sponsor the Congress (which invitation Professor Dewey accepted,) but he hesitated to put out the larger funds to telephone Upton Sinclair in California. He would also like to call the Congress headquarters in Berlin, but felt that the transatlantic toll charge was quite beyond his means.

In reply to my query as to what sort of budget would be necessary, Professor Hook suggested that he would need a secretary-typist for two months and a public relations man on a part-time basis for the same period. He thought the secretary could be obtained for $250 a month and the publicity man for less than $500, In addition, $500 would be sufficient for such items as rental of typewriters, stationery, telephone calls, postage, etc. This would make a total budget of $2,000. The rental expense could be reduced, he thought, by using the offices of The New Leader, a Socialist publication of which he is one of the editors. He did not think it advisable to have a pretentious office, since obvious affluence would incite suspicion. The activity could be organised by Americans for Intellectual Freedom, of which he is the founder. This group staged the anti-Communist program in New York in March 1949 for less than $25.00.

As to the expenses of American representatives going to Berlin, Professor Hook hoped that it would not be necessary to use military transportation, since that would create the impression of Government sponsorship. He thought commercial transportation would definitely be preferable, and added that he would like to be in a position to give cash grants to the delegates of about $700, that is, the round-trip fare plus a few dollars over for incidentals. He felt it would be undesirable for too large an American representation to be sent. Probably six or seven people would be enough. This would mean a transportation budget of less than $5000.

Several times during the conversation, Professor Lasky stressed that it was not necessary to have a large sum of money. For what was needed, he said, the right people could hardly be paid; it was essential, he said, to have "dedicated personnel" who were willing if necessary to make personal sacrifices.

On the other hand, he thought it vital to have the right sort of publicity. The press arrangements should be carefully made. He hoped that someone in Washington could ask Mr. Henry Luce of Time and Life and Mr. A. H. Sulzberger of the New York Times to arrange the right sort of coverage, that is, by the right people, such as Anne O'Hare McCormick of the Times. He would like to invite Luce himself, but doubted if it would be politically desirable. At this point, I suggested inviting Mrs. Clare Booth Luce, and Professor Hook thought that might be the answer to his dilemma.

To handle the publicity Professor Hook thought he might hire Arnold Beichman (20 West 84th Street, New York), who is editor of a trade union paper in New York. Beichman handled press matters successfully for the anti-Communist demonstration last March. Professor Hook could make the first necessary arrangements himself, but would be glad to have any offer of assistance come to him through the offices of the New Leader, at 7 East 15th Street, New York 3. Telephone: SPring 7-8260.

I suggested that there was some indication that the Advertising Council might be able to find some space or other publicity assistance, and Professor Hook said he would be most grateful for that type of help. He hoped that the people concerned would approach him in the near future.

SUBJECT: Congress for Cultural Freedom

One of the most pressing problems in connection with the proposed Intellectual Peace Congress to be held in Berlin is the matter of providing funds for transportation of delegates. We have conceived the possibility of two or three organizations overtly financing trips for cultural and intellectual leaders from various countries. The money thus provided might be deposited with the American Express Company with instructions to honor transportation requests from persons holding bona fide invitations to the Congress endorsed by one of the sponsoring organizations.

It is expected that there will be a total of approximately 60 delegates. At this date, the following persons have been invited:

England
- Bertrand Russell, Philosopher
- Julian Huxley, Biologist
- R.H.S. Crossman, M.P. and Author
- Victor Gollancz, Publisher

SUBJECT: Letter of Instructions

1. Departure and Arrival

You will proceed on or about 13 April 1950 to Frankfurt, Germany, reporting upon your arrival there to the Chief of the VLKiva Mission through arrangements of which you have been advised orally. From Frankfurt you will proceed to Berlin in accordance with further arrangements of which the Chief of VLKiva German Mission will apprise you. En route to Frankfurt you are authorized to stop over, for a period not to exceed 4 days, in Paris if you deem such a step advisable in the furtherance of your mission. You will leave Berlin, Germany, on or about 7 May 1950 and return to the home station. En route to the home station you will be authorized to stop over at such other European cities, and for such amounts of time, as may subsequently be approved by the home office upon your recommendation. You will be responsible for procuring all of your own travel facilities and hotel accommodations at the cities in which you stay.

2. Cover

Your cover is that of a free-lance writer and lecturer visiting Europe to procure material for future publications. Your general appearance and conduct at all times must be in keeping with this cover. You will not carry any classified material with you while traveling. You are not to recognize other employees of this agency unless arrangements have been made in advance or unless you can do so in full keeping with your cover. You will not attract attention to yourself either by acts uncharacteristic of your cover or by the absence of actions consistent with your cover. While in Germany you may be asked to act for a period as a special consultant to the Office of the High Commissioner. Acceptance of such an appointment by you is considered to be in keeping with your cover. Within your cover you are authorized also to accept invitations to lecture on subjects not directly related to your primary mission.

3. Duties and Responsibilities

a. Operational

You have been thoroughly briefed on projects SGHound and PDQuick, and you will undertake such operational activities in connection with these projects as fall within the instructions you receive from the Chief of the VLKiva Mission and his authorized representative. In carrying out these operational activities, you will avoid drawing public attention to yourself to the maximum possible extent, and you will in particular avoid, for the purposes of this trip, publicly associating yourself with project PDQuick. This injunction, however, will not prevent your meeting privately with any other individuals concerned with either the overt or covert phases of the project. You will, in addition, act as consultant to the Chief of the VLKiva Mission and his authorized representatives on such other matters as they may wish to bring to your attention.

4. Security

You are specifically charged with both physical and operational security in connection with matters which you handle and for which you are given responsibility.

SUBJECT: Congress for Cultural Freedom

TO: Jonathan S. Gearing

1. Berlin newspapers have recently carried a dpa announcement of a Congress for Cultural Freedom to be held during the last week of June 1950. The notices in DER TAGESSPIEGEL and DER TAG of 2 April and in DIE NEUE ZEITUNG and TELEGRAF of 4 April were all similar and brief - about one inch in length. DAS BERLINER STADTBLATT (Social Democrat) of 2 April, however, carried a large(2¼"x 7"), front-page article.

2. The dpa text of the former newspapers was generally as follows:

> A Congress for Cultural Freedom will be held in Berlin during the last week of June. The Berlin Committee which is preparing the Congress consists of Ernst Reuter, Lord Mayor of Berlin, Professor Edwin Redslob, Rector of the Berlin Free University, and Dr. Otto Suhr, Director of the Berlin Hochschule fuer Politik. Melvin J. Lasky, Editor of the international review DER MONAT, will act as General Secretary to the congress.

3. The article in the Berliner Stadblatt contains the information of the dpa release and adds the following:

> It is believed that a large number of prominent writers and men of learning will attend the Congress. Among others, the following men are expected to participate: Author Ignazio SILONE (Italy), Professors Julian HUXLEY (England) and Sidney HOOK (USA), Poet Arnulf OVERLAND (Norway) and Ture NERMAN (Sweden) as well as David ROUSSET and Arthur KOESTLER.

I suggest that we do not desire for PDQUICK a Rhino Circular to Embassies similar to the circular supporting QKIVORY, because a circular of that sort is not essential and would unnecessarily invite attention to the U. S. interest in PDQUICK.

CONFIDENTIAL

CIRCULAR AIRGRAM
21 June 1949

TO: Certain American Diplomatic Officers

The Formation of National Committee for Free Europe, Inc., with headquarters in New York, was announced on June 1, 1949. This Committee is a private organization concerning itself with democratic leaders and scholars who are exiled from the following countries: Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary Rumania, Yugoslavia, and Bulgaria. The Committee will be financed by private contributions.

The following is quoted from a statement issued by Joseph C. Grew, Chairman of the Committee in announcing its formation:

> "Our program begins with the tangible fact of the presence here of these exiles and refugees. There is an American tradition of hospitality to political refugees. The promise which we gave at Yalta remains unredeemed. More than that we have a definite self-interest in helping to keep alive, and in full vigor political leaders who share our view of life--leaders who have refused to knuckle under, men who have not hesitated to risk their lives for their democratic faith. As item No. 1 in our immediate program we propose--have in fact already begun--to find suitable occupations for these democratic exiles... We are setting out to find suitable positions for them in colleges and universities. We are proposing to ask others of them to prepare studies on topics for which they are especially equipped... At the same time we are encouraging each national group of exiles to draw together politically--all democratic elements, that is, those other than Fascists or Communists--in order to form in their temporary American haven National Committees which can stand as symbols of democratic hope for their countrymen in Eastern Europe.... We look forward to the day when there will no longer be an Iron Curtain....and these six nations which we helped liberate from the Nazi oppression will be free from the Communist oppression and once more can organize their existence in their own way. When that time comes there will be something close to social chaos and political vacuum, for the first effort of totalitarian regimes is to destroy all constructive elements which might build anything different from themselves. Looking forward to that historic and critical time we have in mind that, if meanwhile democratic leaders have been helped to keep alive and in vigor in the democratic havens to which they have been driven we can hope that, returning, they will have parts in a democratic reconstruction. Our second purpose will be to put the voices of these exiled political leaders on the air, addressed to their own peoples back in Europe, in their own languages, in the familiar tones. We shall help them also if we can to get their messages back by the printed word. . . . Of course we are not going to compete with the Voice of America. We shall en-deaver to supplement the Voice of America, for the Voice is under restrictions by reason of its official character. It is our American habit not to leave everything to government. In the field of the contest of ideas there is much which private initiative can accomplish best. The third and final point in our immediate program is to set out at once to bring the exiled leaders into a broad contact with American life. . . Our idea is to enable these proven champions of democracy to see with their own eyes how freedom and democracy are working out in the United States . . . I have no doubt that as we go along other activities will be added to our program . . ."

Members of the Committee, as of 1 June 1949 were: Frank Altschul (Treasurer), Hamilton Fish Armstrong, A. A. Berle, Francis Biddle, Robert Woods Bliss, Hugh A. Drum, Allen W. Dulles, Dwight D. Eisenhower, Mark Ethridge, James A. Farley, William Green, Joseph C. Grew (Chairman), Charles R. Hook, Arthur Bliss Lane, Henry R. Luce, Arthur W. Page, DeWitt C. Poole (Executive Secretary), Charles H. Spofford, Charles P. Taft, DeWitt Wallace, Mathew Woll.

For your information, the Department has been continually informed of the process of formation of the Committee, although the Department has no active concern with the Committee's activities, it has given its unofficial approval to the Committee's objectives. Because of the implicitly political nature of the Committee's work, there will be coordination between it and the Department. We expect that the Committee will cooperate in every way toward the accomplishment of our objectives in Eastern Europe and of the general aims of our foreign policy.

MINUTES OF MEETING

DATE : 7 April 1950

SUBJECT : PDQUICK and TPPIALR

PRESENT : Messrs. Glaser, Denby, Chester, Droller, Smith.

1. Discussion of arrangements made for departure and cover for James Burnham. Mr. Smith will handle details.

2. It was agreed that a recommendation be made to COP that two members of this committee, representing COP and CPP, respectively, be given authority to take emergency action on cables received out of normal hours of work requiring emergency handling; it being anticipated that such emergencies may arise in connection with projects TPPIMER and PDQUICK over any of the weekends between the present date and 1 June.

3. FRAN 113 (IN 21595) was considered in detail and all items in paragraph 1 and 2 were approved. With reference to item F of paragraph 2, project [illegible] FRAN 111 (IN 21715), Mr. Denby assumed the responsibility for clearing this matter with the State Department through Mr. Offie, and if a favorable response is received, a cable of concurrence will be sent to the field.

With reference to paragraph 3, it was proposed by Mr. Droller that items A and B be combined. That is, that no scare be created with reference to bubonic plague or other serious diseases but that a campaign be instituted to the effect that the water of East Berlin is seriously contaminated and is causing dysentery, that warnings be issued and published in the press sympathetically urging the populace of East Berlin, including the FDJ participants, not to drink the water without boiling it, not to drink it under any circumstances except from paper cups, not to wash clothes in such water nor to bathe or shave with it and to take every precaution to protect themselves. Then proceed with item A and doctor the soup with a strong but harmless laxative which would not only serve a purpose in itself but would tend to bear out the rumor contained in item B.

The committee was not in favor of item D unless it could be justified more logically and did not understand the [illegible] of item C. Dispatch 57-C[illegible] was examined and read with much gratification. The lists of names are being compared with lists which have been gathered here and recommendations will be sent to the field

4. FRAN 117 (IN 21944) was examined and it was decided to refer item 1A to Mr. Baker to be taken up with Mr. Wisner as a recommendation beyond the competence of this committee to handle. Item 1B was referred to Mr. Denby for analysis and report. With reference to item 1C it is not understood why interpreters of this caliber will not be available in Berlin and cable will be sent to the field. With reference to paragraph 1 D, this was referred to Mr. Droller who will discuss it with Mr. Bryan for the [illegible] of specific suggestions; in this connection, the suggestion was offered by Mr. Droller that a cash award should also be included.

SUBJECT : Travel arrangements concerning Kenneth P. Hambley

1. In connection with PDQUICK and TPPIKER, it is now proposed that Hambley shall leave the U.S. on or about 17 April, proceed to Berlin, remain there approximately two weeks (rendering assistance in preparations for PIKER affair, also in preparations for QUICK) and shall then leave Berlin to return to the U.S. En route, on return, he will, if indicated by the course of affairs in Berlin, make calls on prominent people in Western Europe who are to be present at the PDQUICK meeting, in order to confirm their acceptances or induce them to accept if they have not already done so. He is expected to return to the U.S. approximately between 5 and 10 May. He is scheduled to return to Berlin sometime between 5 and 15 June to help in completing arrangements for QUICK including his own participation.

2. Arrangements in prospect:

a. Hambley will attend to renewal of passport and obtaining entry permit to Germany (as author interested in details concerning publication of his book in Germany.)

If there are delays in obtaining passport or entry permit, Carpenter will expedite.

If, for any reason, entry permit becomes impracticable from Washington, Hambley will go to Paris where, by cooperation with Carmel Offie, he will apply for entry permit to Germany which will be made immediately available.

b. Hambley will go directly to Frankfurt where he will get in touch with de Neufville, and arrangements made to put him under HICOG cover as consultant to Der Monat. Lasky may be in Frankfurt at time - in any event Hambley will proceed to Berlin where Lasky will be his cover for contact with others in Berlin.

c. A covert travel order is being prepared which will authorize advance to Hambley of $1500. Hambley will buy his own transportation.

3. All

3. All of these matters will have to be ironed out and coordinated. Routine matters will be in hands of Miss Johnson, FBIII. She will be in contact with Carpenter and will know all details concerning travel order, advance, entry permit, and passport, so far as necessary cooperation from Carpenter's office is concerned. Arrangements should be completed, if practicable, on Monday 10 April.

MEMORANDUM FOR: ADPC

VIA: COP

SUBJECT: OPC Plans for Counter-Action against the Deutschlandtreffen.

1. In compliance with your request, there is submitted herewith a report on OPC covert operations, in progress or under consideration, to counter the Communist-sponsored Free German Youth rally (Deutschlandtreffen), scheduled for 27-28-29 May in Berlin.

2. The initial objective of OPC counter-action is to so harass, hinder and frustrate the Deutschlandtreffen that it cannot be used as a weapon to oust the Allied Powers from the Western Sectors of Berlin. If a substantial degree of success is achieved in that phase, major effort could then be directed toward instigating anti-communist demonstrations in the Soviet Sector, thus turning the rally entirely to Western advantage.

3. The OPC program for this event is designed to supplement and reinforce overt activities planned by occupation authorities to achieve the same objective. All OPC operations directed against the Deutschlandtreffen either have been or will be cleared with appropriate civilian and military officials, with whom high level liaison is maintained in the field.

4. A major criterion of OPC activities is that they not be directly attributable to the U.S. government. Hence they fall into two classes:

a. Those conducted by entirely clandestine means and not attributable to any actual source, and

b. Those attributable to indigenous individuals and groups, with official U.S. instigation or support concealed.

In view of the strongly pro-Western and anti-Soviet orientation of the Berlin population generally, the second type of activity offers exceptional opportunities to inspire, guide and covertly assist actual German resistance to the rally.

5. Activities

Copy #2

5. Activities in various stages of planning or implementation by OPC include the following:

a. Propaganda:

Preparation of 750,000 anti-communist leaflets by the Kampfgruppe gegen Unmenschlichkeit, an indigenous German organization sponsored by OPC, to be distributed during the rally;

Staff preparation of at least two counter-rally pamphlets, to be distributed by clandestine networks into the Soviet Zone prior to the event;

Preparation by a controlled German attorney of indictments stressing illegal aspects of the rally, including the matter of parental responsibility for minors;

Instigation of letters of warning from West Berlin students to acquaintances in the Soviet Zone;

Planning for special editions of one or more West Berlin newspapers to be distributed free during the rally;

Subsidizing distribution of 150,000 extra copies of the magazine Freundschaft, organ of a West Berlin anti-communist youth group;

Consideration of publishing fake editions of Communist newspapers, containing propaganda of deception and confusion;

Preparation of a letter, addressed to Soviet Zone clergymen, asking them to use their influence to keep young people out of Berlin during the rally;

Inspiring West Berlin newspapers and the U.S.-licensed radio station, RIAS, to carry material favorable to U.S. aims before, during and after the rally.

b. Harassment and Deception:

Promotion of a rumor campaign to the effect that Communists are eager to have German young people killed and injured during the rally, to provide martyrs for the Moscow cause;

Promotion of another rumor campaign to the effect that Communists plan recruitment of rally participants for labor in Russia;

Circulation

Copy #2

Circulation of a forged order, indicating that the rally actually is a device for recruitment of German youth into the Soviet Zone People's Police;

Planting a news story to the effect that the rally came about as the result of direct orders issued by Moscow to Walther Ulbricht, German Communist leader, on the occasion of his recent visit to the Russian capital;

Faking offers to provide billeting for rally participants in ruins, unsavory hotels or other undesirable space;

Consideration of disrupting transportation and other rally plans by issuance of false orders and proclamations;

Obtaining FDJ uniforms for possible use by agents of disruption;

c. Counter-Attractions:

Sponsorship by the Kampfgruppe of a fireworks display the evening of 29 May;

Covert guidance and encouragement of West Berlin merchants to prepare attractive displays of merchandise, illustrating the relatively high standards of Western living;

Covert sponsoring of free, or low-priced motion picture shows, featuring especially interesting films;

Covert sponsoring of sports events or other mass attractions, designed for the double purpose of maintaining West Berlin morale and distracting rally participants;

Approximately three weeks after the rally, covert sponsorship of a cultural and intellectual congress in Berlin—one of its objectives being to unmask the hypocrisy of communist intellectual appeals to youth.

d. Counter-Violence:

If, and only if, high policy considerations require, covert organization, support and guidance of pro-Western indigenous street-fighting units to meet a display of force with greater force.

6. In

6. In addition to the foregoing plans, further opportunities unquestionably will arise for CPC direct activities or support to indigenous German groups with plans of their own to counteract the rally.

7. CPC is reinforcing its German staff with all available qualified personnel, and is prepared to set aside such sums of confidential funds as may be required to provide effective financial support for approved activities.

REPORT

SUBJECT : TPPIKER

TO : John E. Baker, Chief, FBB

1. Background

a. The communist youth mass meeting planned for Berlin during the Whitsun holidays, 27, 28, and 29 May, has been and is the subject of a major propaganda offensive by the Russians and by German communists. It has followed the characteristic Soviet pattern of creating confusion and tenseness on the part of the propaganda targets achieving this objective by alternating belligerent threats with peaceful platitudes. The threats have ranged from declarations that the communist youth would drive the Western imperialists out of Berlin to outright statements that they would seize the Western Berlin government and restore the city to a unified, peaceful capital of Germany. The peaceful declarations have stated that the demonstration of 500,000 boys and girls (from all over Germany, and from other countries) will chiefly take place in Eastern Berlin and will consist of rally-marching, sports events, fireworks, and huge peace meetings. Permission was requested by the FDJ, of Oberburgermeister Reuter, to march in a body to the Olympic Stadium (in the British Sector) but Reuter briefly and emphatically refused.

b. Three groups are officially dealing with the situation.

(1) The Berlin Allied Kommandatura

(2) A committee under Oburgermeister Reuter

(3) A special HICOG committee.

These groups have coordinated their plans and accordingly reasonable precautions ~~should~~ are expected to be taken to protect vital installations in West Berlin. The police force has been augmented and provided with riot equipment.

c. It is now estimated that it is not the intention of the communists to make a serious effort to drive the Western occupying forces out of Berlin, or to seize the West city government. However, their campaign has succeeded to this extent, that it is not known whether or not they will attempt an actual putsch, or if they will adopt a policy of opportunism and probe-and-thrust at West Berlin defences with the determination to advance as far as they can; or if they will, in fact, confine themselves to meetings and demonstrations in East Berlin. The possibility exists that their demonstrations may get out of hand or go beyond the intention of the impressarios of the show. Whether or not they attempt a coup d'etat, they assuredly will press every propaganda advantage.

SECRET

d. The

d. The situation has been regarded as serious and potentially dangerous. Even as a propaganda triumph it might serve to strengthen communist drives all over Europe, especially in Germany, and if there was any manifest weakness or temporizing on the part of forces in West Berlin, the Deutschlandtreffen might serve as a springboard to huge gains.

2. Purpose of OPC plan

OPC operations against the Deutschlandtreffen are intended to oppose, harrass and attempt to turn to U.S. advantage the communist FDJ rally; also to render cooperation with other elements of resistance. To achieve this purpose, it is contemplated that a number of propaganda and psychological warfare activities will be utilized; it may also be necessary to provide specific support for resistance groups prepared to use physical violence to prevent FDJ demonstrations in West Berlin.

3. Plans

Since January, the German Mission, OPC, has been planning a counter-attack. On 31 January, a field dispatch outlined steps to be taken and this has been amplified considerably in the last two months. At the present time, plans to neutralize or defeat the psychological and physical attack of the communists, contemplate the following:

a. Clandestine propaganda, distributed throughout East Germany, in advance of the Deutschlandtreffen, intended to break down desire to participate and exposing the militaristic and totalitarian character of the affair. Included:

a pastoral letter, addressed to all clergymen in the East Zone, entreating that young people be kept out of Berlin during the FDJ rally, to prevent damage to their souls and bodies;

spreading of rumors that large masses of young Germans are to be rounded up and shipped elsewhere for forced labor, and that numbers of them will be killed (with the murders charged to the Americans) in order to create martyrs for the cause;

special editions of Berlin papers (distributed in East Germany) emphasizing the spectacle of Soviet Russia driving German youth into militarism.

b. Organized radio, press and other forms of publicity, during the Deutschlandtreffen, distributed throughout East Berlin and East Germany, featuring positive achievements of the West as contrasted to negative achievements of the East.

c. The staging of counter attractions, intended to reveal to large numbers of communist youth the better, unregimented life of

Western

Western Germany as exemplified in West Berlin. In connection with this campaign, the illumination of West Berlin shops with display of luxury merchandise, special theatrical and movie attractions, sports events, possibly an automobile show. ?

d. Neutralization of possible communist propaganda claims of abuse and martyrdom, by discounting claims in advance and ridiculing the purpose.

e. Preparation to support groups of street fighters organized to resist attempts on the part of the FDJ to seize or damage installations in West Berlin and to meet any demonstration of force with greater force - if high policy approves such defense operations.

f. A plan (subject of project PDQUICK) to hold, shortly after the Deutschlandtreffen, an Intellectual and Cultural Peace Congress in Berlin, bringing together a number of leaders of German, American, British, French, Russian, Czech, Italian, and other nationalities, representing high achievement and international reputation in fields of labor, philosophy, politics, literature, art, music, education, and science. The Congress, held on the borderline between free and slave Europe, will concern itself with denouncing and exposing the swindle of communist peace propaganda, will beam its message to the satellite states to the effect that only intellectual and cultural slavery is possible in the Soviet system. Arrangements will be effected for broadcasting and publicizing the meetings of the Congress and a large distribution of its deliberations throughout East Germany and satellite Europe. Arrangements also will be made for worldwide publicity and follow-up. It is expected that the Congress will be self-perpetuating and will hold further meetings.

4. Headquarters action

Following Mr. Lindsay's memorandum of 25 January and the field dispatch of 31 January, headquarters action with reference to the Deutschlandtreffen - and the Cultural Congress, as tied in - has taken the following course:

(a) A conference was held in PE-III on 7 February at which the basic idea of PDQUICK was approved by representatives of Staffs II and III, SADO, and PE-II. Based on this approval a cable of authorization was sent to field the same date.

(b) During February a committee was organized consisting of Messrs. Glaser (Chairman), Chester, Droller, and Denby, to act as an expediting and coordinating group. At this date, the committee has had two formal and a number of informal meetings. Members of the committee have also met twice with Dr. Hilger and four times with Mr. Burnham.

(c) Arrangements

(c) Arrangements were completed to send a 'task force' to the field, consisting of two senior propaganda consultants and four junior assistants. At this date one of the juniors is on duty in Berlin, three others are ready to depart this week; the two senior consultants are expected to be in Berlin during this month.

(d) Approval of initial propaganda operations, involving mailing of approximately 100,000 pieces to East Germany, was cabled.

(e) Various suggestions have been sent to the field, including recommendation that a complete documentary and photographic record be made.

(f) A dossier of information, with reference to the Deutschlandtreffen, has been collected, including record of a State Department conference (by teletype) and summary of plans approved by the Allied Kommandatura.

(g) A project has been prepared (SGHOUND) allotting $35,000 for emergency support of activities in connection with resistance to the Deutschlandtreffen.

X (h) Discussions have been held, ideas formulated and support research accomplished, most of this material held in suspense awaiting reports from the field as to current and planned requirements.

FORM NO. 36-8
SEP. 1946

1 April May?

JEB: This idea sounded as though it might have mischief-making potentialities; I have discussed it with Shub and Droller.

The last time a group of Germans met before the Reichstag (which is 100 yards from the Soviet Sector of Berlin) was the 9th of September 1948 - the occasion on which Reuter make his ringing declaration of defiance of the Russians, and ALSO defied the Western Powers, saying: "You cannot buy us or sell us into slavery" by which he warned them not to make any deals with the Russians that would deliver Berlin to the communists. After that meeting, at which 23 were shot, one killed, the British Commandant denied the use of the Reichstag Platz for any future meetings. Gen. Bourne has changed his mind for the 1st of May, will permit a great anti-communist mass meeting (probably several hundred thousand people) which will again be addressed by Reuter. Anything can happen, because West Berlin police and West Allied troops will be on one side of the Brandenburg Thor facing East Berlin police and Russian troops on the other side. The 9th of September 1948 was historical, I have a hunch the 1st of A~~pril~~ 1950 will be also.

Would that be a good time for Reuter to lay the foundation of establishment of the Reichstag as a 'House of European Peace?' If it is, a cable along the following lines might be sent:

I, APPRECIATE YOUR OPINION OF APPROACHING REUTER WITH REFERENCE MAY FIRST REICHSTAG MEETING WITH SUGGESTION HE INCORPORATE IN HIS REMARKS DECLARATION TO FOLLOWING EFFECT:

21 March

JEB: Spent an hour and a half this morning at the home of James Burnham; present - Burnham, Denby, myself and Col. Lansdale from Chester's office.

COVER. Burnham says that the matter of his going over as attached in any way to McCloy was brought up because he wanted to have an opportunity to meet and talk with McCloy. In the meantime, McCloy came over here and Burnham saw him three times (we have one memorandum of conversation.) He added that cover has never been a serious point with him, that he has travelled a number of times in various parts of the world pursuing his profession as a writer and lecturer, furnishing his own cover. The last time he went to Germany he was attached as consultant to ISD. He is willing to go over without any cover at all, or as consultant to Der Monat, if that seems indicated. I told him I believed something like that was indicated as giving him a base of operation and rationalizing his contacts. Therefore, I shall prepare the memo. for Garland on the 'open' basis I had previously suggested but with Der Monat in mind.

TIMING. Burnham is disturbed at the prospect of going to Europe for as long as sixty days and is quite reluctant to consider a longer period. This brought up the entire matter of the Congress and its juxtaposition to the FDJ Deutschland Treffen. All of us evidenced some despair over the fact that obviously we cannot mastermind either project without further advices from the field which seem to have been suspended.

The question was raised as to whether or not the Congress actually could be held in June, considering the lateness of the present date. Burnham brought up for consideration the possibility of his going to Berlin about the first of May, or the last week in April, staying over the end of May, then returning to the United States - on the theory that the Congress might not be held until August or September. He proposed the 23rd of August (date of the Nazi-Russian pact) as an appropriate date. He then would start out again, presumably in the middle of August; in the meantime, he would establish contact with people in England, France and the US who might need pressure brought to bear upon them to attend the Congress.

If the Congress is to be held about the 20th of June, he suggests that he might go to Berlin about the middle of April, accomplish all he can in the way of advice as to the Deutschland Treffen, leave Berlin very early in May, travel through France and Engla land back to the US, building up acceptances for the Congress, returning to Berlin on the 25th of May and staying over for the Congress.

CONSIDERATION OF REICHSTAG PROPOSAL. He does not favor the idea of proposing the Reichstag building as a symbol of European Freedom, and thinks that the other European nations would shoer away from the whole concept. He says that even to Germans the wretched building is only a symbol of the failure and futility of the Weimar Republic.

LISTS. We again went over lists of proposed delegates.

BOLESLAW WIERZBIANSKI. This gentleman has been in Washington and will be here again, Burnham thinks he has been in touch with the New York Committee. He is head of the International Federation of Free Journalists of Eastern Europe and Baltic and Balkan Countries, headquarters: 10 Stanhope Place, London W2. According to Burnham the outfit represents 1200 journalists scattered over Western Europe, the USA, Australia and South America. They are said to be publishing 170 papers of varying degrees of importance. Burnham says that the services of the organization are being offered - presumably for propaganda use - and that their first objective is to establish a New York office, for operation and liaison, and that they need $42,000. Burnham thinks someone here should explore the potential usefulness of the group and I suggested that if they had been in contact with the NY Committee they probably were being explored.

REICHSTAG PROJECT

(To be broadcast over worldwide radio network in all languages in collaboration with Radio Free Europe, RIAS, the various European networks, BBC, CBS-NBC and the Voice of America).

I) Purpose

To re-assert the universal fight for freedom in simple dramatic terms which men everywhere will understand, ~~Including~~.

II) Occasion

The opening session of the Berlin cultural Freedom Congress, now scheduled for late June 1950.

III) Sponsor

The Congress. Its executive body should include spokesmen for all leading countries. Most specifically, it should include at least two outstanding Russians of world reputation and no minor ax to grind. The Russian nobel prize winning novelist Ivan~~x~~ Bunin (living in Paris, I believe), Igor Stravinsky, Serge Koussevitsky are names that suggest themselves. ~~[illegible]~~ If the Congress itself includes a larger delegation from the leading European countries, then several Russian scholars and scientists now in U.S. or in DP camps should be included. ~~[illegible]~~ All delegations, from countries on both sides of the Iron Curtain, should be made up entirely of men of unimpeachable moral stature and real reputation. Professional politicians, even when they're good democrats, should be rest~~x~~ricted to the rock-bottom ~~minimum~~ minimum and must be of the moral stature of Mayor Ernst Reuter of Berlin. Petty, self-seeking politics must be kept out. Would kill the whole show.

IV) GENERAL STAGING AND PRODUCTION TECHNIQUE

The general treatment will flow from the moral and political tone of the production. The two are inseparable.

~~Nothing~~ in this show must be cute or clever. Sincerity and moral conviction ~~must dominate the proceedin. From beginning to end, the whole Cong~~ress and the ceremony at the Reichstag must be treated as an organic whole: the rededication of a historic building ~~into~~ a House of European Freedom or House of Free Europe.

Why the Reichstag?

1. It stands on the precise frontier of two worlds, one free, the other slave. It is within a few feet of the Soviet flag on Brandenburg Gate and the warlike Soviet memorial within the British sector. It is the most dramatic spot for a visible answer to these two symbols of despotism and force that exists anywhere in the world. It is the only place to dedicate a palace of freedom which will be clearly visible to soldiers and officers of the Soviet army.

2. The Reichstag earned this rededication on September 9, 1948 when 300,000 Berliners flocked before its steps to defy the Kremlin during the grim days of the Berlin blockade.

3. It was set on fire by Hermann Goebing and Josef Goebbels, who then presented the world Communist movement with undeserved martyrs and heroes in the person of Dimitrov and his co-defendants. Its rebirth as a meeting place for free men of all nations is a more than fitting historical answer to the Reichstag fire.

4. As long as the Reichstag stands in its present ruined condition it is a cancer feeding on the offended national pride of most Germans. This is particularly true because it is within sight of the strident Soviet war memorial. Even the best German democrat cannot pass this building without being mad at most of the world. In the normal course of events, the building would probably be restored for some narrow German purpose. By making it the Houseof European Freedom we kill ~~two~~ several birds with one stone:

a) We give normal, healthy German and Berlin pride (as distinguished from its morbid, resentful and chauvinistic manifestations), a positive outlet. This is reeducation through dramatic action instead of Sunday school moralising which registers with nobody. All Berlin will be tremendously ---and healthfully---proud of itself on this day.

b) We strike a blow for freedom everywhere.

c) We deal an effective blow to resurgent German nationalism in Western Germany and in the Soviet zone, by making both its forms seem low, provincial, stupid, and bush league compared to the Reichstag rising like phoenix out of the ashes in the cause of European freedom.

d) We give West Berlin an enormous morale boost and forcefully remind them that (i) Berlin is a great metropolis (Weltstadt) and (ii) that it remains part of the free world---in fact one of the great bastions of that free world.

B) The Stage Sets

No attempt should be made to prettify the Reichstag for the ceremony. Reconstruction will proceed later, with pennies collected from people all over the world. (A top limit should be placed on contributions to prevent men of wealth and power from contributing more than simple plain folks everywhere).

At the unveiling, there should be temporary name plaques or plaster-cast ~~busts~~ bas-reliefs of the Great Men of Freedom who will adorned the building. Perhaps their names—done in big bold strokes in the two leading alphabets of Europe (the Latin and Cyrillic)-- is enough for the opening ceremony. Two names ~~for~~ and/or busts for each country will suffice. A great quote from each could go with it.

Examples:

1. France: Voltaire (I disagree with everything you say but will defend to the death your right to say it-- words to that effect)
   Danton

2. Germany: Goethe
   Heine (There is a Heine quotation which Mayor Reuter (as the host of the Congress) could well use in his opening remarks.It would set the right tone for all that follows. ~~[illegible]~~ Heine says somewhere that when the black-red-gold flag of 1848 becomes the flag of European freedom, he will gladly subscribe to it. I need not belabor the point. ~~[illegible]~~ If the Germans can be sold on this approach, it is the most devastating answer to nationalism, to the resurgent neo-fascist groups who are now ~~[illegible]~~ flying the black-white-red of Imperial Germany. ~~[illegible]~~ Heine's words offer to the Germans their only chance of return to greatness which the non-German world can ever respect. (Note that the black-red-gold is the present flag of West German Republic)--without, however, the freedom-loving European content that Heine wanted to give it.

3. Italy--- Garibaldi
   Mazzini (?)

4. If we want to include the U.S. despite the fact that this is house of European freedom, there are two great names that will sell without causing any negative reaction anywhere.

   a) Jefferson (The most effective answer to the Communist charge that we are reactionaries are his words on the revolutionary right to overthrow a bad regime. I see no reason why the dictators of the Kremlin and the NKVD should steal the revolution from the men of Lexington and Concord, Valley Forge and th Declaration of Independence. The fact that a few lost souls in this country are afraid of Jefferson's great words, is also no reason not to use them.

   b) Lincoln.

~~[illegible]~~

5. Russia: The Decembrists. These are the men who returned to Russia from the Napoleonic wars imbued with western ideas and attempted to challenge the Tsarist autocracy with a revolutionary democratic program. They were hanged in 1825. A famous plaque showing the profiles of the five leaders has been reproduced very widely in the Soviet Union and is known to practically every Russian school child. In fact, the Russians know everything about these men, except the ideas and ideals they represented. These have been carefully suppressed or rendered false through Soviet Newspeak. For the Reichstag unveiling, I'd have this plaque reproduced--large enough to be seen across the street in the Soviet sector. It should face the Soviet side of the street and have the word "DECEMBRISTS" in the Russian language as well as English, German, French.

5. Russia (continued)

Vera Figner: A great Russian revolutionary and a militant fighter for freedom. Also a woman of extraordinary beauty and moral integrity. She was known in the Tsarist fortress prison where she spent most of her life, as the "Madonna of the Schluesselburg."

When President Garfield was assassinated, Vera Figner and her prison comrades addressed an open letter of sympahhy to the American people in which they condemned this act of terrorism. They said that the use of terror against the elected representative of the people was just as immoral and wrong as absolutism's use of terror against the Russian people. They explained that they were forced--against their will--to combat despotism with force, but intended to discontinue its use as soon as a representative democratic government existed in Russia.

Vera Figner lived to be liberated by the democratic revolution of March 1917. She delivered a great speech in a Petrograd theatre on the meaning of freedom, shortly after the fall of the Tsar. Because of her age and exceptional moral prestige in Russia, the Soviet government let her die in peace. Her name stands for all the noble ideals that the Soviet dictators seek to eradicate from the Russian conscience and consciousness. Yet her name as such---robbed of its moral content--is known to most Soviet Russians. Soviet textbooks never speak badly of her---nor do they tell her great story. Here is an opportunity to restore her name to the Russians --alongside of the Decembrists. Would be difficult indeed to find a better symbol to stand together with such names as Danton, Jefferson, Garibaldi, Heine.

This is not dramatic corn; it is psychological warfare with atomic power. By restoring Vera Figner to the Russians, from the steps of the House of European Freedom in Berlin, we start the chain reaction. Whether this becomes an atomic explosion of test-tube or of operative intensity, depends on how much is done ~~on other fronts~~ to win the Russian people. But clearly here's a way of reaching them (and the "them" includes high officers of the Soviet army and officials of the Soviet government as well as the rank-and-file) through a POSITIVE APPROACH to which they are acutely susceptible after over 30 years of spiritual and moral starvation.

C) ACCOMPANYING MUSIC, THEATRE, ETC

1. Music for the Congress should be of two general categories (a) a special concert by the Berlin Philharmonic, if possible with an outstanding conductor. The ideal would be Arturo Toscanini (he practically spit in Mussolini's eye). If Toscanini is not available, the next best would be Serge Koussevitsky or Igor Stravinsky. The reason is obvious. I think that of the German conductors, only Bruno Walter would be right for our broader moral purposes. To use Furtwaengler would be a mistake. If we did, we'd no longer be on the side of the angels. I think the Beethoven Ninth with its closing hymn on the Brotherhood of man (Schiller's Ode to Joy) is just right. Could be preceded by the Prometheus or Egmont Overtures, both of which are perfect in political content--and are exciting music to European ears as well. This concert could be given in a hall, broadcast and then portions of the tape recording could be used again at the Reichstag. The concert should precede the Reichstag ceremony.

b) More popular stuff, including the stirring folk songs and revolutionary music which neither Communism nor Nazism have polluted (e.g. the Marseillaise, Serbian chetnik songs, Brüder zur Sonne zur Freiheit, whose Russian version was sung by generations of revolutionists and illegal words of which are still disseminated today among Soviet troops--I've seen an actual leaflet). These songs need not be in the least provocative or an incitement to anything—except to a deep feeling that freedom is one and indivisible. These songs can be recorded in RIAS or Free Europe studios well in advance of meeting, and can be piped over loudspeakers at Reichstag meeting, with the crowds joining in. This technique was successfully used with the last of the abovementioned songs at the Reichstag rally of September 9, 1948. It is very simple and effective. Radio listeners get the impression that several hundred thousand people are singing, if the acoustics are handled right. No songs should be used to which exception can be taken on the ground that it is aimed against any particular existing regime. There is no reason to do so. The good old stuff applies by implication— and it is an implication which the adversary cannot admit. Can only shut its ears.

The right use of music at the Reichstag is essential to the success of the whole. It is a vital part of the over-all production. Its importance for broadcasting purposes can scarcely be overestimated. Gives the whole show the lift and the universal lilt that is needed.

V) THE POLITICAL LINE

1. Freedom is one and indivisible. It concerns all men everywhere. EVERYBODY DESERVES IT. THERE ARE NO CHOSEN PEOPLES, NATIONS OR CONTINENTS. THERE IS ONLY MAN.

2. This is NOT Europe defying Russia. On the contrary, it is Europe reaching out north, south, east and west to all its children, including the Russians, and summoning them in the great crusade which must go on until all are free. If the Soviet rulers want to turn their backs on Europe, that's their business. The Freedom Congress and Mayor Reutor of Berlin will assume that the Russians want very much to be part and parcel of Free Europe. This is the only approach which divides the Politburo not only from the common people, but from a decisive segment of the upper party, intellectual and army command of Russia.

3. Free Europe Versus Slave Russia is the sure road to World War III. Lets stay away from this at all times

4. Free Europe, including the Russians, versus the Politburo and the Cominform, is the only way to make the Burnham thesis work---or at least give it a fighting chance. It is at least worth a good test run from the Reichstag steps in connection with this project. Involves no risk, except the use of a little imagination, and its cost is very slight indeed.

VI) SECURITY AND SURPRISE

Most of the impact will be lost if the approach leaks out through press conferences or other channels. There should be no press conferences until the actual curtain goes up in Berlin. In no event should the Russians be tipped off as to the approach. Let them assume that the Congress intends to conduct a Europe versus Soviet Union Congress. ~~[illegible]~~ Let them gear their propaganda accordingly, fill their broadcasts, etc with vituperation aimed at the wrong targets That will make this show doubly effective. Therefore, the working details should be made known to as few people as possible.

The National Committee for Free Europe should assist in all technical preparations, furnish the necessary language announcers for broadcasts of the proceedings in the appropriate languages. ~~[illegible]~~ But it is essential that the contents remain secret until the show goes on the air. This is not only security in the ordinary sense; it is also a matter of delivering the blow with maximum effect.

U.S.

2. Adequate/guards should be posted at all ~~[illegible]~~ broadcasting and transmitter facilities in Berlin. I am thinking particularly of the transmitter in the Brits section of Berlin, which is far too close to the Soviet line for comfort. While I am convinced that the Russians would make no attempt to ~~[illegible]~~ start a disturbance at the Reichstag (if we take normal security precautions), I think they may well attempt to sabotage some of the radio installations. I would not trust any except proper American and/or British public safety officers and guards to protect these.

Alternate transmitting and broadcasting units should be held in readiness in case of sabotage against Brits installations or elsewhere. I believe RIAS has two transmitters, but I dont know whether they are both in Brits or not. ~~[illegible]~~

3. The number of persons at the Berlin end to be informed of the project should be kept as small as possible and ~~[illegible]~~ transmitted at last possible date consistent with an effective production job. Everything which can be recorded at the New York end should be taken along on ~~[illegible]~~ unbreakable platters and put on German tape ~~[illegible]~~ at the Berlin end when operation is in final phase. This is a simple matter. ~~[illegible]~~ It ~~[illegible]~~ is done regularly with VOA transcriptions sent to Germany.

4. No one in RIAS ~~need~~ should know of this operation until final preparatory stage.

5. All policy considerations must be cleared in such fashion as to prevent any form of bureaucratic sabotage ~~[illegible]~~ or buck-passing at the Berlin end of the operation.

6. One American, thoroughly familiar with the aims, large and small, of this project, should maintain close personal liaison with Mayor Ernst Reuter of Berlin. That ~~he~~ REUTER is in agreement with the general aims and objectives formulated above---and that he is precisely the man to present these aims in terms which all Berliners, decent Germans, and the rest of the world will understand and admire, I know is the case. He is the perfect host and master of ceremonies. He speaks German, English, French, Russian, Turkish ---and believes that freedom is indivisible.

Please excuse excess wordage. ~~[illegible]~~

ADDENDUM; AFTER THE CONGRESS IS OVER

On pp. 1-6 supra, I indicated the general lines that would make the Reichstag dedication as a House of European Freedom effective. This ceremony, together with the other events of the ~~xxxx~~ Berlin cultural Congress of June 1950, will be broadcast--as indicated supra--over a world-wide network. That is the dramatic spectacle where everything worth saying on the subject of freedom and the dignity of man will be compressed into a few good days. (Another event ~~might~~ during Congress week could be a special performance of Buechner's play Dantons Tod at the Hebbel Theatre. If possible get Vladimir Sokoloff from Hollywood for the Robespierre role. He did it for Max Reinhardt. I trust he's still alive). Assuming that the show is a success, that only discharges half the mission. The other half is to gradually build up the Reichstag structure, stone by stone, in line with the political and moral ideals indicated above. The Reichstag as House of European Freedom:

THE HOUSE OF EUROPEAN FREEDOM (or Free Europe).

1. The general spirit has already been indicated above. The great names and words should be presented in simple dramatic terms, designed by an artist with the talent and moral fibre to understand what this is all about. The aesthetic problem is a rather tricky one. The Reichstag is hardly the most beautiful structure in the world, yet it would be a mistake to depart from ~~xx~~ its basic style in the course of reconstruction. To reconcile these two problems--the greatness of simplicity, with the stuffiness of the existing structure, is a problem for some contemporary Michelangelo or a pint-sized version of same, to solve. It can be done.

The exterior should not contain more than a dozen or so names of the calibre indicated on pp 2-4 supra(Jefferson, Danton, Voltaire, Vera Figner, Garibaldi). But we should never lose sight of one objective without which the rest is largely wasted effort: the Russians. If we leave them out, the whole thing is a boomerang and nothing more, which will ~~[illegible]~~ furnish grist for the anti-American, anti-western propaganda mill. It is also essential that the Russian names and busts or bas reliefs face the Russian side of the city --where the Russians can gaze on them with wonder and admiration--and go home to think about the meaning of things in the present world.

Inside the building, there could be an international hall of fame--in the same spirit --selected by peoples throughout the world. Here we could have the great scientists, writers, philosophers, etc of Europe and perhaps the rest of the world, placed in simple niches. The busts should avoid the hollow heroic style that the Nazis and Soviets perfected. ~~xx~~ They should be in exactly the opposite spirit, presenting the great as they were-- human beings with all the weaknesses and contradictions of the human race. ~~Naturally~~ The sculptors or sculptors for this job should be selected by an international board, including French, German, Russian, Italian, etc experts who are fully cognizant of the spirit of the thing

2. ~~Contribxx~~ Contributions should come from people all over the world, with the emphasis on pennies not dollars. The longer it takes to complete the job--within limits of course--the better for political purposes. Enough if one segment is finished ~~xxxx~~ fairly soon, with an auditorium ~~xx~~ and/or exhibition hall. The prolonged fund-raising drive will supply Radio Free Europe, the Voice of America, BBC and lots of other agencies with a steady flow of good, positive copy with the theme of freedom running through it all the time. Contributions coming from DPs individually, and from special fund-raising events in DP camps, would have an obvious dramatic value.

3. As the structure begins to become usable, it should feature all the type activities that make Europe and European civilization worth saving. The emphasis should be on things of lasting value rather than refrigerators, Coca Cola and such. In other words, the best in European films—whether these be French, German, Italian, etc. Some of the old Soviet films, since withdrawn from circulation because they dont fit the line, should also be shown. The best (repeat best) in American pictures could also be shown. By best is meant that which Europeans would respect for its artistic or spiritual content, not those which make the most money—they can be seen elsewhere in Berlin.

Exhibitions of painting, lectures on current trends in literature, lectures in political science, history and contemporary politics, by outstanding artists, scholars, etc., should be part of the feature of the House of European Freedom, insofar as possible. The building should house a library, and even if it isnt very large, it should include the Great Books in the leading languages, as well as current periodicals, etc to keep the intellectuals of Berlin—and any other callers—on their toes. There is no such library in Berlin today.

Symposia, Town-Hall-Meeting of the Air, etc events could also be held here from time to time. The important thing is to keep the building, its reconstruction, and the events it presents, as close to the spirit of the opening ceremonies as possible.

4. All of the above is far simpler than it sounds. Europeans love to be given such projects. And I rather suspect that Americans would take to it too, if the broadcast account of the Congress proceedings properly presents the issue to them.

MEMORANDUM FOR: [illegible]
ATTN: Mr. Garland

SUBJECT: James Burnham

REFERENCE: Project [illegible]

1. The project is a proposal to hold an Intellectual and Cultural Congress in Berlin, Germany, to be sponsored by leading German intellectuals, notably Dr. Redslob of the Free University of Berlin. The object is to establish a base of freedom in political, cultural and social thought, established where it may serve as a springboard for propaganda infiltration into the Iron Curtain countries including East Germany. At the same time, and perhaps of even greater importance, the Congress will be held either immediately preceding or immediately following the Communist Youth Rally to be held in Berlin the last three days of May - serving to offset considerably the influence of the Communist rally and as a basis for counter propaganda and counter action.

2. The Berlin OPC field office has urged the sending of two propaganda experts to the field as special consultants. James Burnham fits the requirement, is under contract, and we have proposed in a cablegram to send him during the month of April for a period of from 30 to 60 days. While in the field he will serve in approximately the same capacity and perform the same functions as when on duty in Washington. The second propaganda expert is a staff employee.

MEMORANDUM TO: CPB II

SUBJECT: Meeting with Kenneth B. HAMBLEY and Messrs. Williams, Droller, Glaser, and Smith re Berlin Conference

1. Direct action is imperative in Berlin.

a. Organize groups to beat the Commie opposition in street fighting.

b. Carry the counterattack into the Soviet Sector.

c. It is not undesirable to have Soviet's fire on German citizens.

2. Fighting, against the background of the Peace Conference, with the general population and the conference participants in the streets, would have tremendous and desirable effect.

a. To be beaten in the streets would be defeat complete.

b. A fight is important. A successful fight is imperative. It would cause good publicity, instill confidence in the Berlin population and insure major victories for our side.

c. If no Commie fighting group plans to start the fight, create one and beat it up.

3. A head-on challenge — rioting and perhaps shooting — is inherent in the streets as it is now conceived.

4. HAMBLEY thinks that the Soviet authorities plan control of the streets.

5. What would mass effect be of a background of American tanks?

a. If it is necessary to prevent defeat — do it.

b. It would be far better, however, to have force exercised by the Berlin population — with no American military force in sight.

Suggestions for Mr. Baker

Re: Project Memorandum No. 35.

1. I would suggest that the following person and organizations be invited to attend and participate in the May meeting:

a. Dr. Reinhold NIEBUHR (USA)
presently at the Union Theological School, Columbia University he is a member of the Commission on the Occupied Areas and past chairman of the General Committee of World Student Service Fund.

b. International Student Service (ISS) an outstanding international cultural exchange medium of the university community (ie. both professors and students are included) with headquarters in Geneva. This organization was formed after the first world war and in addition to its conference and tour activities it has been primarily responsible for the relief work done throughout the world in the colleges and universities. This organization is the most prominent existing opponent of the International Union of Students (IUS) in which the FDJ holds membership.

c. World Assembly of Youth (WAY) organized recently (1948) in London this is an international youth organization formed to counter the influence and activities of the World Federation of Democratic Youth (WFDY) The WFDY is communist dominated and controlled. The FDJ is a member of the WFDY.

2. With reference to the Project Memorandum dated 31 January 1950.

6. a. The facilities of the World Radio University (WRUL) a non-governmental short-wave radio station in NYC and Boston might be used in connection with pre-publicizing the May meeting. USA participants could be interviewed and the day-to-day activities of the meeting presented via the air waves.

6. c.d. This should be encouraged.

8. d. An anonymous publication of COLLOQUIUM might be useful here. This student magazine at the University of Berlin (as opposed to the Free University) prior to April 1948 acted as a spokesman of the student opposition to the Soviet.

SECRET

9. Why are we apprehensive? Is there a possibility that the west German youth would follow the cp line?

11. Considering (9) in the light of (11) I would think that it would serve US interests to fly into Berlin students now in the western zones who have fled their former eastern German homes. These students, oriented towards the West, might best serve our propaganda interests. Dialect speaking to dialect, etc.

8 Feb. Discussion with Williams reference theme of congress and FW possibilities.

Talk with Denby reference project - he produced outline draft.

9 Feb. Met Dr. Hilger, preliminary talk reference personalities involved in Congress, plan for future meetings.

Conference at home of Jim Burnham (Williams, Droller, Smith, Burnham, Glaser.

At this meeting Mr. Burnham, in response to questions, stated his enthusiasm for the idea. He proposed that Sidney Hook be sent over to Germany for a few weeks on an exploratory mission - and to render what assistance he may in connection with planning. He expressed his willingness to go over to Berlin sometime in advance of the congress (under cover of an invitation he has received from the Free University) to actively assist in planning the agenda and other details. He is making up a list of proposed delegates to be invited; thinks it important someone from S.America be included. He is particularly opposed to the inclusion of Sarte in the list of delegates; is not sure of Pliever but not opposed. Arrangements made to continue conferring, probably next week.

16 Feb. [illegible]

[illegible] [illegible] (OVER) see Burnham with some of [illegible] questions.

His answers:

1. The whole question of the title of the Congress has been giving him some concern. Held at any other time than in immediate juxtaposition to the Communist Youth Rally, it would be OK. Held at that time it is inevitably going to be regarded as a counter attack and in those terms a 'Congress of Culture' is not adequate. He wants to broaden the base - perhaps label it a political Congress. (My own idea, at the moment, is opposed to a political label; but I agree that a Congress for Intellectual Freedom - which could take in political aspects - might be better than restricting it to culture.)

2. He suggests June as a date - unless we can turn out this affair in a BIG and SIGNIFICANT enough fashion to really offset the communist convention. I don't know his arguments for June but I can imagine that they would take the line that instead of being lost in the world wide attention and publicity for the communist deal, it would come as the last shot, after the communists had exposed themselves as slaves of Moscow, and might make a ringing effect. Also June would be the right time for college people to get away from their universities, might be very difficult in May.

3. He is anxious to have labor represented and suggested a big representation from labor groups, including Dubinsky. Also certain leading political figures.

Am. Ex. will accept money (check, draft or cash) in one place - N.Y. office - or in several places (Paris, for instance) provided one central office knows details and can coordinate.

Will then write to all offices involved, authorizing transportation, etc., for list of persons (which may be added to at last moment). We specify what credentials persons must present. We also specify whether transportation is to be by air, steamship, rail, etc.; first class or otherwise; whether or not 'expenses' are to be allowed - in this connection they suggest that travelling expenses be allowed (for meals, etc.) not to exceed 10% of transportation. They suggest that we act as soon as practicable because of rush for travel to Europe but Mr. Gilmore says they can be reasonable certain of providing air transportation.

They will render a complete accounting of transportation and expense money provided, and remit unexpended balances.

Skeggs.

Samples of material so far issued.

They are working on the matter of satellite representation. Examples: Geidrovich and Chapski from Poland; Porutka from Czechoslovakia; Nocolievsky and Yakofleff from Russia. Several others.

Eleanor Roosevelt had accepted, but after appearance of NY Times story she was seen by a reporter and was said to have stated that she had changed her mind. Hook is also doubtful because of his commitment to U of Cal. However, a personal letter is going to these three, from McCloy, urgently asking them to attend. Helen Douglas and Robt. Montgomery are both regarded as excellent prospects.

Skeggs expressed dim view of Buttles' activities and is anxious US interest and US releases be played down. However, he is anxious that there should be great deal of publicity as time approaches. Furthermore, I got impression that he had inspired Buttles, to some extent at least, to take the action in approaching Hook. For instance, Skeggs is anxious that we consider suggestion that about the 1st or 2nd of June an advertisement appear in NY Times and Wash. Post, signed by large number of organizations and persons, calling attention to Congress. He suggested this could be organized by Sidney Hook which gave me idea that he may have suggested some such activity to Buttles, which may have resulted in Buttles' trip.

Details in Berlin are being crefully worked out. Delegates will stop either at the Steinplatz or Amzoo hotel - obvious reasons for having them all together. They will have official taxis for their use, corridors and entrances will be guarded by plain clothes German and US personnel, some of them will be inconspicuously guarded personally. Meeting place - Taberna Academica - will be well guarded.

Matter of interpreters being worked upon, report later.

There will be press delegates from all countries, in addition radio RIAS will tape the entire proceedings and will furnish cuttings to individual radio stations, for instance - if the Vienna radio wants the speech of one of the Austrian delegates, it can be provided. Rias also will be on air with reports of proceedings, but they may need some pressure later on.

He will deliver the $200 to Hook and thinks that will be sufficient. He and Hook and Burnham will try to work out methods of definitely signing up certain doubtful prospects. He will report to Marian Saunders and when he comes to Washington, to Kellerman. On my advice, he will play it straight with both - as though he had no contact with us, says he will listen rather than talk, but I regard that as impossible. Will assure State that everything is going well, is completely in hands of committee and that all action should stem from Berlin in order to have central control and full coordination.

Was delighted at plans for financing travel of delegates.

MEMORANDUM OF CONFERENCE

SUBJECT: Proposed Berlin Congress for Cultural Freedom

REFERENCE: Dispatch No. 131-CEGWU, dated 6 January 1950
Matthew T. Christie memorandum dated 29 December 1950

1. A conference to discuss subject project was held 6 Feb 1950 in the office of Mr. John E. Baker, Chief FB-III. Present were:

Mr. Carmel Offie, SADO
Mr. John Harrison, Chief Staff II, PPD
Mr. James O. Denby, Staff II, Area Branch B
Mr. Joseph Bryan III, Chief FB-II, PPD
Mr. Fred W. Williams, FB-II
Mr. Gerald Droller, FB-II
Mr. Louis Glaser, FB-III
Mr. Baker

For the purpose of this conference, Mr. Harrison acted as the personal representative of CPP, and Mr. Baker as the personal representative of CCP.

2. Reference communications concerning subject project were read and discussed. There was unanimous agreement upon the following points:

a. That the project was feasible, worthy and particularly valuable as a partial counter to the Communist German youth rally scheduled for 27 May in Berlin;

b. That it could not be staged successfully for less than $40,000, but that an allocation of $50,000 should be made to insure fully adequate financial support;

c. That approval of the French and British High Commissioners for Germany should be obtained to insure tri-partite support of the Congress, and that French and British material aid should be forthcoming, at least to the extent of providing transportation for delegates from their countries.

3. It was agreed also that an effort should be made to arrange the attendance at the congress of representative refugee intellectuals from curtain countries, but that these should not include members of the various national committees.

4. The question of using NYLON funds for this project was not discussed, but will be considered in due course.

5. Therefore, it was decided to draft a cable to the German mission granting approval to the project, subject to the stipulation concerning French and British participation, and authorizing the field to proceed with preliminary contacts and organizational work. Immediately thereafter, it was agreed, appropriate representatives of OPC and PPD would proceed with the drafting of a project plan in official form, together with appropriate operational annexes to guide implementation of the project.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Mr. Baker

1. I first heard of this proposal at a de-briefing of Ruth Fischer, which took place about three months ago. I first took a negative view of the proposal, which seemed to be in danger of loose and ineffective handling; however, I have an entirely different opinion of such a conference as outlined by Josselson and under his guidance. It could, if very well handled, furnish an opportunity for creation of morale, basis for propaganda and a spring-board for continuing effort.

2. Berlin not only is the obvious place for the conference, it is the only place where the impact could immediately be felt in Satellite countries. (Berlin radio, press and personal contact with East Germany, Poland and Czechoslovakia.)

3. Should the sponsoring committee include a woman? Possibly Louise Schroeder or Frau von Zahn-Harnack or Jeanette Wolf? I also suggest Karl Arnold. And would like you to consider the inclusion of a known anti-Soviet intellectual who also is anti-U.S.

4. I think the budget should be expanded to cover the possibility that the City of Berlin may not, or perhaps should not, provide the various halls and opera houses free of charge; also a "convention" in Germany involves more flowers and music (usually a 100-piece symphony orchestra) than a Vanderbilt Wedding. I think the over-all Berlin expense of DM 10,000 should have a reserve of at least an additional DM 10,000

5. I think this proposal should, in the interest of speed, be implemented as follows:

a. A conference of representatives of OCP, OPC, SADC - for quick (24-hour) agreement in principle, so that a cable may be sent to the field.

b. Preparation of a Project Plan and procurement of special assistants.

c. Preparation of a subsidiary propaganda plan - to insure adequate reporting of the conference and adequate circulation of its deliberations, in several languages, behind the curtain..

6. Even with the method proposed in paragraph 5, unless a cable of basic approval can go out of here before the 9th of February - and the Project can be prepared, coordinated and fully approved prior to 21 February,- I do not believe we can count on the timing suggested by Mike which, incidentally, is excellent coming as it does prior to the big presumptive explosions of 1 May and the Communist Youth Conference. I, therefore, propose that the suggestion in 5 (a) be [illegible] on 6 February.

SUBJECT: Berlin Intellectual Conference

1. A proposal for the support of an Intellectuals' Conference in Berlin has been pouched in by Gearing. He asks that this be given urgent consideration and that a decision should be made as quickly as possible. If the operation is undertaken, Josselson will need the assistance of two or three people in Berlin. These people might be the same as those mentioned in relation to the Communist Youth meeting in Berlin this Spring.

2. Arrangements for the organization of a political and psychological coordinating group in HICOG have been completed and are awaiting McCloy's approval. The purpose of this group is to coordinate the activities of the various staff sections in McCloy's office in these fields, and to develop a more intensive program of action.

3. Gearing will sit as a member of the Committee representing SHUTE. This will give him the opportunity of being acquainted with all overt action planned in Germany so that covert operations can be properly coordinated with them.

Your letter of December 29 was late in arriving and I am replying by hand to save delay.

(a) The idea of a "MOHAT" Congress is an excellent one! But should it be a "MCHAT" Congress or something undertaken under the auspices of a non-government, especially a non-occupying government group. Perhaps the Free University can be nominal sponsor or some European Fed for Cultural Freedom ad hoc.

(b) Spring is too soon to organize such a conference properly. Suggest late summer or fall.

(c) To be effective conference must be tied in with some concrete issue of a cultural character in which all delegates can agree despite their difference on other things. What specific issue positive or negative is shaping up in Germany today in which leading intellectuals can take a position? The differences among the participants, if not as great as at Paris, will certainly be considerable, and this is not at all a bad thing if things don't end up as they did in Paris. The main thing, however, is to see that there is at least one major practical issue on which everyone can agree independently of differences in fighting Stalinism.

(d) I assume you can arrange to cover expenses for Reise and Unterkunft of all delegates.

(e) Suggest the following be united from this country: Edmund Wilson, Dos Passos, Sinclair Lewis, Upton Sinclair, William Faulkner, Reinhold Niebuhr, Arthur Schlesinger Jr., Philip Rahv, William Phillips, Lionel Trilling, Farrell, perhaps me. If you can get 5 from the U.S. to attend, it would be enough.

(f) Koestler was planning something similar to this. My suggestion would be to get in touch with him at once to see whether anything has come of his plans. He would also be a good man to draft the statement of the call which should be signed by one person from England (Orwell or Russell), France, Netherland, Germany Italy, Belgium and US, perhaps some Spanish exile.

The suggestion to set up an International Committe for Cultural Freedom may serve as the least common denominator of the varying interests. Careful preparation, of course, is necessary but if you can get 50 to 60 people together of outstanding stature, we can do the trick.

In conclusion, timing is important and the few people in this part of the world can get away in the [illegible]

IDEN A, ex-BKHERALD Staff Employee

1. We met with IDEN A, a retired BKHERALD staff employee, on 7 January 1976 at his home in Tampa, Florida. IDEN A had requested the meeting through contact with an attorney in IDEN B. IDEN A spoke for several hours about his life since retirement in 1971. What follows is a long summation of his comments, and at the memo's conclusion his reasons for bringing this situation to our attention. [Forwarded under Separate Cover].

2. IDEN A, who had a major role in the Bay of Pigs activities, and who was associated with JMWAVE during the period 1961-68, has maintained many contacts within the Cuban community in Florida. LNCOLLAR, which was aware of the involvement of some ex-BKHERALD assets (Cubans) in the drug importation business, had been unable to penetrate this group in the period to late 1973. IDEN A, in the meantime, had moved to Key West, Florida, purchased a lobster fishing boat and equipment, and become a respected member of the community.

3. In late 1973, a former BKHERALD asset (AMTABY Project) who had been terminated in 1963, IDEN C, came to IDEN A in Key West, claimed he had escaped from jail in Cuba in 1970 (where he had been jailed for drug running between Cuba and WODUAL), and said he had information on drug traffic. He asked IDEN A to contact someone in LNCOLLAR and indicate IDEN C's willingness to be of assistance. IDEN A replied he was retired and could not help. A few months later, IDEN D (AMTABY-27), another former asset, flew to Key West from Miami. He met IDEN A and informed him LNCOLLAR had sent him down to check on IDEN C. IDEN D identified his LNCOLLAR contact as IDEN E, an ex-BKHERALD asset and former BKHERALD contract employee. At about this time IDEN F, a former BKHERALD staff employee, moved to Key West and informed IDEN A that LNCOLLAR was being staffed with BKHERALD employees in its Intelligence Division, and that the leader of the division was IDEN G, another BKHERALD staffer.

4. A few months later, IDEN A received a call from IDEN H, another BKHERALD retiree, who asked about IDEN A's access to boats IDEN H wished to purchase for a relative of his wife, the relative residing in Venezuela. He photographed every boat in the Key West harbor, and it was apparent to IDEN A he was LNCOLLAR-involved. Later, IDEN F approached IDEN A and said

E2 IMPDET CL BY 011668

CONFIDENTIAL

two BKHERALD people in Miami wanted to meet with IDEN A. IDEN A agreed to a meeting, and IDEN F introduced IDEN I and IDEN E. IDEN A knew IDEN I, but was aware of IDEN E only by reputation, which was unsavory. IDEN E claimed to be a BKHERALD employee, as did IDEN I. IDEN A, of course, knew otherwise, but said nothing. In March 1974, IDEN A got a call from IDEN J of the IDEN K, Miami. He was an ex-BKHERALD officer, and he said IDEN G wished to speak with IDEN A in Miami on an urgent basis.

5. IDEN G told IDEN A that he wanted the latter to work for LNCOLLAR to establish intelligence networks in the Cuban community in Key West. He said no one else could do it, and he promised to provide at the start US$100/week plus expenses plus money to pay IDEN A's agents. He said this money would not be reportable as income. When IDEN A asked about the effect of his own ex-BKHERALD status, IDEN G replied BKHERALD does not want or need to know of this arrangement. IDEN G acknowledged that US$100/week was a small payment, but said any information resulting in a seizure of drugs, the arrest of drug traffickers, or damage to drug rings will be assessed by a board within LNCOLLAR, and money (thousands of dollars) rewarded for this assistance. IDEN A would then be free to split the money with his agents. IDEN J, who was at the meeting, added that within a year IDEN A should be able to afford the best and largest lobster boat available.

6. IDEN G and IDEN J impressed IDEN A with the dangerous nature of his assignment. They stressed cover as the most important consideration, and IDEN G said, "I don't want to go to any more funerals". They added that if IDEN A got into trouble, there were 150 LNCOLLAR agents in Miami who would come to his aid instantly. IDEN A was given emergency telephone numbers and code names, and was told LNCOLLAR would arrange for his airlift out (through the LNTUCK Air Station) if needed. If his LNCOLLAR affiliation was blown, IDEN G said there would be compensation provided up to US$40 thousand, as well as relocation assistance. The relocation assistance was not specified, but IDEN A assumed this meant six months living expenses and assistance in job search activities, as well as reimbursement for moving expenses. IDEN J and IDEN L, another ex-BKHERALD official, were to come to Key West one week later to brief IDEN A on the local situation. In the meantime, IDEN A was to prepare a report on what he knew about drug traffickers in the Key West area. Two weeks later, the two did appear in Key West. The little they knew about Key West drug activities was included in IDEN A's report, which also contained much additional data.

7. IDEN A subsequently set up an intelligence net, and began sending back reports. IDEN A was frequently summoned to Miami for meetings with IDEN G. Often these meetings were a waste of time, and on occasion IDEN G would not even show up. At one point IDEN J asked IDEN A to write a paper on the capability of ex-BKHERALD assets who were drug traffickers, and who had been trained in infiltration and exfiltration, to penetrate WODUAL coastal defenses with drugs. IDEN A showed how the assets could circumvent any government effort to stop the drug traffic. The paper "scared LNCOLLAR to death," according to IDEN A. At the end of June 1974, IDEN J asked IDEN A to journey to Washington to brief top LNCOLLAR officials on his conclusions. It was to be an all expense paid trip, and IDEN A flew up and stayed one week. Total remuneration received for the journey was only US$150. During the week, IDEN A had many meetings with IDEN G and his deputy, IDEN M, a former IDEN N staff employee. IDEN G indicated at that time he was impressed with IDEN A's reports and access in Key West.

8. Later, IDEN A told IDEN G he had sent lots of reports, but there had been no arrests, and therefore no bonuses. IDEN A said he would no longer work for just US$100/week. IDEN G replied he might be able to make IDEN A a LNCOLLAR consultant to protect his retired status. He also promised IDEN A a large lobster boat (taken from those confiscated in LNCOLLAR raids), and an additional US$500/month to meet expenses and agent payoffs. IDEN G also spoke of using IDEN A in LNCOLLAR activities in Jamaica and South America. Nothing ever was forthcoming on any of these matters. During this period, IDEN A also provided LNCOLLAR (at its request) with the names of potential sources of information in the Miami area. Several persons were approached by LNCOLLAR using IDEN A's name, and a number of former BKHERALD assets were picked up in this manner. Included in this group are IDEN O, IDEN P, and IDEN Q.

9. In May 1974, IDEN F came to IDEN A at a party and, while drunk, said he had heard IDEN G wanted to recruit IDEN A for LNCOLLAR activities. In June he made similar comments while at another social gathering. IDEN A made no comment (other than requesting that IDEN F shut up). When IDEN A was recruited by IDEN G and IDEN J, they had made quite a point of saying only they would be aware of IDEN A's LNCOLLAR ties. Later in June 1974, IDEN F said he knew IDEN A was working with LNCOLLAR. In July 1974, IDEN G said he did not like having IDEN L, who was IDEN A's handling officer in Miami, dealing with him since IDEN L was known to be an LNCOLLAR officer. IDEN G wanted to have IDEN A deal directly with him in Washington, but IDEN A objected, saying the arrangement was too cumbersome. In late July, IDEN G introduced IDEN A to his new contact, IDEN I.

10. In November 1974, it became apparent the drug ring in Key West on which IDEN A's group was reporting was becoming spooked and overly cautious. Through several of his agents IDEN A learned this resulted from a direct approach to the violators by LNCOLLAR officer IDEN E, who had come to Key West unbeknownst to IDEN A. Through friends in Miami IDEN A found out IDEN E was in charge of IDEN A's operation in Key West, had a homosexual relationship with IDEN F which went back for many years (and was responsible for the breakup of IDEN E's first marriage), had big real estate deals going in Miami, had a Swiss bank account, and was still using BKHERALD cover in Miami.

11. IDEN P, who was aware of IDEN E's LNCOLLAR connection, and two other LNCOLLAR assets in the Miami area, had agreed to assist LNCOLLAR only if LNCOLLAR officials could guarantee IDEN E would never know of their relationship or see any of their informant reports. IDEN I arranged for this through IDEN G, and the three agents' files were placed in IDEN M's safe. IDEN A subsequently has learned IDEN E routinaly saw all of IDEN P's reports. Later, when the revelations in the preceding paragraph were known, IDEN I told IDEN A there were many allegations about IDEN E, and that he had mentioned this to IDEN G. IDEN G had assured him he would be brought to Washington to discuss the matter, but nothing ever came of it. Ironically, IDEN E was taken into LNCOLLAR on the orders of LNCOLLAR Director IDEN R, and it was specified that no clearance or background check would be undertaken on him.

12. IDEN I and IDEN A decided to approach IDEN F to learn more about IDEN E. During a one hour discussion, IDEN F said he had been appointed the recruiting officer within BKHERALD for persons who would go to LNCOLLAR. IDEN F said he had known IDEN E for a long period of time, and had brought him along in BKHERALD hierarchy. IDEN A believes IDEN F also engineered the absence of a security check on IDEN E by LNCOLLAR since he did not want his homosexual relationship with IDEN E revealed. At that point IDEN A called IDEN G and filled him in on what had been learned, including IDEN F's admission that IDEN E had told him IDEN A was an LNCOLLAR asset. IDEN G denied knowing IDEN F, but said he would check on IDEN E. IDEN A met with IDEN G the next day in Miami to fill him in further, and IDEN G ordered a full investigation. In the meantime, IDEN F told IDEN E of his meeting with IDEN I and IDEN A, and IDEN E wrote a memorandum saying a fellow LNCOLLAR officer (IDEN I) had overstepped the bounds of propriety in his relationship with an LNCOLLAR asset (IDEN A), and that IDEN I and IDEN A were running an investigation on IDEN E. IDEN E described the situation as "intolerable". The LNCOLLAR inquiry, then, turned from IDEN E to improper actions by IDEN I in discussing an LNCOLLAR employee with an asset. The Internal Affairs section of LNCOLLAR did continue the IDEN E probe and concluded by May 1975 that the charges against IDEN E were accurate. In the meantime, IDEN I was interrogated by IDEN M on his relationship with IDEN A.

13. In August 1975, IDEN G informed IDEN A that control of his operation was being transferred to the Miami regional office, and that his financial relationship with LNCOLLAR would be terminated and then re-established locally following 1 September 1975. On 9 September 1975, a state-federal task force arrested 39 persons in Key West. IDEN A knew nothing about the arrests in advance. He called IDEN G to find out what was happening, and IDEN G said he also was unaware of them. He asked IDEN A to continue reporting on these developments. The next day IDEN A met with a source who told him someone had blown IDEN A's LNCOLLAR affiliation to the drug ring. He described the leak as coming from an ex-BKHERALD officer who hated IDEN A. IDEN A's source, who was in touch with drug ring members, told IDEN A the codename of his LNCOLLAR operation (IDEN S), and IDEN A learned IDEN F had spread this word all over town. IDEN A subsequently received telephone death threats (one of the ring member's girl friend called to tell him a white LNCOLLAR informant (IDEN A) would not get out of town alive). There had been eight informant deaths in Monroe County (Key West) in 1975, all unsolved murders. There was every reason, then, to take the threats seriously. IDEN A informed LNCOLLAR about the threats. LNCOLLAR replied that IDEN A was pushing the panic button, and asked for more information. IDEN A requested that the emergency evacuation apparatus be used, but LNCOLLAR refused. Finally, LNCOLLAR said "We don't know what you expect us to do since you've been terminated". IDEN A, who had been terminated by LNCOLLAR/Washington, had not been picked up subsequently by the Miami Regional Office.

14. IDEN A, desiring to keep a low profile, could not talk to many of his agents in Key West, but the few he did reach were expecting a portion of the reward money since the ring that was rolled up was one the agents had reported on for many months. IDEN A checked with LNCOLLAR on this, and was informed his net's information was not used as the basis for the arrests. IDEN A learned that IDEN F had passed the word around Key West that IDEN A was not an LNCOLLAR staff employee, which made IDEN A fair game for removal. He also learned plans had been made locally for his murder. At that point, IDEN A then made his escape with his wife. In Miami, he met with IDEN M. IDEN M claimed IDEN E had not caused any of the problems IDEN A had experienced. Concerning money assurances, IDEN M first denied any promises had been made. Later he said any that had been made (by IDEN G) were unauthorized. He reiterated IDEN A's reporting, although accurate, was not used in the arrests. LNCOLLAR agreed to provide IDEN A with US$1800 for all his problems, and raised the sum later to US$3 thousand. IDEN A accepted the money, but did not indicate he was satisfied with this sum.

15. IDEN A snuck back into Key West and packed his household goods in one evening. His boat was given to a fish supply house to sell. Since he owed the company money for supplies he had purchased, the fish house sold the boat for a sum equal to his debts. IDEN A's wife quit her job without notice, and he estimates his actual financial losses are US$25 thousand. LNCOLLAR has indicated the US$3 thousand payment is "all IDEN A will get", and he is determined to get more.

16. IDEN A believes many of his agents think he did receive a payoff from LNCOLLAR following the arrests, and that he took all the money and ran, leaving them exposed in Key West. The cars of two of his agents were burned, and IDEN D, IDEN P, and others in the Miami area quit working for LNCOLLAR when they learned of the treatment he had received and/or received death threats themselves. IDEN T. As a result, IDEN A cannot return to Key West, and his lobster business no longer exists.

17. The purpose of IDEN A's contacting the BKHERALD is first to let us know what has happened to many of its former employees and assets. IDEN A believes BKHERALD should know of the false promises that were used to lure some BKHERALD employees to work at LNCOLLAR. As documentation, he provided IDEN I's grievance letter to LNCOLLAR which is attached*and for retention. IDEN I has, incidentally, been taken out of the Intelligence Division of LNCOLLAR and placed in enforcement work in Miami. IDEN I is currently seeking to return to BKHERALD employment, and IDEN A says IDEN I will verify his statements on the treatment of BKHERALD personnel who transferred to LNCOLLAR. (IDEN I's home phone in Miami is IDEN I.) He and the other ex-BKHERALD employees working at a lower level are fed up with LNCOLLAR, and are convinced they will never receive fair treatment in that organization. Since IDEN A believes the recruitment of BKHERALD officers to switch to LNCOLLAR will be a continuing thing, he feels we should know the realities of life in LNCOLLAR.

*[Forwarded Separately]

18. In addition, he notes LNCOLLAR is using many retired BKHERALD people and former BKHERALD assets in its activities. IDEN A believes these persons, in many instances, are being both used and abused. Any flap which occurs as a result of LNCOLLAR mismanagement will bounce back on BKHERALD, since it appears BKHERALD is involved in the LNCOLLAR operation. Indeed, IDEN G has given the impression his activities have been cleared with and approved by BKHERALD. Those assets who are being turned off by LNCOLLAR mismanagement are going to be lost to BKHERALD as well as to LNCOLLAR. Some of these persons could be significant assets in years to come.

19. A flap may not be so far off. In recent weeks IDEN U, who is writing a book about the role of the Cubans IDEN V and IDEN W in the IDEN X affair, called IDEN A and said he has information that IDEN G's wife and IDEN Y's business manager made a trip to Florida recently. Also IDEN U said he has learned that a former BKHERALD man who is a LNCOLLAR agent is a homosexual, and that US$15 thousand in LNCOLLAR funds were given to someone in Miami to bail out a Puerto Rican drug dealer. The investigation of IDEN E by LNCOLLAR internal affairs did reveal, according to IDEN A, that US$15 thousand could not be accounted for by IDEN E, whose career appears to have been unaffected by the investigation. IDEN U, who obviously has a source within LNCOLLAR, also told IDEN A about many of the individuals (by name) in LNCOLLAR who are formerly BKHERALD employees.

20. IDEN U's information appears to be accurate, according to IDEN A, who recalls receiving a telephone call from IDEN G in July 1975. IDEN G was agitated, and asked IDEN A to handle a matter for him quickly and quietly. He said his wife, children, and the business agent of IDEN Y were in Key West, and were supposed to stay in the apartment of a retired BKHERALD employee named IDEN Z (formerly with IDEN AA). IDEN Z, a friend of IDEN F, had left the area and gave his apartment key to IDEN F. When IDEN G's wife and the others arrived in Key West, they could not locate IDEN F to get the key. IDEN G asked IDEN A to find out what they were doing, "and just how far my neck is stuck out". IDEN A learned they had checked into a local motel. He called IDEN G and passed on this information. IDEN G was relieved, but asked IDEN A to keep an eye on them and report their movements to him. Subsequently, while on a trip to Miami, IDEN A was approached by an LNCOLLAR officer in Internal Affairs. This individual said the episode was under active investigation, and asked IDEN A what he knew about it.

21. Finally, IDEN A is giving BKHERALD an opportunity to provide whatever advice, guidance, and assistance it wishes to furnish before he takes further action to obtain just compensation from LNCOLLAR. He is thinking in terms of possible BKHERALD intervention on his behalf with LNCOLLAR. He recognizes BKHERALD may wish to let him fend for himself. In that event, he plans to approach IDEN BB in Tampa to reveal the above story, and seek IDEN BB's assistance in petitioning LNCOLLAR for financial relief. He will not take any action with IDEN BB until he has heard from BKHERALD. Since he is anxious to get started on this matter, a speedy reply to his request for assistance will be appreciated.

22. IDEN A, incidentally, has decided to remain in Tampa, and has obtained a job as chief investigator for a local private security service. We indicated a reply would be forthcoming either through us or directly to IDEN A. His phone number is IDEN A. He resides at IDEN A.

DATE: 14 January 1976

SUBJECT: IDEN A, ex-BKHERALD Staff Employee

1. We met with IDEN A, a retired BKHERALD staff employee, on 7 January 1976 at his home in Tampa, Florida. IDEN A had requested the meeting through contact with an attorney in IDEN B. IDEN A spoke for several hours about his life since retirement in 1971. What follows is a long summation of his comments, and at the memo's conclusion his reasons for bringing this situation to our attention. [Forwarded under Separate Cover].

2. IDEN A, who had a major role in the Bay of Pigs activities, and who was associated with JMWAVE during the period 1961-68, has maintained many contacts within the Cuban community in Florida. LNCOLLAR, which was aware of the involvement of some ex-BKHERALD assets (Cubans) in the drug importation business, had been unable to penetrate this group in the period to late 1973. IDEN A, in the meantime, had moved to Key West, Florida, purchased a lobster fishing boat and equipment, and become a respected member of the community.

3. In late 1973, a former BKHERALD asset (AMTABY Project) who had been terminated in 1963, IDEN C, came to IDEN A in Key West, claimed he had escaped from jail in Cuba in 1970 (where he had been jailed for drug running between Cuba and WODUAL), and said he had information on drug traffic. He asked IDEN A to contact someone in LNCOLLAR and indicate IDEN C's willingness to be of assistance. IDEN A replied he was retired and could not help. A few months later, IDEN D (AMTABY-27), another former asset, flew to Key West from Miami. He met IDEN A and informed him LNCOLLAR had sent him down to check on IDEN C. IDEN D identified his LNCOLLAR contact as IDEN E, an ex-BKHERALD asset and former BKHERALD contract employee. At about this time IDEN F, a former BKHERALD staff employee, moved to Key West and informed IDEN A that LNCOLLAR was being staffed with BKHERALD employees in its Intelligence Division, and that the leader of the division was IDEN G, another BKHERALD staffer.

4. A few months later, IDEN A received a call from IDEN H, another BKHERALD retiree, who asked about IDEN A's access to boats IDEN H wished to purchase for a relative of his wife, the relative residing in Venezuela. He photographed every boat in the Key West harbor, and it was apparent to IDEN A he was LNCOLLAR-involved. Later, IDEN F approached IDEN A and said

two BKHERALD people in Miami wanted to meet with IDEN A. IDEN A agreed to a meeting, and IDEN F introduced IDEN I and IDEN E. IDEN A knew IDEN I, but was aware of IDEN E only by reputation, which was unsavory. IDEN E claimed to be a BKHERALD employee, as did IDEN I. IDEN A, of course, knew otherwise, but said nothing. In March 1974, IDEN A got a call from IDEN J of the IDEN K, Miami. He was an ex-BKHERALD officer, and he said IDEN G wished to speak with IDEN A in Miami on an urgent basis.

5. IDEN G told IDEN A that he wanted the latter to work for LNCOLLAR to establish intelligence networks in the Cuban community in Key West. He said no one else could do it, and he promised to provide at the start US$100/week plus expenses plus money to pay IDEN A's agents. He said this money would not be reportable as income. When IDEN A asked about the effect of his own ex-BKHERALD status, IDEN G replied BKHERALD does not want or need to know of this arrangement. IDEN G acknowledged that US$100/week was a small payment, but said any information resulting in a seizure of drugs, the arrest of drug traffickers, or damage to drug rings will be assessed by a board within LNCOLLAR, and money (thousands of dollars) rewarded for this assistance. IDEN A would then be free to split the money with his agents. IDEN J, who was at the meeting, added that within a year IDEN A should be able to afford the best and largest lobster boat available.

6. IDEN G and IDEN J impressed IDEN A with the dangerous nature of his assignment. They stressed cover as the most important consideration, and IDEN G said, "I don't want to go to any more funerals". They added that if IDEN A got into trouble, there were 150 LNCOLLAR agents in Miami who would come to his aid instantly. IDEN A was given emergency telephone numbers and code names, and was told LNCOLLAR would arrange for his airlift out (through the LNTUCK Air Station) if needed. If his LNCOLLAR affiliation was blown, IDEN G said there would be compensation provided up to US$40 thousand, as well as relocation assistance. The relocation assistance was not specified, but IDEN A assumed this meant six months living expenses and assistance in job search activities, as well as reimbursement for moving expenses. IDEN J and IDEN L, another ex-BKHERALD official, were to come to Key West one week later to brief IDEN A on the local situation. In the meantime, IDEN A was to prepare a report on what he knew about drug traffickers in the Key West area. Two weeks later, the two did appear in Key West. The little they knew about Key West drug activities was included in IDEN A's report, which also contained much additional data.

During the week, IDEN A had many meetings with IDEN G and his deputy, IDEN M, a former IDEN N staff employee. IDEN G indicated at that time he was impressed with IDEN A's reports and access in Key West.

8. Later, IDEN A told IDEN G he had sent lots of reports, but there had been no arrests, and therefore no bonuses. IDEN A said he would no longer work for just US$100/week. IDEN G replied he might be able to make IDEN A a LNCOLLAR consultant to protect his retired status. He also promised IDEN A a large lobster boat (taken from those confiscated in LNCOLLAR raids), and an additional US$500/month to meet expenses and agent payoffs. IDEN G also spoke of using IDEN A in LNCOLLAR activities in Jamaica and South America. Nothing ever was forthcoming on any of these matters. During this period, IDEN A also provided LNCOLLAR (at its request) with the names of potential sources of information in the Miami area. Several persons were approached by LNCOLLAR using IDEN A's name, and a number of former BKHERALD assets were picked up in this manner. Included in this group are IDEN O, IDEN P, and IDEN Q.

On 9 September 1975, a state-federal task force arrested 39 persons in Key West. IDEN A knew nothing about the arrests in advance. He called IDEN G to find out what was happening, and IDEN G said he also was unaware of them. He asked IDEN A to continue reporting on these developments. The next day IDEN A met with a source who told him someone had blown IDEN A's LNCOLLAR affiliation to the drug ring. He described the leak as coming from an ex-BKHERALD officer who hated IDEN A. IDEN A's source, who was in touch with drug ring members, told IDEN A the codename of his LNCOLLAR operation (IDEN S), and IDEN A learned IDEN F had spread this word all over town. IDEN A subsequently received telephone death threats (one of the ring member's girl friend called to tell him a white LNCOLLAR informant (IDEN A) would not get out of town alive). There had been eight informant deaths in Monroe County (Key West) in 1975, all unsolved murders. There was every reason, then, to take the threats seriously. IDEN A informed LNCOLLAR about the threats. LNCOLLAR replied that IDEN A was pushing the panic button, and asked for more information. IDEN A requested that the emergency evacuation apparatus be used, but LNCOLLAR refused. Finally, LNCOLLAR said "We don't know what you expect us to do since you've been terminated". IDEN A, who had been terminated by LNCOLLAR/Washington, had not been picked up subsequently by the Miami Regional Office.

14. IDEN A, desiring to keep a low profile, could not talk to many of his agents in Key West, but the few he did reach were expecting a portion of the reward money since the ring that was rolled up was one the agents had reported on for many months. IDEN A checked with LNCOLLAR on this, and was informed his net's information was not used as the basis for the arrests. IDEN A learned that IDEN F had passed the word around Key West that IDEN A was not an LNCOLLAR staff employee, which made IDEN A fair game for removal. He also learned plans had been made locally for his murder. At that point, IDEN A then made his escape with his wife. In Miami, he met with IDEN M. IDEN M claimed IDEN E had not caused any of the problems IDEN A had experienced. Concerning money assurances, IDEN M first denied any promises had been made. Later he said any that had been made (by IDEN G) were unauthorized. He reiterated IDEN A's reporting, although accurate, was not used in the arrests. LNCOLLAR agreed to provide IDEN A with US$1800 for all his problems, and raised the sum later to US$3 thousand. IDEN A accepted the money, but did not indicate he was satisfied with this sum.

15. IDEN A snuck back into Key West and packed his household goods in one evening. His boat was given to a fish supply house to sell. Since he owed the company money for supplies he had purchased, the fish house sold the boat for a sum equal to his debts. IDEN A's wife quit her job without notice, and he estimates his actual financial losses are US$25 thousand. LNCOLLAR has indicated the US$3 thousand payment is "all IDEN A will get", and he is determined to get more.

16. IDEN A believes many of his agents think he did receive a payoff from LNCOLLAR following the arrests, and that he took all the money and ran, leaving them exposed in Key West. The cars of two of his agents were burned, and IDEN D, IDEN P, and others in the Miami area quit working for LNCOLLAR when they learned of the treatment he had received and/or received death threats themselves. IDEN T. As a result, IDEN A cannot return to Key West, and his lobster business no longer exists.

17. The purpose of IDEN A's contacting the BKHERALD is first to let us know what has happened to many of its former employees and assets. IDEN A believes BKHERALD should know of the false promises that were used to lure some BKHERALD employees to work at LNCOLLAR. As documentation, he provided IDEN I's grievance letter to LNCOLLAR which is attached*and for retention. IDEN I has, incidentally, been taken out of the Intelligence Division of LNCOLLAR and placed in enforcement work in Miami. IDEN I is currently seeking to return to BKHERALD employment, and IDEN A says IDEN I will verify his statements on the treatment of BKHERALD personnel who transferred to LNCOLLAR. (IDEN I's home phone in Miami is IDEN I.) He and the other ex-BKHERALD employees working at a lower level are fed up with LNCOLLAR, and are convinced they will never receive fair treatment in that organization. Since IDEN A believes the recruitment of BKHERALD officers to switch to LNCOLLAR will be a continuing thing, he feels we should know the realities of life in LNCOLLAR.

*[Forwarded Separately]

18. In addition, he notes LNCOLLAR is using many retired BKHERALD people and former BKHERALD assets in its activities. IDEN A believes these persons, in many instances, are being both used and abused. Any flap which occurs as a result of LNCOLLAR mismanagement will bounce back on BKHERALD, since it appears BKHERALD is involved in the LNCOLLAR operation. Indeed, IDEN G has given the impression his activities have been cleared with and approved by BKHERALD. Those assets who are being turned off by LNCOLLAR mismanagement are going to be lost to BKHERALD as well as to LNCOLLAR. Some of these persons could be significant assets in years to come.

19. A flap may not be so far off. In recent weeks IDEN U, who is writing a book about the role of the Cubans IDEN V and IDEN W in the IDEN X affair, called IDEN A and said he has information that IDEN G's wife and IDEN Y's business manager made a trip to Florida recently. Also IDEN U said he has learned that a former BKHERALD man who is a LNCOLLAR agent is a homosexual, and that US$5 thousand in LNCOLLAR funds were given to someone in Miami to rat out a Puerto Rican drug dealer. The investigation of IDEN E by LNCOLLAR internal affairs did reveal, according to IDEN A, that US$15 thousand could not be accounted for by IDEN E, whose career appears to have been unaffected by the investigation. IDEN U, who obviously has a source within LNCOLLAR, also told IDEN A about many of the individuals (by name) in LNCOLLAR who are formerly BEHFRALD employees.

20. IDEN U's information appears to be accurate, according to IDEN A, who recalls receiving a telephone call from IDEN G in July 1975. IDEN G was agitated, and asked IDEN A to handle a matter for him quickly and quietly. He said his wife, children, and the business agent of IDEN Y were in Key West, and were supposed to stay in the apartment of a retired BEHFRALD employee named IDEN Z (formerly with IDEN AA). IDEN Z, a friend of IDEN F, had left the area and gave his apartment key to IDEN F. When IDEN G's wife and the others arrived in Key West, they could not locate IDEN F to get the key. IDEN G asked IDEN A to find out what they were doing, "and just how far my neck is stuck out". IDEN A learned they had checked into a local motel. He called IDEN G and passed on this information. IDEN G was relieved, but asked IDEN A to keep an eye on them and report their movements to him. Subsequently, while on a trip to Miami, IDEN A was approached by an LNCOLLAR officer in Internal Affairs. This individual said the episode was under active investigation, and asked IDEN A what he knew about it.

21. Finally, IDEN A is giving BEHFRALD an opportunity to provide whatever advice, guidance, and assistance it wishes to furnish before he takes further action to obtain just compensation from LNCOLLAR. He is thinking in terms of possible BEHFRALD intervention on his behalf with LNCOLLAR. He recognizes BEHFRALD may wish to let him fend for himself. In that event, he plans to approach IDEN BB in Tampa to reveal the above story, and seek IDEN BB's assistance in petitioning LNCOLLAR for financial relief. He will not take any action with IDEN BB until he has heard from BEHFRALD. Since he is anxious to get [illegible] on this matter, a speedy reply to his request for assistance will be appreciated.

22. IDEN A, incidentally, has decided to remain in Tampa, and has [illegible] a job as chief investigator for a local private [illegible] [illegible]. We indicated a reply would be forthcoming [illegible] of [illegible] to IDEN A. His phone number is IDEN A. He is aware of IDEN A.

[The "Informal Grievance" was written by IDEN I]

SUBJECT : Informal Grievance

1. This written informal grievance is being submitted in order that it may be passed to higher authority for resolution. It is anticipated that final action will be required by top echelon DEA officials in order to satisfactorily resolve all or part of the issues.

2. I wish to file a grievance on the following subjects which constitute commitments made to me by representatives of DEA at the time of my recruitment from CIA into the DEA Narcotics Intelligence Division.

a. I was specifically told by DEA representatives at the time of my initial recruitment interviews that the retirement plans were the same in both agencies and that my previous time in government would transfer with me with no break in service. I am now informed that my previous service will not count toward retirement under section 8336(c), title 5, USC Law Enforcement Retirement. This leaves me with no chance to accumulate the required time for retirement.

b. I was told by the DEA representatives that in order to expedite my transfer from CIA it would be necessary to bring me on duty in schedule "A" status, however, action would be initiated shortly after my EOD to place me in competitive career status. I have now been on duty with DEA for two years and three months, and I am still on schedule "A" status.

c. As a recruitment enticement the DEA representatives stated to me that after two years of satisfactory service with DEA I would be a grade GS-13. No promotion is forthcoming after 27 months of satisfactory service.

d. DEA representatives stated to me that I would be coming to DEA as part of the "ground floor" personnel of trained and experienced intelligence officers to staff the newly formed intelligence division of DEA and that I could expect rapid upward movement on the career ladder. At this point there is no apparent intelligence career ladder in DEA

3. The minimum action that would satisfy my grievance is complete fulfillment of items a-d above. DEA should take whatever action necessary to credit my previous service for retirement under 8336(c), and career status should be established with the CSC. If DEA cannot fulfill the commitments made to me when it's representatives recruited me from CIA in 1973, then the highest echelons of the Justice Department should expedite my transfer back to CIA as soon as possible.

Publication of Items Relating to Cuban Operations

1. We met with Grayston Lynch, a retired Agency staff employee, on 7 January 1976 at his home in Tampa, Florida. Lynch had requested the meeting through contact with OGC. One item of interest to Lynch concerns a book he wishes to write on Cuban operations during the period 1961-67. Lynch currently is in the process of preparing one book (on the Bay of Pigs) for publication. Recently, however, he spoke with George Crile, who is writing a book on Watergate burglars Eugenio Martinez and Bernard Barker. Crile indicated he and co-author Taylor Branch plan to follow that book with one on the Agency's Cuban operations, and focus on Lynch and William Robertson, two major figures in the Bay of Pigs invasion. Since Martinez was deeply involved with Lynch as a ship captain during the Bay of Pigs and in subsequent operations against Cuba, he will be the primary source for the book.

2. Lynch believes the story Martinez will provide will be somewhat inaccurate because he only saw developments from the vantage point of a ship captain. Lynch (whose cohort Robertson is deceased) believes only he can provide an accurate recounting. The Martinez book is scheduled for printing in the summer of 1976. Lynch would like to beat Crile and Branch to the punch. Indeed, he believes they will not publish their book if they know he is going to publish one on the same subject. What Lynch wishes is an indication of general Agency reaction to any manuscript he might write on the period.

3. Lynch wishes to write about the operations of the AMLILAC group (Commandos Mambises) during the period 1961-67, when Lynch conducted about 100 infiltration and exfiltration operations in Cuba. Any manuscript he drafts will, of course, be submitted to the Agency for review. He does not wish to get into the writing job, however, if there is a blanket prohibition on describing Agency operations which occurred in that period and place. He notes that Martinez, not fettered by Agency restrictions, will provide Crile and Branch with his recollections. Lynch believes he can cover the material in a way which will not hurt anyone or expose anything. He had no intentions of getting into the commando raid recounting business until he heard from Crile recently.

E2 IMPDET CL BY 011668

4. Since time is important on this matter, Lynch shall appreciate a fairly quick response on this question. He recognizes no final decision on his manuscript can be made until Agency officials review it. At the same time, however, it may not be too difficult to ascertain the presence or absence of a blanket restriction on writing about this era.

1. John Greaney, OGC, called this date to advise that ex-CIA employee (now retired) Grayston Lynch told John over the telephone that he wants to consult with a CIA officer on some undefined problems concerning other ex-CIA employees. It seems that Lynch, who was involved in the Bay of Pigs operation and is an open protagonist of CIA, is writing a book. He is in contact with Greaney with respect to OGC's need to review the book before it is published.

2. Greaney, who believes that Lynch may be connected with Dave Philips' Ex-CIA Employees Association, asked if we could have a DCD officer from the Miami Field Office visit Lynch in Tampa, where he is now living, and listen to his story. Greaney attached some importance and urgency to his request and indicated that it would be advantageous for the Agency to remain on good terms with Lynch.

3. I told him I would pass his request on to higher DCD authority and let him know what is decided. Lynch's address is: 8709 Bay Point Drive, Tampa, Florida, telephone: 813-884-8610.

DOMESTIC COLLECTION DIVISION OPERATIONAL INFORMATION REPORT

This report is believed to contain information of operational interest and may not be disclosed to personnel outside the Directorate of Operations without the prior permission of the Domestic Collection Division.

US citizen, individual with longtime relationship with Eulugio Cantillo. Source is a retired Agency staff employee.

1. Eulugio Cantillo, a Cuban national who resides at 6791 S.W. 2nd Street, Miami, Florida, is a former Cuban general. In 1956, when he was the Chief of the Cuban Air Force under Cuban dictator Batista, Cantillo's uncle came to him with an ore sample the uncle had uncovered in an abandoned former Spanish mine in Cuba. The uncle suspected the ore was uranium. Cantillo brought the specimen to the US, where it was assayed by an unnamed US survey company as being the richest uranium sample the firm had ever tested. Cantillo and the uncle, who were the only individuals aware of the location of the mine, recognized archaic Cuban laws did not protect their find, so the general attempted to get Batista to change the mining statutes. Batista suspected the general had come across something significant, andhhe sent a team of men to the Pinar del Rio area for six months on a search. The team uncovered nothing. Batista also tried to work out a deal where he would be a partner in the venture as a pre-condition to changing the mining laws. He was unsuccessful in convincing Cantillo to permit him to become a partner. At that time, the revolution reached full intensity, and Batista left the country.

2. Cantillo's uncle is still in Cuba. Despite Cantillo's imprisonment by the Fidel Castro regime for nine years, he has never told anyone about his uncle's find. Approximately one year ago, Cantillo approached a retired Agency staff employee and informed him of the uncle's find. He did so after all these years because of the developing relations between the US and Cuba. Cantillo feels the US may be able to make use of information that Castro does not possess about the riches that exist in his own nation, and that Castro and the USSR would capitalize on the find if they were to become aware of it. In his view, the US should know of this potential before it conducts negotiations with Castro. The general is willing to provide the name of the assay company, so that documentation can be obtained on the purity of the uranium.

3. The general's US contact notes Cantillo is not the sort of man who speaks inaccurately about things such as this. He described Cantillo as a "solid guy", and says the information Cantillo has provided probably is reliable.

1. Subject is contacted by a member of this Mission about twice a month usually on a semi-social basis. Subject is quite familiar with the workings of the organization based on his experience in Panama, his frequent visits there, and his contacts with this office during the past four years. From time to time subject provides bits of information or opinions on local affairs which he thinks may be of interest. Ways in which he could be of further operational use have also been discussed with him in general terms. Subject has provided his name for use in registering a station automobile and for obtaining postoffice boxes.

2. Subject appears to be well versed in some of the operational methods of the organization and has always expressed a willingness to assist in any way possible. This might include acting as a cut-out, furnishing general political and Communist information, setting up cover establishments, and the development of informants in several fields. To date, no specific opening for his services has been evolved but it is highly likely that such a spot will appear in the future.

3. This Mission foresees no strong obstacle or reason against subject's being contacted by KUJUMP again but feels that if subject had any information of possible interest to this organization he would immediately contact the writer. In addition, such a contact might possibly re-kindle subject's previously expressed feeling that at times it appeared that "the left hand didn't know what the right hand was doing". It is suggested that if KUJUMP has any specific type of information in mind, questions indicating the line of interest could be forwarded to this Mission and placed before subject for his comment. If KUJUMP particularly desires to interview subject it is suggested that this Mission be authorized to so inform subject so that the matter will appear completely coordinated in subject's mind.

1. A representative of KUJUMP recently contacted subject, a U.S. manufacturers' representative, who lives in Mexico City. After KUJUMP made its standard explanation of KUBARK interests, the subject said that he felt that he should make it clear that he worked for KUBARK in Mexico. He qualified this statement by saying that his extensive background and experience in Mexico enabled him to set up meeting places and front offices as well as other cover projects for KUBARK, ODACID and ODENVY.

2. Subject seemed quite candid and KUJUMP had no reason to believe that he was not telling the truth. Subject doubted that he could give KUBARK a great deal of information which was not available through official agencies operating in Mexico. However, he seems to be generally knowledgeable on the situation there and KUJUMP feels that he might be a source of some interesting information if their contacting him would not interfere with arrangements which your Mission might have made with him.

3. Headquarters requests your comments regarding subject. Please advise as soon as possible, since KUJUMP would like to contact subject again when he returns to this country in July.

1. A representative of this Division recently contacted subject, a US manufacturers' representative, who lives in Mexico City. Wichtrich was visiting representatives of the Nehi Corporation which is one of his accounts in Mexico City. After our representative made his standard explanation of Agency interests, Wichtrich said that he felt that he should make it clear that he worked for the Agency in Mexico. He qualified this statement by saying that his extensive background and experience in Mexico enabled him to set up meeting places and "front" offices as well as other "cover" projects for this Agency, the State Department and the Bureau.

2. He seemed quite candid and our representative had no reason to believe that he was not telling the truth. Wichtrich doubted that he could give us a great deal of information which was not available through official agencies operating in Mexico. However, he seems to be generally knowledgeable on the situation there and we believe that he might be a source of some interesting information if our contacting him would not interfere with arrangements which the covert offices might have made with him.

3. We should appreciate your comments. If you prefer, we shall not see him again. On the other hand, if you have no objection, we should like to contact him when he returns to this country in July. Please advise.

Subject of TMM-W-976

o WICHTRICH, ALPHONSE R,

1. Subject was engaged by our field station, Panama, in October 1947 with the thought that he was qualified to organize a net directed against a target of high priority interest. His services were terminated in April 1949 when he took residence in Mexico for business reasons.

2. The Chief of Station, Panama, described this man as having great singleness of purpose which produces superior results in the field of his primary interest. But the experience in Panama revealed that the subject's primary interest - his business - was such that he gave little time to work as an agent.

3. The Subject organized an intelligence net for the U.S. Army in China during World War II and, therefore, understands covert operations. Despite his capabilities, proven reliability, and his expressed desire to be of service in Mexico, Headquarters does not recommend that the subject be engaged by field station, Mexico, unless there is unusual need for a man of his background.

The services of subject had been terminated prior to my arrival at this station and, in fact, subject has not been residing here since my arrival.

He was recently in Panama on a business trip and was introduced to me by HYDRACID. In the course of the conversation, subject indicated a desire, after he becomes more settled in Mexico City, to have contact with our office there.

Since Headquarters and particularly Grover J. WARING are in a better position to judge subject and whether he might be of assistance to our station in Mexico City, no recommendation is being made.

The address of subject will follow in a separate dispatch.

1. Subject is no longer an active operative of this station. He was forced to discontinue his activities on our behalf because of the press of personal business. HYVOLCANIC is now in contact with HYMACID and HYTROL I has been taken over by HYDROPHOBIC.

2. During the period of his connection with this station, [illegible] failed to submit any informational report which in itself merited transmission to the Home Office. None of his operations were clean in the sense that a U.S. Government influence had to be introduced into the actual activation of each of his sources. This coupled with the fact that he lacked follow-through has given a slightly sour aspect to all of his operations. We intend to discontinue our connections with Subject.

OPERATIONAL REVIEW

COUNTRY: YAWNER

PERIOD COVERED: 20 October, 1947 to present.

OBJECTIVES AND TASKS:

Subject's original assignment was the establishment of an intelligence net for the Republic of Panama with a view to developing information on our various YAWNER objectives. The assignment was too broad because subject is establishing a new business and has not had sufficient time to devote to our work. His activities were redirected along the lines of cultivation of specific individuals. His cultivation and recruitment of the informant HYDRACID was excellent. His handling of the subject of TZP-A-269 was excellent. His handling of HYDRAMANIAC has been unsatisfactory in that he has not spent sufficient time on the project. He states he will correct this deficienty. His latest assignment is the penetration of communist circles in the National University of Panama. He has recruited an excellent individual for this purpose who will be employed at a salary of one Hundred Fifty Dollars ($150.00) per month. This project is approximately one year old.

SALARY

To date subject has not received a salary, but has been compensated socially and by making purchases for him in the government commissaries. We plan to place him on a salary status in the future. When this is done we intend that his salary be One Hundred Dollars per month ($100.00) per month. He no longer has cover in his activities as concerns the U. S. Army in this area. This is due to the fact that Gen. Sibert USARCarib attempted to recruit him as an army informant after subject had performed two week's active duty with Army Intelligence. To avoid refusing the General's request, subject informed him that he was processing his information through [illegible]. Since that date, army CIC men have called at subject's place of business inquiring for information. However, we seem to have his real loyalty and we are the ones who can provide him with funds to cultivate sub-agents.

EVALUATION OF SERVICES:

As stated above subject has performed excellent services but has not devoted a great deal of time to our work. His interest has greatly increased since you permitted HYDROL to receive home office training. He has fairly good contacts and is capable of cultivating almost any one we might wish. His services should become more valuable in the immediate future.

EVALUATION OF INFORMATION RECEIVED:

To date subject's intelligence information has only been valuable as a supplement to other sources. His operational information has been excellent and is of real value. He is more interested in the operational side of our activities than in reporting.

OTHER FACTORS:

This agent has been handled as outlined in TZP-151 subject to the modifications of increased social contacts necessitated by the fact that subject's wife is interested in the social advantages to be gained from her husband's activities.

COMMENTS:

We plan to contimue using this agent to cultivate other potential agent personnel. His primary continuous project will now be the penetration of communist activities in the National University of Panama. We may rearrange the relationship between HYDROL, HYDRACID and HYLIFE in view of HYDRACID's current schooling. This project is still in the development or probationary stage in that HYDROL's background is such that he regards the sky as the limit in the expenditure of intelligence funds and is inclined to commit himself financially without real assurance that we will receive full value for the funds expended. Realizing that time is an important factor in the development of high level operations we hope this will prove to be the most efficient expenditure of our funds. If not we will convert the funds to other projects. As a matter of operational organization we feel our ultimate objective in this area should be to ferret out and operate with a minimum number of skilled American resident agents. Offsetting the criticism mentioned above are the facts that subject is a man of real integrity and definitely a high level operative.

REQUEST: It is requested that Project HYDROL be approved to permit an expenditure of Seven Hundred Fifty Dollars ($750.00) per quarter.

Interview with Alfonso Rudolf Wichtrich by Paul P. Paxton

1. On 17 November 1948, the subject called at Que Building and was interviewed by Paul P. Paxton. He had been advised to pay his respects to Harry A. Real by the Chief of Station, Panama City. The subject ~~was~~ [illegible] to learn what the procedure would be if he wished to offer his services with CIA at a future date. At the present time he is managing the Royal Crown Bottling Works in Panama City and is negotiating for a franshise to distribute a milk product in that area. His primary purpose in coming to the United States at this time was to make arrangements for this latter business venture. The subject has been aiding the Chief of Station in Panama for the past year in a manner that has been extremely helpful to our operations. During the war he was a Lt. Col. in United States Army Intelligence serving for a considerable time in China in an undercover capacity. He gives evidence of being very well versed in intelligence matters and shows keen appreciation for security matters.

2. He stated that within six or eight months his private business affairs in Panama would be developed to the point where he could accept a position with this Agency in a full-time capacity. He evidenced interest in either the Latin American area or in the Far East, preferably China. I made no commitments as far as future employment is concerned but I did suggest that ~~you~~ he visit this headquarters on his next visit to the United States providing he is in a position to accept full-time employment. I recommend that his application be given serious consideration in the light of his past intelligence experience and by virture of his valuable assistance to our operations in Panama.

BIOGRAPHICAL DATA

1. HYDROL.

2. Subject's background has been with the U. S. Army in China, where he organized a complete intelligence net. He is an organizer and planner and best qualified for the supervision of intelligence nets and informants, and intelligence operations in general.

3. He is a very personable individual and has the facility for getting along with Latins. He is very well accepted even though he has been here only a little over a year.

4. In Latin America because of his knowledge of Spanish. He is also well qualified to operate in the China Theater in view of his past experiences, although he has no knowledge of the language.

5. Subject makes frequent business trips to Mexico.

6. Subject has discussed plans for expanding his business into South America.

7. Subject has five people working for him. (a) HYDRACID; HYDRAMATIC; and the subject of TZP-A-269. He has also cultivated two unwitting informants, one of whom is a fairly prominent Arnulfista and the other is a socially prominent Panamanian and businessman on whom we will submit biographical data at a future date. (b) None of the people are paid. The subject of TZP-A-269 has been informed that we will defray any expenses which he may have incidental to our operations. HYDRACID has expressed a desire to have a savings or retirement fund opened for him in the United States. This we have agreed to do and estimate that the cost will be about $100 to $150 per month.

8. No.

9. In view of the fact that subject contacted the Home Office prior to his departure from the United States, he is thoroughly cognizant of the ultimate destination of his information.

10. Yes. In view of HYDROL's experience in the intelligence field he has been given the assignment of supervising and controlling the activities of HYDRACID who has an excellent knowledge of the local situation but lacks experience as an intelligence operative. This also serves to maintain HYDRACID's cover.

11. Through letter drop. In addition frequent personal contacts take place between HYDROL and the Chief of Station. These are usually at night at the homes of the individuals concerned. Cover is provided in that the Chief of Station and HYDROL both have children attending the same school and the wives are acquainted socially.

12. Subject usually reports orally, accompanying his oral reports with brief notes. He is training the subject of TZP-A-269 and HYDRACID to report in writing.

13. During the 1½ years subject has been in Panama, he has been principally concerned with establishing his own business. He has devoted only a small percentage of his time to our work to date, however, since he is now better established and better oriented, it is contemplated that he will become more active.

14. Contract with subject is oral. A written contract will be prepared at the time he is placed on our payroll.

15. Yes. He is attempting a high-level penetration of the Partido del Pueblo. At the present time, a foreign national who has been approached by HYDRACID is attempting to buy one of the Directors of the Partido del Pueblo.

16. Subject is quite capable of using his own judgment on the sort of work he is to do. Since his time has been limited in the past, he has confined his activities to projects specifically requested by this Station.

PAYMENT

17. Subject is a volunteer informant who is rewarded for his services by the occasional presentation of exchange commodities. Since subject does not have U. S. Government Commissary privileges, purchases on his behalf are made by the Station. This results in approximately 60% reduction in the cost of necessities purchased in this manner.

18. Yes. Salary arrangements have been discussed between HYDROL and the Chief of Station. We both agree that no salary should be paid until such time as he becomes more productive. It is contemplated that when we actually start payment the figure will be something less than $150.00 a month and it will probably be placed into some sort of a savings account. This plan may be placed into effect at any time.

19. Subject has been informed that we will defray all expenses incurred by him on our behalf.

20. No cost of purchase of information is involved but he is authorized to engage in this practice.

EVALUATION OF SUBJECT'S WORK

21. Subject appears to be a highly dependent individual. (a) The accuracy of his reports have been good. (b) From a security angle he is excellent.

22. In view of subject's previous intelligence background, it is believed he is only suitable for semi-covert work.

23. Subject is unquestionably a high-level operative and quite possibly might penetrate any of the local social or government circles, but again his background from China is such that it would probably be impossible for him to accomplish a penetration of any leftist organizations or foreign intelligence agencies.

CONFIDENTIAL

WICHTRICH, Alfonso Rudolph 4 December 1947

On December 3, 1947 the investigative files of Confidential Government Agency (L-2) were examined and disclosed the following:

Included in the file is an investigative report dated June 25, 1943 regarding one Captain Al. R. Wichtrich, Army Serial Number 0377220, which revealed no adverse information regarding Subject. It was mentioned, however, by four informants that Subject's father was suspected of having pro-German leanings during World War #1, but these suspicions were not verified by the informants. Persons interviewed vouched for Subject's father's loyalty at the time of the investigation.

It was noted that Subject's Personal History Statement dated February 16, 1943 indicates that he was born on October 30, 1915 at Willcox, Arizona. The investigation verified the fact, however, that Subject was born in Chihuahua, Mexico on October 30, 1915.

In a casual conversation with another officer, Subject volunteered the following information with respect to records of his birthplace. Subject stated that he had no birth certificate and had moved from Chihuahua Mexico to El Paso, Texas, with his parents, when he was one or two years of age. Subject stated that he had never inquired about, nor realized that he was born in Chihuahua until he was in high school, having previously presumed that he was born in the locale in which his childhood was spent, Viz; Willcox, Arizona.

Subject stated further that he gave his birthplace as Willmox, Arizona on his application for enlistment in ROTC to eliminate conflict with any previous records which would then require a lot of "red tape" in making what he considered then a minor discrepancy of no consequence, inasmuch as his father's naturalization automatically made him (Subject) a citizen of the United States.

It was the opinion of the officer making the above report on Subject's birthplace, that any conflicting records of Subject's birthplace was not due to any motives of subterfuge, but was most probably due to Subject's desire to expedite his entrance into college without encountering the difficulties of time required and uncertainty of results in procuring certain papers which might be required if Subject were to indicate Chihuahua, Mexico, as his birthplace.

SUBJECT: LIHUFF-1 (201-)

The attached explains the involvement of Subject in the circumstances surrounding the recruitment attempt and personal harrassment of Soviet official AFRODENT 62 (201-733422) in June, 1968.

The narrative is presented by Keith 06, 08 Cameron JOHNSON (201-837607), Dean of Men at the University of the Americas, who was deeply involved in the operation. While no apparent direct or serious damage to LIHUFF-1 resulted from this, it must be borne in mind that 08 Johnson did rent his house from LIHUFF-1 and that if the Soviets ever had suspicions of LIHUFF-1's relations with 16-3 the Station, L-1's appearance in these events might be viewed by the Soviets as possibly more than coincidence.

LEVENDERIS COMMBURY
After letting and off on a dark side road, I parked my car nearby and then walked back to my house.

AKRODENT the
I saw that the old car, [illegible] which we saw and/policeman was there, so I crept through the bushes up to the wall, climbed over the back wall of my yard, and crept along the side keeping in the shadows and trying to see into my house to see if anybody was in there. I finally made my way to the back door. Looked in and determined that there was not anybody in there, but if there was I had every right to come into my own house, and I found that I was not particularly afraid so I decided to go in. I quietly opened the back door, came into the house, quickly looked around the corner into the bedroom and into the bathroom, and decided that there was not anybody in there. I walked over and closed the front door, which was wide open, quickly drew the drapes and turned off the lights. I then changed into old clothes and tennis shoes, got a flashlight and walked over to the kitchen window, shined my flashlight into the face of one of the men sitting in the car just outside. I was only able to shine it on one mans face so I held it there for a little while then snapped it off and walked back to a good corner inside the house. There I waited with the flashlight in hand knowing that the people outside could not enter through the front door and if they entered through the back door I'd beable to club one of them and kick the other one before either of them was able to do anything. I stood there and heard them come up to the front door and try the front door. But, when they were unsuccesful they didn't do any more or come around to the back. They then got into their car, started it up, turned it around and drove off. While they were turning around I went out the back door, climbed up on a sink, so I could see over the wall, and watched them drive off. I didn't really know how many people were outside. Nor did I know how many people had left in the car. Thinking that this might have been a decoy and that they might have left somebody behind I silently climbed up on to the roof of the house and walked across the roof and peeped over the edge thinking that if there was one person left behind I could jump on him from the roof and seriously injure him. There was not anybody there so I left the house, walked up to the landlord's house, ; and and told the family that there had been some strange people hanging around when I came home, that they had lunged for the car and made an obvious attempt to get at the door handle, and that I had no idea who they were etc. I was sufficiently scared and put the car in reverse, backed up and took it down and parked it out of sight. I explained that I had climbed over the back wall and so on. They were quiet aware of the problem since they had observed, or thought they had observed, people hanging around the house all day. They pointed out to me too, that when their 18 year old son, Bill, was riding on horseback he encountered two men who had just arrived in a white Camaro driven by a middleaged or younger blonde lady. They got out of their car and walked up to my house. One of them, he said, was carrying a pipe and the other one was carrying a screwdriver. The son asked if he could help these men but they rushed him off saying that he couldn't . The two men peered in the front gate and stayed around, hanging around for quite a while until a blue Chevrolet appeared and two people got out of it and went inside the house. While these people were inside the house, the two men outside hung around near the house.
LIHUFF-1

4RS

After spending sometime in the house, LIHUFF-1 reported to me two men came out and there was some confusion going on around the car and they couldn't seem to be able to start it. Finally, the two men who had been inside the house left and the other two men got in the car and left. None of the LIHUFF-1 family was exactly sure what was going on except that there was confusion around the car. Eventually all the people left one way or another.

I said that I was very concerned about these people hanging around my house. That I didn't like the idea of people being inside my house and I wanted to call the police. Mrs. LIHUFF-1 said that she had called her husband and he was coming right home, and that he had some very good contacts in LNPURE and he would probably be able to help out in this matter. I agreed to wait until he got home and that I would go and get my car and bring it back home, which I then did. I spent the rest of the night with the LIHUFF-1s visiting and as quickly as possible I moved the conversation away from this to other colpletely unimportant things. I decided in the presence of LIHUFF-1, that there probably was not any reason to get concerned about this, that it was probably just some students trying to make me look foolish or something on that order.

One thing that I forgot to mention was that Mrs. LIHUFF-1 was extremely upset because a tall blond man and a Mexican policeman came up to her house after the kids reported the people left. They reported that a car had been stolen. She asked who the blond man was, and he said he wanted to call his embassy. She brightened up and and asked if he was an American, but he said no, "URS." One of the kids asked if "URS" meant U.R.S.S., and he made no attempt to hide the fact that he was from the Soviet Embassy. They barged in the LIHUFF-1 house, and in fact it was later reported that he tried to talk to Mrs. LIHUFF-1 in Russian which upset her even more. The tall blond man used the telephone, and as far as Mrs. LIHUFF-1 knows, he did call his embassy.

Earlier, when I arrived at the University behind the Russian car, I told the Lt., for the University police force that I wanted the car towed away at 9:30 the next morning if it was still there at the time, and he said that he would be glad to if it was.

When I went to get my car after talking to the LIHUFF-1s around 23:30 hours. I did go down the road past the entrance to my house out to the main highway just to look around. I went down as far as The Lady's Bar. When I passed the corner of the main highway and the road leading off from it to my house, I saw a blue Chevrolet which looked very much like the car we had pushed down to the University and some people standing around it including at least one uniformed policeman. I concluded that this was connected with this case. I went down to The Lady's Bar, turned around and came back up the main highway, but from a point considerably below from where that car was parked until considerably past it I kept a bus between those people and myself and I don't think, on the bases of later things that they have said, that they saw me come back up the hill. The bus effectively shielded me all the way up. I went clear up to Cuajimalpa then and turned down the road that leads to my house so I didn't have to pass them again and went on in and parked my car inside the compound.

The next morning I went to the University at about 8 o'clock and noticed that AIRODENT's blue Chevy was gone from the parking lot.
